I am forever walking upon these shores,
Betwixt the sand and the foam.
The high tide will erase my footprints,
And the wind will blow away the foam.
But the sea and the shore will remain
Forever.

The Senior Class dedicates its 1970 yearbook to Mrs. Mary Ellen Photiades and Mr. Cornell Runestad, whose sincerity and demands for perfection will be fondly remembered.

To Mrs. Photiades for taking endless pains with us to produce “A Visit to a Small Planet”, for taking a great interest in our activities and for being an understanding friend to everyone.

To Mr. Runestad for patiently and lovingly trying to transform a bunch of pimply hay-hands and thick-ankled gigglers into a group of musicians.

We thank you.

“The Sun, with all those planets revolving around it and dependent upon it, can still ripen a bunch of grapes as if it had nothing else in the universe to do.” (Galileo)
"Music and rhythm find their way into the secret places of the soul." (Plato)
Individuality in action . . . our personality is our own . . . we have our own desires, whether they be reading a book, composing a new song or simply jumping rope . . .

The little ones leaped, and shouted, and Laugh'd
And all the hills echoed . . .
(William Blake)

we change and discover the places we fit into, and gradually grow out of them, moving on to form our individual characters. By being actively involved or escaping for awhile . . . we make Uni what it is by being what we are.
Our days pass as we grow and change, sharing our thoughts and passions ... innocently exploring our minds ... curiously discovering all the complications of our world ... applying what we have read in books and what we have learned from communicating with other people...
We just sit thinking, watching, waiting... quietly reflecting on our personal experiences... sharing our joys and sorrows which, sometimes, only we ourselves can appreciate... pondering the mysteries of the world around us... contemplating on how we are individuals...

... trying to understand ourselves so we can help others understand us. Am I only one person, or am I many people?
Edges of dreams
Where events mingle with occurrences and wishes,
Where the impossible happens before your believing eyes,
It is all such another reality—
but it seems to really happen—
A type of false recollection to the point where you can't honestly differentiate between reality and dream—

“Behold, this dreamer cometh.” (Genesis)

The shores of my dreaming
Showering on the subconscious
a faint spray of conscience splashed on the fantasy of my living in this exciting intoxicating land
Of sand castles so huge I can live in them
Salty breezing through the strands of my mind
The seas actually parting for me to continue for me to enter
Further into these deep waters.
"It loved to happen."

(Marcus Aurelius)
Orientation

For the first time, and probably not the last, the subs witnessed the phenomena more commonly known as Uni High Orientation. Pouring rain set the atmosphere (it was the fifth year in a row—which is as far back as the Seniors can remember) for their first glance at the rest of the gang. Folk songs, volleyball, food, inside jokes and old times prepared the bubbling subs for the rest of the ceremonies. They received the usual treatment—a tour of the premises, a tea for introductions to key teachers and a "Howdy Hop" (which couldn't have been livelier) completed the initiation. Then on the next Monday morning, with the feeling of Uni in their hearts, the subs were able to securely (?) face the lounge.
"Eat, drink and be merry."

Dual Meet Record 7-3

Country

Again this year our Cross Country team was the most successful of all our athletic endeavors. Pre-season training began last summer with daily five-mile workouts. Coach Banion’s first season at Uni proved to be very successful considering the number of inexperienced runners he had to work with. Captain Mark Satterthwaite contributed the most to our victories. Mark and his brother Tod both broke several course records, of which the most impressive was the Monticello meet (run on a very hilly golf course with a strong, cold crosswind) covering 2.75 miles in 14:45. There is a hope we’ll also have a good season next year, with our first Chicago meet, setting Uni against Niles-West, Elmwood and Taft High School (last year’s Chicago city champions).

Student Council

Uni High would not be the same without the contributions of its student government. Student Council president, David Atkin, prodded the council and the student body to action on a number of important issues, such as revision of the constitution, a change of representation on the Student-Faculty Advisory Committee, student visitation, Student Exchange and the sponsorship of scholarship week.

Gargoyle

The Gargoyle roared with creativity this year. The Editors tried everything they could think of to rouse the interest of our critical student body. They included everything from pollution (in a series by Vicki Fung) to problems of love (in the debatable column of “Dear Ruthie”). The Roving Reporter attempted to squeeze opinions from the students, but the Sinic usually knew on his own what was happening. What was the throat of the Gargoyle? Only the cryptogram will tell.

Unique

Members of Unique were: Bruce Martin, co-chairman, Mrs. Tibbetts, sponsor, Tom Stillinger, co-chairman, and David Eisen. Sitting on the floor: Sue Trupin, Jeannine Mosley, Mary Stone and Debbie Goodman.

The Editors of Gargoyle were Beth Burdick (1st semester) and Mary Stone (second semester).

U'N'I editors were: Mike Fischer, sales manager; Linda Krausz, events editor; Ellen Marx and Sue Trupin, co-editors; Rhonda Cohen, seniors editor and assistant editor; Marie Chow, underclassman editor; Debbie Cross, organizations editor.

This year, the weekly yearbook meetings fell slightly below par, due partially to the shortening of the lunch hour and to the editors difficulty in meeting their deadlines for lack of pictures. But the U'N'I was still able to make a great many refreshing changes from the usual run-of-the-mill yearbook. A new section was added—the Introduction—and other sections were shortened to include more candid pages.

S. O. S.

This year, S.O.S. replaced G.A.A. Along with a change in initials, the organization created an uproar as the boys enthusiastically joined in. Mrs. Baker jovially inspired the formerly apathetic student body. They stampeded the Union's bowling alleys, slid and slipped across the ice rink, played touch basketball and tackle hockey, fed avid basketball fans, and spiked the volleyball games. All in all, it was a great success.
... the coach's confidence always helps...

"... for he that runs it well, runs twice his race." (Martial)

Madrigals

"Sing, sweetness, to the last palpitation of the evening and the breeze." (St.—John Perse).
The Music Department offers students a variety of means for participation, both vocal and instrumental. In addition to Music Appreciation which is given at the subfreshman level, students may participate in Mixed Chorus, Instrumental Ensembles, Women’s Ensemble and the Madrigal Group. This ensemble, Uni’s most select musical group consists of six men and six women chosen by audition from members of the Mixed Chorus. The Madrigals represent Uni through a substantial number of appearances in the community each year.

Mixed Chorus

The Mixed Chorus presents a Christmas and Spring Concert each year, as well as other appearances. Last year they received a unanimous Superior rating at the I.H.S.A. contest. The aim of the Music Department is to give students an opportunity to study and perform a wide representation of music from all styles and periods which comprises our cultural heritage.
Basketball

“Add one long-haired 33-point scorer who plays just to be playing.” (News-Gazette)

The illustrious Illineks fought to the bitter end in spite of being ridiculed for their lopsided scores and less than conventional appearances. One game was won by the J.V.’s against Mansfield (50-48) and the J.V.’s finished the season with a 1-13 record. The Varsity struggled through the season winless with a 0-16 record; their best game being against Bellflower with a score of 85-68. Dick Broudy scored 33 points (5 points less than the all-time Uni record). With your long hair, contacts and bare feet, you’re really our team. Go Illineks!

“Winning isn’t everything—but wanting to win is.” (Vince Lombardi).
Varsity alternate cheerleader: Cheryl Creighton.

Cheerleaders

Varsity cheerleaders were: Peggy Ore, Linda Krausz, Ellen Marx and Lucy Richardson.
Junior Varsity alternate: Sherry Lieberthal.

Members of the Junior Varsity cheerleading squad were: Lindsay Branigan, Karla Vallance, Janet Leach and Jane Hays.
"If we may believe our logicians, man is distinguished from all other creatures by the faculty of laughter."

The administration literally shook the walls of Uni this year. Massive remodeling plans changed the entire "look" of the school. State regulated fire doors were installed, some lockers were moved and replaced, the heating system was changed, acoustical tile was added in a few crucial places, the walls were painted the color of sunshine, not to mention the wonders (?) that were accomplished in the locker rooms. Behind the scenes the administration has been setting the goals for Uni’s future.

"Knowing exactly how much of the future can be introduced into the present is the secret of a great government." (Victor Hugo)
Guidance

"We all admire the wisdom of people who come to us for advice." (Jack Hubert)

"THE ART OF LIVING —

AT EVERY MOMENT YOU ARE DECIDING WHAT YOU ULTIMATELY WILL BE!

Your life can be a masterpiece.

You have senses thru which to perceive and experience your world.

You have a mind with which to analyze, interpret and evaluate your perceptions.

You have imagination through which to synthesize your analyzed, interpreted and evaluated perceptions into your MEDIA which is your life.

This synthesis could be your greatest work of art.

Will you live a masterpiece? The decision starts now."

M. J. Hesse, fine arts teacher.
"Culture, the acquainting ourselves with the best that has been known and said in the world, and thus with the history of the human spirit." (Matthew Arnold)

Dr. Ella C. Leppert, chairman of the social studies department, director of the Social Studies Curriculum Study Center, sponsor of Model U.N., and Social Studies I, II and III teacher.

Mr. Grenville King, sophomore Social Studies teacher.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson, Social Studies I and II teacher.

Mr. Robert S. White, Student Council sponsor, U.S. History and Social Studies I teacher. Mr. Wilson Dwyer, sponsor of exchange students, and U.S. History teacher.

Mr. Woods, social studies teacher.
"Language is a wonderful thing. It can be used to express our thoughts, to conceal our thoughts, or to replace thinking." (Johnny Martin)

"A speech is like a love affair. Any fool can start it, but to end it requires considerable skill." (Lord Mancroft)

"Kali tyhi!"

The press was rolling for the Uni English Department. Rhetoric in Thought and Writing was finally published (remember all the W-1 pages?) and is being sold to schools, both public and private. New lesson plans adopted the course to the new demands for "ethnic group" literature. Mrs. Lacy was concentrating on both her baby and the new lesson plans. The senior class was divided into two independent (?) English sections with one group stepping up to the podium themselves to teach.
Mr. David W. Pease, head of Foreign Language Department, German teacher, and sponsor of operetta and commencement ceremonies.

"Speak in French when you can't think of the English for a thing." (Lewis Carroll)

Mrs. Lois Woodruff, Russian IV teacher.

"A thing well said will be wit in all languages." (John Dryden)

Mrs. Carol Unzicker, French teacher.

The main objective of the language departments is to help their students understand other cultures through the speech and the writings of their respective languages. Computer based Latin programs were undertaken by some Latin students and a computer based Russian reading program at Plato was developed by Mrs. Curtin and Mrs. Woodruff.
"For nothing worthy proving can be proved, nor yet disproved."
(Alfred Lord Tennyson)

The Math department has been madly developing new logical and theoretical approaches to UICSM math and then testing their materials on its toughest critics—the Uni Math students. This year the project charged ahead with the Seniors into the nebulous depths of Calculus. During their free time, Dr. Beberman and Mr. Zwoyer created a freshman math course based on application problems. This course is a composite of concepts including algebra, geometry, probability and statistical analysis. The subs were selected to be the guinea pigs for the new course. The last time we checked, both the sophomores and the juniors were still playing around with arrow a's.
"The tragedy of science—the slaying of a beautiful hypothesis by an ugly fact." (Huxley)

A physics program developed at Harvard University and tested by last year's physics students was added to the science curriculum this year. The emphasis of this project was on individualizing instruction. The department's newest course "Science and Human Values" supplemented the other courses so that the department was better able to achieve its goals. The other science courses became more oriented around application problems.

"You can teach a student a lesson for a day; but if you can teach him to learn by creating curiosity, he will continue the learning process as long as he lives." (Clay P. Bedford)

"I want to develop the sense of awareness of political and sociological impacts of scientific and technological achievements of our society and to understand their uses in the improvement of living conditions of all Americans." Mr. Edward S. Jenkins, Chemistry and Physical Science teacher.
Physical Education

Mr. Ronald Lawrence Banion, sponsor of X-Country, Track, U-Club; sub, sophomore, junior and senior boys' P.E. teacher.

Miss Diane Wakat, sub and junior girls' P.E. teacher and head of the Department.

Mr. Charles Davis, sponsor of Basketball and Track; Drivers Education teacher, and freshman boys' P.E. teacher.

Mr. Richard H. Needle, Health Education teacher.

Miss Susan Baker, sponsor of S.O.S. and cheerleaders; freshmen, sophomore and senior girls' P.E. teacher; and guidance counselor.

Smoking? Drinking? Drugs?? Sex??!! The Uni seniors and freshmen were introduced to the "FACTS" this year in the P.E. Department's latest creation—a health education course. The course proved to be exciting; the classes discovered everything ranging from a pig's lung to a smoking machine—from Freud's essays to Playboy interviews. With the revelation in the north attic came a change down below—gang showers for the previously shy Uni girls. Meanwhile the boys were preparing for anything with their self defense unit.
Mrs. Emily Jenkins, Typing instructor.

Uni High became a demonstration center for the Industrial Arts Curriculum Project being developed by Ohio State University. Mrs. Smith worked on various curriculums in Home Economics, especially those for gifted children.

Mr. Walter M. Mattson, Construction Technology teacher.

Mrs. Kathryn W. Smith, sponsor of Home Economics Club, Staff Services, and Home Economics teacher.
Uni High instills in its students a way of thinking which is unique. Deductive reasoning forces the student to examine the issue considering many viewpoints and values. We are taught to draw conclusions only after systematically gathering data, studying the "specifics" and from them, making valid generalizations. As we have discovered, this method of developing our powers of logic can be tedious, strenuous and taxing!

The faculty of Uni helps us create perseverance and inspires us to challenge ourselves and our ideas as well as those of others. These conflicting thoughts challenge us to face the problem. Finally there comes a time, after being confronted, when we are brought to the point of inner turmoil and then we must sit and contain ourselves, while our self determination to invision the answers bring us to the verge of action.

... after all the tears, taunts, quicksilver dreams, cynicism which seeks solitude to cry, studies, goofing off... People... people growing up... then comes the time to laugh... to be free...

and all of a sudden you realize and you are alive

and that's all that matters.
