Greeting:

For the Junior Class of the University its Board of Editors presents this, the 1909 Illio, hoping that, whatever its defects or omissions, it may still serve acceptably its province of annual chronicle, and that in the reminiscences of passing years it may not be entirely valueless as a reminder of happy days at dear old Illinois.

We have written this tale of our life,
For a college people’s mirth
In jesting guise—but ye are wise,
An ye know what the jest is worth.
To
Colonel Edmund Gustav Fechét
courageous soldier, stern teacher and generous friend, this volume is dedicated with the respect and love of the students of the University

Colonel Fechêt, U. S. A.
Fiery son of Mars;
Gallant old hero, never did fear know;
Carries a score of scars.

Colonel Fechêt, so they say,
Once in his wild career,
Captured old Sitting Bull, gave his scalp lock a pull,
Led him away by the ear.

Colonel Fechêt, grim and gray,
Fear-dealing warrior yet;
Rigid old master, brings to disaster
Th' inattentive cadet.

Colonel Fechêt, U. S. A.
Hero of many wars;
Laurels eternal give to the Colonel,
Fiery son of Mars.
Colonel Edmund Gustav Fechét

By T. A. Clark

Although he has been a member of the University community but eight years, few men have become more closely identified with the real life of the University than Colonel Fechét. No man is a more loyal supporter of the institution than he or has a stronger hold upon the student heart.

Colonel Fechét had had a long and honorable career as a soldier before coming to the University. He was but seventeen years old when, in 1861, he enlisted as a private soldier in the Seventh Michigan Infantry. He was at once made a sergeant, and at the time of his discharge in 1865 he held the rank of First Lieutenant. He was given the rank of Brevet First Lieutenant and Brevet Captain March 2, 1867, for gallant and meritorious service at the battle of Antietam, Maryland, September 17, 1862. He was made First Lieutenant of the 8th U. S. Cavalry, July, 1867, was promoted to the rank of Captain in May, 1870, and was made Major of the 6th Cavalry, April 20, 1891, which rank he held when he came to the University in 1900. He was retired for disability in line of duty, July 9, 1898, and was made Lieutenant-Colonel April 23, 1904. He participated in nine battles during the Rebellion, among which were the bloody ones of Bull Run and Gettysburg. In the battle of Antietam he was severely wounded, being shot through the right lung.

For the fifteen years following the close of the war in 1865 he was almost constantly engaged in operating against the Indians in the southwest, and he has spent in all nearly thirty years in campaigning against Indians in the Middle West. He was in the campaign against Geronimo, in 1884-1885, and commanded the celebrated expedition against Sitting Bull in 1890 which resulted in the death of that warrior and in the capture of a large portion of his immediate band. He was in command of the cavalry column which suppressed the war between the cattle barons and the rustlers—known as the Johnson County, Wyoming, war. He was for a time on temporary duty as commandant of cadets at the University of Nebraska. On the declaration of war with Spain he joined his regiment and went with it to Tampa, Florida, where he was in charge of the recruiting and the equipping of all recruits for the armies in Cuba and the Philippines. He is said to hold the record for having ridden the longest continuous period in the saddle of any officer in the army.

Colonel Fechét found the military department in good condition when he came to the University, but he has done much to dignify and popularize the work and to bring it up to a still higher standard. As a military officer he is rigid and uncompromising. Few men have a keener insight into human nature than he, and no one has a higher regard for truth and straightforwardness. The cadet who tells him the truth need not fear for the result; but the man who prevaricates may as well prepare for the worst. Outside of his official capacity he is known as a thoroughly good fellow whom every one likes and whom every one respects. No general student gathering ever seems quite complete without his presence. May his shadow never grow less.

History of the Class of 1908

It was in the gay and gladsome days of mid-September when the ambrosial zephyrs flouted abroad on the campus the flimsy snare of the spider and when stately elms cast delectable shadows on the Boneyard, wondrous stream of fragrant aromas, that a mighty swarm of strange creatures still in the freshness of their youth, appeared suddenly in the sacred realms of our Alma Mater. The ways of the aliens were not the ways of the indigenous inhabitants and their verbosity was not music in the ears of the sophomores. So it came to pass that oft in the blackness of night the rude impacts of the descending bodies of a numerous number of these newcomers disturbed the murky depths of that tranquil brook which trickles resonantly in the rear of Prexy’s domicile.

With a common cause for coalition this heterogeneous multitude could not for long exist in dissociation. Therefore an efficacious pow-wow was held and big chief Dyer was called from the chaotic heap of debris to lead its members in their gentle conflict for the defense of their gaudy, fluttering, emblem. Verily the struggle proved to be their conglutinative, and when the fumes of conflict had floated skyward the mask of uncertainty had fallen from the aliens and a mighty tribe of triumphant warriors stood disclosed. The archives had no record of a like achievement and there were none among the conquered to question the fitness of the strangers to dwell among them.

Intrepid and venturesome were the newcomers; so when there were no other worlds to subjugate by physical prowess, they turned aside from scenes of carnage and sought the laurels of victory in the fields where eloquence and thought are the prime requisites of success. And behold! from the ranks of the herd came three mighty champions who thundered forth great volumes of oratory so that the enemy were sore afraid and blanched with terror. The record of these freshman orators is a sufficient exculpation for the dismay which they inspired.

On through the gauntlet of university activities marched this motley horde of conquerors, grasping as they passed honors from each line. They fought for and achieved championship on the diamond and in the pool. Not in such fields alone, however, was the liveliness of this robust race apparent. Their social attainments are without parallel in the chronicles of the institution. But why comment further? The detailed recital of the triumphs and exploits of this illustrious class would create a far larger volume than the one in which this brief sketch is found. Once launched upon the enumeration of such events as the Cotillion, Prom, Smoker, and the like there would be no terminus.

Yet to you who follow, the writer craves the liberty of directing a few words with the precept that you hearken to them and transmit the tradition, which they will eventually become, unto your successors. As the tribe of the Illini was the mightiest of their nation, so we have been the mightiest of all the tribes at Illinois. Therefore when the stranger cometh upon the campus, make him an offering of peace and lead him unto the glorious realms of Memorial Hall where he may view the one material memoir which we leave behind. Rehearse to him the story of the Illini; and as he gazes in reverence at the semblance of a noble, copper-colored, aborigine say to him that the warriors of the Illinois’s most powerful tribe have left behind them this appropriate memento of their sojourn among you; that they have scattered to accomplish greater deeds and the world will need no interpreter to construe their achievements.

The Class of 1909

Thirty moons ago there gathered
With the tribe known as Illini
In its tepees by the Boneyard,
Many young and valiant warriors
Who desired to join as tribesmen.
From the four winds came the warriors:
From the village of Chicago,
From the prairie lands adjacent,
From beyond the Alleghanies,
And the shining Big Sea Water,
From beyond the Mississippi,
From the lands beyond the sunset.
Hindoo, Jap, and Filipino—
Many youths from other nations
Travelled far with great endurance
Longed to join the strong Illini.
Then the greatest of the war chiefs
Sent the youths to Chief Pillsbury
Who examined them acutely,
Asked them many searching questions
Made them show their marks of honor.
Some were sent back home lamenting,
Some were sent down to the “Cellar”
There to strive a few moons longer
Ere they joined the strong Illini.
But the many were admitted
To the tepees by the Boneyard,
Here in Council they were known as,
Aughty Nine, or else, as Freshmen.
Unsophisticated were they
In the ways of the Illini;
Never had they heard the war cries,
Heard the thrilling “Oskey-wow-wow,”
Nor the strident “Locomotive,”
Nor the “Siren’s” high crescendo
Strange to them were all the customs;
Strange, the way to wear the scalp lock,
Or adorn the showy blankets.
And, because they showed their freshness,
Aughty nine was oft belabored
By the others of the tribesmen.
Aughty Eight, the class admitted
Just ten moons before as Freshmen.
Took the lead among the others
In maltreating the new comers,
Often roused them from their slumbers,
Took them to the gurgling Boneyard,
Made them dive beneath the waters,
And, when on the bank they clambered,
Pounded them with heavy paddles,
Sent them home wet, sore, and weary.
These two clans were always fighting.
Once the Freshmen took their totem,
Hung it high upon a pillar,
Gathered ‘round beneath the totem,
Dared their rivals come and take it.

"People who 'bury the hatchet' often dig it up again."—PEGGY AND EARNIE.
Aughty Eight the dare accepted,
And with war-cry high resounding,
Rushed to vanquish with their fury
The defenders of the totem.
Long the din of battle sounded:
Aughty Eight, at last, dejected
And with noisy boasts all silenced,
Straggled from the field of battle.
Once again in fierce contention,
With their brains and tongues as weapons,
These two clans did try their mettle.
Aughty Nine once more the victor,
Gained a high place in the Council.
Soon another horde of warriors
Came to join the strong Illini.
Aughty nine, no longer Freshmen,
Did not treat the young newcomers
Just as they themselves were treated.
They, instead, all met in Council,
Voted out the sin of hazing.
Thus they gained themselves much honor,
Thus they set for future tribesmen
Precedents for them to follow.

Then the clan, now wise and powerful,
Held a dance, a great Cotillion,
In the tepee where the war clubs
Of the tribe are stored together.
To the music of the tom-toms
Here they met and danced together,
Raised a tumult by their dancing,
So said other older tribesmen,
Shocked were all these older tribesmen,
Said the clan was rude, uncultured.
'Twas the spirit of the clansmen
Rising high and bubbling over;
'Twas the spirit that will make them,
When their tribal life is over,
Known as men of great endeavor.
Aughty nine still struggled onward
To the high estate of Juniors;
Held a "Prom" 'mid scenes of splendor,
Held a smoke-fest where the clansmen
Met rejoicing, smoked together.
Always learning from the wise men,
Growing strong in mind and body,
Furnished men that brought much honor
To the tepees by the Boneyard.
So that now when the Illini
Choose their warriors for the struggles
'Gainst the hands of other nations,
Aughty nine's strong doughty warriors
Ever are predominating.
Are the swiftest and the strongest,
Are the wisest and most skillful
Are the ones that win the vict'ries.
When their tribal race is over,
For their strong and valiant warriors
For the deeds which they accomplished,
Aughty Nine will be remembered
Long among the strong Illini
In their tepees by the Boneyard.

Sophomore Class History

Scene—Towers of Main Hall.

Time—Spring, 1908.

Mr. Clock—Good morning, Miss Weather Signal, you are gay this morning in your glad rags. You seem to have planned some fine weather for the mortals below.

Miss Weather Signal—O, yes indeed. These students have a hard enough time of it I am thinking with the daily up and tear to make 8 o'clock. You surely do move your hands lively. Just when we are all getting a good rest, you force us to be up and doing again. As for myself I have hardly time to brush my customs and make my plans for the next twenty-four hours before I see your face over there grinning maliciously and bidding me come forth. You never give any one a minute's peace. I like to make things pleasant once in a while.

Mr. C.—As I live and breathe, Miss Signals, there must be some one to set things stirring. I tell you this Uni would be a slow place if it were not for me and the class of 1910. You are right— we keep things running, and a good run, too.

Miss W. S.—Humph— you and the sophomores— well, you needn't think for a minute that an intelligent class of young people like these would be having anything to do with you. Oh, my no! Ha ha! With a dried up old fossil like you. You of the class of 1878. Mr. C.—Yes— 1878. The survival of the fittest you see. Gaze on that lad coming up yonder walk wending his way toward our walls. Well, he's a sample of these sophomores. Did you notice him in the color rush that 1910 won, the first rush to be won by the sophomores in three years? Through his leadership it only took two minutes to climb the pole, when forty-five minutes is the time allowed. The sophs won the class championship in football and basketball too. Even when they first arrived a year ago I thought they were going to be a fine bunch. Do you remember how the papers all around here in Illinois sat up and took notice?

Miss W. S.—They surely have more than lived up to our expectations. You speak of athletics. There is nothing narrow about them either. Look at their debating team. And they all said the Sophomore Cotillion was a pretty fine affair.

Mr. C.—Yes, only you did all you could to hinder, by having an animated snow-storm, and stung the fellows for cabs. I can't say I admire your spirit.

Miss W. S.—More than once have I regretted that night. My long distance connections had been broken all week and it was impossible to reach Jupiter and the powers that be. I have always wanted to make a public apology, but the cotillion pulled off so beautifully, that I let it pass.

Mr. C.—They surely know how to run things. When they were freshmen they were a pretty good bunch, though of various sizes, shapes and colors, but this year shows a wonderful development. The struggles they have had have brought out the good lying hidden within. As we live and watch their comings and goings from our little corners of Uni Hall, helpless to aid or hinder, we see them launched into affairs collegiate and grown into a part of the whole.

The 1909 Illio

Freshman Class History

NCE upon a time fifteen hundred ambitious youths, eager for the knowledge of the ways of the world, were scattered broadcast over the land, "from Greenland's icy mountain to India's wave beat shore, from fertile valleys, from snow-capped mountain ranges and wind-swept desert plains," all awaiting the eventful day, when each might claim as his Alma Mater, the University of Illinois.

The days passed by, until, finally Father Time, exchanging his proverbial scythe for a hand-rake, gathered them together, and, on the 18th day of September, 1907, led them, in fear and apprehension, before the registrar. Their timidity and trembling were soon cast off, however, and in their place there sprang a growing assiduity in learning the ways of the University. In consequence of their ever-present diligence, they soon became familiar with "les curiosités" about the University. Like bees, they swarmed about the sun-dial on the campus and gazed at it with an air of sagaciousness befitting the ancient philosophers; each, in turn, tasted the water of life, as it flowed from the fount of rock, before the University Hall; and some of the bolder and more courageous were even known to slip up in the friendly darkness, and sit upon the Senior bench during the midnight hour. Through such trials they bravely passed and within a few days had assumed the air and attitude of the college man.

This seemed distasteful to the "wise fools" of '10, and many a physical engagement was the result. We are glad to record that, in these hand to hand encounters, the class of '11 was many times successful; that the majority of the Boneyard skirmishes resulted in victories for the freshmen. In athletics and in political methods they were equally eminent. Never, in fact, has Illinois possessed such a strong freshman eleven, and many were the close games they gave the Varsity. In other branches of athletics they were likewise prominent. The class, as a whole, showed their appreciation for athletic ability by electing for their leaders men renowned for their athletic prowess.

Thus, although ground down under the tyrannical hoof of the sophs, exasperated by the patronizing air of the juniors, and scorned, with a disdainful glance, by the seniors, their courage never failed, and their untiring search for knowledge, rooted in the deepest foundations of their intelligence, was seen to prosper. Thus, out of the valley of seclusion and darkness they have marched, as an army, always ahead, never faltering, never looking back, until the glorious setting of their first year's sun radiates in splendor, and amplifies the glory of the position, which they hope to achieve and to hold at the summit of the mountain of university importance.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said—
"Do not Military."
PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS
Bernard Fantus, M.D.

Bernard Fantus, M.D., was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1874; he received his early schooling in Vienna, Austria, where he attended the Gymnasium. In 1889, he came to the United States with his parents.

Shortly after his arrival in the United States he served an apprenticeship in pharmacy at Paul Leuschner's drug store in Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Leuschner took an unusual interest in the young foreigner, and gave him a more thorough training in pharmacy than generally falls to the lot of the drug store apprentice.

In 1892, he and his parents moved to Chicago, where he continued work in pharmacy at O. F. Fischer's drug store. In due time he became registered pharmacist by examination before the State Board of Pharmacy.

From early childhood his parents had nurtured in him the ambition to become a physician. Their efforts bore fruit, when he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago in 1895, and received the degree of M.D. in 1899. Conscientiousness in his work secured him two first-prize faculty medals during his student years. His ability as a teacher was recognized early, for while yet a medical student he conducted an optional laboratory course in pharmacy at the medical college. This course became quite popular with the students; and has been the beginning of laboratory instruction in the department of materia medica and therapeutics at this institution.

On graduation he secured, by competitive examination, an appointment to the house-staff of the Cook County Hospital; and served an internship in 1899 and 1900. During this time he continued to teach pharmacy at his alma mater. After leaving the Cook County Hospital, he commenced the private practice of medicine in Chicago.

In 1900, he received an appointment on the faculty of his medical school, first as assistant, and later as adjunct professor of materia medica. Feeling the necessity for better training in pharmacology, he spent the summer of 1901 in Professor Cushing's Pharmacologic Laboratory at the University of Michigan. He was elected to the professorship of materia medica and therapeutics in 1903, to fill the chair left vacant by his teacher, Professor George F. Butler, who accepted the position of head of the Alma Sanitarium, at Alma, Mich.

He married Miss Emily M. Senn, a graduate of the Illinois Training School for Nurses. In 1906, Dr. and Mrs. Fantus made a trip to Europe where the doctor pursued original research work at Professor Schniedeberg's Pharmacologic Laboratory in Strassburg, Elzas.

The second edition of Dr. Fantus' "Text-book of Prescription-Writing and Pharmacy" and the first edition of his "Essentials of Prescription-Writing"* were published by the Chicago Medical Book Company in 1906.

During his connection with the College of Medicine he has continually exerted himself to improve the work done in his department of teaching. When he took the chair of materia medica there were 135 lecture recitation hours, and 36 laboratory hours allotted to it. At present, there are 252 lecture recitation hours, and 108 laboratory hours. There is probably no other medical school in this country that gives a more thorough course in materia medica and therapeutics than does at present the medical department of the University of Illinois.

"No 'heir' apparent."—Griffiths.
Dr. William Augusta Evans

Dr. William Augusta Evans, Professor of Pathology, College of Physicians and Surgeons, was born in Marion, Alabama, August 5th, 1865.

His early education was obtained in the public schools at his home, from which he entered the Mississippi Agricultural College, receiving the degree of B.S. in 1881 and M.S. in 1882.

He then entered the University of Tulane to study medicine, graduating in 1885. Immediately upon completion of his work, he went abroad to take up post-graduate work, after which he returned to Chicago to begin the practice of medicine.

In 1889 he accepted the chair of Pathology in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of Illinois, which place he still holds. In connection with this work he is pathologist to Cook Co., Alexian Brothers, and Dunning hospitals, and to the Columbus Memorial Laboratory. Besides being an active practitioner, Dr. Evans is a member of the American Medical, Illinois Medical, Mississippi Medical, Chicago Medical, and Chicago Pathological Societies; a distinguished contributor to Medical Journals, and a prominent member of many social organizations of the city.

An indication of the esteem and regard which the medical profession holds for Dr. Evans may be gained by the fact, that one year ago he was appointed "Commissioner of Health" of the city of Chicago, upon recommendation of a group of Chicago's best known medical men. He is a very able and interesting speaker, devoting considerable of his time to lecturing on Medical Reform, especially regarding Public Health; his main work being connected with the "Anti Tuberculosis Movement."

As a result of his devout application to work, his ceaseless and untiring endeavor, and his broad ideas dealing with the relation of the Medical profession to the public at large; he has won a place of high regard, not only in his own profession, but amongst the entire commonwealth.

"The Hall-Room Boy."—Eliot and Alderson
The Quine Library

It is only within recent years that the Medical College has recognized the Library as a part of the necessary equipment of the institutions that prepare for their life-work the physicians and surgeons of the world. The College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of Illinois was one of the first schools to recognize this necessity and to provide for its students the benefit of the best professional literature. Eleven years ago the library was started, and has from its inception, been steadily growing until at present it contains 12,000 volumes. It is extensively patronized by the faculty, the students, and many other people who are interested in the medical science. The many donations which Dr. Quine has made to the library together with his wide recognition as an educator, caused the faculty to bestow on the library the name of the beloved dean of the college.

The patronage of the Quine Library speaks for the appreciation of the students in the college, but that this feeling may have some tangible and lasting expression it has become the custom for the members of each graduating class to present to the library some gift as a class memorial. The gift of the class of 1907 was a book-plate, a cut of which accompanies this article. The original drawing is framed and hangs in the general reading room of the library, while a print adorns each volume in the library.

The Junior Prom

After a great deal of dissension among a few members of the class, the annual Prom, given heretofore by the Juniors to the Seniors, was given on March 2. The expenses incurred were paid by the Juniors in attendance.

The programs were decorated with a neat design of the Illinois colors arranged in a six leaf style. The event was a great success, and marks a prominent epoch in society life at P. & S.

"Much ado about nothing."—Mr. Brown.
The Junior Class

In the latter part of the month of September, 1905, the people of the West Side of Chicago suddenly were aware of the fact that into their midst had come as if by magic, a brilliant and comely body of young people. Enquiry revealed the fact that these verdant strangers, each, mirabile dictu, with a portion of human skeleton under his arm, were to be seen at 7:45 o’clock each morning centering to a common meeting point found to be the University of Illinois, College of Physicians and Surgeons. The mystery was soon solved. This new folk was the freshman class of P. & S.

How diligently we clung to that scapula and humerus in those beginning days. How hard it was for us to appreciate those “points of interest” about which Dr. Price made us stand up and recite. But the time and space allotted for this article will not permit too detailed reminiscences. A few biographical notes concerning our personal life of the class of ’05 must suffice.

Mr. George Washington Post, with his long distinguished name and longer locks, early impressed us as a capable executive and he secured the first presidency. Later, however, in ways of politics known only to our class, we deposed Mr. Post and elected Bender to finish the year as our president. In our first color-rush we secured the sophomore flag after an hour’s hard fight which sent a half dozen of our braves to the hospital for repairs. Henceforth we lifted our heads a little higher, even if our color-rush hero did try to disgrace us by using questionable means for securing his livelihood.

The freshman instructors all treated us very kindly and we did not see fit to have any of them displaced. Dr. Price, instructor in anatomy, had our respect and favor from the start, and he was pleased to entertain us for one evening in his home, apparently having no fear for our behavior. Motherly Mrs. Eckley as she used to clap her hands and call out “freshmen, freshmen,” till we all huddled about her, was our guardian in the “cadaverous” rooms of the Dental Building. May happiness and good fortune ever be hers. We are penitent now, “so to speak,” of the persecution we heaped upon Dr. Wynekoop, who opened up to us, “as it were,” the story of that marvelous, mysterious, prowling, provoking little cuss, the amoeba. But Dr. Zapfie was the man who made the freshmen sweat blood. Distinct in memory are the grades of 20 and 30 returned upon those examination papers in Histology, and it was “root, hog, or die,” for us. We rooted. Credit for the fine conduct of this class is due in part to Dr. Wentz who lectured to us the first year on ethics, mixed with chemistry as a condiment.

By the close of our first year we were showing fine form and came back in the fall with vim and determination for the second lap. A few “lame ducks” had to be left behind but there were enough new men, both wise and otherwise, to fill up the gaps. Our corps of sophomore instructors could not be surpassed anywhere. Remember the attack of spastic paralysis when Dr. Evans looked at you and said “What say?” Remember the proliferation of figures and letters that took place when Dr. Drewey explained metabolism? Remember the bargain-day remnant-sale price you felt like when Dr. Fantus said “Oh, my, no,” or when Dr. Santee stood waiting for you to grope your way along those neurones? Well, yes, perhaps. And those sophomore laboratories were a purgatory, making one better prepared, we hope, for better things to come. “Oh, what is so rare as a day in June,” surely touches the soul of a sophomore in the spring. C. J. Leavy was our class president throughout those days of 1906-1907, and a trustworthy pilot he was. At the class election in May, 1907, W. E. Rose was chosen president for the ensuing year. Hon. G. E. Eck, after much “heeling” and “wire-pulling” secured the position of class editor.

Arrived at a point where life looms up as a serious proposition, it is no longer the chief aim of our members to miss recitations and get holidays. With Rose and Carless, and Mme. French to spend our evenings with, we have little time for entertainment elsewhere. As Juniors (almost seniors), in P. & S., we stand, proud of our record behind, hopeful for that yet to be made, peaceable and unassuming manner, but with a quiet dignity and power that makes mighty men sue and tremble for our good will.

Athletics

In reviewing the history of Athletics at the college of Physicians and Surgeons during the past season we are confronted with the ever paramount feature, viz. the loss of games through lack of time for preparation and the indomitable fighting spirit and bull dog tenacity which always characterizes the teams of this institution. This spirit is invariably present in the face of the most adverse circumstances and under the greatest of handicaps.

The football season of 1907 resulted as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>P. &amp; S.</th>
<th>OPPOSITES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame vs. P. &amp; S.</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago Veterinary College</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Vincent's College</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

In all of the following games the P. & S. raw material was pitted against teams that had enjoyed the advantages of sufficient time for preparation and instruction from coaches of wide reputation. The game playing of our raw recruits against these odds aroused favorable comment from both spectators and opposing players. The environment of this institution is a fair sample of the conditions prevailing in all Medical Colleges which militates toward what appears to be the final elimination of all forms of sport from our curriculum.

Our baseball team fared but little better. The following games were played:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>P. &amp; S.</th>
<th>OPPOSITES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>P. &amp; S. vs. Crane High School</td>

<tr>
<td>P. &amp; S. vs. McKinley High School</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>P. &amp; S. vs. DePauw University</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Of the basketball team great results were expected and in a measure our expectations were realized. Following are the games and scores:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>P. &amp; S.</th>
<th>OPPOSITES</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>P. &amp; S. vs. DePauw</td>

</tbody>
In view of the fact that the football team has been strengthened by new material from the Freshman class, we are looking forward to a more successful season next year. Among the best of these new men is Doyle who played tackle on Notre Dame for two years. Mr. Doyle was so impressed with the possibilities of the P. & S. team as shown by the game at Notre Dame this fall that he immediately applied for entrance into P. & S. in order to become a member of this team, in which laudable ambition he was successful. On the other hand several of the gradually declining (from a physical standpoint) members of the team, who are members of the Senior class will not be with us next season. Manager Mortenson believes that he is warranted in the expectation of more consistent playing and better results next year.

In this connection it might be permissible to add that there is a possibility that grave errors have been made during the past two years in the selection of the members of the various teams. Several men came out to avail themselves of the practice, which our limited time makes possible, who were not allowed to show what phenomenal ability they possessed. An example of this was Mr. O. E. Ishmall, the stalwart weight man from the University of Wisconsin, whose anticipations for securing a place on the team were apparently well founded until a specific disease developed which was complicated by a prolonged attack of Lambago and Sciatica of sufficient severity to keep him from practice until such a late date that he was unable to round into condition.

The team has always had the loyal support of the student body, and the feminine element deserves special mention. They took an intense interest in all the games, and their loyalty to the institution was evinced by their faithful attendance and the prominent display of banners and school colors.

This being the last year of the two authors in school, we go out into the chilly world with many fond recollections and tender memories of school days which as Dickens remarks “Fade away into oblivion like the swaying of a pendulum, like the fading of a shadow on the flood;” in so doing we wish the various teams of the coming years God speed.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons' department of the Young Men's Christian Association takes the initiative in being a source of strength to the spiritual needs of the medical students. It is intended and indeed it has proven, to be very helpful to the student who, after having undergone the strenuous routine of college life would perhaps heed no further the call to eternal things, which surmounts all, were it not for the ever present advantages of the department. But again this organization serves for the symmetrical development of soul, mind and body.

The regular weekly meetings are held not merely with the view of being evangelical in their nature but of educational and moral import with spiritual application which seems to better meet the demand of the student who may thus deduce many helpful things from his professional work in which he, of necessity, is delving from day to day. To this end we have been successful in securing the services of prominent men, such as medical missionaries, chautauqua lecturers, and faculty members.

Aside from the weekly meetings, we have also kept up a monthly lecture series for which we have secured as speakers men from the various medical colleges of the city who have dealt with purely scientific subjects presenting such problems as are being developed at the present day. Special musical features have been added for many of these meetings which have undoubtedly enlivened the mind for the reception of the sturdy problems to follow.

A reading room is maintained, being well supplied with valuable reading material. This room also serves as a retreat for the weary student who could not otherwise find a quiet resting place.

An employment bureau and rooming list are valuable features especially at the opening of the school year, when many appear who are in need of such assistance as these branches offer.

The department keeps in close relation with the pastors of the various churches so that men who newly arrive may be welcomed by these churches according to their preference as determined from the compiling of the religious census.

Through the agency of the central Y. M. C. A. we are enabled to give the sick the necessary attentions and so make their lonely hours as cheerful as possible. The central department cooperates energetically and unstintingly in every effort toward the improvement of the college department.

Edwin R. Tiffin, Department Secretary.

P. and S. Young Women's Christian Association

The Y. W. C. A. has conducted a Bible Study class this year. Two women in training at the Institute for Y. W. C. A. Secretaries have conducted the class.

Miss Melcher gave a course on Women of the Old Testament; and later Miss Wheeler gave one on Prominent Men of the New Testament and their Writings.

It is seldom that a Y. W. C. A. is able to offer such qualified leaders for their Bible Study work.

The Class of 1908

It was on the morning of September 15, 1906, that I arrived in Chicago with the purpose of entering the College of Pharmacy of the University of Illinois. If ever a fellow felt like Robinson Crusoe, I was the one. I was completely lost. After asking every policeman that I saw, and many other people whom I met, which was east, where would I find Grant Park, how could I get to the I. C. depot, and divers other questions, I at last succeeded in finding the school buildings.

I found our actuary, Professor Day, in the office, and at once in trembling voice told him who I was, where I was from, and what I was there for. After completing my business with him, I was about to depart to look for a place to put my shoes, when there entered two of the greenest looking country lads that ever you saw; (as I think of it now, I believe there were others who had called at the office that day who were of the same type—one at least). These were the first boys of the class of '08 that I met.

Upon arriving at the school on the day of the opening, I saw in the halls a crowd of boys and young men, green looking and otherwise, aggregating nearly a hundred in number. More kept coming until, when the bell sounded for assembly, there were nearly two hundred of us ready to start a new page in the history of our lives and of the school. The first day's business was the assignment of seats, laboratory kits, etc., and as strangers in a strange land, we became mutually confidential, and before the day was over nearly every one had become pretty well acquainted with others in the class.

The second day was the one day in our college life never to be forgotten. When the bell rang for the first hour, we were ushered into Materia Medica lecture hall, where Professor Goodman received us. I shall always remember the welcome we received from him. He was the first one of the instructors to talk to us, and after bidding us welcome, he laid down the rules and regulations of the school combined with a great deal of good sound advice. From his lecture hall we wended our way to the fourth floor, where we met Professor Hallberg, who at once informed us that we would commence work in Pharmacy right away. At the third hour came the mystery of mysteries, when we entered Professor Puckner's room. Here we listened to astounding theories and facts about matter and space, how every substance, solid, liquid, or gas was composed of those minute particles called molecules, and these in turn, of still smaller particles, called atoms. When the bell rang for the close of the hour, every student awoke as if from a trance, wondering if what he had heard could possibly be true. From this day on we began to delve deeper and deeper into the sciences which were our studies, and it was but a few weeks until everything was running as smoothly as if we had been used to it all our lives.

By this time the fellows were getting pretty well acquainted with one another, and in talking with some of them, I found that we had representatives from nearly every state of the Union, and from a number of foreign countries. The routine of our work was soon disturbed, when it was whispered about that we were to have examinations soon. This was a new mystery to be solved, something new to talk about, and nothing but suspense until the day was past. All this time one could notice that a gradual change was going on in the class. The boys did not hesitate in their work in the laboratories, as they had at first, afraid that their neighbors might notice that they were making mistakes. They began to take an interest in the class as a class, and the spirit of the work seemed to have gained a hold upon them. As a result of this a class meeting was called during the latter part of October, and the class was organized with P. F. Schreiber as president, the writer as vice-president, H. A. Langenhan as secretary, and A. V. Paulinck as treasurer. From this time the class began to improve, and when the holidays arrived to close the first term, it was demonstrated that we had a class that had not been equalled in quality for a number of years.

At the beginning of the second term we noticed that some of the boys had not returned, and it was a smaller but wiser class that took up the finishing work of the Junior year. The novelty of the work was by this time worn off, and some of the boys gradually dropped out until we had but two-thirds our original number. The second semester passed smoothly and uneventfully, every man for the most part absorbed in his work, and examinations were upon us before we were aware that the last fifteen weeks of our first year were gone. The finals over, we all said good-bye, and wished good luck to one another until we should meet again the next year to take up our work where we had left off.

Our senior year opened with about half the boys who had finished the junior year, and a few from other schools. On the first day the main hall and the office were the scenes of the renewals of many of the past year’s friendships. Every one had a hearty greeting for every one else, and it did seem good to get back into the old buildings, and see so many of the fellows we had left four months before. Although composed of nearly the same boys as had assembled just a year before in the same halls, a person seeing the little groups of well dressed, well kept young men would never have realized them as the same. The bell for the first hour put an end to our visiting before we had half a chance to see and talk to all our classmates.

How different our senior year was to be from our junior year, no one realized. Our work in Pharmacy we found would be a continuation of the work of the year before, but in chemistry we were to take up a new branch—organic chemistry. Professor Goodman had a new study for us, Materia Medica, and there were changes in all the other departments. We found to our joy that the Pharmacy laboratory had new equipment, which made our work easier and more pleasant. After the excitement of the first few days, we took up our work with a will, knowing that we must make the time count if we expect to finish with honors. In October the class was organized for the ensuing year. In a hot and strenuous meeting W. P. Williamson was elected president, D. N. Fidler, vice-president, Raleigh Earee, treasurer, and A. S. Kisner, secretary. An executive committee was elected, and the class of ’08 was prepared to take up its work in a systematic way.

Since that time class meetings have been held regularly, and the class has gradually been getting things in shape for the finish. There is no longer any of the hilarity in the lecture halls and the laboratories that often showed itself during the first year, and everything is running with a regularity seldom equalled. These last few weeks will be busy ones with the extra work necessary to complete the field of study and the examinations sandwiched in between. We are now living in the hope that when our work here is completed, and we come to the parting of the ways, that our work will have been such that we can say we have laid a strong foundation for a long and successful career in our chosen profession.

Our most valuable elements in the study of Chemistry

CALCIUM—An earthly light that brightens even the stars.

ETHER—One of the world’s three greatest composers, the others being Gas and Chloroform, whose airs are popular among the suffering.

SILVER—A metallic form of Opium, smoked by Presidential impossibilities.

Since studying the science of plant life Kisner has decided that the simple life is the only one for him. (Down on the farm, Brownsville, Ill.)

We understand that the “Force Cereal Co. of Buffalo” has been reorganized and is again putting its product on the market. “Sunny Jim Lukem” will be the western “Agent” as well as “Chemist” and he assures the public that they will receive goods that comply with the “Pure Food and Drugs Act” of June 30, ’06.

It is a relief to “Sells” to know that this is his last year in school, as one of the opposite sex has been patiently waiting for the time to come, when his mind could be diverted from researches for Pharmaceutical and Chemical knowledge and give a little attention to Cannubial Felicity.

Davies has a noticeable partiality for plaid Trousers.

Prof. Hallberg has discovered a new process, called “The Pneumatic Process,” whereby the sleeping germs, which invade the Pharmacy Lecture Room, may be secured.

From all indications it seems as though “Stark” has an insane desire to take home with him (DeKalb, Ill.) our pretty little stenographer.

Williamson regrets that the college building is not equipped with a special reception room where he might receive his numerous lady callers.

Skinner enters P. & S. next year. He has the advantage over most men of that profession, as his name has already been made.

Pavlicek relates that his work has been interrupted by “Leap Year Proposals.”

"Perfect Ladies."—Sim Cleavenger, Johnny Lillard.
The 1907 Football Season

The football season of 1907, though far from being the successful year which had been earnestly looked for, was probably the most encouraging season which Illinois has experienced for some time. It was also satisfactory because it clearly proved the efficiency of the post-graduate system of coaching. Without a doubt the 1907 team was the most carefully and conscientiously coached team which ever represented the Orange and Blue, and with the same able coaches to devise plays and coach the team, with "Van" as leader, with nine "I" men as a nucleus and the typical Illinois spirit to back it, the 1908 team should be the "Champions of the West."

"Artie" Hall and Lindgren have the full confidence of the team and with the promise of their return a big step has been taken to start the 1908 season along the path which leads to the much coveted title. Illinois holds it in track and baseball, and it must have it in football.

The only men who will not be in their moleskins next September will be White and Dadant. During the last year White's work at center was at all times first class, both on defense and offense, and as hard and earnest a worker will be hard to find. Dadant, playing at end, was a strong man in the new game owing to his remarkable ability to handle the forward pass. It was his first year on the varsity and it is much to be regretted that his capabilities will not be available for the two more years of competition to which he is entitled.

Of the old men to be on hand next fall, seven have been playing together since their freshman year, and having their last opportunity to work for the Alma Mater, will put forth their best efforts. Two more have had the benefit of their freshman year and their last year's experience, and the team work should be well advanced early in the season.

The leader of next year's team is a man of whom we may well be proud. Feared by all other teams, a clean, hard player, a conscientious worker and a mountain of strength to the team, Van Hook was the logical choice. The confidence of the whole team is his and to Captain-elect Van Hook rightfully belongs the honor of leading the 1908 team.

The lack of preliminary games was clearly shown last year, when on Oct. 10th the game with Chicago was lost by a score of 42 to 6. The first half ended the score 10 to 6 in Chicago's favor but in reality the advantage on the Illinois side, but early in the second period Chicago's superior team work and the poor condition of our team began to show and the outcome was apparent.

The mistake of having an important game the first one on the schedule, was readily seen and the seven game ruling will eliminate this trouble in the future.

The following week the team went to Madison, better prepared for a hard game and determined to win. The resulting score 15 to 4 in our favor was well deserved, for Wisconsin was outplayed in every department of the game. Illinois was their superior in the use of the forward pass and Wisconsin in their inability to return punts lost ten to twenty yards on every exchange. The team showed a decided improvement in physical condition and at the end of the second half were playing as fast as at the kick off. It was the first time that Illinois had defeated Wisconsin in football, and the victory did much toward encouraging the team.

"Can such bitterness enter into the heart of the godly?"—Victoria Brougham.

On Nov. 24 our old time rivals, Purdue, went down in defeat by the score of 21 to 4. The game was played on a muddy field and the score hardly represents the relative merits of the two teams, for again and again the Illinois backs broke away and then slipped on the muddy ground. For the same reason accurate kicking and passing were made impossible and many of the gains were made on line plays, although at times the forward pass was very effectively used.

The following week the team met its second and last defeat of the year at the hands of Iowa. The trip was a most unfortunate one from the very start. Leaving Champaign Friday morning, train connections were missed at Peoria and not until 1 A.M. Saturday morning did the team reach Davenport. It was then necessary to rise at 2 A.M. in order to catch the train for Iowa City and thus with barely four hours sleep and a tiresome journey, the physical condition of the team was hardly what it should have been. Van Hook was also very sick and in reality should not have been allowed to play, but the big fellow was determined to get into the game and did well considering his condition. When in the beginning of the second half he was taken from the game, the whole grand stand cheered, and the Iowa team threw their head gear in the air and yelled for joy. The work of the men was hardly up to the standard, however, and the game closed with a score of 25 to 12 in Iowa's favor.

Two weeks elapsed before the Indiana game at Bloomington which resulted in a score of 10 to 6 in favor of Illinois. Indiana's score was a result of a fumble and a ninety yard run. Again the field was muddy and the slippery clay made it difficult for fast work. Several times the ball was within easy striking distance of Indiana's goal but the slippery condition was too great a handicap. It was the last game of the year and the men worked hard and earned their victory.

The new game seems popular with the roosters and is no doubt an improvement over the old style of play. The fact that five men played every game of the season, that only eleven men received "I's," and one man an "I" cap proves that it is not so hard on the players. Sinnock was without a doubt head and shoulders above any man in the west in the art of forward passing and his ability will be valuable next year. Van Hook was unanimously given All-Western guard and Railway tackle and Sinnock at quarter, were given places on the second team. Many of the other men were given honorable mention for their work and with this nucleus and strong additions from the freshman team, the outlook is one to bring joy to the heart of every supporter of the Orange and Blue.

LION GARDNER.
The Team

GARDINER

From the time the whistle announces the beginning of the fray until time is called at the end, “Gard” is the embodiment of the brutal football spirit. The Dr. Jekyll of his nature glares forth with terrible predominance. He bucks the line with the impetuosity of an exasperated “Billy” goat; he sweeps around the ends like a Kansas tornado; and he tackles the opposing players like a famished catamount. Blood, hair and detached portions of football armor always fall in the wake of “Gard” when he charges down the field. The game over, he assumes his usual sunny disposition. He is 22 years old, is 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. Was captain of the team last season.

VAN HOOK

“Van” was reared among the crags of Mt. Pulaski. As a child he was fragile and girlish looking, with dreamy eyes and long curly hair. His chief diversions then were, dressing dolls and playing a minor rôle in the game of “Drop the Handkerchief.” At the age of twelve “Van’s” ideals suddenly changed. He discarded his dolls, had his long curls abbreviated, and began to associate with a gang of wicked boys. Under the influence of this new environment his feet began to grow rapidly and the rest of his body followed suit. At the age of twenty-two he entered the U. of I. in order further to develop his remarkable physique under the instruction of the famous Leo G. Hana. At the age of 22 he stands 5 feet 11½ inches in his bare feet and wears No. 12 shoes. His specialty in football is to play three or four positions at once. He is All-Western Guard and Captain-elect of next season’s team. His avocation at the University is the study of Science.

SINNOCK

Just before the Chicago-Illinois game last October, the Quincy Clarion, the leading paper of Sinnock’s home town, handed out the following dope: “This game will decide who is the greatest quarter back in the West—Pomeroy Sinnock or Walter Steffin.” We hope that “Pom’s” “fellar citizens” were not misled by the results of that game. To the eyes of Illinois students the marvellous Midget still looks pretty big when compared with the elusive “Wallie.” “Pom” is only 5½ feet high and he weighs only 130 pounds. Since he is only 21 years old he thinks he has yet a chance to enlarge somewhat. He studies Mechanical Engineering after the football season is over.
BAUM

“Benny” hails from the sage brush region of Arizona. When he was a child his chief amusements were, to chase jack rabbits and build air castles. In order to develop his talent in each of these lines he entered the U. of I. to play on the football team and study Architectural Engineering. He is 20 years old but looks younger. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. “Benny” is confident that he will make the All-Western next year, and he has the courage of his convictions.

RAILSBACK

Just when and where “Rails” originated, just why he happens to be out of jail at present, and just how he managed to gain admittance to the University, are obscure uncertainties. He has his own explanations, but one should hesitate before swallowing them. He asserts that he is 22 years old, 6 feet tall and weighs 195 pounds; and there are a few people who believe this to be true. “Rails” plays tackle on the team and takes a fiendish delight in mutilating the opposing players. He has been known to fall upon a prostrate adversary just to hear him yell. He is an “Ag” and has a high standing in his college because of a learned dissertation which he recently composed on the subject of “The Culture of Shade Trees in Alaska.”

LIITT

When “Litt” decorated with his enormous nose guard goes crashing through the opposing line he looks like an angry rhinoceros charging through a jungle. This big full back has another advantage over the ordinary gridiron warrior besides weight and speed combined. His hair is so red that it dazzles the eyes of the opposing players. “Lit” is yet an infant, being only 20 years old. He lacks 2 inches of being a 6-footer and weighs 180 pounds. He is reported to be a “Shark” in Civil Engineering.

PETTIGREW

A facetious wag said that “no one of Pettigrew’s opponents would ever accuse him of being of petty growth. Petty isn’t such a monstrosity as to size but he makes a mighty impression in a football game. He considers himself to be a gridiron hero and he has a talent for making the rooters think likewise. His curly hair and graceful way of sprinting down the field make him popular with the Co-eds; when the yell leader calls “Nine raths for Petty,” the feminine falsetto almost drowns out the masculine bass. “Petty” is 22 years old, 5 feet 9½ inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. He is a Mechanical Engineer. Next year he intends to make both the All-Western and the Tau Beta Pi.
DADANT

"Dad" loafed around the University three years before he finally decided to become a great football player. He believes that had he begun his gridiron career sooner he might easily have made the All-Western. "Dad" is naturally tender hearted, but he sometimes forgets himself when an opposing player attempts to sweep around his end of the line. He is just barely old enough to vote, lacks a half-inch of being 6 feet tall and weighs 165 pounds. He will graduate from the College of Literature and Arts next June.

WHITE

"Prep" came loping across the prairies from Antioch (wherever that is) years ago, and tried to butt unceremoniously into the University. He was corralled in the "Cellar," however, to wait until his accomplishments had caught up with his zeal. In his first year in the Academy he "went out" for the Varsity football team and was highly incensed because the coaches would not give him a chance to win an "I." By hook or crook he finally scraped together enough credits to enter the University where his fool-hardiness soon made him center on the team. He is 24 years old, 6 feet tall and weighs 175 pounds. "Prep" graduates from the "Ag" College this year but he will probably return next fall and try out for the team again.

GREEN

Green plays at guard with a nonchalance that makes the game easy for him and difficult for the opposing player. Nothing ever excites him, he never gets in a hurry. Illinois yell leaders are always instructed to keep up a continual clamor of "oskey, wow-wows" and "hulla-ha-loos" so that Green will not doze during the game. Next to Van Hook Green is the biggest man on the team. He is 6 feet and 1 inch tall, weighs 188 pounds and is only 21 years old. According to latest reports he is now making a bluff at Municipal and Sanitary Engineering.

WHAM

"Freddy" gave his first infantile "Oskey-wow-wow" in Salem which, by the way, is the birthplace of another great man—William Jennings Bryan. He gained his early football training at the Southern Illinois Normal University where he once accidentally made a touchdown, grew conceited as a consequence and determined to give the U. of I. the benefit of his gridiron prowess. In the two years that he has played at tackle on the Varsity team he has passed through every game without taking out any time. Some think that this is because he doesn't know enough to know when he is hurt. He is 23 years old, is 6 1-6 feet tall and weighs 180 pounds. He is supposed to be studying law.

"By gosh, I'm from Roseville—this State." —Anderson.
Collegiate Baseball and Professionalism

George A. Huff.

Since the inception of the reform régime in college athletics, Director George A. Huff, except in conference meetings when his opinions were verbal, has refrained from any expression on the present athletic situation. This article is regarded as exceptionally valuable in giving in decided terms the opinion of one who is considered the foremost authority on college athletics.—Ed.)

The University of Illinois will not be represented by baseball teams in the future that will equal those of the past. The reasons are not far to seek.

The four year rule began the deterioration. This elimination of men who, having finished three years of collegiate work, were on the threshold of graduation was to my mind the most foolish legislation ever connected with college athletics. The only excuse for its enactment must have been that no other avenue presented itself whereby the committee could further restrict participation in athletics, and since what had been done up to that time did not satiate the desires of those who would minimize athletics to the extreme, this was thrown in for good measure.

The rule requiring that a student be in attendance one year before being allowed to take part in conference athletics will hurt the baseball team probably more than any other team in school, for so many of Illinois' best men have received the appellation best because of their fourth year's work on the baseball team. True freshmen may play on their class team, but they do not get the experience that accompanies playing on the varsity, do not get to play so many games, do not face so many good twirlers, and are not under the direct supervision of the coach. And, too this rule causes the team to change one year faster.

Withal, however, the freshmen rule has proved a salutary one and I should be reluctant to see it repealed. While it will hurt the strength of our team, we have the satisfaction of knowing that the other teams in the conference are hurt likewise, and after all if we are better than our college rivals, that is about all the rooters ask. The fact that some will lugubriously compare the teams under the old rules with those under the new to the disadvantage of the latter will be offset by the beneficial results brought about by the freshman one year attendance rule.

The standard of scholarship has worked eliminantly on the baseball squad. Now a candidate must be a university man of one year's good standing as a matriculated student. Not a single objection can be advanced to this rule, for now we are sure that our baseball team will be composed of standard university men. I believe a regularly matriculated student may be called the standard from the standpoint of university representation.

High school baseball is rapidly decreasing as an academic sport and this will be a factor in affecting the scientific aspect of the team.

"Rusty Rose " until she dyes!
for many candidates have come to me with the rudiments well learned, due to high school playing.

The ban placed on professional baseball for college men in the summer time prevents a material development in the personnel of the team. This rule I am opposed to in every manner, shape and form, for with our scholastic standing as strict as it is at present, with a stipulation that all participants in college baseball shall attend each year from the middle of September till school closes in June, there is absolutely no danger if the bars of professionalism are thrown down to the college man. Why? An example will best explain.

Suppose I want a pitcher. To get one as good as either of the two I have this year, I must go to a man of Class A calibre—one who is good enough to draw a salary from fifteen hundred to two thousand dollars. I tell him that he must attend school a whole year, carry his work and be matriculated before the season begins next year. If he is already a professional he must sacrifice the early spring trip with his team as well as seven weeks of salaried playing before school is out in June and safely four weeks in the fall after school begins. A man must be so good, to be able to get a contract with a professional team allowing these leaves of absence, that his services would be almost absolutely indispensable to his team, and since this can be said of about one out of every hundred players there will not be much danger of professionals casting their lot with a college team. Besides any man good enough to demand and get a contract calling for absence in the spring and fall will demand such a large salary in major league company that he would probably not think of losing so much money to attend college. The amount of his salary would be so high that even granting a college engaged in commercialization of players the expense of keeping such a man in school a year before he was eligible and the expense during the remainder of his college career would be so enormous (and if any man comes to school because he is paid it is safe to say he won’t come if there is anything better out in the active world) that the ever ready charge of “paid athlete” would mock itself because of its own preposterousness.

Why can’t a man earn as much money in the summer time as his ability will allow, whether that ability be as a baseball player, circus tumbler, lecturer, etc., and still be eligible for intercollegiate athletic and debating teams? He can on debating teams, for to my own personal knowledge at least two men who have represented Illinois in debates have received money for lecturing and public speaking and still no conflict arose as to their eligibility. As the vast majority of college men spend their summer in making as much money as possible for use during the school year, it does not seem right to me to completely bar the baseball player, to the advantage of all other avenues whether physical or mental. With the scholastic qualifications absolutely in the hands of the faculty, if anything should be wrong with the scholastic standing of the men, they alone would be at fault. Then with such a condition as this, why should they object to a man because he plays ball for money in the summer time if a glance at his record in the registrar's office shows him to be a real college man? This, it seems to me, is the end most to be sought, and besides it is safe to say that the veracity of a number of college men playing college baseball throughout the country would be relieved of a severe test if a cross examination on their amateur standing were omitted.

"Much too good for this wicked world."—E. L. Hall.

Baseball teams here should do better than at other schools in the conference, with material of the same calibre. We have the armory for early practice and this is a great help. In this building last winter nearly two hundred and fifty candidates appeared to try for places on the team. After practicing in it till good weather comes, two weeks earlier than at any other institution having a formidable team, we have the best baseball diamond in the country to practice on.

The development of class and fraternity games has had and will have its effect in adding some strength to our team, for every now and then in those contests a man with baseball prominence will attract sufficient attention to warrant his being taken on the Varsity. This year, Shields, who was prominent as a class team player, is holding down shortstop, and several years ago Rothgeb, afterwards a brilliant player, was given a try out because of promise shown in an interfraternity game.

To divert somewhat from the theme at hand, I want to put myself on record as being opposed to a college man's going into professional baseball, and never in my professional career have I advised a man to do so. This decision is not based on views in accord with those who would rely on dissipation and demoralizing conduct as reasons for discouraging the professional career of the college man; for from personal experience
I can say truthfully that the average man in professional baseball, especially in the big leagues, will compare favorably with a like average in any walk of life. Just last year the Chicago White Sox boasted of eighteen of the twenty-one players it carried on its payroll being total abstainers. Everyone knows that the Chicago Cubs can equal if not surpass this. The whole idea has been put by a certain college professor in words that are unanswerable—"I don't see why a man can't play professional baseball and still be a gentleman."

But to return to my opposition. There are greater opportunities for the college man who has finished his course creditably in his chosen profession than in baseball. The whole fault lies in the glaring pecuniary inducements held out to him to get him to enter baseball, and the serious, conservative, not-too-promising prospect of being compelled to work from the bottom up to a position far in advance of what his baseball career could possibly be; which contrast most generally results in favor of the imminent advantage to the sacrifice of the remote but better desired and loftier profession for which he was fitted in college.

This condition is unfortunate, I admit. True the men are making and saving money, but with the attractive personalities possessed by several of them, together with the intellectual possibilities they manifested while in school, these few to whom I refer, I know would prove irressistible forces in the activities of their chosen profession. The unfortunate features of their whole life, though, will be, when they become useless as baseball players—just in the prime of life—that very time will find their contemporaries of college days in law, engineering, etc., on the threshold of a score of years of active, successful, and truly professional service.

“What in h— did you ever do to become famous?”—G. K. JOHNSoN.
HE track season of 1907-1908 was a success. The victories over Chicago and Purdue in the early meets ranked Illinois as the leader in the West. By annexing the Conference, for the first time in the history of the institution, Illinois showed her right to the title, "Champions of the West." Ever since the arrival of Coach Harry Gill Illinois has been a strong contender in every contest in which she has been represented. The transition from a second rate team to conference champions is a change that few generations of students in any school have ever seen. The season of 1907 showed the culmination of this change to Illinois.

The indoor season last year was a complete success. The first meet of the year was held in the local gymnasium on February 18, with Chicago, and resulted in a tie score, 43 to 43. This score gives a good idea of how evenly the teams were matched. At the start Illinois rolled up points surprisingly fast but the Maroons braced and slowly wore down the lead. The result of the meet hung upon the pole vault. Norris who had been doing over 11 feet in practice failed to clear the bar at 10 feet 6 inches and the event went to Chicago. The features of this meet were the work of Merriam, Carrithers, and May. Merriam reeled off the quarter in .53 3-5, breaking the gymnasium record of .54. Carrithers with only one day’s practice won the shot put with a throw of 40 feet 4 inches. May won the dash handily in .04 2-5.

On March 8 the team faced the Maroons at Bartlett Gymnasium and lowered their colors by a score of 48 to 38. In this meet Lazaar downed the much-heralded Steffens in the high hurdles going the course in the record time of .06 4-5, equalling the track record. Jenkins and May took first and second in the dash and Norris equaled the gymnasium record in the pole vault.

On March 13 at the annual A. A. U. meet Greer and Burroughs landed firsts and Norris and Watson thirds. Greer in the vault, broke the world’s record when he cleared the bar at 11 feet 8 inches.

On May 11 the Orange and Blue completely covered the Maroon in the first outdoor meet of the year by the score of 78 to 48. Lazaar showed his heels to Merriam in the 120 yard hurdles going the distance in .16, and Gardner treated Steffen in the same way in the 220 yard hurdles in 26 2-5. Burroughs covered himself with glory in annexing three firsts in the shot put, discus, and hammer throw. He broke the Illinois records in the shot and discus. May also starred in the dashes, getting both from Quigley of the Maroons. Illinois won all places in the half mile and shot put.

On May 17 Purdue was defeated by the one sided score of 102 to 24, the Hoosiers getting but one first, in the high jump. The features of the meet were the performances of the Illinois men. Burroughs took three firsts, broke the University record in the discus with a throw of 127 feet 1 1/2 inches, broke his own record in the...
the shot-put at 44 feet 7 inches, and hurled the hammer 152 feet 6 inches, breaking the field record. In the quarter mile Lindberg broke the school record in .52 2-5. Barrett broke the university record in the mile with the time of 4.36 1-5. Illinois took everything in the shot-put, 100 yard dash, and two mile.

The track season of 1908 began with the meet with Indiana on February 1 in the local gymnasium. The Orange and Blue administered to the visitors the worst defeat in the history of intercollegiate athletics. The final score 67 1-2 to 1 1-2 shows the unevenness of the contest. Indiana scored her lone point in the pole vault, tying for second.

On February 14 the Varsity defeated the Maroons 52 to 34 in the second meet of the year. Lindberg starred in the quarter, making the distance in .53 1-5, beating the gymnasium record of .53 4-5 held by Merriam of Chicago. Another feature of the meet was the double defeat of Steffens in the dash and hurdles by May and Jenkins. The latter equalled the track record of .05 2-5 in the hurdles. Washburn defeated Schommer in the high jump, clearing the bar at 5 feet 10 inches. Miller's excellent work in the meet equalled his performances in the outdoor work in 1907.

The First Regiment athletes were the next to fall before the prowess of the local stars. The eligibles, assisted by the freshmen and the three year men, took the soldiers into camp on February 22 by the score of 59 1-3 to 26 2-3. The features of the meet were the performances of Burroughs in the shot-put and Rennacker in the pole vault, and the fact that Illinois won all the places in the half-mile, with Hanly first up.

At Bartlett Gymnasium the Maroons defeated the Varsity in the last indoor track meet of the season by a score of 55 to 31. The poor condition of the men and peculiar shape of the track were largely responsible for the defeat.

A brief review of the season as a whole shows the development of one of the best track teams in the history of Illinois athletics. Coach Gill out of unknown material at the beginning developed an excellent team. The team was well balanced and included in its members some of the best men in the west. The development of Miller from a mediocre runner to one of the best distance men in the West, the phenomenal work of Burroughs, the point winning ability of Lindberg, Jenkins and May, with the consistent work by the whole team accounts for Illinois' success on the track. The team was second to none in the West. Illinois may feel proud of her track men and their coach during the season of 1907-1908.

Gill's Conference Winners--Outlook for This Year

ANOTHER triumph for Gill. This, I believe, epitomizes in a short single sentence the main feature of our annexation of the often coveted banner as victors over the intercollegiate conference colleges in track at Chicago last June; for to come here when our track outlook was as it had been for years, lugubrious, and when a few points in the conference meet were the sign of spirited exultation, and in the short space of three years time to go to Marshall Field and bring back the banner emblematic of conference victory, after becoming supreme in dual meets by a preponderating string of victories over all competitors, makes the statement “another victory for Gill” as applied to the conference last spring a logical sequence to the real force responsible for our wonderful progress on the cinder path.

Such is the unanimous tribute of track fans to the ability of Harry Gill. Bashful, seldom heard, a strict tabooer of “I did this,” and all other egotistical phrases, but always working, watching and studying, this man Gill is truly a wonder and his work in the development of embryo athletes has been marvelous. But he gets the results as has been shown so convincingly all along. And why not these words of encomium then?

The foregoing prelude to a write-up of the conference meet may seem hardly coherent associated with an account of that meet itself, but would it be fair to generalize on that event itself without stopping right at the beginning and placing a big deserving laurel on the brow of Harry Gill who as “the man behind” made our success possible, and who does not get the credit he so richly merits for his conscientious work?

Now to take up the conference meet itself: “Billy” May, in the 100 yard dash, ran so fast that in Spalding's year book he is placed in the front rank with a mark for the century of 9 4-5 seconds. He was closely pressed by Huff of Iowa, who, fortunately for us, will probably not be eligible this year. May is eligible again this year and, with Watson, who will probably be our only other entrant in this event, can be counted on for fully as good a performance as the one negotiated by him last year.

In the 220 yard dash Huff of Iowa led the Rochelle lad by the scantest of margins in the fast time of 22 1 5. As this is really a stronger event for “Billy” than the 100 yard dash, he can hardly be expected to do anything but finish first with anything like an even break of luck. He will have Lindberg, the great quartermiler to run with this year and this will help mightily, for if he gets first Lindy is good enough that somebody will have to count hairbreadths to choose a man who finishes between Capt. May and Lindy. Huff, as stated before, is most likely ineligible, so on dope even the Illini captain is first choice.

The 440 yard dash brought out that same old hair raising contest between Lindberg and Merriam of Chicago, with the latter just a step to the good. It will be too bad for sport's sake if these two lads don't fight it out this year again. Chances now seem unfavorable, for Stagg has given out the report that Merriam's time will be devoted wholly to the high and low hurdles. However the pistol finds them lined up, Lindy has a good chance to win, for he has been training faithfully hard and is in better form than ever before. He will have Richards as a team-mate this year.

In the half we didn't get a place. The time last year, 2 302 2 5 made by Meyers of Wisconsin, who is ineligible this year, can be equalled by Hanley who is on this team for his first season, so if paper predictions can be depended upon he has a good chance for first, although he will be opposed by Canet of Chicago who has beaten him twice indoors.

"I commend how bred."—H. S. Green.
In the mile event we didn't show. Lyons of Chicago, the winner, is not eligible this year, but the Maroons have worthy successors in Lightbody and Comstock if they are eligible, which is undetermined at this time. However their eligibility results, Hinman of Illinois stands a better show for a place than any man Gill has turned out since he has been here. Steady, consistent, a good faithful trainer, the Champaign lad can be counted on to put up an exhibition which will be under 4.30 in all probability.

We were unfortunate in the two mile. Miller, on whom we pinned our faith, was taken seriously ill before the contest and was prohibited from entering the event. Jackson of Missouri won first in 10.07. Miller has beaten this numerous times and if luck smiles his way this year he stands a good chance to be in reach of the tape when the winner breaks it. He will have Redhed as a team mate. In the high hurdles Lazear had hard luck in the preliminaries and didn’t get in the finals, which went to Smithson of Notre Dame. Brown and Jenkins are two men who have developed wonderfully in this event during the past year and should finish strong.

The low hurdles went to Merriam of Chicago, who was followed by Gardner of Illinois. Lyons certainly bent every nerve to show his heels to Steffin and he did it. This event occurred when points seemed to count more than at any other time during the meet, and Lyons’ defeat of “Wallie” seemed all the more sweet. He and Brown will clear the barriers in this event again.

Now, we come to the mighty Burroughs, who won the shot put and the hammer throw. He is gone to the team this year and we have no one who can approach his wonderful work. The cruel three-year rule keeps him from competing this year, else we should have little need to worry over conference prospects. Carrithers captured third place in the shot, and he too will be among the missing. Of the new men in the weights, McCord and Railsback in the discus and Liitt in the hammerthrow and shot are the most promising. Burroughs was off form in the discus and did not place. Messner of Wisconsin annexed first place.

The pole vault was the cause of a third place going to Illinois, Norris getting the point. He will not be back this year and our hopes lie in “Jocko” Jones and Ritchey, the high jumper.

Jenkins cleared more surface than anybody else in the broad-jump and consequently got the gold medal. He will take his last leap as a rah, rah, this spring and with Watson, the Lewis Institute star, will outdistance by far anything else in sight at this time. We ought to get a first and second out of this event.

The high jump was disastrous to us in that we did not get a point. Ritchey, Washburn, and Watson all have class though, and one of the three should place.

All in all we are very proud of our team, and have reason to be sanguine over the prospects of this year. Though with Burroughs, Carrithers, Lazear and other stars of such magnitude gone we must not have such high hopes that the disappointment will be keen if we lose.

C. J. Moynihan.

In Memoriam

"Mac"

We miss his figure, bent, blue-clad,
His honest face that ever had
A greeting bright.
We miss the well known cry "O 'Mac,'"
His high-keyed answer echoing back,
Prompt, clear, "All right!"

A man he was with power possessed
His lowly office to invest
With dignity;
His warder duties to achieve
Yet hold our love with his naive
Benignity.

Basketball Review

The varsity basketball season just ended, though not an unqualified success, has demonstrated the fact that Illinois is to be ranked well up among the college teams participating in this branch of indoor sport.

A call for candidates on November 20 brought forth abundant material, former varsity players as well as the bulk of last year's freshmen team being on hand to comprise a squad which bade fair to uphold the university along these lines. Practice immediately commenced in preparation for the southern trip taken during the Christmas holidays.

This trip, beginning with a game at Decatur on December 18 and ended at Terre Haute on January 4, was one long series of victories, broken only by one defeat experienced by one section of the team at Montgomery, Ala., while the other section were defeated Columbus, Ga., the same night. Not only were such teams as Washington University, Memphis, Mobile, and Birmingham defeated, but the championship of Texas was also annexed by the victories over Galveston and Ft. Worth, the two claimants to the title. The team returned not only with a good record, but with the feeling that our chances in the championship race to follow, were anything but poor.

With but five days in which to rest from their long southern jaunt, the varsity made ready for the harder college season. Of the eleven subsequent games, six were won and five lost, making the percentage slightly over 50. The team was uniformly successful whether on a trip or at home, demonstrating beyond all doubt, the influences of the trip south during which the players had learned to contend with all sorts of floors and all sorts of officials. It may be well to note here that of the five defeats four were in games lost to Chicago and Wisconsin, beyond all doubt the two strongest representative teams of the west and probably of the whole country. The loss of the game to Iowa is to be greatly regretted but may in great part be attributed to the condition of some of the men after their long trip in going to their destination.

In summing up, we may fairly say that the 1907-8 season has been successful. Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the teamwork might be better as a whole. The losses of Watson and Rennacker during the early part of the season evidently weakened the team to some extent, but these are handicaps similar to those which must be met by any team going through a long college season.

With the loss of but two or three of this year’s squad, and with the addition of such a strong representative freshmen team we may confidently hope for a team next year which will finish well up amongst western college teams upon the completion of its schedule.

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM

Washburn Twice Tennis Champion of the University.
THE Tennis season of 1907-08 was without a doubt the most successful ever known at the University of Illinois. The Faculty as well as the students took an extensive interest in the game.

The “Annual Fall Tournament” was exceedingly good, being full of hotly contested and exciting matches both in the singles and doubles, and watched with marked interest by faculty and students alike—Washburn last year’s champion—won the championship again this year in the singles from Guild while Hawk’s and McNeel of the faculty—succeeded in winning the doubles.

The prospects for a winning team this year are very bright. Hawk’s, champion of Connecticut and a player of recognized national ability has been secured to coach the Varsity and will do all in his power to build up a championship team.

With such men as Washburn, Kautz and Musselman of last year’s tennis fame—along with the many other likely candidates—the result should be “Western Honors” for Illinois.

Games will be arranged with at least three of the “Big Eight,” most likely Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa, to be played this spring.

The team will also be sent to the Conference meet which takes place in Chicago sometime in May.

Tennis at “Illinois” is a success in most every sense of the word, it supplies an athletic need to every member of the University—which no other game will do, and is taken advantage of by a large per cent of the members of the University.

The Women's League has come to occupy such a prominent place at Illinois that the college annual would be but imperfectly reflecting upon our university life if it should not give a short sketch of the history, purposes, and present achievements of this organization. Embracing in its membership all Illinois women, the League exercises a unifying and democratic influence altogether in harmony with the spirit which should pervade a state university.

As all senior girls probably know, the Women's League supplanted another organization known as the Watchefa League. This League also had for its object the unifying of the women of Illinois. It failed, however, to attain its aim, perhaps because of the money-basis of its membership, perhaps because of its loose organization, whatever the reason, it died out in the spring of 1905, and the Women's League, a stronger and more effective association, came to take its place and to accomplish its purposes.

The new League did away with the financial qualification for membership, deeming it better to secure necessary money by having the members work together over fairs and bazaars. All women in the university are members by virtue of their registration. One way in which the League has secured an especially strong grasp upon the women students, is by making its advisory board an assembly which meets regularly once a month, made up of representatives from all of the women's organizations. This advisory board has been unusually successful in devising methods for reaching girls, raising social standards, and overcoming financial difficulties.

Two years ago, the League put in operation the group system of entertainment, by which it hoped to give each girl in the university an opportunity for acquiring ease in the management of social affairs. Each Friday afternoon a different group of girls assumed the responsibilities of entertaining the other members of the League. Yet ease in social affairs in the strictest sense of the word has been by no means the only good which the League has sought to attain. Its fairs and bazaars have exercised the business and executive talents of its members. Working as it has, not merely for the purpose of securing money for its own needs, but also in order to make enough to furnish a woman's ward in the hospital and to establish a loan fund for needy women students. Through it many girls gained their first experience in managing business enterprises.

This year the League has attempted also, a work which interest is not confined to the feminine element of the university. Realizing the lack of songs at Illinois, it set about getting up a new song-book. It offered prizes for new songs, and used all other incentives to stir talented song-writers to exertion. The new book is a good illustration of the efficiency of the Women's League.

WISTERIA: "Yes, Port comes or telephones every day."
HERE are not many people who know much about the women's athletics at the University of Illinois. A few words about what the girl athletes do will not be out of place in this book.

The women's athletics are divided into two classes, out-door, and in-door. Basketball is the favorite in-door sport with the girls. The games are played in the gymnasium and are witnessed by women only. There are seven players on each team, three forwards, a center, and three guards. This year there are five teams, a Varsity, two Freshmen, one Sophomore, and one Junior. Since the Varsity is not permitted to play games with other institutions, a schedule is arranged which includes inter-class games and also games between the different class teams and the Varsity.

As soon as the weather becomes warm, the out-door sports begin. A play ground for the girls has been made just south of the Women's Building. On this play ground there are swings, horizontal bars, eight rope ladder giantstrides, rings, and trapezes. A track has been made, and a track team will soon be organized. There are eight tennis courts, two basketball fields, and a hockey field. The girls of this university are very fortunate in having a lawn-bowling set. This is the only western college which has a lawn bowling outfit, so the students should be proud of it.

Better results are obtained in women's athletics every year, and it is hoped that, at some near future time, the girls will equal the boys in athletics.
THE first May-Pole dance at the University of Illinois was held in May, 1898. In this dance there were twenty-four girls, the principal figures being those of the waltz and two-step. The next year there were fifty-two girls in the dance. The figures were composed of fancy steps, plaiting the Orange and Blue on the May Pole. From this time on, the May Pole dance became an annual event and grew in proportion and popularity till the south campus could no longer accommodate the great crowds which attended. Since then the dance has been given on Illinois field. Each year new figures have been added until now the dance consists of the grand pageant, milk maids, peasants, grand may pole, classic and folk dances.

The University of Illinois ranks among the first colleges to establish such a custom, and it is through the never ceasing efforts of Mrs. Lincoln, director of physical training for women, that the May Pole dance has become one of the traditions of the University. Mrs. Lincoln has not only given us a tradition which inspires every student girl, but she has emphasized the value of the spirit of play in one of the most artistic and beautiful forms of outdoor life.

The Year in Oratory and Debate

The year 1907-8 has been one of great progress for the Oratorical Association. Early in the fall a joint mass-meeting was held with the Athletic Association, at which speeches were made in behalf of both organizations. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested, and at the close a call for men to try out for the Wisconsin and Iowa debates was responded to by more than fifty aspirants.

This debate was held in the new Auditorium on Dec. 13, and was in some respects the best debate ever held at Illinois. President James presided and in spite of the fact that the night was bad, a larger crowd was in attendance than had ever before listened to a debate here. The question debated was the federal control of transportation. Illinois was represented by R. F. Little, G. H. Coons and H. B. Hershey and received the votes of two of the three judges. The same evening another Illinois team, composed of G. M. Palmer, T. C. Angerstein and J. L. McLaughlin upheld the opposite side of the question against Iowa, but failed to receive the decision of the judges.

On March 13, Illinois met Ohio and Indiana in a debate on the question of the exclusion of Chinese and Japanese laborers. The Ohio debate was held in the Auditorium and the decision of the judges was two to one in favor of Illinois. The Illinois team was composed of J. C. Herbstman, C. C. Ellison, and R. W. Griffith. The Indiana debate was held at Bloomington and the decision of the judges was in favor of Indiana. Illinois was represented by D. S. Dorman, H. J. Bandy, and F. P. Benjamin. Besides the debates, other interesting numbers were offered by the Oratorical Association. Early in the fall, an excellent recital was given by Miss Bradford and Mr. E. M. Halliday, instructors in public speaking. The local Hamilton contest was won by J. H. Zearing, but he was not admitted into the final contest at Chicago. A peculiar feature of the Inter-Society Declamation contest was that the girls' societies received all the honors, the first place being won by Miss Mabel Gridley of the Illiola, while Miss Grace Clow and Miss Alice McDonald of the Alethaeni and Athenae respectively tied for second place. The local equal suffrage contest was won by V. Halliday. Another excellent number of the course was the splendid recital by Prof. Robert I. Fulton of Ohio University.

Mention should be made here of the excellent work of Mr. E. M. Halliday as coach of our debating teams. Illinois sends out four teams each year, just twice the number sent out by universities which we meet. The work of coaching an intercollegiate debating team is far greater than anyone would think, who has not taken part in such a debate. The fact that under the circumstances, Illinois won two of the four debates and put up such a strong fight in the other two, that the audiences could not judge beforehand what the decision would be, certainly reflects great credit upon the efforts of Coach Halliday.

Echoes From the Freshman Election.

Sound the trumpet, beat the drums!
Hither James M. Warner comes,
Comes, and comes, and none can know
Whether Jim will ever go.

On October 7th, the Day After the Sorority Pledging Compact Ends

Delta Gamma furniture departs.
Chi Omega Alumnae go away.
Also Alpha Chi Omega Palms.
Also town Thetas.
Hammers laid to rest.

A slight thing like pronunciation
Cannot prevent their exultation
Who rime their quality that’s “happy”—
With their best prize—Phi Beta Kappy!

Extracts from Freshmen Letters

“Oh yes, I’m very popular. I’m being rushed by all the fraternities.” — Rev. Smith.
“I’m still wearing my white sweater and long black gloves and making a great hit.” — “Spec.” Emerson.
“Dear Mother— I’m staying at the hospital now until bid day. After that send all my mail to the Kappa house.” — Neil Perry.
Graduates 1928

James Workaway Warner, Doctor of Bugology and Sociology. Admitted to Phi Beta Kappa and several honorary Engineering Fraternities. Has been on the following representative University societies: Checker Club (charter member), Gun Club, Marble Club (no longer in existence), and Glee Club. Some of the old settlers aver that he lived in Chicago at one time, but his home has been at 410 Green Street for several decades.

Herbert Always Busy Juul, A.B., B.S., B.B. (Bachelor of Baseball.) Valedictorian of the Class of 1928. Remained in school as long as his governor was in the State Legislature. Prominent in all University pastimes. Member of the baseball team for a number of years, and one of Doc Moor's right hand men, being head usher at the First Baptist Church at Champaign. We understand Herbert intends to enter business with his nephew at once.

F. W. Industrious Boston. Blew into the world at Yorkville in some pre-historic age. His degrees are as follows: W.L., (Won't Learn), and M.F.T., (Master of Feet Toasters). Sings well and was a member of the Choir at the Methodist Church, before Prof. Rolfe discovered he would make a good stone cracker for the Geological Department. Mr. Boston has been among us for a number of years, and we regret his departure very much.

A. L. Bryan, Forest City, Iowa. (Not a relative of William Jennings.) Beloved son of Mrs. and Mr. Bryan. Aged 45 yrs., 2 mos. and 12 das. Interment at Spooks Cemetery. Time announced later. The deceased was attending the State University where he was seeking an education, and would have completed his course in June, 1928, had he lived. He was active in all affairs pertaining to the Institution, being a charter member of the Industrial Club. (Forest city papers please copy.—Ed.)

Take-It-Easy Hanna, evolved at Aurora, Ill. Doctor of Birdology and Science. Member of the Owl Club, Hygiene Club, and State Bacteriologist. Take-It-Easy Hanna is noted for his researches in the Ornithological Department; he has received several flattering press notices, particularly in the Aurora Borealis. For a complete list of Degrees see catalog Librarian.
The Who-Who and What Box

ALL QUERIES ANSWERED BY THE WELL KNOWN AUTHORITY—DEAN CLARK

Dogtown, Iowa.—How many field goals or drop kicks did Pettigrew make during the last season?—Anxious reader.

(Answer) Pettigrew made but one drop kick the past season, and that was made in practice. While making this drop kick he turned his ankle and was unable to make anymore the remainder of the year.

Chicago, Illinois—(A) Can you tell me how many votes Cairns received in the football election last fall? (B) Also the number that Drennan received?

(Answer) President James has the number that Cairns received locked in his vault. The exact number is not definitely known. Drennan received 260.

Strawville, Kansas.—Was money tight in Champaign last October and November? R. I. P.

(Answer) Yes, the financial stringency was very severe. Cherry waited on tables for his board, and Barney Funk sold one of his automobiles to help the Phi Psi's lift the mortgage on their house.

Horse-Shoe, Kentucky.—Is Champaign wet or dry? I am anxious to send my son there and I should like a few particulars first.—Colonel.

(Answer) Yes, the town is dry. All the bartenders have left for the "Bluegrass," and you may send your son here with impunity. Nothing worse than the city water.

Buck-Eye Junction, Ohio.—What is Prof. Baldwin's record for vests, neckties, and collars?—Anxious reader.

(Answer) Prof. Baldwin wore a different vest and necktie for forty consecutive days. His record for different styles of collars is not definitely known. See Pooles index.

Hawkeye, Kansas.—Did Coach Gill ever wear a stiff hat, or laundered collar?—F. J. M.

(Answer) There is no record to that effect.

Danville, Illinois.—Is Dean Greene married on single?—Sorority Girl.

(Answer) SINGLE, but there is no hope for you, as he is a confirmed bachelor.
Urbana, Illinois.—What are Frank Scott’s duties at the University?—Student.

(Answer) He is the watch dog of Dean Clark’s office, Professor of English, and Ex-attaché of the Chicago Tribune. His pet diversion is the publishing of University Quarterlies, Bulletins, and Catalogs.

Chicago, Illinois.—Can you give me the dimensions of Colonel Fechét? We are trying to estimate how much it will cost us to make him a suit of clothes.—$10 Tom Murray.

(Answer) Neck, 22 inches; chest, 60 inches; waist, 8 feet 10 inches; hips, 7 feet 9 inches; legs, 40 inches; height, 6 feet 2 inches; arms, 33 inches; weight, 325 pounds. (Note) Confidentially Gulicks charged him thirty cents a pound for suits and twenty cents a pound for overcoats. Buttons extra. This makes rather an expensive suit of clothes, as he tips the scales at over 300 pounds. We doubt if you can make much on your $10.00 suits.

Chicago, Illinois.—What is the record for rapid playing in your Chess and Checker Club at the University?—Michelson, Western Champion.

(Answer) The record for fast playing in the club is held by Lawrence Hinman of this city. Hinman made a move after his opponent had been asleep for 4 hours, 23 minutes, and 57 seconds. We have no records for slow playing.

New York.—Have you an extra editor on hand that can help me out?—Brisbane is dead.—W. R. Hearst.

(Answer) Not at present. Bateman is in jail, Haines is sick from overwork, Hess is asleep in the library, and Smith is in Chicago seeing the stock show.

Thomasboro, Illinois.—Who is President of the Women’s League at the University?—A.

(Answer) Miss M. Victoria Brougham was in the race, but lost. Therefore no further record of the election was kept.

How to Be Beautiful

BY MADAME BAREFAX

Dear Madam: I am troubled with a growth of hair on my face and neck which gives me much worry. Can you give me a prescription which will entirely cure me of this disfigurement.—Dr. Dodge.

(Answer) I assure you that the best thing to do is to consult a tonsorial artist, step into the barbers chair, and have the obnoxious growth of which you speak shaved off.

Dear Madam: I have been sorely bothered by a disfigurement which threatens to cast me into a fearful dilemma unless immediately remedied. For weeks my face has been bleached, and in several places little red spots have begun to make their appearance. Any suggestion will be welcomed.—Prof. E. Chauncey Baldwin.

(Answer) Try a change of raiment. A white lay me down stand me up collar with a green vest and a pink necktie ought to bring relief.
Easy

Prof. Greene (in Agency): "In the last case the agent signed the name of his principal. Mr. Messick, how did the agent sign in the next case?"
Judge (waking up): "Why, ah-er-ah-with a pen, I suppose, Professor."

A Lament

A dear little maid from the city,
Who's face was exceedingly pretty,
Kissed twenty-three men
One night before ten,
But she's not in school now, what a pity.

By Tommy Lewis.

There was a young girl from Chi,
Who was awfully pretty and "fly,"
She came to Champaign
And I needn't explain
That now she's a Pi Beta Phi.

Contributed by the Thetas.

There was a sweet maid from nowhere,
Who had the most beautiful hair,
But it wouldn't be hard
To guess that a yard
Only cost 90 cents at the Fair.

Contributed by Burch, the Woman Hater.
Dean Harker—"Your client has got a judgment for $500; what would you do?"
Tommy Gill—"I'd get $750, if I could."

The visitor to the University was strolling about, admiring the beauties of the campus. Suddenly he paused and listened intently. Strange cries came from the north end of the campus. The visitor turned pale. "Such cries as those can come only from human beings in the most intense agony," he thought. Visions of the recent schoolhouse fire disasters floated through his mind. A Sophomore came by. The visitor seized him by the arm. "Tell me from what and whence come those awful shrieks," he cried. Calmly the Sophomore listened. "Fret not yourself," said he, "those are but the noises made by Leo G. Hana's classes in lung exercise."

Little wads of cotton,
Little rolls of wire,
Make the lovely figure,
All the boys admire!
"To illustrate what I mean by 'ideo-motor activity': you sit in the gallery of a theater, and the desire comes to you to throw a program down below, and the idea is so tantalizing that you wish some one would hold your hands. At least I have often felt so."

Mr. Tawney in Philosophy, '10.

Lives of the flunkers all remind us
We must learn to "toe the mark,"
Or depart, and leave behind us
Fond regrets with T. A. Clark.

THE PRODIGAL SON
A Joke, But No Fable

There once was a certain man who had one son who was a son-of-a-gun. One day this son spake unto his governor, saying, 'I'll take what's coming to me, dad,—I would fain invest it in an education.'

And the father gave unto his son of his substance, and the son departed into a far country, wherein there was located a State University, which was already famous before the son's arrival. Immediately upon his entrance to this wondrous institution, he proceeded to invest the long green that was his portion.

And the son dallied with Fick's cigar machine, and often took shots at the hot bird and the cold (milk) bottle, and there-by got a head and a wallet that were exceeding full of emptiness. And the son was sorely vexed with himself, and went behind the Half-way House and administered unto himself three severe well-placed kicks.

Now it came to pass that in this extremity the wayward and repentant son remembered his dad, and decided to pen a missive and negotiate another loan. And he scribbled thusly: "Father, I have blown all the dough that thou gavest me for a Frat pin—I am no longer worthy to be called thy son. Thou wilt please remit, as it draweth near the time when my board falleth due, and indeed I have not one simoleon left."

And the son was much pleased with himself, saying, "I shall rejoice and make merry, for have I not distributed the salve a-plenty and drawn the bandanna over the old man's optics?"

And when the old boy received the sad tidings he was exceeding wrath, and as this was in the days of electricity and hop-ale, he straightway sent a message which the son receiveth in DUE time, and thereupon stareth the following in the phiz:

THE DEBATOR'S TREASURY
by
D. S. DORMAN

There is no greater ability than the power of skillful and forcible debate. This little book instructs one in the art of self defense (oral). That old Demosthenian idea of putting stones on the tongue is all bosh. After carefully reading my treatise and consistently practicing the gestures (original with me) before a large mirror, one should be able to secure applause from an Ag student. A cloth bound copy of "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" given free with each sale.

Quiz in Pedestrianism

For Champaign Students

What is a cross-walk? A cross-walk is an obstruction of mud or slush, paid for by citizens and controlled by the shoe-polish trust.

What is a side-walk? A side-walk is something to walk beside, visible only in time of drought.

What is a snow-shovel? A snow-shovel is a relic of the age of chivalry, still in use in some other cities.

What is the street-cleaning department? The street-cleaning department is an annex to the cemetery.

There was one Triumvir who was IT, with a Block I. This Might was Commonly Known as “G.” “Oh, G,” said Everybody and the FOOTBALL TEAM when G was Boston Bent, lured by Much Gold, “don’t go.” It transpired, nevertheless, that G went, but came back Soon, and Everybody was Happy.

G owned the Gym and leased One Room to a Beauty Doctor called Leo G., who had a Pair of Perfect Shoulders, and who was in Personal Estimation the Main Blaze in the Lighting Scheme.

G was Supervisor of the Pool, and allowed his Varlets to Splash in it, provided they bought one of his Patent Lockers. This, Although, was not his only Pastime, for he took Great Pleasure in Cutting Out I’s, whence it happened that he Annexed the Title, Doctor.

In the springtime G Sprawled his Vast Framework over Three Seats of the Bleachers, which surrounded the Arena called A Diamond. On the Diamond Mortal Combat waged, the Combatants being Knights of the Willow and Mitt. When the Huge Thumbs of the Mighty G directed Attention toward Terre Firma, a Would Be Knight of the Nine bit deep into the Diamond Dust, and, Blind with Sorrow at the Thought that Now he would never have an I, was hastened back to the Gym with Little Compunction.

Moral—Better to be Born Blind than Go Blind looking for an I when you can’t See for the Dust.

In the Twin Cities there was a Library. It was a Great Structure, in Which, Queer as it May Seem, Despite a Certain law Prohibitory to Smoking in the Building, they nevertheless kept Fills in the Clerk’s Office. In this Great Edifice one of the Triumvirits Stayed and Stayed. T. A., as this Might was Commonly Known when erstwhile elsewhere, Although he possessed an exceeding Meek Voice, much Serene Smile, and but Slight Stature was the Big Noise in the Silent Building. He gave Presy Desk Room, on Condition that he should be Never Seen and Seldom Heard.

In this Triumvir’s room there was a Floor, and on this Floor a Green Carpet, and many was the Nervous Trend that measured Said Carpet; for this Triumvir was, indeed, the Literary Light of the Triangle, and had some Rare Sherlockian Tactics, which would have caused Watson to Stand Mouth Agape and Wonder.

Numerous calls issued from the Secret Councils of this Might, and many A Wolf in the guise of A Lamb Gamboled on the Green, supposedly in Playful Joust, Only to find that the Great T. A. was playing No Trumps with an Excellent Suite. If he tried to play Injured Innocence and Deny Everything, Surprises would come Thick and Fast, and he would Exit in a Jiffy, together with the Realization that a Certain Lean Countenance Knew All.

Moral—Don’t drink Hop Ale.

In an exceeding Large Uniform and Behind a very Heavy Moustache Lurked a Corpulent Hulk, the Third Triumvir. He was indeed a Heavy Weight, or as it were, extremely Ponderous in Flesh. In fact, those who know say that he Dealt in all Corporal Quantities, bestowing Chevrons on the Worthy. His Mission, likewise his one Particular Amusement as he Ambled over the Drill Field on his Tide Water Gait, was to Give Impartially and with Stern Visage many demerits to the Unworthy Freish Preps. His Vast Importance, alas, they never could discern until Too Late, when, Tornado-Like, he swept down upon his Victim, and in a Voice exceeding Full of Rasp, would wheeze: “Take that Cadet’s Name, he ain’t paying one bit of attenshun, twenty-five Demerits.”

Full of Misery and Fear the Poor Cadet, with Knees so Atremble that he could scarcely give the Quite Proper Salute, would Wilt in His Tracks. Then Manifest Great Joy was to The Tyrant. He proceeded to a Secluded Nook in his Lair, and laughed in Great Guffaw. Mirth rolled over his Great Frame, and His Flesh became Much Corrugated, even as the Mighty Ocean with Waves. He Unbuckled his great Long Belt, and laying aside his Mighty Sabre, stood by his Post, who was, indeed, a Pigmy beside the Great Triumvir. Then he Planted his Huge Thumb in the Ribs of His Post, and said with Exceeding Sternness and again Much Rasp: “Sergeant, I'll have them Cadets understand that I'M Dean of this Military Department.”

Moral—War is H - - -, likewise the Life of an Academic Soldier; or, You can't get at all Kernels by Working a Shell Game.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, small boys and little babies: We have something here that will interest young and old alike—appeals to the head and to the heart of everyone.—Many years ago he was captured in the wilds of Urbana. He is a marvel, stands seven feet one inch in his stockings, has teeth like a horse, eyes like a monkey, and can twist himself into a thousand shapes and forms. The last chance to secure tickets for the great show—SEE SPIKE HUNT—the renowned distorsio contorsio, performing acrobatic stunts unequalled in any side show or circus in the world."

News item from Daily Illini, 1928.—

"Albert Austin Harding and his band of musicians delightfully entertained a large and enthusiastic audience of music lovers in the Auditorium last night. . . . The Band, and its leader especially, is known around the world; it contains fifty musicians of the highest class, and is now making its fifteenth annual tour. . . . His band is probably the most noted one in the country if not in the world, and the management of the Star lecture course feels flattered to be able to offer such a number on this year's course.

Perkins—"What a change has taken place in the last twenty years—then I was Dean Kinley's office boy and flunkey; now I am the respected and honored head of this great institution! There is always room on top if you can push the other fellow off. I have done this, and more too. Really it doesn't seem possible that I have been President for the last five years."

"And say Haines, remember the time I got kicked out of school—ha, ha! Say but they was down on me right for runnin' that actresses' picture."

The Song of the Flunked

I am the man who flunked Math four
   And two;
If you seek a man with flunks galore,
   I'll do.
I draw the lemon right along,
I hit the down grade good and strong,
And everything I guess is wrong,
   A few.

I take the courses that look good
   To me,
And I fix my list till it's a pad,
   But gee!
The way I land when finals come
Must surely shock the angels some,
And put the system on the bum,
   And spree!

But what care I? For it's a pipe
That I
Am picking all the fruit that's ripe,
   And why
A flunk or two should bother me
Is something that I cannot see.
My rowdy soul's still full of glee—
   Life's pie!

An Explanation

While Dr. Daniel Kilham Dodge has uncomplainingly submitted his charms and graces of face and figure to the experimental whim of every aspiring Illio artist for years past, we doubt not but that sometime somewhere in the secret musings of his heart the good Doctor has felt himself travestied to the point of malignity by some tyro's ill-advised expression of self-suspected talent. Actuated therefore not only by motives of common justice, but by appreciation of the unselfish spirit which impels Dr. Dodge to press onward without demur year after year to the fulfillment of his mission as an inspiration to University cartoonists—sustained perchance by the vain hope that an occasional worthy one may thus be discovered—we have secured the services of a preeminent professional artist to represent him, for the once, as he appears in life, unembellished by the extravagant, fantastic fancies of rah-rah art. Behold the Truth!

Advice to the Love Lorn

(Answers by Dean Kollock)

Dear Miss Kollock: I am twenty and deeply in love with a girl of eighteen who refuses to marry me until she is twenty. Please advise me, as I am very anxious to marry her. Is it proper for me to send her jewelry as a present?—Jenny Wrenn.

The girl is quite right, only she should have said twenty-three instead of twenty. You will know each other better by that time, whether or not you love one another well enough to bind your lives together now; besides, eighteen is ridiculously young for a girl to be married.

Dear Miss Kollock: I am a young girl of nineteen and deeply in love with a ball player of more than local reputation, to whom I want to say "yes," but father says I should not marry a ball player, because they are usually considered "wild." I want your advice and want it bad, so please send it to me by return mail. The man I love is in favor of elopement, but I will wait until I hear from you. Yours in trouble,

Peggy Douglas.

(Answer) I believe you will be wise to obey your parents, at least until you are twenty years of age. Baseball as a rule is a very lucrative vocation, but you know that Mabel Hite was very unhappy and she married Mike Donlin (a ball player). Tell your sweetheart the circumstances, and I think he will fully agree with you in every particular.

Dear Miss Kollock: I am in an awful predicament. You know this is leap year, and I want to propose to a certain young man, a fine fellow, but the girls all say it is not proper. He is a little bashful, but if I could only say the word he would take me quick as a wink. Hurry up and send me your reply, as he is going to call Sunday evening.

Jess Mann.

(Special) Yes, leap year comes but every four years, and I should advise you to pop the question at an early opportunity, provided he is as nice a fellow as you make him out to be. Try to win his promise when he calls Sunday evening.

Our Tom

One of Humboldt’s boys has recently won high honors at the University of Illinois. Tom McNutt, who is pursuing a legal education there, was elected to the office of Sheriff of the University Court by his fellow students a few weeks ago. This is only the second year that Tom has been going there, but his experience in the sheriff’s office of old Coles county made his fitness noticeable at once. Coles county has the best there is.—Humboldt News, Friday, Feb. 14, 1908.

A Chip Off the Old Block

Ed. Miller, who is learning to be a chemist at the State University has especially distinguished himself this year. The Miller family has cause to be proud of its five representatives there, but Ed has done the best of any. Although he has been there only two years, he has forged to the front in politics, and last week he was unanimously chosen president of his class. Besides this honor he has taken part in two oratorical contests, and he would have won one, of them if the judges had not been prejudiced and given the girls all the prizes. Keep on, Ed, you shouldn’t want to win against the gentle sex.—Geneva (Kane County) Republican, March 7.

Excused From State College

The influence of “pull” in the State University was shown last week when Ralph Sheriff was dropped from the University of Illinois. Ralph has been managing the student paper, and of course a good deal of his time was taken in that way so that he could not get his lessons. The injustice of the action is in the fact that a great many men who are not students have been allowed to remain. He was always one of the best boys in the high school here, and the facts show that his dismissal was for some other cause.—Reynolds (Rock Island Co.) Press.

Sprained Her Ankle

Factory Whistle Will Soon Blow

The Sycamore pickle works are arranging to begin the season's work. They have received a carload of salt and the plant is being prepared for the receipt of the cucumbers. Mr. F. W. Boston, an expert in this line, is in charge. He has the advantage over most young men in this occupation, in that he has two years of a college education. The Squire Dingee Company can certainly congratulate itself on being able to secure the services of a man so capable and reliable as is Mr. F. W. Boston.

From the Auburn (Ill.) Citizen,

Our fellow-townsmen, John Flood, who has taken many honors while pursuing his legal course at the State University at Champaign, has just lately been awarded one of the highest honors it is possible to bestow by his class. By popular vote he was elected sergeant-at-arms of the junior class. After a hard political fight, he won out from his two competitors, getting as many votes as both of them together. This is only another step in the rise of John, for whom we predict a glorious political future. He has been sheriff of the Law College for one term, and has been one of the big guns in city politics. He has the congratulations of his many friends in this township.

FRANK SCOTT TO WED

Centralia's Professor at the Illinois University to Take Urbana Bride

Prof. Frank Scott, son of W. W. Scott, and known by most Centralians as being one of the city's brightest boys, has at last succumbed to the seductive wiles of Cupid, and will become a husband. Frank is steadily advancing at the State's greatest university and has an important part in the university work, besides being one of the professors.

Scott's Centralia friends extend the hand of congratulation. We always suspected it of Frank.

Walter is taking the work of a medid and after three years work at Champaign he will go to the P. and S. and complete his medical work there. He is a vaulter on the U. of I. vaulting team. Hard Work Does Pay—Albert Saxe Learns

As an illustration of what hard work and practical experience will do, it is interesting to know that Albert Saxe, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Saxe of Aurora, has, by reason of hard conscientious plugging, been allowed to do sketching for the professors at the University of Illinois, outside of study hours. It is very unusual for first or even second year students to do this outside work, but Albert informs us that he has given the best of satisfaction in his drawings, and that he is daily winning favor in the eyes of his instructors.—Aurora Daily Herald.

Mattoon Boy's Fine Work In Drilling

Ernest Ramser, a son of Paul Ramser of this city, and who is a student at the University of Illinois, writes home that the military company in the University regiment in which he drills won the recent competitive drill prize for efficiency and that each member has been awarded a bronze medal. The grade made by his company was 98 per cent, the highest ever given by regular army officers.

Young Ramser is a corporal this year and has been instrumental in drilling the freshmen, consequently he is entitled to a lieutenancy for another year.—Mattoon Journal-Gazette, June 1, 1907.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

Not Much, to Be Sure, Unless the One Who Bears It Backs Up His Name With Deeds.

This story has to do with two Sycamore boys, who, for years past, have been fitting themselves for their part in the world's work and whose careers thus far present some remarkable coincidences. Their names are Smith and Brown—Lowell Smith and Roy Brown. Both sons of parents in moderate circumstances they began to go to school together in childhood, went through all of the grades of our local schools, graduated from the Sycamore High School with honors and entered the University of Illinois.

Always friends they were roommates during the first college year. Both decided to study law and this is their last year, as both will graduate next June. This year they are again roommates, and their boarding house has the unique distinction of having four presidents sleeping in one bed! Smith was elected president of the Athletic Association of the University for the year 1907-08 and has been on the base ball squad for three years. He is also president of the honorary Legal society and a delegate to its National Convention.

Brown has just been elected president of the senior class of the University and is also the president of the Adelphic Literary Society. He has also represented the University in several intercollegiate debates.

In addition the boys have been keeping up their regular University work!

Smith and Brown, shake! Here's to your good health and to your continued good work—it isn't "good luck," alone. Your friends here know that such results come only from good hard work, and they are glad you have come into your own.—Sycamore Tribune.

Succinct but blissful was his stay,

And had his ten hour's sleep.

You can rest assured of one thing though, I'll stick by you through thick and thin. Miss Throne just called me up and tried to rub it in, but I wish you could have been present to have heard the retorts I made to her every onslaught. You spoke to me about some cigars you had purchased to give the boys when you were elected. I believe I'd not say anything about them to anybody, it won't help matters any. If you want me to, I'll keep them for you and won't say a word to any one about it. Ashby, Cassingham and myself have had our heads together this evening and we're going to get even with Zimmy, all for your sake too. Well, I just wanted you to know how I felt, and I can tell from your sobbing that you're feeling bad; so I shan't bother you any more, so good-bye, Zimmy."
Nervy Nat (on campus): "Ah! At last my ambitions have been gratified. I have become a student in the University of Illinois. Methinks that it will be well for me to call upon President James and tell him that Nervy Nat has come to honor this institution by his presence."

Nervy Nat (before library): "I am told that it is more difficult to see the head of the University of Illinois than to get an audience with His Highness, the Czar of the Russias. What shall I do? Ah! An idea punctures my turret. Nervy Nat is always there when it comes to planning."

Nervy Nat (to president's secretary): "Tell your master that Sir Nervy Nat, chairman of the International Commission To Put Curls In Macaroni, awaits him with the notice of his appointment to a place in this august body."

Clerk (bowing low): "Yes, Your Lordship, you shall have immediate audience. These mere students can wait."

Ladies, Gentlemen and Students

We have a show that comprises wonders collected from all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world. We have the greatest aggregation of hair-raising specialties ever seen in the twin cities. Have you seen Doc. Moore, the human billiard-ball, who has been captured and tamed by his trainer, Prexy James, at risk of life and limb and untold mental agony? If you like this, pay twenty-five cents and see the Congress of Outernational Beauties—Jess Mann, the Cairo Maiden, Hess Stephenson, the Persian Princess, and Alta Swigart the Turkish Trophy. Have you seen Chawney Baldwin the human Ostrich? Eats and digests everything from Shakespeare to mowing machines. The show would not be complete without Madamme Kollock, who will be seen at the entrance of the side-show, feeding ferocious beasts with her right hand and taking the money with her left. In the side show will be seen a group of antiquated and fossilized ponies, standing but six inches high. These were the steeds ridden by T. A. Clark and David Kinley in the Semester Campaign of '76. Though these animals are ancient, they will still roll. At one o'clock will occur the blood curdling diving exhibition, fraught with daring and skill. From a flag-pole in front of the Armory, Monsieur Hachmeister gracefully drops, and alights head downward in the bone yard, only to appear again at the rear of Prexy’s domicile.

At three o’clock in the afternoon the thrilling balloon ascension takes place. The hot-air balloon, specially constructed for Prexy James of the National Balloon Commission, will bear him aloft from the university campus, and after all have had a chance to get a good look at him, he will steer eastward to reassume his regular duties at Washington. Do not miss this opportunity of catching a glimpse of your President.

In our menagerie will be seen Peccadillo Pete, a petulant pet of pretty propensities, who recently escaped only to be recaptured in Danville. See Mouthful Moynihan, who holds the world’s record for cheerless cheers, in his amazing masterpiece, “Me and Madame Schumann-Heinck.” Parrots, owls and asses are here galore.

Come, and buy a dope-sheet, worth ten cents more than the E. E. dope-sheet. Price, ten cents. If you like the show tell your friends. If you don’t, try Grape-Nuts.*

The Great Train Robbery

Don’t fail to see the greatest, gaudiest, extravaganza of the age. The awful, awe inspiring hold-up, of the freight car, the hair raising pursuit and the final capture and incarceration of the villain.

The first act opens with hurdler Jenkins slyly and serenely sneaking up to the rolling stock and lighting on the lantern.

The next act shows the erst-while fence climber connecting with Mother Earth at long intervals and breaking a record in the two mile dash.

But the glim is not a light affair, and Corporal Mathews, who is doing time on the police force and in the half, and who was a cracked broad smiler in his college days, pursues and eventually overtakes the robber and leads him back to the Little Brown Jug.

The final scene pictures our hero gnawing the rust off the bars of his cell.

Lions . . . A new variety, lately discovered in the center of darkest Champaign, called social Lions.—Jim Green, George Beardsley.

Giraffes . . . . Jim Warner, Delt Mitchell

Gazelle . . . . A wild animal imported direct from Wisconsin—a great favorite with the women. Billy is one of the pets of the Zoo.

Bears . . . In this cage will be found Dr. Daniels and Arthur L. Eno.

Zebra . . . . Port Arthur

Ant Eater . . . . Young Flanders

Elephant . . . . Van Hook and Big Twist

Camels . . . Sigma Chi (These animals go 40 days without a drink.)

Raccoon . . . . Nate Goodspeed
Side Show

Admission $12 a Semester

See the Man with the Simple Smile, the Piercing Steel Gray Eyes, and the Theodore Roosevelt Teeth.

Leo Garbage Canna. Lifts 4,000 pounds and never bats an eye.

Shake hands with Jim Warner, the man who is older than Methuselah.—Nine hundred years old and still working (the faculty.)

See "G," the fat man play ball. Weighing 625 pounds he can run bases faster than a 3 year old child.

Dr. Dodge, the hairy man. Imported direct from darkest Europe. It would take 10 barbers 365 years to give him a shave.

A Trip Down the Hike

The Cave of the Winds
Don't fail to visit the Cave of the Winds. The striking feature is that the atmosphere is heated to an enormous temperature. Hot air permeates the whole business. It is inhabited by a class known as Dels.

A Trip Through Hades
This journey can be made only by invitation, but cards are very easily procured. After meandering through a number of intricate passages and other rooms, we reach the sanctum sanctorinis, where proper punishment will be dealt out by the Old Boy himself.

The Incubator Baby
See the Incubator Babe. The greatest invention of the age. Sight of a lifetime and the twin cities. Don't fail to see dear little Ethel Hollister, who is growing every day.

The Champaign Fire, or Willie to the Rescue
This gorgeous, glorious, glittering, glimmering, glimmer shows true to life the fierce, fiendish fire of 1908. When all seems to be lost, brave, brazen, brassy Willie Sater dashes to the rescue, and turning on his line (of talk) succeeds in rescuing his pink pajamas and his chemistry note book.
11—Bryan, O'Rear and Hutson, "Con" specialists, arrive.

16—Twelve hundred embryo rah-rah's appear. Easy money for the bath ticket man.

18—President James informs Edward Orville Volden that he is not keeping roomers this year.

19—Daily Illini: "Mr. Wade, who succeeds Professor Breeneman of the Music faculty, is a very amiable gentleman creating an excellent impression at first sight." Shake hands with yourself, Mr. Wade.

20—Several students are haled before T. A.'s Department of Justice on a charge of painting the town in lurid hues, but are released on satisfactory proof that only water colors were used.

21—Phi Beta Kappa charter extended to the University. This disposes happily of the bug-bear as to how to express fittingly the University's appreciation of the profound contributions to learning of "Fat" Smith and others of its literary lights.

23—Yet another desecration of South Campusy sentiment—the Board of Administration fences in the Forestry.

26—Annual appearance of sophomore "Procs," unrivalled specimens of a frenzied, vituperative intellect.

29—Colonel Fechet is horrified by the accidental discovery of a grafting scheme among a few of his tried and trusted second year troops.

30—Senior class election. Supported by the eloquence of Patrick H. Moylan, a dark horse comes from behind and puts the Indian Sign on the aspirations of other candidates.
1—The triumph of art over commercialism. Frantz Boston discontinues the pickle industry and the attendant emulation of Heinz to return to the pursuit of higher education.

2—Supreme Justice Lindberg of the Junior class hands down a lengthy legal decision disqualifying Ovitz as a candidate for the class presidency. In view of the finality of the ruling, Ernie should at least be grateful for a stated disavowal of any intention “to reflect on his fitness for the office or his qualities as a gentleman.”

3—A. McGinnis, L. H. Hill, and C. S. Butler, war worn veterans of the National Guard, are summoned to Cairo to guard President Roosevelt against the attack of mosquitoes on his trip down the Mississippi.

4—R. C. Bardwell is suspended from the University on a charge of vandalism, incurred through lack of a proper sense of discrimination in the discharge of his duties as a member of the Sophomore Bill Posters’ Union.

5—Sorority pledges announced. The pledges wonder at their lightning transformation from “the dear” to “the hateful thing.”

7—The Academy Athletic Association is organized. Rat chasing is adopted as the standard pastime.

8—Delta Tau Delta disavows the reported pledging of Chet McGuire at Butler College. McGuire announces that the Delts are no more ashamed of it than he is.

9—The Varsity belt appears. This, kindly bear in mind, cinches for Bouyoucous a front seat in the Hall of Fame.
10—Dean Kollock makes a hit with the student body by planning a series of receptions in the Woman's Building, heretofore regarded as sacred to the neps of the edifice.

11—Visitation of the “Red Plague.” Amid the general hystercs characterizing Red's return from Tennessee to put on his jumping jack specialty, there are yet those of us who are grateful that his fling at the University community is confined to noiseless long range antics as leader of a rooting chorus.

12—Freshmen 11, Varsity 9. Congressman McKinley, in a tremendous but poorly aimed kick-off effort, spatters the soil of Illinois Field over half the Twin Cities.

13—Freshman Patton through the Illini appeals to his classmates for their support in his candidacy for sergeant-at-arms.

14—Woman's Athletic Association entertainment. M. Victoria Brougham does the Highland Fling.

15—Junior graft committee gets under way.

16—College of Law assembly. J. P. Flood is elected Sheriff of the Moot Court, and responds in a speech commensurate with the dignity of his new job.

18—G. J. Hachmeister sways the enormous mass meeting by a thrilling individual rendition of his popular hit, “That's What the Bleachers Sang.”

19—The Booze Famine, together with prolonged inactivity of the small boy, renders Chief of Police McKinney's tenure of office precarious, and in order to demonstrate to Urbana citizens his indispensability he arrests Harper and Miss Wilkins for fast driving.
OCTOBER—Continued

20—Chicago 42—Illinois 6. To know that football is not the only intercollegiate sport helps some.

22—W. R. Quayle evidences a trait startlingly peculiar to himself as an '11 classman by backing away from his proposed nomination for class president.

23—Husky Mr. Nightingale makes a phenomenal stroke on the golf links.

24—L. B. Smith entices himself up in a trap door and naively falls down the stairway below. He is hurried to Burnham Hospital, where it first becomes apparent that there is method in his madness.

25—Color Rush. The self-adjudged Headliner, Jocko Jones, propels himself into the spotlight, after which the University’s force of jiggers indulges in a coveted head busting carnival.

30—Dady and Simpson, battery heroes, stick valorously to their posts until the last gun in honor of Dean Goss is fired.
1—The C. E. Seniors go to Mahomet on a bridge inspecting tour. Ziesing, from the dizzy height of a decayed stump, tells the gaping pupils of a nearby country school that they should love their teacher, and exhorts them to strive to emulate their illustrious fellow country-men, G. Washington, A. Lincoln, and L. G. Hanna.

2—Illinois slips over on the Boilermakers its time honored joke—Illinois 2—Illinois 4—Purdue 4.

3—The Bloomington Pantagraph in some way acquires a delusion that the students are plugging for a shortening of the two-day Thanksgiving vacation, and comments flatteringly on the creditable thirst for knowledge rampant at Illinois.

4—"Three thousand today, a nickel yesterday, wait for tomorrow." Take the money now, and forget it.

5—Dr. Dodge and Mr. Lake outgame the rest of the faculty in a contest to decide the appointment of delegates to a meeting of The Wisconsin State Teachers' Association, and depart for Schlitzberg with a ten days supply of towels and cracked ice.

8—When last heard from, the party of E. E. seniors touring the East, with Professor Morgan Brooks at their head, were hitting it up in the neighborhood of the Bowery.

Bess Wyeth, over long distance telephone, on the evening of bidding day—"O, yes, we got eight peaches—and I'm one of them."
NOVEMBER—Continued

11—L. S. Riddle and J. F. Barnes flit silently back to the farm. Education sometimes palls.

13—In order to insure the success of the Weihnachtsfest the Deutsche Verein plans a corner on wurst and limburger.

16—Illini Gun Club competition hunt is announced. A University nature-lover excites himself unduly.

18—Dean Kinley outlines a few first-aid-to-the-injured remedies for the financial crisis. His appeal to students to present only small checks from home meets with instant, even if usually unintentional response from patriots all along the line.

22—The fireworks, dances, and other evidences of good will accorded the football team at Indiana only partly demoralizes them. Illinois 10, Indiana 6.

24—"One of the girls"—fortunately for her the fellows do not know which one—wolfs about the men's agreement to discontinue the use of carriages at formal parties.

25—Vandagrift organizes a snipe hunting expedition, with R. H. Schaller, A. O. Spierling, and C. W. Kellman in the role of "come ons." Vandy goes out to beat up the brush, while the three quick thinkers remain to hold the sacks.

27—Off for the Turkeyfest.
1—Some of us get back.

3—The cast of characters in "A Night Off" is irremediably depleted by the thoughtlessness of James J. Jeffries' bull dog in eating Novelli's parrot, and the simultaneous unavailability of Tommy Lewis.

5—The Sophomore Bludgeons appear.

6—Morris, McNamee, and Washburn, promoters of the Inter-fraternity Dance, deplore the inability of a number of their fellow Greeks to distinguish between principles of amateur high finance and the spirit of Pan-Hellenism.

7—Ovitz leads the Phi Psi football stalwarts to Ludlow to pick a lemon. Ludlow 6, Phi Psis 4.

10—Illini notice. Cairns won't let us forget that he is a candidate for football manager.

11—Football election. We forget anyhow.

12—Jim Bateman uncorks some of his booster propensities on the Urbana populace, and is landed in the city dungeon in record time.

13—Junior Prom. Sparks is uncertain as to the conventional number of violets to send his friend, and Judson pipes him off. The Sparks party appears with a fair sized section of the green house in tow.

17—The Woman's League Bazaar affords Larry Hess an opportunity to indulge his penchant for dolls.

19—Back to the family fireside.

24—Murder will out. Van Hook is heard from as leader of a cotillion given in his honor at Freeport.
7—Return of the rambling wrecks.

8—The Illinois Magazine crosses the bar.

9—One hundred and twenty bush leaguers loped out of the brush in response to the call for baseball candidates.

10—Casper Whitney comes across with his annual joke of selecting an All-American team.

11—Sorority Pan-Hellenic Dance. The girls pronounce it novel, but—.

14—Michigan decides to go it alone, at the same time arrogating to herself a halo of purity in Western Athletics. What do you know about that?

15—Leo G. arranges to dumbfound the populace by staging a few of his acrobatic thrillers.

20—Mass meeting. Discussion of the honor system.

22—Short horns arrive for their two weeks’ fling at the classics.

23-30—Convincing proof of the genuineness of the Board of Administration’s plan to raise the academic standard.
1—Post-exam jubilee. What's the use?

2—Illinois 67½, Indiana 1½. Indiana can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that she doped our prospects accurately.

4—The Interscholastic management offers twenty-five dollars to any couple who will be married publicly on the evening of the big circus. Take it down, Mr. McMasters.

6—Theta chaperon is taken to the hospital.

7—Dorothy Ross, the actorine, poses for the art page of the Illini.

8—In response to an announcement by the chairman of the Junior class meeting that a motion for adjournment is in order, Beardsley promptly moves that the polls be closed.

9—Art McKelvey gets back from a semester's rest at Wisconsin.

11—Chicago tells what would happen to Illinois if their freshmen track team were eligible. It's asking us to believe a lot in the face of their freshmen's defeat at the hands of ours two weeks ago.

14—Small-pox scare. Health authorities shoo the suspects to their rooms and board them in.

16—General vaccination ordered. Wild enthusiasm on the part of the students.

19—Junior class election in the corridor of the basement. Should this still harass the intellect of some dyspeptic high-brow, we suggest the cattle-barns as a possible alternative.

20—The Germans plan their annual observance of St. Patrick's day.

21—Li Scovill appears at the Military Ball arrayed in a uniform that his grandpop foraged in at Valley Forge. Colonel Fechét blows up.

22—This day is jointly commemorative of the moral traits of George Washington and Army Williams.

24—Pi Phis give a box party at the Crescent.

26—Freshman election. Miss Throne lands the vice-presidency.
2—Seven game proposition settled. Northwestern bucks up and decides that she can take a chance on three.

3—Final call for Illio pictures. This is no joke.

7—Track meet—Chicago 55, Illinois 31. We're willing to furnish a little encouragement occasionally.

9—Annual spring student parade. The primary purpose of this affair is to afford the relief necessary to keep the townspeople from choking to death for lack of something to knock about.

12—Hiram Thompson Scovill is sorely mystified by the action of Phi Beta Kappa, which in a moment of thoughtlessness invites him to become one of its number.

13—Illio election. Goodspeed stung.

14—Varsity defeats Ohio in debate.

17—St. Patrick's Disciples whoop 'er up at the Beardsley.

18—Ex-President Draper makes a hit in an address to the students. At his suggestion they let Prexy James in for a modest share of approbation.

19—"Billy" Sunday tarries at the University long enough to touch off a little of his high-pressure reform ammunition.

20—List of drill prizes announced. Aspirants for individual military glory demolish the furniture of their rooms in frenzied practice.

21—Dean Clark receives the third degree in the Knights of Pythias, and is hauled home in the ambulance.

23—C. P. Mills narrowly escapes annihilation from the explosion of his distiller.

26—Appearance of the Technograph joke book.

28—After the Junior Smoker, Dr. Kemp entertains the owls with reminiscences of a well-spent life. Shame upon you for a naughty man, Dr. Kemp.

$3,000 WORTH OF GOOD READING FOR YOU EVERY WEEK.

The literary and art contents of the Sunday Magazine of THE RECORD-HERALD costs on the average $3,000 a week. Only the best is good enough for our 200,000 readers, and we have long been in a position to command the best, regardless of cost. Such sums as $25,000 for Conan Doyle's "Sir Nigel" and $21,000 for Mark Twain's Autobiography are of course exceptional, even with our Sunday Magazine, but $8,000 to $15,000 for serials and $1,000 or more for short stories and articles are payments frequently made.

UNIQUE AND UNRIVALLED.

It is but a simple statement of fact that no other publication of the kind in the world approaches the Sunday Magazine of THE RECORD-HERALD, either in beauty of illustration or in value and interest of contents. We pay the highest possible compliment to the Saturday Evening Post when we say it is the only independent weekly publication that can in any way compare with our Sunday Magazine.

GETTING THE HABIT.

A course of a few weeks in reading the Sunday Magazine of THE RECORD-HERALD makes it a fixed habit—and that's what we want. We spend more than $150,000 a year to attain that end. We are making a magazine that appeals to sane, persistent, clean-minded readers—those for whom it is worth while to get the best—readers who demand and appreciate the choicest illustrations and the finest fiction that American and English genius can produce.

WHY NOT HAVE THE BEST?

You must have a Sunday newspaper. Why not have the one that will do most to brighten your home fifty-two weeks in the year? Think of it! The best and costliest entertainment that the literary talent of our day can produce—all without extra cost as part of a great Sunday newspaper! If you are not a subscriber, order next Sunday's RECORD-HERALD and see what you have been missing.

Are You Using Your Brains?

That is, are you using them to the best advantage in your tailoring. Is your tailor up on all the late "wrinkles," is he always receiving the new and nobby patterns, does his cutter turn out that snappy stuff which you want? Is your tailor able to read you; put himself in your place and advise you as if he were the purchaser? Does he put you next to all the "ins" so that your suit is truly representative of the tailoring ART?

Now if your tailor is negligent in any one of these details, we solicit a visit to one who will supply all and more. Yoursatisfaction is his only consideration.
