THE 1924 ILLIO
THE ILLIO
PUBLISHED BY THE CLASS OF 1924

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
As the tread of progress lightly passes
Laying waste tribes and peoples
Building cities out of prairies
Scattering wide accumulated wisdom.
Occasionally arises a dominating figure - pioneerlike...
Guiding the advance of civilization.
Along a well blazed trail to a glorious end.
In the advancement of Illinois, the liberal humanity
And executive ability of Eugene Davenport
Have been a great source of inspiration.

It is from Smith in the evening that songs are heard—melodies that recall, sometimes, the strong virile life of the prairies, and sometimes suggest to us Indian love songs, songs the Illini sang before the white man came.
Overtopping all other memories stands the Library Tower. Dedicated to the things that are finest in the prairie, it rises in quiet dignity, a calm sentinel of culture.
Primly colonial, the Woman's Building watches the life of Illini daughters, coolly aristocratic in quiet dignity.
On the wide sweep of the rolling western plain, the prairie man raised his buildings and beside them planted magnificent trees. They still stand, everlasting monuments to the pioneer's love for beauty.
Sometimes crowded with students hurrying from Lit to Math, sometimes deserted, as now, quietly played upon by light and shadow, Burrill Avenue watches the endless procession of youth, marching, marching—on to life.
The ability to think straight and to shoot straight has been the heritage of Illini men. Here in the Armory foregather the leaders of to-morrow, worthy upholders of Illini tradition, learning the science of war that there may be peace.
Emblematic of the battle of the pioneer to conquer the land, the Agriculture Building stands to teach the prairieman’s sons how better to continue the endless struggle with the soil.
The Boneyard—major tradition of our campus. Engineering Hall may be seen in the distance, but the Boneyard is not the exclusive property of the engineers, it belongs to the whole body of Illinois students. Have you had recounted to you the interesting events which have taken place upon its banks?

President DAVID KINLEY

THIS book is issued by the students of the Junior Class—the students, that is to say, who next year will be seniors and the following year alumni and alumnas. For three years past they have been following many different courses and curricula, but I hope that they have all been receiving training also in one common spirit and ideal, namely, the spirit and ideal that we call "Illinois Loyalty", which means loyalty and service to the University of Illinois and to the State and the Nation.—DAVID KINLEY
DEAN OF WOMEN

The aims of the Dean of Women are to help the student woman in her problems of adjustment to a new environment, and to co-operate with her in the solution of the complex social problem. To the splendid leadership of the women's organizations and to the harmonious co-operation between the members and their leaders is due, in great measure, the credit for the well-being of campus life; for the spirit of happy comrade-ship, the growing sense of responsibility, the gratifying increase of groups organized for living purposes, and the more wholesome atmosphere in the social life on the campus.

RUBY E. C. MASON

DEAN OF MEN

The Dean of Men is an advisory officer whose main interest is in the individual and his problems. Most men who come to college would do their work well if their purposes were strong enough, if the conditions under which they were living were healthful and proper, and if they would go at their work seriously and regularly. It is the purpose of the Dean of Men, so far as it is possible, to bring about these conditions. Very few men will accept advice for which they have not asked, but the Dean of Men and his assistants stand ready every day to give help and suggestions and advice to every individual in the University.

THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with its enrollment of 2764 students, a faculty of about 350, and nineteen separate departments, is the largest subdivision of the University. Besides the very wide opportunity for thorough training in the humanities and sciences both for graduates and undergraduates, it includes the specialized curricula in chemistry, journalism, entomology, home economics and dietetics, and furnishes opportunity for preliminary preparation for the profession of law, medicine, dentistry, theology, and social service. Under the present unified departmental organization of the University, this College provides instruction needed for the students of all the other colleges at Urbana in subjects like English, modern languages, chemistry, and mathematics. More than one-half the total energy devoted to teaching by the staff of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, is spent upon students enrolled in other colleges.

COMMERCE

The undergraduate work in the College of Commerce concerns itself primarily with fundamentals rather than with technique. Yet its purpose is twofold: training in the broad field of general education, and an introduction to more specialized fields.

The departments of the College of Commerce offer ample opportunities for advanced work in many fields leading to a Master's Degree. The cause of this development toward specialization in Commerce beyond the Bachelor's Degree is the rapidly increasing demand on the part of industry for men and women who have spent a year or more in advanced study. Graduate work in Commerce at Illinois, then, is graduate work in the proper sense, and not mere professional training in which specialization is attempted without a thorough grounding in the fundamentals.

CHARLES M. THOMPSON
COLLEGE OF LAW

The College of Law concerns itself primarily with training men for the legal profession. The curriculum gives an adequate preparation for the practise of law in any American state. In all courses some special attention is paid to Illinois statutes and decisions, but this in no way lessens the value of such courses for students coming from other states. The aim is, through the study and analysis of cases, to develop a legal mind and to ground it in legal principles. In the process, law is viewed not merely as a means of gaining a livelihood through its practise, but its function as a social institution is stressed, and its great underlying purposes and growth are detailed. Through this method the design is not only to prepare men well for the practise of law, but to develop a professional character and to inspire an appreciation of the duties of a lawyer as a public servant. Secondarily, the College of Law furnishes excellent training for business.

ALBERT J. HARNO
The College of Agriculture is specifically charged with the responsibility of teaching agriculture to the students who register in the College; with investigating, through its Experiment Station, agricultural conditions and problems which are of economic importance to the agriculture of the state; and finally, through its Agricultural Extension Service, with extending its teaching and the results of its research to the farmers throughout the state.

Because of this responsibility, the College is brought into very close touch with the people of the state. The relative ease with which the value of its work can be demonstrated has made its work a popular and extremely helpful phase of the University’s activities.

The agricultural depression of the past two years has had a marked effect upon the registration in the College of Agriculture. A considerable number of students who would normally register in the College are entering other colleges of the University. This condition will probably continue until the farming business is restored to a normal basis. Every effort is being made to make the several departments in the College meet the urgent demands made upon it not only by its students, but also by the farmers throughout the state.

H. W. Mumford
ENGINEERING

The College of Engineering is the organization through which the University administers its work in the fields of engineering education and engineering research. The College of Engineering has ten departments of instruction and it offers fifteen specialized curricula.

The Engineering Experiment Station is well organized, and its work is known wherever engineering is practiced. This Station has already published 135 bulletins and 10 circulars, and in addition, numerous manuscripts have been accepted for publication.

The instructional staff and the equipment of the College of Engineering offer opportunities to the student for instruction and research that are unexcelled. The combination of the instructional and research staff also offers unusual advantages for graduate study in engineering.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

It is now an accepted idea that preparation for the profession of teaching should include courses specially designed to secure a knowledge of the methods underlying skillful teaching. The College of Education is endeavoring to give this professional background to students of the University who are planning to enter the teaching profession. It not only emphasizes the necessity and value of technique, but offers a wide variety of courses which furnish to the student the training necessary for supervision and educational administration. The University High School gives opportunity for individual observation and practice which assists greatly in definitely establishing the scientific technique which should underlie effective teaching.

Dean Chadsey

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The School of Music is one of the great opportunities on the campus for the gaining of one of the necessities of life—education in a cultural subject. For the student who matriculates in this school a thorough training in general musical knowledge is offered, with special emphasis laid on the particular branch of music in which he wishes to major. For the students from the other Colleges of the University the School of Music affords an opportunity to become acquainted with the best in this great world of art through Appreciation and History courses, concerts, and recitals.

F. B. Stiven

Director Stiven
LIBRARY SCHOOL

The University Library is often called the heart of the University, and it is true beyond doubt that most of the students and faculty need and use the library in some, if not most, of their courses. Many of the advanced courses could hardly be carried on without a library, and often books are needed which are not here; in the more urgent cases these are borrowed from other, sometimes distant, libraries. Three hundred fifty such volumes were borrowed last year.

The Library School is one of the two schools with a two-year curriculum for college graduates. About 450 former students are in libraries, many of them doing work recognized by all as conspicuously good. P. L. Windsor

GRADUATE SCHOOL

The Graduate School represents the organized efforts and resources of the University for the purpose of giving opportunities for the most advanced study and for the promotion of research. These two functions, however, are by no means separate, for the spirit of research is the life of graduate study. The ideal of graduate work is one and the same for all graduate students. Arthur H. Daniels
COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY

Two epoch-making developments in the College of Dentistry are noted: the requirement of thirty semester hours of work done in an accredited college or university for admission to the dental curriculum, and the establishment of graduate courses in dentistry. Two courses leading to the Master of Science degree have been approved: one in oral surgery and one in orthodontia. Particular attention is called to the specificity of these courses, and while they are listed among the graduate courses in the Graduate College of the University, their purpose is expressed in a definitely particularized function. The courses offered are open to persons, who, by training and natural qualities, are most likely to develop particular skill and usefulness along specialized lines. We hope for a healthy growth in these advanced courses in the near future.

F. B. MOOREHEAD
Although the School of Pharmacy is the oldest of the Chicago departments, it was not until recent years that it experienced any considerable growth in enrollment. During the war, the enrollment fell to 111, while this year there are 335. For the past three years it has been necessary to refuse admission to many students, due to lack of space.

A survey of the new students shows that 39 of the 299 first-year students have had college work in addition to their high school work before entering here. This shows the better educational preparation of the students in the College of Pharmacy.

The Senior Class numbers 125, and is by far the largest senior class in the history of the school. The installation of a new laboratory for the senior work in pharmacy, which provides desks for 144 students, has made it possible to take in so large a class.

In the size of its classes, the School of Pharmacy ranks among the six largest schools of the country.

Wm. B. Day
Emerson has well said: "The first wealth is health". It is more precious to a people than good roads; the improvement of rivers and harbors; the enlargement of army or navy; the extension of commerce; the fostering of agriculture, or the conservation of natural resources. Upon good health depends efficiency and happiness. The line between efficiency and inefficiency is drawn upon the ability of the individual to go to work today; that between happiness and unhappiness upon the ability to enjoy the work of today.

Health is the great problem of life. In the past health has been largely dependent on curative medicine. In the future it will be largely dependent on preventive medicine. Statistics show that every fifty seconds a life is lost to our country through preventable diseases. Medical science believes that the known preventable diseases constitute only a fraction of those which can be prevented. It must accordingly not only emphasize curative medicine, but also accentuate preventive medicine. The Department of Public Welfare and the College of Medicine of the University, two state-supported medical agencies, have united to erect a great Temple of Health, dedicated to the training of medical workers and the study of disease in its broadest sense.

WHEN I WAS A KID I THOUGHT—— that Nelly Barr '23, president of Mask and Bauble, could act just about as she wanted to.
— that Harold Woodward '24, "Chris", ought to have been a military officer because he worked the football squad so well.
— that Donald C. Peterson '23, "Don",learned how to go through the line by attending Bradley dances.
— that Dorothy Wiles '23, was the author of the never-to-be-forgotten—"I declare upon my honor".
— that David D. Wilson '23, "Dave", was giving signals when I saw him talking sternly and at length after every bad play.
— that Florence Ensor '23, must have been a wonderful cook to make Phi Beta Kappa from the Home Ec. school.
— that Donald C. Pederson '24, "Don", junior football manager, used to milk the cows of the University herd to provide milk for the players.
— that George Podlich '24, "Pod", junior football manager, had to blow up and deflate the ovals every night.
— that James W. McMillan '24, "Jim", practiced before football games by pushing a piano about.
— that Georgie Higgard '23, president of the Woman's Athletic Association, used to umpire those thrilling coast vs. coast games south of Lincoln Hall.
—that Walter H. Roettger '24, "Wally", varsity hurler, was some sort of Adonis when the girls spoke admiringly of his curves.

—that Otto H. Vogel '23, "Ot", was a good friend to small boys because he knocked so many balls over the fence to them.

—that Norton Hellstrom '23, "Swede", basketball Bob, rolled his socks to show the dimples in his knees.

—that Glenn Potter '24, "Hank", midget basketball marvel, learned his scoring art by tossing gum drops through his teething ring.

—that Paul Sweet '23, "Paul", track captain, must be a rich man because they banked the Gym track on his account.

—that Paul J. Stewart '23, "Stew", varsity shortstop, was the author of the new health book, "How to Catch Flies".

—that Robert B. Ayres '24, "Bob", was a fussy when the boys spoke about his being so fast.

—that Franklin Johnson '24, "Pitch", used good judgment in leaving such a small margin between his toe and the top of the hurdle.

—that Milton Angier '24, "Mill", was the model for the classic statue, "The Discus Thrower".

—that Douglas Fessenden '24, "Doug", was Harry Call's meal ticket.

One Hundred Forty-nine that George H. Walbert '23, "Heinie", must be a bad actor because he never took part in the plays he managed.

—that Mary Elizabeth Hanger '23, vice-president of Woman's League, took the place of Dean Ruby when the latter was out of town.

—that Rowland H. Murray '23, "Bud", as vice-president of the Illinois Union, took care of the morals of the campus.

—that Janet Keating '24, new head of the Woman's League, was sort of a chauffeur-in-chief for the campus functions.

—that Harold M. Keene '23, "Doc", president of the Illinois Union, controlled all of the Plumbers in Champaign.

—that Florence Foy '24, of the Illinois Board of Control, read all of the publications before they were sold to see if they needed editing.

—that Ruth Butler '23, Y. W. C. A. president, ran the big morning paper across the street from the Union Building.

—that Ernest Holand '24, "Ernie", until senior, picked the girls for the beauty section.

—that James B. Keenan '24, "Jimmy", president of the Junior Class, must not be of age.
that Russell Scott '23, "Russ", cross country captain, kept in training by racing Short Line cars from Swannell's to the Urbana post office.

that Doris Glidden '23, chairwoman of the Woman's Welfare Committee, went settlement working among the activities.

that Isabelle Nims '23, chap., worked parties for the Woman's League — on the Chi Omega porch.

that Edwin Wells '23, "Ed", one of us must be an Ag and train by chasing from Uni hall to the Ag barn.

that Jordan R. McNeill '23, "Mac", Student Colonel, was the author of that famous novel, "Infantry Drill Regulations".

that Howard W. Greene '23, "Pinkie", business manager of the 1923 Illio, was a sort of Elijah's mule because he carried the proofs.

that Arthur Humphrey '23, "Art", Stadium Chairman, was about collecting delinquent stadium pledges accompanied by the thrush.

that Morris Sostrin '24, "Morse", head of the Unit System, was some sort of a mathematical formula calculator.

WOMAN'S LEAGUE

Woman's League is an organization in which all of the women students of the University are members by virtue of their registration. The aim of the League is to represent each member in an organization of self-government, to promote democracy among its members, and to maintain among women the finest of Illinois spirit.

In furthering responsibility toward one another "The Big Sister Movement" is carried on by Woman's League. To strengthen and form new friendships among the women on the campus, All-University Women's Mixers, Group Mixer, Inter-Illina parties, and Freshmen Orange and Blue Feather parties are given. The Wednesday afternoon teas have become a pleasant tradition and furnish a splendid opportunity for University women to meet.

The League has various committees working under its supervision. The largest is the Woman's Welfare Committee, whose special duty it is to furnish and maintain the League Houses on the campus. Woman's League works with the Illinois Union in planning such celebrations as Homecoming and Dad's Day, while Mother's Day is under the sole control of the League.

Woman's League is a member of the Illinois Women's Federated Clubs, and has the largest membership in the Federation.

FIRST COUNCIL

First Council of Woman's League is composed of the presidents of organized houses, the presidents of the groups, and the heads of the Woman's League Committees. Its purpose is to help maintain a uniform policy among the houses and groups, to inform them of Woman's League activities and other events of interest, to enlist their support in maintaining the standard set up for women by the League, and to seek their co-operation in every good movement on the campus. In short, its function is to maintain a unity of thought and action among the women of the University.

WOMAN'S HONOR COMMISSION

The Honor System was voted into existence at Illinois in the spring of 1919 by the student body.

The Woman's Honor Commission tried all cases of dishonesty among women. Recommendations were then made by the Commission to the Council of Administration, which made the final decision. As a result of the action of the Senate of the University in its April meeting, the functions of the Woman's Honor Commission have been absorbed by the University, and this body has been disbanded. The work of the Commission has been very commendable, and it will be long remembered by the student body.
THE GROUP SYSTEM

This year has seen the establishment of the Woman’s Group System on a firmer, more practical basis. At the beginning of the fall semester a canvass was made of the twin-cities to determine the location of the women living in the various homes. These women were arranged according to geographical divisions into groups of twenty-five each. They met soon after this grouping, elected their officers, and adopted a constitution.

The presidents of the Groups are represented in the First and Second Councils of the Woman’s League, meeting every two weeks. There is also a member of the Group System on the mixed Student Council.

Central committees working under the Vice-Presidents of the League have accomplished many things this year. The three committees each have had their special work. The Registration Committee has kept a file of the women in the groups, the Social Committee has supervised two All-Group parties for women and co-operated with the men in giving a gigantic mixer in the Gym Annex. The Freshman Education Committee has sent out weekly questionnaires regarding campus activities, and in athletics and dramatics the Groups have competed with the other organizations successfully.

The Group System was founded primarily for the benefit of the women living outside of organized houses, in order to give them a medium to work through in co-operating with the organized houses. As a result of this co-operation, a better spirit exists among the women of the University.
WOMAN'S WELFARE COMMITTEE

Woman's Welfare, a major committee of Woman's League, is a body representative of every organized house and group of the University. It works to further the welfare of University women. One of its main accomplishments is the support of three co-operative houses by means of which women are able to go through college on less than half the cost to the average girl.

Woman's Welfare Committee originated during the time of the S. A. T. C. as the Woman's War Relief Committee, for the purpose of collecting three cents a week from each person on the campus with which to purchase cigarettes for the men overseas. Making of bandages, knitting, and general relief work was started under the leadership of this committee.

In 1919 the organization became Woman's Welfare and took the two co-operative houses from the University. To obtain funds to support them they ventured upon a dramatic production, "Jeanne D'Arc", and since that time have presented in succession, "Sweethearts", "Sari", and the "Red Widow", the latter being given with the assistance of Pierrots of the Illinois Union.
This year has seen the birth of a new organization, the Orange and Blue Feather for freshman women. Planned by the Woman’s League, it grew from the apparent lack of unified and effective action on the part of the freshmen.

The members of Orange and Blue Feather are chosen alternately from an alphabetical list of all the girl members of the Freshman Class. Its two main objectives are: acquainting the newcomers with each other and the University, and giving them a chance to participate in campus activities.

The first purpose was accomplished by means of a number of parties and regular bi-weekly meetings; the second through the point system. Points had been given before, but the system was revised and made competitive in the two divisions of the new organization. The five girls having the highest number of points in each group were awarded ‘I’ memory books.

The organization has made noticeable progress in achieving its ends and shows evidence of becoming one of the most valuable of Illinois institutions.

Its insignia are feathers encircled with orange and blue.

GOOD TIMES TOGETHER

Woman's League Tea has become an established institution, and "I'll meet you up at Tea" has become a common phrase on the campus. It is a pleasant and profitable diversion for Wednesday afternoons, and the atmosphere of friendliness lasts through the rest of the week. We all feel welcome: we chat with our old friends and we make new ones each time. Special features sometime make the afternoon more attractive, such as a Big Sister, a Valentine, or a Christmas Tea. Then there are the Woman's League Mixers which always leave pleasant memories. We are frequently invited to attend a mixer and we go eagerly, knowing that the entertainment will be novel, that we will have a jolly good time, and that we will meet a host of regular girls. A different group is asked to entertain each time, thus insuring a variety of programs. Punch and cookies, or popcorn balls and apples, always add zest to the party. These friendly activities of the Woman's League are becoming a tradition which we are striving to perpetuate.

The Y. W. C. A. Stunt Show is presented annually at Interscholastic and is always received with enthusiasm. It is managed entirely by the girls, even to the extent of a proficient girl's orchestra. Any individual or organized house may enter a stunt and from these the best are chosen for final competition. Cups are awarded to organizations and to one individual for the cleverest and most artistic stunts.

Kappa Kappa Gamma
Last year Phi Mu was awarded the cup for the most artistic stunt. Both Woman's Residence Hall and Kappa Kappa Gamma won cups for equally clever stunts, while Milly June Goetz received a prize for the best individual act. The Stunt Show arouses a great deal of interest, and is gaining in popularity every year. The proceeds are devoted to association work on the campus.

One of the traditions at Illinois is the May Fete presented each spring during Interscholastic week by the girls enrolled in Physical Education. It is staged under the direction of the Physical Education department. About eleven hundred girls took part last year in an old fashioned English May Day. For the first time the May Queen, Ruth Warren, was elected by popular vote. The Fete is given on Illinois Field and presents a very picturesque spectacle. The principal features are: the farewell procession of the senior girls, the crowning of the May Queen, the various dances, and the winding of the May Pole.

The Doll Show is one of our Y. W. C. A.'s major activities of the year. The last Doll Show, held December 16, was successful in every way. Five hundred dolls were distributed among the houses on the campus and each house dressed a set of dolls to represent a popular song. The committee members, attired in costumes representing songs also, sold candy, eskimo pies, favors, dolls, Christmas cards and boutonnieres. The Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta orchestras furnished music for the children from the poorer families of the twin cities, while for their further enjoyment dolls and candy were distributed. In addition to the gifts given to the local children, four hundred dolls were sent to the Association house in Chicago, and more than a hundred to the Champaign Charities and Cunningham Home.

In this feature of Y. W. C. A. work, the girls are given an opportunity to do a real service for the community.
ILLINOIS WOMEN IN ATHLETICS

Women’s athletics are continually becoming a more important phase of University life, as better equipment and more competent instruction create an interest in them to an increasing number of enthusiastic women. In addition to present gymnasium facilities, a new gymnasium is just being completed with a swimming pool, which will be ready for use at the beginning of the Summer Session. The girls’ athletic field consists of hockey and soccer fields, two basketball courts, five tennis courts, and a baseball diamond.

The approximate number of girls participating in the class tournaments was as follows:

- Hockey: 190
- Basketball: 150
- Bowling: 24
- Baseball: 119
- Swimming: 80
- Track: 66

The Woman's Athletic Association has as its aim the promotion of athletics and the betterment of health among the women of the University. The organization instigated a posture campaign this year as a new phase of activity in the accomplishment of this aim. The purpose of the campaign was to call the attention of each girl to her posture and to aid her in bettering it if her position was faulty. A "Posture Post" was maintained throughout the week by the department of Physical Education, where women were examined and given a grade. The prize, awarded to the organizations having the highest average, was won by Delta Gamma. Each day some novel idea was carried out and the campaign went over with such success that it will undoubtedly become a regular institution in W. A. A.

W. A. A. ADVISORY BOARD

One Hundred Seventy-eight
The 1922–23 Hockey season closed on December 4th with a fast game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores. The Sophs won, taking the championship, and the Seniors captured second place.

As much enthusiasm was shown in the second team games as in those which the first team played. The Sophomore Whites won the flag, and were rewarded by an extra count of points in W. A. A.

It is worthy of note that more girls were out for practice than ever before. Two hundred and thirty-two girls were out, of which number ninety-four were Freshmen, seventy-two Sophomores, thirty-six Juniors, and thirty Seniors.

Miss Hughs and Miss Brown coached the teams. Each is a capable coach and is able to bring out the best that is in the players. The teams were especially fortunate in that the department provided the players with new shin-guards and new sticks.

The visit of Miss Ingle, an English hockey coach, was a great aid to the players in calling to their attention points which American players overlook.

BASKETBALL

The basketball tournament this year has been more exciting and more interesting than ever before.

The coaches—Miss Harriet Brown and Miss Verna Brooks—helped to keep up the enthusiasm which was so evident, and to them we owe a vote of thanks.

From the start, the "dope" in the tourney failed to run true, the Seniors besting the Sophomores 22 to 14 in the first encounter, and the Juniors defeating the Freshmen 13 to 12 in the second. It was the start which the Juniors gained at the first which brought them the championship.

The last game, the battle between the Juniors and the Sophs, was the deciding encounter. From the first tip-off the game was a "thriller" and ended a tie 20 to 20. But because the previous standing of the Juniors was sufficiently high, their failure to win this game did not lose them the flag.

In basketball, there probably lies more interest than in any other of our sports, as this season has conclusively proved.

BOWLING

Bowling is a comparatively new activity for the girls, but they are taking as much interest in it as the men. Shortly after the hockey tournament some two hundred and ninety girls registered for class bowling under Miss Humrichouser as coach. March 8th the first game of the tournament was rolled, with the Juniors winning three games from the Freshmen and the Sophomores taking two games out of three from the Seniors. Louise Covington, '23, made the highest individual score of 170 points.

March 9th the Juniors kept their lead in the tourney when they won two out of three games from the Sophomores and the Seniors took two games from the Freshmen tying the Sophomore team for second place. Katherine Knarr, '26 bowled high score of 173.

March tenth the Juniors won the class tournament in the last games of the season when they took two out of three games from the Seniors. The Sophomores took three games from the Freshmen. Dorothy Morris, '25, rolled high score of 179. Each team played nine games in the contest. The Juniors won seven, the Sophomores six, the Seniors four, and the Freshmen one.

At the end of the tournament the five women having the highest averages throughout the tournament were chosen and an all-star varsity team formed. This team was composed of Yolande McCaskill, '24, Helen McAdow, '24, Betty Galloway, '25, Louise Covington, '23, and Florence Webster, '23.

BASEBALL

Co-Ed (arriving in the ninth inning): "Oh, goodness! What's the score?"
Gruff Fan: "Nothing to nothing".
Co-Ed (happily): "Oh, how nice! We haven't missed a thing"!

The above is a story which never could be told of the Illinae. For by far the greater part of our University women are themselves players of the game. Class practice begins very early in the year, and the baseball diamonds south of Lincoln Hall swarm with enthusiastic girl athletes at the first sign of good weather in the spring. The competition is quite keen with such a throng of aspirants for the coveted positions on the class "nines".

From twelve to fifteen girls are chosen from each class to make up that squad so that all who try out have a chance to make the team. The Freshman Class last year made things interesting for the upper classmen by finishing the season in second place, the Juniors nosing them out of the championship. Again this year the Freshman Class will bear watching. Already they are out in full force, disregarding the weather, determined to show the upper classmen that the Class of 1926 can take the championship.

SWIMMING

Come on in, girls. The water's fine! So say the Annette Kellermans of Illinois.

The woman's interclass swimming meet took place on November 24 in the Woman's Building. The Freshmen took first honors with forty points, and the Juniors scored second high, while the Sophomores and Seniors took third and fourth places respectively.

The individual stars of the meet were Dorothy Peterson, captain of the Freshman team, who won first in back stroke and crawl, and swam on the winning relay team, and Jacqueline Thompson, captain of the Junior squad, who scored second high in individual points.

Because of the small size of the pool, none of the records made by the women in this or former meets can stand as official, but unusual ability was displayed. Next year, however, we will have a big new pool so that swimming will probably develop into a major sport.

TENNIS

Tennis is a sport in which anyone and everyone can find something of interest. It reduces fat ones, fattens thin ones, stretches short ones, and—providing they lose a sufficient number of games—shrinks tall ones.

Exposing one's self to the mercy of the sun on a summer day out on a tennis court is much more interesting than strolling perspiringly down Green Street with Mosi's as your goal.

Because of the numerous benefits derived from this sport, over seventy girls entered the singles tournament last fall. This is the greatest number that have ever turned out for tennis. Probably a larger number will report for the doubles, which will be played in the spring.

This increased interest suggests that Mrs. Mallory may some day have some good competition other than that of the French champion.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS

There were sixteen houses in the Shi-Ai basketball tournament of 1922. Delta Zeta, McKinley Hall, Delta Delta Delta, and Kappa Alpha Theta were the four division winners. The Tri-Delt quintet capped the final and deciding battle of the season from Kappa Alpha Theta by a score of 16 to 14 and secured permanent possession of the cup. The interest shown in the tourney is apparent by a mention of the fact that the gymnasium was overcrowded at every game.

Intra-Mural bowling started April 5, 1922, the tournament being completed after the spring vacation. Alpha Xi Delta and Chi Omega tied for the championship of Division 1, while Alpha Chi Omega and Sigma Kappa tied in Division 2. At the meeting of Alpha Chi Omega with Alpha Xi Delta in the finals, Alpha Chi Omega pulled out on the long end of the score and took the championship for the fourth consecutive year. Milored Gillen of Alpha Chi Omega bowled the high score of 191, and Dorothy Ripley of Alpha Chi Omega counted the second high score of 161. A new three-year circulating cup offered by Shi-Ai will be held by Alpha Chi Omega, who will keep permanently the other cup. The runner-up cup, offered by Don Stoops, the manager of the alleys, was presented to Alpha Xi Delta.

THE GOLD SEAL

The Gold Seal is the highest athletic honor which any girl may attain at Illinois. Each year these seals are awarded to girls who have earned eighteen hundred points in W. A. A. This means that a girl, in order to attain the coveted honor, must have taken part in a number of sports in each year of her college life, as the standard is so high that only a senior may attain the honor. Last year, Harriet Beach received a seal and this year, Georgie Hilgard will receive the emblem.

The Senior March is the real farewell of the Senior women. On May Fete day, attired in Cap and Gown, they march at the head of the procession from the Woman's Building to Illinois Field, there to form into a huge, living, U. of I.

In those brief moments the memories of four happy years crowd upon them—to bring to the parting with the University a certain sadness and regret at the departure to a world for which they have been trained in good citizenship.

Athletics
ATHLETICS AT ILLINOIS

The progress of Illinois as an educational institution cannot be recorded without giving the Department of Athletics much credit. It has not been customary to include facilities for sports in an account of the educational advantages of a University, but the increasing realization of the value of games and other forms of exercise has led to the inclusion of athletics in curricula of all larger institutions.

Illinois stands second to no University in America in the athletic facilities offered to her students. Through the efforts of George A. Huff, the Department of Athletics has kept pace with the progress made in every branch of education at Illinois. In fact, the department has instituted measures for the enlargement of athletic programs that have been imitated by schools throughout America.

Mr. Huff believes in athletics for every student in the University. With this in view he has encouraged intergroup games, gradually increasing the facilities until practically every Fraternity, Unit, and Military Organization on the campus has representatives in the various sports. This ideal condition has been obtained by the refusal of Mr. Huff and his assistants to allow the Varsity teams more than their share of the facilities and credit for achievements. There is no athletic problem at Illinois.
THIRTY YEARS AGO--AND TODAY

When one begins searching in the musty old records of athletic activity at Illinois, surprising indeed are the discoveries one makes. For one goes so far back in the past that even George Huff is not quite sure who were on the teams, and "G" played on the first Illinois football team in 1889.

They played baseball even before this first football team was formed. The photograph shown is that of one of the first, if not the first, baseball team at Illinois. This team was organized a year or two before the football team of 1889, and the photograph is the only one of the team of which the Athletic Association has any knowledge.

Those first athletic contests were before crowds that overflowed the stands which, judging from the photographs, must have accommodated 300 people. Spectators who could not get in the bleachers sat on the grass or in buggies along the playing lines. There was no fence around Illinois Field at first, but after a few years a wire fence was erected. As interest in athletics increased, better facilities became necessary. The present iron fence was erected in 1900. The baseball bleachers were erected in 1904, and in 1906 the east football bleachers were found inadequate and the present west stand was erected.

THE FIRST BASEBALL TEAM

One Hundred Ninety
All of this growth came after the appointment of Mr. Huff as assistant director of athletics and coach of baseball and football in 1895. In 1901 he was made director of Physical Education for men, which position he still holds. Mr. Huff saw the future of athletics, and no account of the growth of western collegiate sport is complete without his name being mentioned as one of the leaders. He has won the respect of every athletic director and coach in America by his stand for clean athletics, and he has kept Illinois in the foreground as a leader in all western athletic progress.

Today, Illinois stands at the pinnacle of athletic achievements in the west, and perhaps ranks with any school in America. Her varsity teams command respect in every sport and her record of championships is remarkable. Intra-mural athletics have grown until the greater portion of the student body is directly connected with various teams.

And finally there has come the Illinois Memorial Stadium. It is the result of years of expansion, and expansion that was so great that a new field had to be found on which to erect the gigantic structure.

Fifty-seven thousand spectators can sit in the Stadium to watch the games. Will crowds overflow from it as was the case with the old bleachers thirty years ago, and the later stands which now grace Illinois Field? Possibly; but we are building for the future this time. If our Stadium is too small, we can build the curves at the ends and seat 40,000 more. There has been quite a change within the last thirty years.

One Hundred Ninety-Five
FOOTBALL SEASON 1922

"Personally, I like championship teams", said Zupp at the football banquet after the 1922 season. "but I had to like this team in spite of the fact that it looked like a bunch of ice wagons trying to move through formations".

That statement pretty nearly describes the 1922 season. It was not a great team, as far as natural ability goes, but it was one of the best when considered from the standpoint of morale and co-operation and fight. Zupp had to like the players, for they gave him everything they had, every minute they were on the field. And when they were off the field there was no knocking of coaches or of more fortunate players who happened to be going good. There was no sulking or loafing. Illinois had a team of which she was proud.

The season was hardly what could be called successful so far as winning games went, but perhaps no team ever gave the Illini rooters more chances to feel proud of their Alma Mater. When the season started, Coach Zuppke had Captain Wilson left from the 1921 team. All the rest had passed on, some through graduation, some on account of scholastic difficulties and the rest on account of having played in a game of professional football at Taylorville the Sunday before Thanksgiving in 1921. This meant a new line and a new backfield. It meant that a green team had to be whipped into shape in a few weeks to battle Iowa and Michigan and the rest of them.

Two games of the season stand out as particularly satisfactory to the Illini. They were the 8 to 7 defeat by Iowa, and the 3 to 0 victory over Wisconsin. Iowa came as the first conference game on the schedule after the Indians had received an unexpected defeat at the hands of Butler College. Butler displayed an unusually strong team and the green Illini were finally defeated 10 to 7 after they had seemingly won the game 7 to 3 by virtue of the brilliant work of Sam Hill, who fought his way down the field for gain after gain, until he crossed the goal line. Butler came back in the last quarter, however, and a pass, Griggs to Wood, scored a touchdown.

Iowa, conference champions, came the next Saturday for the annual Homecoming game. The Hawkeyes had just returned from a glorious 6 to 0 victory over Yale, and Illinois was not conceded a chance to even make a close score of it. Yet Illinois, fighting with every ounce of strength and playing the best football of the season, with the exception of the Wisconsin game, fought the champions to a standstill. Gordon Locke, the All-American back of the Hawkeyes, found the Illini line impregnable; passes were broken up and end runs were finally resorted to. But the Illini held.

But Iowa, the invincible, finally found a way to score. The repeated failures of Locke to pierce the Indian line caused the Hawks to change their tactics. Locke began to alternate with Parkin in running the ends, and although they were stopped many times, too often they got away for good gains.

These tactics continued during the first half, with the fast-thinking Hawkeye team learning that the Illini line was playing wonderful football. The plays that had wrecked Yale made no effect on Illinois. Parkin and Locke had worked off tackle and even through the center of the Bulldog line for great gains, but Illinois was impregnable.

Iowa's superiority began to show late in the second half, when the speedy Locke and Parkin began to skirt the ends. Both were fast men, and though the Illini stopped them many times, they got away too often for comfort to local rooters.

In the second half, with 18 yards to go, the determined Hawks gave Locke the ball and started for the Illinois goal line. Locke started a long run around the Illinois right wing. Splendid interference took an Illinois end and a half-back away, and the fleet Locke finally eluded the Illini fullback and slid across the goal line for the touchdown. The attempt at drop kick failed.

Augur dropped back to punt a minute later. The pass was bad and the ball rolled across the Illini goal. Augur beat an Iowa man to the ball, but it gave Iowa a safety and two points.

Illinois did not quit, but fought down the field in the third quarter for 30 yards, until the ball rested on the Iowa 12-yard line. With a huge Homecoming crowd begging for a touchdown, Bill McIlwain was given the ball for a cut-in play off left tackle. The Hawkeye right tackle was boxed perfectly and McIlwain shot through the Iowa secondary defense for a touchdown. This comeback, after Iowa had scored eight points, was perhaps the best piece of football the Illinois team showed. It was the only drive shown by the team all season, when within an opponent's 10-yard line. The 25,000 Homecoming rooters were loud in praise of the game, in spite of the fact that the team lost. The fight and willingness to mix showed that the men were trying every second.

The next game was different, for Michigan, playing a brilliant, open formation, trampled the Indians 24 to 0 on Ferry field. Kirk, Cappon, and Kipke, performing in exceptional fashion behind a well-drilled line, swept past the Illinois players for repeated gains. Yet, in the final quarter, with the score 24 to 0 against them, the Illini staged a march down the field which carried the ball 70 yards to the shadow of the Wolverine goal posts. Here a bad pass lost it just before the game ended.

It was in this game, in this last quarter march, that Happenny and McIlwain electrified the huge crowd with spectacular open field running. Michigan had not been scored on and fought desperately to keep her record clean. But had an Illini not failed to hold a forward pass the Wolverines would have been scored on. McIlwain and Happenny carried the ball to the Michigan eight-yard line, and there the pass failed, with the receiver having an open field.

Northwestern came next, on Illinois Field, and the Illini finally broke into the win column. The score was 6 to 3, but does not illustrate the respective ability of the teams, for Illinois clearly outplayed the Purple all the way.

Illinois started with a rush, carrying the ball to the 20-yard line shortly after the kickoff, but here the lack of punch lost a chance to get closer and an attempted drop kick went wild. Northwestern took the ball, and kicking with the wind, Penfield booted the ball 60 yards. Illinois started again, but a fumble gave Northwestern the ball on the Illinois 36-yard line. After failing to gain, Penfield dropped back and booted a place kick. This was late in the first quarter.

The teams battled without scoring in the second half, though the Indians gained twice as much ground as Northwestern. The second half had hardly started when Steve Coutchie, getting the ball on the 37-yard line, sent a drop kick squarely between the goal posts. This knotted the count and the big crowd took heart. And then Steve performed a feat which distinguished him for the rest of the season.

Illinois was on the 45-yard line and had failed to gain on two downs. Coutchie dropped back to the 50-yard line and sent a drop kick toward the goal posts. Not a fan in the stands expected the kick to be good, but it continued to rise as it sailed over line after line. When it reached the goal posts it was still sailing beautifully, and went straight through, with a foot or two to spare. It was the longest drop kick recorded in college football in America during the 1922 season.

After this kick, the Northwestern crew did not have a chance. The Indians settled down and played a careful, defensive game in the last quarter, and the Purple never came near the Illinois goal.

"On to Wisconsin" was the cry after the victory over Northwestern, though no one, with the possible exception of Zuppke and the players, thought that a victory would be chalked up. The Badgers were known to have a great team, and had been winning handily. But Illinois had been trimmed by Wisconsin teams three times in succession, and the 1922 bunch was determined to turn the tables. Trouble over eligibility of players, which caused the removal of Murry from the Wisconsin lineup, and Augur from that of Illinois, did not help the feeling any. This happened a few days before the game.

Wisconsin, after knocking at the conference championship door for three years, seemed certain to go through the season undefeated. The entire Badger team was made up of veterans who knew football from every angle and had exceptional ability.
Rollie Williams, perhaps the greatest athlete in the West last year, had not been stopped before the Illinois game. The Badgers were holding the Illinois game lightly, with eyes on the Michigan contest a week later. And then the upset.

Many claim that the Indians played the best game of the season at Madison. Others claim that the Iowa game was the best. But no matter which was the better, the team was good enough to beat Wisconsin 3 to 0.

Early in the fall of 1922, Bob Zuppke was out on the field toiling with his group of green candidates. A former player at Illinois, watching the work from the sidelines, went up to the coach and said: "It's an awful looking bunch. Isn't it, Zupp"?

"It's terrible", replied Zuppke with disgust. "It's the worst bunch of green men, all of them green, that we ever had".

Zupp turned and walked away several steps, then he turned in his characteristic manner and came back toward the player, shaking an eloquent finger.

"But you just listen to this and remember it"; he said, savagely. "We're going to beat Wisconsin. They've licked us three years straight, and there isn't a team in the world that can whip my team four years straight".

That was early in the fall. Illinois had played poor football, with the exception of the Iowa game, in every contest. There seemed no possible chance to win at Wisconsin. But Zuppke kept driving and soon the whole squad was fighting savagely to get in shape for the game.

Illinois outplayed Wisconsin that Saturday. The famous screen pass with Barr and Tebell using it, went wrong on nearly every occasion, so closely did the Indians cover their men. The Badger forwards failed to rip through the Illinois line as they had those of other schools. Only in the first quarter, when the Illinois line found itself standing on defense, on its own 12-yard line, was the Illinois goal seriously threatened. And on this occasion, Wisconsin, supremely confident, refused to try a drop kick and lost the ball on downs when Sundt failed to get through the Illinois forwards.

After this first danger mark, the Indians fought the Badgers on even terms. Only the presence of Williams kept the Badgers from being thrust back continually. He gained most of the ground for his team, and his return of punts was so brilliant that Illinois had to go every minute to offset his work. Finally, through the great work of McMillan and Miller in the line, and McIlwain and Schultz in the back field, the Indians got the ball near the Wisconsin goal. Rune Clark dropped back and sent the ball over the crossbar for three points. And the game was won. Wisconsin resorted to passes in a desperate attempt to score a touchdown, but the Indians cleverly broke them up and were in possession of the ball when the game ended.

As the Indians left the field, amid the wildest demonstration a small group of rooters ever staged, Zupp went up to the former player with whom he had talked earlier in the season.

"I told you we'd beat Wisconsin", he said.

A week later the Illini faced the powerful Chicago team on Stagg Field, and went down to defeat, 9 to 0. Chicago outplayed Illinois. The famed John Thomas battered his way through weak Illinois tackles for consistent gains and the rest of the Chicago backs also had much success in piercing the line. Illinois held the score to 3 to 0, until the last quarter, when a forward pass finally carried the oval across for a touchdown. Three times the Illini held Chicago for downs within their own 10-yard line, and punted out, but the Maroons kept driving back and finally scored the touchdown.

It was in this game, after Happenny had again injured his shoulder, that Zuppke tried out a new man, Schultz, who showed much promise. Schultz and McIlwain were responsible for most of the gains that the Illini made. Captain Dave Wilson played a great game on defense against the Maroons, as did most of the linemen. The superior driving power of Stagg's men finally triumphed, however.

The final game of the season, with Ohio State, was probably the most thrilling of the year, and a huge crowd went away silent and crestfallen when the Buckeyes finally came off victorious, 6 to 3, after trailing most of the con-
Seldom have two teams pulled more thrills in one game. Time and again Clark or McIlwain, Workman or Blair, would get away for long runs which seemed certain to result in touchdowns. Four times the Buckeyes carried the ball near enough for Workman to attempt drop kicks, and four times he failed. For Illinois, Clark had the same number of chances, and on his last try he made good, giving the Illini a 3 to 0 lead. This looked good until late in the fourth quarter.

Playing defensive football just a few minutes before the whistle blew, Clark punted to Klee, a substitute half-back, who was playing safety for Ohio.

Klee broke loose. That's all there was to it, he got away.

He slipped past man after man on the Illinois team. Those he did not dodge, his mates took out of the way, and he sped 70 yards for a touchdown.

Illinois, with only a fighting chance to win, started a drive down the field. Coutchie went in for Clark and started shooting passes to all corners of the field. The Illini marched across the gridiron until, with only a few seconds to play, Coutchie shot a 40-yard pass to McIlwain. The latter was running near the goal line and had he caught it the game was won, but Mac stumbled and fell just as he reached for the ball, and Ohio State went home victorious.

Although the 1922 team did not finish with a high percentage, there was one player who was picked by every critic of note as the best guard in the West. He was James McMillen, captain-elect. Mac was a wonderful player in every department of the game.

Twenty "I's" were awarded, chiefly owing to the fact that injuries made a constant change of players necessary. Of this list, only Captain Wilson, and Hill were Seniors.

A pleasing feature of the 1922 season was the loyalty and enthusiasm of the Illini student body and faculty. Never has greater loyalty been shown, and this to a losing team. Hundreds followed the team to Michigan, and thousands contributed toward a fund which was raised to send the huge Illinois band to the game. The rooters and members of the band stuck with the Illini on the field all through the brilliant feats of the Wolverine backs, and drew generous applause from the Wolverine crowd.
Again at Wisconsin, and at Chicago, the Illini rooters supported the team in such an enthusiastic manner that the players could not but feel that they had many friends with them. The same spirit was shown at the home games. Iowa drew a packed stand because it was Homecoming but the Northwestern game drew almost as many, and the final game with Ohio State saw the bleachers jammed with loyal Illini, despite the cold weather.

The 1922 Homecoming game with Iowa was the last that was played on the old Illinois Field, the field that has been the scene of countless thrilling battles. The 1923 Homecoming game, with Chicago, was scheduled for the new Stadium field by Director Huff and Coach Zuppke.

Illinois Memorial Stadium will mark the passing of the old field for the magnificent new field owned by the athletic department. The field has been designed to accommodate Illinois athletics for the next fifty years. The rapidly expanding scope of inter-class games has made this necessary, and the popularity of amateur collegiate games in the western conference has grown until larger seating capacity was essential. And Illinois went further and linked her Stadium with that titanic event in world’s history—the World War.

The Stadium is dedicated to all Illini who served in the World War. Service men were naturally athletic. All that is characteristic of the out-of-doors, the desire for competition—in short, the young men who will use the Stadium in future years, are those who are nearer than any other to the type who made up the United States army, navy, and marine corps. Those Illini who fought and died, as well as those who came back, will be fittingly honored by those Illini football teams who struggle for their Alma Mater in future years.

Nearly two hundred Illini, those who died in service, have been honored by having massive columns in the Stadium erected to their memory. The name of each man who died in service has been placed on a column. These columns are twenty-three feet high and two and one-half feet in diameter. They are placed in four rows across the back of the structure, two rows on each side. A seventeen-foot promenade runs between the two rows in each stand, giving all visitors access to the columns. They are placed sixty feet from the bottom of the outer wall and form the distinctive feature of beauty in the gigantic structure. No finer memorial to fighting men could have been conceived, and Illinois has been congratulated for the idea by men in all sections of America.

The chief use of the Stadium is for football. Of course, there are running tracks, and around the structure there will be dozens of tennis courts, handball courts, baseball diamonds, and even class football gridirons; but when Bob Zuppke’s elevens trot out on the Stadium field—then will it be fulfilling its real purpose, then will the thousands of spectators feel that at last they have a fitting place in which to watch the fighting Illini.

Though the 1922 season marked the passing of the old field to a great extent, it also marked the real beginning of something that Coach Zuppke has been striving for at Illinois for several years—a definite, well formed coaching program, patterned on the highly successful Harvard system. He has surrounded himself with a corps of coaches, each with a definite part of the work of whipping the team together assigned him. There is nothing haphazard about it any more. The men are drilled from the time they enter school and go out for freshman varsity.

Burt Ingwersen gets them first, for he has charge of the freshman team. Although the primary duty of the freshman is to furnish competition for the varsity, using plays of other schools, they are here given a real training in football fundamentals by the irrepressible Burt. His teams radiate his enthusiasm and merge into the spring training grind with pretty definite ideas of how it all should be done.

The regular varsity staff boasts Zuppke, Claude Rothgeb, Justa Lindgren, and E. E. Bearg. Just as Harvard has surrounded her teams with men who are asked to coach certain positions on the team, so does the Illinois mentor give his assistants definite work to do.

Justa Lindgren is the man whose special work is to build a line that will "hold 'em". A glance at the scores rolled up by opposing teams, even in 1922, will show that he does his work. Not a man in the Illinois line last fall had ever played more than a part of a game on a varsity team before. But "Lindy" was one of the best linemen who ever went to Illinois and back in the old days his line meant trouble for all opposing forwards.
Then come the ends, and another former Illini star, Claude Rothgeb, has them in charge. He came to Illinois as coach just last year, after exceptional success as coach of western university teams, since graduating from Illinois in 1906. Mr. Rothgeb's work with the ends last season was all that could be expected, and his coming was welcomed by all who were connected with the team. He went at his work with enthusiasm, and his former connection with the institution gave him all the more incentive.

The work of Coach Bearg is also valuable. A brilliant athlete himself, he is able to drill fundamentals into the players as few other coaches can do. He is one of the closest students of the game that has ever come to Illinois, and when he sees that a thing is done wrong he goes in and shows how it should be done. He drills the backs in picking holes and interference, and the forwards in blocking.

This gives Coach Zuppke an opportunity to supervise the entire team play and weld the machine together. Such a system is almost essential in these days of strong competition. Players must be drilled in every phase of football to be able to compete with those of other schools. It is only occasionally that a natural star is unearthed in football, and the successful schools are those which plan, not for one year, but for all time.

Probably no university in America has a more colorful coach than Illinois. Zupp is known from coast to coast as a man with outstanding characteristics and a keen football mind. His startling victories in the face of almost certain defeat have more than once proved to the football world that Illinois must ever be feared.

Zupp may be peculiar, doubtless he is, but he gets results. He is most certainly superstitious, he does play his hunches at times, he is monarch of all when he gets on the field with his teams in practice, he gives interviews and makes speeches that spread from coast to coast—but beneath it all is the quick thinking of one of the keenest football analysts in the game. Zupp knows football from every angle, and he knows young men who play football from every angle. He has the dynamic power that makes those men do the things he says when it seems impossible. No story of a season at Illinois is complete without a line or two about Zupp.
And there are a few others who do not generally get credit for helping, but who are just as loyal, perhaps a bit more so, than the regulars. They are the scrubs and the would-be scrubs, and the managers and would-be managers; and perhaps the Green Street board of strategy might be included.

It's a grim business, this two and a half months of fight out on Illinois Field every fall. There isn't much to laugh about, not much real pleasure for anyone except those few regulars who love the game. Night after night the scrubs stand half frozen on the side lines, their hearts filled with longing to get in the scrimmage.

Sometimes they stand out there all fall, getting into nothing more than an occasional signal drill on the fourth Squad.

Sometimes a man is hurt and a coach barks out the name of a scrub. He eagerly grabs a headgear and takes his place; but he is perhaps too startled with the sudden chance given him, or is so cold that his hands refuse to function, and he fumbles. Then comes the condemnation of the scrubs, biting and pointed remarks of disgust from a coach—and he slinks back crestfallen to his position on the side lines.

Why does he stay out? Perhaps he will get another chance next year, perhaps he may be needed to fill in sometime. He stays—because he is for Illinois.

Two Hundred Eight
WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

Four miles in 17 minutes and 45 seconds, a world's record. And they carried the orange and blue baton of Illinois. This world's greatest quartet of milers clipped six and one-fifth seconds off the former world mark for four-mile relay teams.

The Illini distance quartet—Captain Howard Yates, Gordon McGinnis, Bruce Patterson, and Russell Wharton—was one of a long list of Illini teams and individuals who shattered records at the annual Drake Relays, April 29, 1922. Other records fell by the score, but to this mighty quartet went the honor of establishing the only world mark.

Purdue, Kansas, Iowa, Chicago, and one or two other schools were entered against the Orange and Blue. Purdue, with Harrison and Furnass, the Olympic star, loomed as the strongest opponent for Illinois.

Captain Yates ran the first mile for Illinois, finishing in 4:27 2-5, although beaten to the tape by Krough, the great Chicago runner. The Maroons had no second star, however, and Patterson swept into the lead shortly after he started the second mile, with Purdue swinging into second place. Pat ran his mile in 4:25 2-5, one of the fastest he had ever run up to the time of the Relays.

McGinnis took up the baton next, with the 100-yard lead that Patterson had given him. "Mac" was ill all morning before the race, but ran a pretty mile, finishing in 4:28 3-5, after gaining a few yards on Harrison of Purdue.

Russ Wharton, anchor man for the Indians, stepped a beautiful mile, his smooth, easy stride bringing cheer after cheer from the big crowd that sensed the coming world's record. Wharton, though never pushed by Furnass, stepped the fastest mile of the day, finishing 150 yards ahead of the field in 4:23 3-5. Purdue finished second, Kansas third, and Iowa fourth.

The former record was made in 1913, at Easton, Pennsylvania, by the Boston Athletic Association team. Although no credit can be taken from the men for their wonderful performance, the skill of Coach Gill did much to make them world's champions.
TRACK SEASON 1922-1923

"Coach Harry Gill has one of the greatest track teams that has ever been turned out by any college in America."

This was the statement of a famous coach as he watched the Illinois runners at the 1922 Drake Relays. And his statement was borne out by that galaxy of stars who broke intercollegiate, national, and even world's records during the season. Every dual meet, the indoor conference meet, the Drake Relays, and the outdoor Big Ten meet found Illini trackmen supreme. Only in the National Intercollegiate meet were the Gillmen bested, and that was due to staleness after a long season of unusual performances.

Illinois started the season proper at the conference indoor meet at Northwestern, winning easily with 44 6-7 points to her credit. Records began to fall there when Captain Howard Yates stepped the half mile in 1:58 2-5 for a new indoor conference record. The old record was one second slower, made in 1921 by Dave Brown, another Illini runner.

Then came the southern trip, the first to be taken by an Illinois track team. The men entered the southern meets at Rice Institute and the University of Texas, swamping the southerners with ease. It was at the Drake Relays that the Illini performed in truly record fashion. After the starter's gun had sounded for the last lap, the Illini had tied one Drake record, lowered one Drake record, broken two intercollegiate records and one national record, and finally, had set a world's record for future trackmen to strive for.

The world's record was made by the famous four-mile relay team, composed of Howie Yates, Tex Patterson, Gordie McGinnis, and Russ Wharton.
The terrific pace they set carried them around the four miles in 17 minutes and 45 seconds, nine seconds faster than the old record. McGinnis, a natural 4:24 runner, was ill as a result of poisoning received on the southern trip, and 4:28 3-5 was the best he could do. Patterson came through with a 4:25 mile, however, and Wharton clipped off his race in 4:23 3-5, a faster mile than that of the famous Ray Watson, who defeated Joie Ray on the same day.

Milt Angier set a new national and American intercollegiate record when he hurled the javelin 202 feet 9 1-2 inches. He won the event easily. Next came Harold Osborne, the greatest all-around athlete who ever went to Illinois. Ozzie was at his best in the high jump and topped all leapers by going over the bar at 6 feet 6 inches for a new intercollegiate record. Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame coach and referee at the relays, said that Osborne's leap was the highest that has ever been made in any collegiate meet.

Not to be outdone by the long distance runners, the Illinois mile relay team stepped four record quarters for a new Drake record of 3:20 2-5. Sweet, Schlapprizzi, Fessenden, and Fitch formed the team. The half-mile relay team, running half an hour later, again carried Illinois to the front with a half in 1:28 4-5, equaling the Drake record.

Next came the dual meets and the Illini ran away with them all. Wisconsin came first and the Badgers had to be contented with the short end of an 88 to 47 score. The following week the Illini travelled to Michigan and trimmed the Wolverines 91 to 44 in a meet featured by the running of Tex Patterson. Tex ran the mile in 4:19 4-5, which is pretty fast.
On Friday of interscholastic week, the Illini humbled Notre Dame 84 to 42 in a fast meet. The Irish had a poor team, but with such stars as Hayes, Lieb, Desch, and others in action, the fans got a real treat. Doug Fessenden showed a burst of speed by running the 440 in 48 4-5 seconds.

After such a record-breaking season the Illini were the only men doped to win the Western Conference outdoor meet at Iowa, June 3. They did not spoil any dope. When the meet was over the tribe of Illini had amassed an overwhelming total of 59 6-14 points. Iowa, her closest competitor, got 24 1-35 points. Minnesota, 23 1-10, and Notre Dame, 22 13-14. The Indians scored in 13 of the 16 events on the schedule.

This well balanced team was what won, for the Illini stars showed the results of the long, heavy schedule. Wharton lost the two mile in 9:27, slower time than he had made in previous races. Captain Yates, Swanson, McGinnis, Fessenden, and the rest were not at their best, but the other members of the team came through in wonderful fashion. The Illini one-mile relay team won in the record-breaking time of 3:20, but was disqualified and the mark was not allowed. Osborne tied in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 5 1-16 inches, and won the broad jump with a mark of 22 feet 9 inches. Angier came through with a win in the javelin with a new conference heave of 195 feet 4 3-4 inches; Sam Hill won the hammer throw with a toss of 137 feet 5 1-2 inches; Tex Patterson won the mile in 4:22; and Cannon won the shot put with a toss of 42 feet 11 1-2 inches. The rest of the points were picked up by practically all members of the team, who grabbed seconds, thirds, fourth, and fifths. The huge crowd soon became accustomed to seeing the Illinois colors flashing home ahead of the field, or near the head.

Then came the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago, June 17. The Illini were losing form at the Western Conference meet.
and Coach Gill announced that he would not enter a team in the big meet, believing that the men had run enough for one season. It was known in conference circles that Mr. Gill did not favor certain of the rules in force at the meet, and the country was immediately swamped with newspaper stories to the effect that he was withdrawing his team at the last moment in an attempt to hurt the meet. It was also intimated that the Illini had not entered because they were afraid of defeat.

Rather than allow the good name of Illinois to be questioned, Coach Gill entered his men, although they had broken training and came back only three days before the races.
The results were as expected, the Illini did not perform in mid-season style, and finished in fourth place.
Individual stars like Wolters of Ames, Paulu of Grinnell, Hayes and Lieb of Notre Dame, and Merchant of California, carried off many points, and the Illini, overworked after a long season and handicapped on account of the ten man limit, did not show well. Even Milt Angier, national javelin champion, slumped and placed fourth after going through the season undefeated.

Patterson placed second in the mile, Fessenden got third in the 440, Osborne tied with Murphy of Notre Dame in the high jump. Captain Yates placed fourth in the half mile, Swanson placed fifth in the two mile, and Wharton did not even place! Collins got a point in the pole vault, and Hill landed a third in the hammer throw.

Illinois fans were not disappointed over the showing of the men, because the break in training was a handicap greater than they could overcome. The season was probably the most successful ever known in the matter of new records and team performances.

The position of Illinois as one of the track centers of America is not due alone to her repeated victories in dual and conference meets.
There is an event that eclipses any similar winter meet of the year, the annual Relay Carnival.

The 1923 Relay Carnival was the most successful ever held, this in spite of the fact that the eastern intercollegiate meet was held the same day, taking all eastern teams from the Illinois classic. Five hundred and eleven athletes, representing forty-seven universities, colleges, and high schools, were entered when the gigantic meet swung into action on the afternoon of March 3. Former carnivals had seen brilliant performers in all events, men who had hung up records that were expected to stand for some time; but they did not last long when the 1923 athletes got started.

Eight carnival records fell during the afternoon, and two were tied. In addition, an Illinois man equalled the American amateur indoor record for the 75-yard dash and another ran the 75-yard high hurdles in the remarkable time of 9 3-5 seconds. The huge crowd was thrilled with one record-breaking performance after another, the greatest race coming near the end of the afternoon when the Illini four-mile relay team captured the event from a field of the best milers in the country.

Bob Ayres started the records falling when he stepped the 75-yard dash in :07 3-5 from a brilliant field of starters. He ran his preliminary heat in the same time. He just nosed out the mighty Brookins of Iowa, and Barr, the Notre Dame "phenom". Pitch Johnson then stepped over the high sticks in :09 3-5 seconds, equaling the mark set by Waldo Ames and Carl Johnson, the latter a former Michigan star.

The relays, of course, attracted the greater share of the attention. Iowa, doped to win the mile by virtue of her brilliant performance the previous year, came through as expected, with a pretty victory. Morrow, Noll, Brookins, and Captain Wilson reeled off four remarkable quarters, finishing in 3:26, the same time they made the year before. Illinois had to be contented with third place.

Ames, led by the sensational Deak Wolters, captured the two-mile relay, 8:06 1-5, and Nebraska grabbed the medley in 8:24 2-5.

The four-mile relay was doped to go to Michigan, with Illinois not expected to finish better than third. But Illinois was after that race. Hall ran the first mile, and to the surprise of everyone, gave Russ Scott a five-yard lead on Krough of Chicago, who was pitted against him.
Scotty and Krough set a terrific pace, the Chicago man finally besting the local boy by 10 yards. Michigan had been trailing until the third mile, when the Wolverine runner started after Marzulo, the Illini. Marzulo pulled another surprise when he gradually pulled away from the field and gave Wells a fifty-yard lead over Isbel, the wonderful distance runner of the Michigan team. Isbel ran his race wrong in the opinion of most trackmen. He closed the gap between himself and Wells in the first lap, and the crowd gasped at his speed. But he ran himself out seemingly, for after trailing Wells the rest of the mile he had no sprint left for the last lap and Eddie finished with twenty yards to spare as the crowd roared its approval.

Field event records fell in profusion though no Illinois men figured in them. Brooker of Michigan went 12 feet 8 1-2 inches in the pole vault and Hubbard, the great colored star of the Wolverine team got credit for a leap of 23 feet 11 1-4 inches in the broad jump. Van Orden, another Michigan star, won the shot put with a heave of 43 feet 1 1-4 inches. Reineke, Coach Farrell's middle distance star, won the 1000-yard run in 2:19 4-5. Wilson of Iowa, copped the 300-yard run in 31 4-5, another new record. Chicago broke in the limelight when Krough won the 1500-yard run. Norton of Kansas, won the all-around championship from Hammann of Wisconsin. Towler of Minnesota and Mathias of Illinois.

The indoor Big Ten meet found the Indians outclassed by the great collection of stars coached by Steve Farrell of Michigan. The Wolverines made 43 1-2 points while the Illini were second with 21 1-2. The best performances of Illini in the meet were those of Captain Sweet, Scott, Brownell, Collins and Bob Ayres. Scotty ran second to Isbel in the two mile and Brownell and Collins tied for second place in the pole vault. Ayres, in his third brush of the year with Brookins of Iowa, lost the 50-yard dash. Sweet took second in the 440.

On March 31, Coach Gill sent a mile relay team consisting of Captain Sweet, Smuts, Carter and Koonz, to Louisville, Ky., where it won the race from a field of starters that was considered the class of the east and middle west. This was the last meet which the Indians entered prior to the Drake Relays.

EDITOR’S NOTE—Individual pictures of four “I” men in track have been omitted because none were taken of them last year. The four are V. W. Asher, H. N. R. Carlson, C. A. Chandler and V. F. Kloeppe.

The enviable record of Illinois in track during the last twenty years is due to one man in particular—Harry Gill. In his younger days Mr. Gill was one of the best all-around athletes in America. His ability to perform in many events gave him knowledge in teaching the fine points to his pupils.

Illinois teams are always well balanced. Gill does have star performers on every team but his success lies in having point winners in everything. There is seldom an event in which an Illini is not fighting for a position. A glance at summaries will show not only a few firsts, but seconds and thirds and fourths. And in a track meet all of these count up.

The 1922 team was probably the best balanced that was ever put together anywhere. The distance runners and the jumpers stood out of course, but there were others on the team. Captain Yates, McGinnis, Wharton, Patterson and Swanson were all stars from the 880 up to the two mile. Fessenden and Sweet were never crowded out of places in the 440. The same was true of Ayres and Ascher in the dashes and Sam and Smith Wallace in the hurdles.

Osborne was the best high jumper in America if not the world, and both he and Johnson placed in most broad jump competitions. Cannon came through in the shot. Angier was the best javelin thrower in America. Collins and Chandler were always in the pole vault and Sam Hill tossed the hammer as far as any conference performers.

And these men were good, for the most part, because their coach knew just what to tell them to do and how to get them to do it. Small wonder that a goodly share of the track honors come to Illinois.

BASEBALL SEASON 1922

"How to Make Major League Ball Players" might well be the title of a book by Coach Carl Lundgren if he ever follows the footsteps of other Illinois coaches and blossoms out as an author. For in coaching his second Illinois baseball team to another Western Conference championship Coach Lundgren developed a team most of whom are going directly to the big show when through school. Two of them—Captain McCurdy and Reichle—are already up there, and the rest go at the end of the 1923 season, when they graduate.

The 1922 Western Conference champions were indeed a team of stars. After getting a bad start, due to injuries to several of the men, the team gradually rounded into form and closed the season by defeating Michigan, Wisconsin, and Purdue in brilliant battles which left no doubt as to its superiority over the other nines.

Not since the famous 1902 team, which had several big league stars in its lineup, including Coach Lundgren, the late Jake Stahl, Fred Beebe, Cy Falkenberg, Jimmy Cook, Jimmie Ashmore, and others, has Illinois been represented by such a group of real ball players. Perhaps no college team ever assembled had so many prospective stars.

First, there was Captain Harry McCurdy, who demonstrated his ability by going to the St. Louis Cardinals. He is still there, and is considered one of the most promising young catchers in the league. Dick Reichle, another senior, went to Brooklyn but did not stick, and came back to Evansville in the Three-Eye league. He hammered the ball all over the league circuit during the rest of the season, finishing with a .341 average.
and the Boston Red Sox grabbed him. He is now with the Red Sox, under the management of Frank Chance. The other senior, Cap Crossley, was a bit too slow for the big show, but Birmingham, in the Southern league, wanted him badly. Crossley decided to enter the coaching profession, however, and turned down the offer.

The rest of the team were just as fortunate. Doc Dougherty has had offers from the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati, and the St. Louis Browns. He will take a fling at one of them at the end of the 1923 season. Swede Hellstrom, too, has had offers from the Cubs and from Pittsburgh. His hitting attracted attention. Captain-elect Stewart has won the admiration of several big league scouts by his brilliant fielding. Stew handles the ball cleanly, has a wonderful arm, and covers a world of territory. His hitting has kept him down, but last summer he slammed the ball at a .411 clip in the Champaign Commercial league, and critics predict he will get going. He has had two or three offers for tryouts, but will probably go to the St. Louis Cardinals for a tryout, though he has had offers from the Cubs.

Barnes

The outfielders were all of big league calibre. Reichle went up as has been mentioned, and Peden and Vogel have another year here. Don has an offer to try out with the Chicago White Sox any time he wishes. He had a bad arm last year and did not take the tryout. He is again throwing with his old accuracy and strength, and will go up as soon as he graduates in June. Ott Vogel is going to the Cubs, according to information he imparts as this is written. Ott can hit 'em no matter how they whiz 'em in, and should go good from the start. He is a great outfielder, too, though he had a bad arm last season.

This leaves the pitchers, and big Jack Jackson heads the list. Jack has more speed than any pitcher at Illinois of late years. He is a big fellow, with plenty of reserve strength and a dandy curve. He goes to the St. Louis Cardinals as soon as school closes, and local fans are expecting him to stick. He has a few things to learn before being a finished pitcher, but he has the natural ability, and a good change of pace and a bit of instruction in fielding his position will help a lot. Wally Roettger is another who could have gone to the Cardinals before he ever came to school here. Wally hurt his back in his freshman year and was of little use as a pitcher last season. He is a great hitter, however, and may develop into an outfielder if his arm does not come through. Lefty Barns and Eddie Banker complete the list of twelve letter men. Lefty has had offers from six or seven clubs in the big leagues, and will try out with one of them as soon as he is through school. Banker had his first good year last season and must wait. He has plenty of speed, but only a fair curve, and must pick up quite a lot before he travels with fast company.

With such an array of stars, it would seem that winning a conference championship would be an easy matter; but there were many drawbacks in the way. An epidemic of injuries kept the team crippled during most of the season. Peden and Vogel had weak arms as a result of injuries sustained in football, and neither played the game of which he was capable. Swede Hellstrom had a bad leg, which slowed him up so much that he was almost useless during the first half of the season. Roettger's arm was so weak he could not pitch or throw in from the outfield, Barnes and Banker rounded into shape slowly, and Jackson caught cold in his arm during the southern trip and was not right all season.

Coach Lundgren tried every combination in an effort to get the men going. Hellstrom was placed at third, but could not field the position on account of his leg. Roettger started at second, but struck a hitting slump and was benched.

It was with this kind of team that the Illini faced Michigan in the opening game of the season. The Wolverines, playing airtight ball behind Dixon's superb pitching, won the game 3 to 1. Captain McCurdy made the Illini tally, a home run, in the first inning. Michigan won the game in the first inning when Uteritz slapped the first ball pitched for a triple, Wimbles singled, and Knode doubled.

Coming home for the second game of the season, the Illini just did manage to beat Iowa, 6 to 5, more through the Hawkeyes' poor playing than good work by the champions. Dick Reichle and Eddie Banker were the heroes of the game. Dick drove in the tying runs in the seventh inning, when he singled with the bases full. Banker staved off certain defeat in the tenth, when his single... sent a run across, and Doc Dougherty followed with a hit which won the game. Banker went in and held the Hawkeyes scoreless in the last two innings.

As was expected, Northwestern gave little trouble in the next game. Barnes winning his game 12 to 2, at Evanston. But hope went glimmering the following Saturday, when the great Wisconsin team humbled the Illini 4 to 1, at Madison. Rowdy Elliott, Badger shortstop, beat Jackson almost single handed with two home runs, one of them with a man on base.

This left the Illini with two defeats, and to make matters worse, rain stopped the Iowa game in the third inning on Monday after the Wisconsin disaster. About this time Coach Lundgren placed Crossley at third and sent Hellstrom to second. The shift gave a much better defense and instilled confidence. Wisconsin came to Illinois Field and Jack Jackson turned in his best game of the season, trimming his rival. Paddock, 3 to 2, in a brilliant hurling duel. On the same day, Michigan met her first defeat, at the hands of Ohio State, and the locals were given hope for a few days, at least. Chicago came next, and was easily disposed of, 11 to 6, Vogel and Peden poling home runs.

Michigan came next, and over 12,000 fans, the largest crowd that ever witnessed a game on Illinois Field, were out to cheer the Illini. Victory meant that Illinois went into a tie for first place, defeat meant certain loss of the pennant. The Illini, the sting of two defeats still smarting, went after Dixon savagely. In the first inning they filled the bases with two out, and Dick Reichle stepped up and scored a single into right field, scoring two. The Illini never stopped. Twelve hits, seven of them doubles, were made off Dixon and the pitchers who succeeded him. Seven runs were scored before Michigan threatened in the seventh inning.

Jackson had pitched wonderful ball up to the seventh, three hits being all the Wolverines could get off him. His arm was weakening, however, and he walked Kippe and Roby after Vick had singled with one out. Here Coach Fisher substituted Blott to hit for Liverance. Blott drove a long fly over Vogel's head, scoring two runs. Wally Roettger went in the box for Jackson, and Michigan scored another run.
before he retired the side. Wally had wonderful speed, but his arm was sore, and in the ninth he filled the bases with two out. A hit would have placed Michigan in a position to win. Uteritz drove a wicked ground ball past the pitcher, but Stewart scooped it up and made a brilliant play, getting his man at first for the last out.

This made two defeats for both Michigan and Illinois, and each team had two more games to play. The Indians met Purdue on Illinois Field the next week and nearly lost the game in the first inning. Banker started pitching and got the first batter. Then Fawcett reached first when McCurdy played his hit badly. Alsopp cracked a double, scoring Fawcett, and then Wagner poled a long home run through the left field fence. Eddie was yanked and Lefty Barnes took up the burden. He stopped the Boilermakers with ease during the rest of the game, but the Illini had to fight all afternoon before they finally nosed ahead, 5 to 4. Michigan beat Minnesota on the same day and had Wisconsin to settle with, while the Illini were scheduled to meet Ohio State on Illinois Field. Rain stopped the Illinois game, but Wisconsin, just as she did in 1921, came through with a victory over the Wolverines, and the Illini had won another championship after one of the stiffest fights in Big Ten history.

The championship is the fifth that Coach Lundgren has won in the last five years in the Western Conference. He led Michigan teams to three championships before coming back to his Alma Mater, Illinois. The 1922 champions were probably stronger than the 1921 team, though they did not get the breaks in the early part of the season.

The return of Lundy as baseball coach has proved to be one of the most popular moves that Director Huff has ever made in his selection of assistants. The old time Illini star, after several years of unusual success with the Chicago National league club, came back to his Alma Mater.

Lundgren’s teams know baseball. There is no phase of baseball he has not studied carefully and his long experience against major league clubs has taught him the game from every angle. He was one of the best pitchers in the National league for several years, but his work with the Illinois players shows that he knows fully as much about other positions.

He shows his men how to stand at the plate, he drills the infielders on balls hit to either side, he tells the outfielders how to field balls on every kind of play, and he has every player in a certain position on plays under execution or liable to come up.

Illinois has been one of the foremost colleges in America in the matter of baseball teams for so long that the presence of a great coach to continue the remarkable record made by G. Huff's teams was what Illinois fans expected. "G" was dean of college baseball coaches for so long that his teams were generally conceded to have the best chance for honors, before the season opened. And they always lived up to expectations. Perhaps no coach has such a string of championships to his credit as has the Illinois director of athletics.

Coach Lundgren's two championships in as many years seem to indicate that he is after an equally good record.

Two Hundred Twenty six
Varsity basketball was a success. Playing a new system, and handicapped by a dearth of veteran material, Illinois finished with a percentage of .583, although she was doped as a second division team at the first of the season. No man on the team had had more than one year's experience in Conference basketball. There were no individual stars around which to build a team.

The new coach, Craig Ruby of Missouri, had all his men working on the fundamentals of his short-pass style of play by the middle of October. It was a system entirely new to all of the squad and difficult to learn, but it has proved to be the style that will win the largest percentage of games, and Coach Ruby was forced to sacrifice individual ability in his men and possible victories for the team, in order to instill in them this game, which comes out best in the long run. The players worked hard, and the end of the season found short-pass basketball the ideal of the players and the rooters as well.

The Conference season started January 6, on the Michigan floor. Illinois' showing was poor, but she was opposed by the best team met during the entire year—Michigan's scoring machine of Ely, Miller, and Haggerty, and her impregnable defense of Cappon and Paper. At half time the score stood 11 to 3 in favor of Michigan, although Illinois had taken more than twice as many shots at the basket as had the Wolverines. In the second half Michigan hit their pace and the game ended 30 to 13 in their favor, their veteran lineup being too much for the inexperienced Illini.

From Ann Arbor the team journeyed to Columbus, where it met Ohio on January 8. The Buckeyes had potent hopes of duplicating their football victory of the fall, and a record-breaking crowd filled the large pavilion at the Fair Grounds. It was a different Illini team than that which had opposed the Wolverines. From the beginning of the game it was evident that we would win. There was a confidence that had been lacking at Ann Arbor, and a fight that completely bewildered the Ohio team. Roettger played his best game of the season, annexing eight baskets and six free throws. In the last minutes, Blair of Ohio sank four baskets, and the count stood 31–all as the gun ended the second half. In the overtime period Illinois scored five points to Ohio’s none, and the game ended 36–31.

The next encounter was with Indiana on the home court, and terminated in a 31–22 victory for the Illini. The Hoosiers presented no great strength. On the first night of finals, Purdue invaded Indiana territory and quite unexpectedly won their game. Illinois put up a slow offense, and the defense cracked time after time, to let the Boilermakers in for short shots. To make matters worse, the Illini could not hit the basket.

The northern trip followed, taking in only Minnesota, as Wisconsin had been dropped from the schedule for the year. At Minneapolis, the team found unexpected strength, and the game was not won until the last minutes, when Potter counted from underneath the basket. The first contest of the second semester, February 7, was with Chicago on the home court. The game was typically “Chicago-Illinois”, a battle from the first whistle. Roettger’s free throwing was all that kept Illinois in the running during the first half, the Illini tosser scoring seven out of eight attempts. The Maroons led at half time, 12–11. Illinois came back fighting in the second half and played her opponents to a standstill the entire period. Potter came through with two baskets, one in the closing seconds, and Stilwell scored twice from under the basket before the game ended, Illinois 20, Chicago 18.

The return game with Indiana came next in the schedule. It was a different Indiana team than had taken the floor against Illinois at Urbana. Three new men were in the Hoosier lineup, and their morale had been lifted high. To true form, the new men led the attacks, Nyikos with five baskets, Parker with four, and Know with three. Coach Ruby used nine men in the fray, but to no avail. The Indiana crowd expected victory, yelled it, prayed it, and got it. The team that was later to hand Iowa her only defeat of the season won from Illinois, 31 to 22.

The week-end took the Illini squad to Lafayette. Purdue had the edge in the dope, and with one victory already scored over Illinois, Coach Lambert little expected the defeat he was forced to accept. Gullion, the star Purdue scorer, had been held scoreless for an entire game by Cord Lipe, and was no better off the first thirty minutes of the second game. At this point, an injury to Lipe let Gullion loose, and he scored four baskets in the last few minutes, three of them from a distance. The Illini lead was too great to be overcome, however, and the last-minute stalling left the score 28–26 in favor of Illinois.

A team that has lost every game is a dangerous team, nevertheless, and so Minnesota proved on the following Monday night at Urbana. Only a large Illinois lead kept Minnesota from making herself destructive when she rallied at the close of the second half. The Gophers lost 25–18.

Illinois’ jinx of the Conference was next in line. Chicago at Chicago. For years the Illini have been unable to win from the Maroons on the latter’s floor,—so long that sport followers have begun to comment on it. In the first half neither could claim an advantage, although the Illini stood at the long end of a 11–6 score. Captain Yardley broke loose in the second period, and scattered disaster in his wake. Twice the Maroon captain fought through for short baskets, and twice he was fouled under the basket, Barnes counting these chances for points. Chicago gained the lead about the middle of the half, but it was anybody’s game until she increased it to a four-point margin just as the gun sounded the end. The final count was 24–20.

Michigan’s supposedly crippled team appeared on the Illini court February 26. Bill Miller had been declared ineligible and Haggerty was too sick to last for more than a few minutes. Illinois chances looked good—for a time. Captain Ely seemed to hear his call, and presented a good basketball team all to himself. The lengthy center played far down on defense and back fast on offense, succeeding in caging six field goals and three free tosses, not to mention the many floor plays he broke up for Illinois. When the game ended, Michigan held a 27–20 lead.

The last game of the season was Ohio at Urbana. This was the one easy victory of the season, the Ohio defense breaking easily, allowing the Illini forwards to go in for short shots. The game ended in a listless fashion to the score of 37–21, the final Illinois game.

Illinois finished at .583; she surpassed all dope; she made herself a team feared by all Conference foes; she mastered a new system for next season. Varsity basketball was a success!

Two Hundred Thirty-one
Coach Harry Gill’s long distance runners did not again win conference laurels but captured third honors by a tie with Ames in the intercollegiate cross country run on November 25, at Columbus, Ohio. Capt. Russell Scott and his harriers outran Purdue, 41 to 20, in the competition at Lafayette, Indiana, on November 4, and placed second to Michigan with 39 points in the triangular meet one week later at Columbus, Ohio. Illinois’ runners had little trouble with Purdue. Seven of the first ten men to cross the line were Orange and Blue athletes. Captain Scott came first with a 100-yard lead, and Eddie Wells almost overcame Murphy, Purdue, in the sprint for second place. The next seven runners, as they finished, were Mieher and Topper, both of Illinois; Captain Dyer, Purdue; Linde and Bohon, Illinois; and Gross, Purdue.

Captain Scott ran the second-best race in the Michigan-Illinois-Ohio race, which was won by Isbel, Michigan. Scott was followed by Arndt, Bowen, and Shenfield, a trio of Wolverines. Martin Topper, Illinois, came sixth.

Isbel, Michigan speedster, with a time of 26 minutes and 35 seconds, and Rathbun, Ames’ star, finished ahead of Captain Scott in the conference run. Rathbun breasted the tape only three yards ahead of the Illinois captain. Points scored by schools were: Michigan, 41; Wisconsin, 51; Illinois and Ames, each 72; Ohio State, 141; Michigan Aggies, 158; Purdue, 195; Indiana, 200; and Iowa, 217.
With but three men from the 1922 squad, Coach Paul Prehn developed a wrestling team that more than held its own in conference circles, finishing the season with four wins, two defeats, and sending three men to the finals of the conference meet at Columbus.

Big Jim McMillen upheld his pre-season reputation by going through the entire schedule of six dual meets without a defeat.

John Doak, by nature a lightweight gave the fans a thrill by pluckily wrestling in the welterweight division in two of the meets. In the Iowa meet, giving away 20 pounds to Jacobs, he battled the Hawkeye off his feet and took the decision.

Captain Bud Trenkle met disaster in the third meet of the season when a Purdue man wrenched the doughty Illini leader's arm enough to put him out for the rest of the season.

The Prehnmen started the season by travelling to Evanston to take a 17 to 10 victory from Northwestern. Then with the opening victory tucked away, the Illinois grapplers met their first defeat in three years when the Ohio crew stopped them 14 to 13 on the home mats. The Illini then came back to take two straight, one from Purdue, the other from Chicago. They suffered their second defeat at the hands of Indiana, and ended the season by outwrestling Iowa 16 to 11. McMillen beat Sarpolius of Chicago, then lost the championship bout to Greer of Ames. Player lost the middle-weight title to Reed of Nebraska.
After losing six regulars through the eligibility jinx, Coach Ed. Manley built a swimming team that battled its way through the conference circles for three victories, two losses, and fourth place in the conference meet. Illinois garnered her 10 points in the Big Ten affair by virtue of a first by Taylor in the plunge, a second by Condon in the dive event, and Bowen’s third in the back stroke.

Losing their claim to the conference championship to Northwestern by three points the Illini water basketball team led by Captain Fox ended up in third place in the Big Ten scramble with a record of four won, one lost, and one tied.
Illinois' gymnasts carried away fourth honors in the Western Intercollegiate competition on March 17, at Columbus, Ohio. Although the gymnasium team met defeats at the hands of Iowa, Purdue, and Chicago in dual meets, the competition this year was close. This was Seward C. Staley's first season as coach.

Two Orange and Blue acrobats won conference championships in the meet at Ohio State University in March. A. E. Stahl was the champion tumbler, and Captain Switzer tied for second honors in the Indian clubs.

University of Illinois' fencing team, coached by a new mentor, Prof. Waldo Shumway, placed third in the Western intercollegiate competition on March 17, at Columbus, Ohio, Nebraska swordsmen capturing the crown. Indian fencers won both of their dual conference matches with Chicago and Purdue. The next meet with Iowa was cancelled.

W. L. Bunting, who has been elected captain for the next season, won the Western Intercollegiate individual Fencing championship.

Golf was not very successful in spite of the fact that Coach G. A. Davis seemingly had a well balanced team early in the season. After losing four meets, however, the season was closed with a good record in the Western Conference Tournament at Chicago. Rial E. Rolfe, sophomore golfer, went into the finals in the big meet, losing to Ford of Chicago in a brilliant match.

Illinois started the season with Drake, losing 16 to 4 in a meet of closer matches than the scores indicate. In this meet Rolfe and McKee, trans-Mississippi Valley champion, thrilled the spectators with some sensational golf. Michigan defeated the Illini, 12 to 11, at Ann Arbor. Frederickson shot a 33, tying the Wolverine course record. Purdue also won from the Illini, 7 to 5.

The big home meet was with Chicago, which the Maroons copped, 14 to 4, in 36 holes of play under the Nassau system.

After a season of ups and downs the 1922 tennis team staged a worthy finish when Franklin R. Myers won the western conference singles championship in the elimination tournament at Chicago. Myers wrested the last match from Norton of Minnesota after four sets of brilliant play.

Illinois defeated Northwestern, 6 to 0, Washington, 4 to 2, and Chicago 5 to 1. Matches were lost to Michigan, 4 to 2, and to Washington by the same score.
INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS

E. J. Manley

When over two thousand students take part in the intra-mural contests held during the year, it means that no other word than "success" is fitting for this, the most important development of athletics at Illinois in recent years.

Baseball brought out some of the best teams in the spring of 1922 that have ever appeared in intra-mural athletics. Alpha Chi Rho finally won the honors after a fierce, all-season battle. The champions first had trouble in their division finals, where they beat Delta Upsilon, 1 to 0, with Howard and Wierman pitching.

The Kappa Sigmata trimmed the Lambda Chi outfit, 17 to 6, and were ready for the championship game on Illinois Field, Decoration Day.
The championship game was the wildest affair ever staged—under the name of baseball. Alpha Chi Rho got away to a comfortable lead, but the Kappa Sigs got to Humpy's would-be curve ball in the fifth, and the battle raged nine wooly innings with Alpha Chi Rho winning 11 to 9.

Football in 1923, brought out the usual class teams. The Freshmen finally won the championship after a three-game struggle with the Seniors. The Juniors started like champions, but got hung up on the eligibility snag in mid-season. Three players were found ineligible and the team was ruled out of further competition.

This left three teams eligible for the honors. The Seniors trimmed the Sophs 6 to 0. This left the Seniors and the Yearlings still in the running. The teams had previously played a 0 to 0 tie and the second game helped none, ending 3 to 3.
In the final game, Warren of the Frosh team kicked two drop kicks and won a 6 to 0 victory for his team.

Fall tennis brought out sixty players in the singles and twenty-five doubles teams. B. P. Hoover and D. E. Carter went into the singles finals, the former winning 6–3, 6–1, 6–1. The doubles brought out even better competition. W. C. Yackel and A. C. Vogel being forced to go five sets to beat Euyang and Moyor Fogler, 8–6, 3–6, 6–4, 2–6, 7–5.

Beta Theta Pi grabbed water basketball honors. The Betas and Sigma Phi Epsilon were division champions. The former clearly showed superiority in the final struggle, winning 10 to 2.

Playground ball was also successful. Lambda Chi Alpha finally nosed out Pi Kappa Alpha in the semi-finals, Sigma Alpha Mu drawing a bye. The Sigma Alpha Mu crowd then proceeded to wallop Lambda Chi Alpha 10 to 7; and a few days later trimmed the Unit champion 12 to 4 for final honors.

The fall outdoor Track Meet did not draw the usual list of entries. Kappa Sigma won the meet with 23 1-2 points, Unit 18 coming second with 18.

Volley ball drew a large list of teams. Divisions winners were Sigma Pi, Zeta Beta Tau, and Alpha Kappa Lambda. Zeta Beta Tau defeated Alpha Sigma Alpha Mu PlayGround Ball Team

Soccer lasted all fall and winter. The Seniors won the honors, defeating the other two teams. The winter league found Bears, Hicks, Cardinals, and Internationals. The teams were not as ferocious as the names imply, as can be evidenced by the fact that the Hicks won the championship.

Cap Crossley’s Apaches deserve every bit of credit that can be given them as basketball players. Cap took his team into the state independent championships in the spring of 1922 and won state honors, only to lose them through trouble over a disputed player.

The Apaches then entered the Intra-mural finals. The game was a walk away, the Apaches beating Chi Phi 50 to 19. Crossley caged nine baskets and four free throws.

In the spring of 1923 the second annual intra-mural Relay Carnival was held, 919 athletes participating. Forty-seven cups were awarded winning teams and individuals.

ACTIVITIES
Some one has called the Union the "Heart of Illinois". Perhaps no better characterization could be drawn of the Illinois Union. It is at once a club and a business corporation, a coordinating agency for campus activities and the dynamic motive power which drives them on. Founded for the avowed purpose of promoting a better spirit among the men of the University, it has become the medium through which alumni and parents are brought into closer touch with the University and its interests. Gradually it is extending its functions with the view of bringing practically all campus activities under its supervision. Such a system will give added strength to each activity, with centralized responsibility, thus engendering better leaders and more efficient methods.

The Union is peculiarly adapted for this work as it is an organization for every man in the University. It is a property-owning corporation with a permanent board of directors, thus ensuring continuity of policy and administration, and it has a substantial financial status. It has gone a long way toward attaining its goal, even with its comparative youth and cramped quarters, and when it is housed in the new Union Building, which must come in the next few years, it will be prepared to render the service that is due from the most thoroughly democratic and powerful institution at Illinois.

The Student Council is the most thoroughly representative body on the campus. Composed of representatives from the classes and colleges, and from the major student activities, it is in touch with the many and varied interests of the University.

That is precisely its function—to know the activities and the feelings of the student body and to act as a buffer between the student body and the Council of Administration. It acts for the students in the election of the Varsity Cheer Leader, the appointment of the members of the Honor Commission, and the supervision of all class, organization, and college dances. In this latter function the work of the Council during the current year has been distinguished by fair-dealing and straightforward methods which have not always characterized such affairs in the past. It may investigate and recommend to the Council of Administration matters of general moment, and as an instrument for recording campus opinion it is unequalled.

UNION DANCES

Union Dances at Bradley Hall during the past year have been characterized by good music and congenial crowds. Bradley took on an entirely new and delightfully fresh aspect at its opening last September. Novel and pleasing decorations were vividly brought out by studied lighting effects, giving to the hall the expression of an old fashioned Colonial ball room. The chaperons were made comfortable on the balcony overlooking the dance floor. It, too, was refurnished in accordance with the general scheme. It has been the constant aim of the committee to provide week-end dances, which are the best from every standpoint, and the attainment of a measure of success in the carrying out of this purpose has been evidenced by the continual popularity of Union Dances.

Two Hundred Fifty-fifth
In 1919 there was founded what is proving to be Illinois' finest and proudest tradition—a collective honor system. Inasmuch as it is a collective system it is different from most honor systems, for the Illinois system not only requires the individual to be honest in his own work, but also demands that he report any violations he may see. That is a hard point to drive home—"to tell on the other fellow"—but like any tradition, it is gaining strength with age. As students come to see that they are upholding the system not for themselves alone, but for the glory and fame of our great University, then indeed it will become a perfect honor system. Although the cases are tried before a commission of four seniors and three juniors, it is not student government, for the final judgment is pronounced by the Council of Administration, but rather in its collective phase, its composite-honor-of-the-student-body phase, it is another step toward the social and political democracy which is more and more coming to characterize Illinois.

Although the Unit System is still in the state of infancy, it has accomplished much for the non-fraternity men on the campus. In its short existence it has aroused much interest and enthusiasm that its presence has been felt from one end of the campus to the other. The purpose for which it was organized, that of stimulating the interest of the non-fraternity men in the activities on the campus, is being carried out in its entirety. The program of the last year has laid stress upon athletics and social activities. The co-operation between the Clan Council and the Central Department has made possible the execution of these plans. The Clan Council is the policy-making body for the entire system, and is composed of all the unit presidents, and presided over by the President of the Clan Council, who is the head of the Unit System. The Central Department, the service branch of the Unit System, is composed of five Directors and ten District Leaders, who are headed by the Director of the Central Department. Each of the five Directors is in charge of one of the following departments: Organization, Registration, Publicity, Social Activities, and Athletics. The continued help and co-operation of the non-fraternity men will make possible an organization from which they may all derive benefit.

The Alumni Record (Directory of Alumni)
(Urbana and Chicago Departments)

The Semi-Centennial Alumni Record, edited by Frank W. Scott, '01, and published in 1918, was the last biographical directory of the Urbana department’s graduates. It is a 1200-page, closely printed book. The Alumni Record of the Chicago departments (medicine, dentistry, pharmacy) was published in the spring of 1922, and contains 548 pages.
THE Y's INDIAN

The Y's Indian is the official publication of the University of Illinois Y. M. C. A., containing news items and stories regarding the work of the "Y". It is published every now and then by the Publicity Committee, and has a circulation of 4500. The paper is sent to alumni, who are interested in the work of the association here, and to other friends throughout the United States. The circulation on the campus is limited to "Y" members and faculty.

THE ILLINI PUBLISHING COMPANY

The Illini Publishing Company is the corporation that supervises and assists all the student publications of the University. It is composed of four student members, selected by the student body, and three faculty members, appointed by the Council of Administration. The corporation elects all the officers and appoints the entire staffs of the publications issued under its guidance. The Daily Illini, The Illio, The Enterpriser, The Siren, The Illinois Magazine, The Technograph, the Illinois Agriculturist, and the Architectural Year Book are the member publications of the company. At the present time it produces all of these with the exception of the Illio on its own presses.

During the twelve years of its existence, the Illini Publishing Company has accumulated nearly thirty thousand dollars worth of property, most of which is invested in the printing plant located on Green Street just off the campus. The time is not far distant when the company will be in a financial position to erect a building of its own in which all member publications will be established and produced.

SOCIETY
THE JUNIOR PROM

In an atmosphere of oriental perfumes and profusion of color, the class of 1924 danced the traditional Junior Prom, Friday evening, December 8, 1922 at the Gymnasium Annex.

The drab interior of the great room had been transformed to a colorful setting of the East. Mural screens about the walls, sketching the wide expanse of the Egyptian desert added to the spacious appearance of the floor. In the far east end of the room, rising in dark silhouette against the night blue of a tropical sky, the minaret of a mosque lent to the scene the mystic quiet spirit of oriental night.

Into such a setting the stately procession of dancers drifted to move away in couples as the music changed from the beat of march time to the syncopated harmonies of modern jazz. Above them, the warm oriental lights emphasized the shifting myriad colors of the scene.
When a lovely houri emerged from the jaws of a dragon in a burst of smoke to dance for the assemblage, the atmosphere of the East was accentuated. As two o'clock approached the fiery scarlet and the brilliant orange faded to merge in pale turquoise and green in the dimming lights. Then as the pale smoke of a sacred incense rose to drift in purple haze above them, the class of 1924 danced the last measures of the traditional Junior Prom.

THE SENIOR BALL

The closing social event for the class of 1923 will be the Senior ball to be held June 11, 1923. This, the final social function of the school year, is to be made the gayest and finest of them all.

A committee is already planning decorations better than the usual, which are intended to give to the hall an atmosphere of happiness and gayety. The annex itself is to be completely hidden from the sight of the dancers by banked flowers. It is the ambition of the committee to give to the Senior Class a dance which will long be remembered by the departing Illini as the happiest memory of college life.

THE MILITARY BALL

Martial music—clank of spur and rattle of saber—the 1923 Military Ball. February 3rd, 1923, the atmosphere of the Gymnasium Annex became surcharged with military spirit. The olive brown and drab of uniforms mingled with the myriad colors of silken dresses; the light of highly polished boots with the soft sheen of satin slippers.

Between the forbidding mouths of the four black cannons which guarded the corners of the room were pitched the rival camps of the various divisions of the university military. While above the dancers, waving pleasantly in the shifting current of a breeze, hung a great American Flag—over all.

THE SOPHOMORE COTILLION

On January 5, 1923, the Sophomore class stepped from a world of reality into a glowing fantasia of colors in the Gymnasium Annex.

A seething cauldron greeted the dancers as they entered from the ice and snow which was outside. Gleaming lights gave life to a border of encircling flames darting threateningly at the dancers. The ceiling, latticed with a cross-work of brilliant hued serpentine, supported a brightly illuminated design which cast vari-colored lights upon the couples below. Soft harmonies of intriguing melody lead the dancers through a joyous evening until the lights began to fade, and the 1923 Sophomore Cotillion was over.

Two Hundred Eighty-Five
A DRAMATIC REVIEW

As we go to press the dramatic season is but half over, so that we shall have to speak partly in retrospect and partly in prophecy. But we have seen enough to let us say with assurance that the season is well up to the best Illinois tradition. To begin with the Theatre Guild: that interesting plan to draw all the campus dramatic organizations under one head, which was sponsored last year by Ed Henning and has been energetically boosted this year by Paul Wilson, is at present at the knees of the gods, or more properly speaking, of the Council of Administration. What action they will take we cannot prophesy. The plan has been accepted by Mask and Bauble, Pierrots, and the Players Club, and the Union has heroically consented to a divorce from Pierrots—but the gods have not spoken.

Mask and Bauble started the season joyously with Rollo's Wild Oat, a light and graceful comedy by Clare Kummer, which everybody agreed was unusually well done. They have not yet announced the choice of the spring play, but we understand that they are holding weekly prayer meetings for inspiration. We anticipate a good evening's entertainment sometime from their three prize-winning plays by Ted Bourland, Chilly Harner, and J. E. Foster.

Remembering last year's student opera, we look forward to The Red Flamingo by Larry Triggs and Co., with confidence that it will not be less tuneful, less funny, or less beautifully staged. The Woman's Welfare Committee had planned to produce this year an opera written and staged by women, in imitation of the men's opera, but for certain good reasons found it necessary to give up that idea, and calling in Pierrots to help them, they substituted The Red Widow, a successful musical comedy of a decade ago. And after various unhappy chances (for a vivid recital of which consult Bill Troutman) they put on a successful and admired show.

The Post Exam Jubilee, on the authority of Doc Weirick, who ought to know, was very good, and the prize stunt, won by Alpha Epsilon, is declared by the same eminent authority to be exceptionally clever. Perhaps we ought not to overlook the Book of Job, brought here by the Women's University Club, which staged the best thunderstorm ever heard in the Auditorium.

The Players Club is a social dramatic organization of faculty members. It presents one or two plays each year. "The Big Idea" was given January 20 and 21 at Morrow Hall.

Among the dramatic features that are given for those who are interested, are the Dramatic Hours of Mask and Bauble that are presented to the public once a month. Plays are directed, costumed and staged by the members of Mask and Bauble, thus giving each member some practical experience. The prize play and plays by American authors are given as well as those by better known foreign playwrights.

One act plays by well known dramatists are presented to the public several times a week during the spring months by the students in certain public speaking courses.

Although the primary interest of the French and Spanish clubs is not in drama, they present short dramatic programs every spring in their respective tongues. Last spring the Spanish Club gave "From Small Causes" and "Isadore's Surprise", while the French club gave "Les Precieuses Ridicules" by Moliere and "La Poudre Aux Yeux" by Labiche.

"The Faculty Follies" given April 22, 1922 was a venture into new fields under the direction of the University of Illinois Woman's club. Members of the faculty, both men and women, took part in individual and group stunts which were take-offs on both students and faculty.

Two successful productions were staged by the German club during the winter. Humperdinck's opera, "The Wolf and the Seven Kids" was played before a large audience in Morrow hall, and "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus", an adaptation of the classical versions of the dramas by Marlowe and Goethe, made an entertaining puppet show on April 14. The plays were given under the direction of Dr. B. A. Uhlendorf and Dr. Walter Wadepull of the department of Germanic languages.

Stunts were judged by Prof. Lloyd Morey, W. C. Troutman, Prof. M. H. Robinson, Dr. Bruce Weirick, and Prof. C. H. Woolbert.
POST-EXAM JUBILEE

Alpha Epsilon, with the cleverest and most entertaining stunt that has been presented on the campus in years, took first prize in the Post-Exam Jubilee, with "The Review of Revues". A puppet show aided in giving a delightful mixture of straight fun and gentle satire on campus affairs.

"The Sycophant", by Delta Phi, won the second prize, with its spirit and humor. The puns perpetrated by H. B. McCarty were especially outstanding, while "Way Down Yeast" was deliciously burlesque.

H. B. Selectman and Paul Freed placed first in individual stunts with a combination dancing and piano sketch. Selectman is a nimble, speedy novelty dancer, and was ably accompanied by Freed.

R. L. Summerfield, unaided by mechanical devices, entertained a cold audience by dancing and singing for which he received the second prize. R. E. Bryan was given honorable mention for a series of clever imitations of musical instruments and barnyard creatures.
Homecoming Stunt Show

Nine stunts by individuals and groups made up the program of the Homecoming Stunt Show that was given October 20, in the Auditorium. The group stunts were presented by individuals rather than organizations.

“One Magic Hour”, by Margaret Beatty, portraying the court of Henry VI of England in an array of highly colored costumes viewing the representatives of educational progress, was awarded the cup for the most artistic stunt.

“The Comebackers”, by Stella Cummings, Florence Grieve, and Mamie Mitchell, pictured the different types of University of Illinois women from 1906 to 1922, and it carried away the honors for cleverness.

Other stunts were “The Great Game”, by Frances Dolle and Lois Bennett, a combination of singing, dancing, golfing, and love; “The Return of King Ewaine”, by Helen Brehm, a court scene of the women awaiting the return of the warriors; “Probation”, by Genevieve Haworth, Marion Phillips, and Betty Baggerly, was made up of red devils and imps deciding the fate of Illinois sinners; and “A Light Revue”, by Marguerite Gardiner, was a dancing stunt of lamp dolls.

Individual stunts of singing and dancing were given by Carol McConnell and Irene Streed. Homer Woods, A. R. Mathias, and Horace Magnen performed with black-face tricks, and Doris Glidden and Elizabeth Bradt did a clog dance.

DEBATE

Three varsity debates were held during the past year. The annual fall debate during the first semester was with Iowa and Minnesota, and the honors were divided. During the second semester a team of three men met Knox in an open forum decisionless debate, while both Illinois teams were defeated in the spring debate with Wisconsin and Michigan.

H. E. Reynolds, J. W. Errant, and J. W. Speakman made up the negative team in the fall, which was defeated by Minnesota. The affirmative team which won over Iowa included K. E. Oberholtzer, H. M. Keele, and J. S. Pollock. The question was, Resolved: That Congress should have the power to override the decisions of the supreme court by re-enacting laws after they have been declared unconstitutional.

Members of the team debating Knox were M. S. Sostrin, G. D. Adsit, and J. L. LeMaster.

R. B. Herzog, K. E. Oberholtzer, and G. S. McGaughey on the negative side, met Wisconsin in the spring debate, while V. W. Safford, R. G. Woolbert, and J. L. LeMaster were defeated by Michigan. The question was, Resolved: That the injunction should be prohibited in labor disputes.

Members of the freshman team which met Northwestern in the spring were Nora O. Null, L. U. Cohen, A. G. Hall, W. F. Hall, and R. E. Haswell, with P. B. Lind, R. R. Reno, and S. A. Fessenden as alternates. The question was, Resolved: That all foreign unskilled labor should be excluded from the United States for a period of five years.

J. S. Pollock was selected to represent Illinois in the Northern Oratorical League forensic competition held May 4 at the University of Minnesota.

ALBERT AUSTIN HARDING

Albert Austin Harding, Director of the "Greatest College Band", has achieved his finest success this year in producing the largest and most distinctive band of two hundred and seventy-five men. By placing membership in each of the three bands—the Concert Band, the First Regimental Band, and the Second Regimental Band, on a competitive basis, Director Harding has secured an effective and loyal cooperation of his trained musicians, of which the University is justly proud.

The University of Illinois Glee Club was organized in 1892 by Professor S. W. Parr. For the past few years the Club has been more or less dormant, but last year it became active again under the efficient direction of Frank Tatham Johnson of the School of Music. Concert tours have been resumed, and this year concerts were given in Joliet, Aurora, DeKalb, Rockford, LaSalle, Dwight, Pontiac, Bloomington, and Kankakee.

On February ninth, at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, the Club took second place in the First Annual Glee Club Contest, in which twelve colleges and universities of the middle west competed. At the home concert the Club was assisted by the Second Glee Club, making a combined organization of sixty voices.

The Women's Glee Club was organized in 1916. At first, it consisted of only freshman women, but later it was enlarged to include women of all classes. The director at first was Miss Kyle, then Dean of Women; later, Dean Erb; then, Miss Mary Phillips; at present, Dean Stiven, with Mr. Miles as assistant.

The Club gives at least one concert every year. This year it has a membership of seventy picked voices.
The University Orchestra is a musical organization of symphonic proportions, including an almost complete instrumentation, the object of which is the study of the higher and more serious forms of music. Membership, determined by competitive examination, is open to anyone in the University community who has the required proficiency and experience. Women as well as men are eligible. The Orchestra rehearses each Wednesday and appears on several occasions, the most important being the annual concert given in connection with the May Musical Festival. It offers a splendid opportunity in orchestral development for advanced students of music.
Well, Horace, you blew in just in time to see the greatest college ROTC on parade. Listen, can you hear that band down on Green Street? Come on. We'll chase down to the reviewing stand and watch the boys as they step by.

Yeh. Here they come. See that rotund person on the capering charger? That's Major Dailey, commandant. No, Horace, he is not a cavalryman. Those highly decorated persons about him are his aides, old timer. Worthy wights, truly, all of them.

Here they come. Off with your hat. Horace, there's the colors! Man, don't the sight of that flag send a little thrill down your back?

REGULAR ARMY OFFICERS

BRIGADE STAFF

As is fitting and proper, Sir René McNeill, Student Colonel, is leading the procession. Yes, he rides pretty well for a college boy, but he had a little experience busting bronchos down on the Rio Grande, they say. His followers who sit less easily upon their fiery steeds —cavalry horses, of course, Horace—are the great and mighty members of his staff who decide the army’s policy and tactical maneuvers between lessons in equitation. You say they shouldn’t spend so much time on the army? That’s a cruel dig, Horace.

And that, whisper the name softly, Horace, is Gabrielson. Yes, that’s Gabrielson. Lieutenant-Colonel, the high potentate of the boys who use shoe leather. He, too, has his sides-de-camp... Yes, you’re right, old timer, we should speak lightly of them.

INFANTRY

Infantry, Horace. Yes, one or two of them are out of step, but it's the spirit of the thing that really counts. I think they do pretty good considering that they never were soldiers before. Yes? I'm glad you agree with me. There's one of our freshmen in the front rank.

SECOND REGIMENT OFFICERS

Second Row—Snyder, Coath, Arnold, Husted, Peyton.

CAVALRY OFFICERS

Top Row—Salley, Harris, Wahbrink.
Second Row—Towns, Bailey, Heckel, Parr, Quinette.
Bottom Row—Yockey, Mroz, Dowell, Bowen, Yockey, Toby.

This is the cavalry! What’s that got to do with it? A cavalryman is a cavalryman whether he has a horse or not, isn’t he? No, their legs are not bowed from too much riding, but they will be—if the boys light on their feet when they fall.

It takes real courage for these boys to be cavalrymen. Hooray, for these are the first horses that some of them have ever seen.

CAVALRY RIFLE TEAM

Top Row—Patton, Steinman, McCreery, Twelfth, Fox.
Bottom Row—Towns, Young, Quinette, Towne, Cobhardt.

Three Hundred Thirteen
The Engineers, God bless 'em, builders of mountains and sewers. These are the sappers of Kipling fame. No, not the same sappers, Horace. It is their pontoons that keep the feet of the army dry when it crosses the raging torrents of the Boneyard. Oh, yes, I know what you're saying, Horace, but I like the red patches on their shoulders.

ENGINEER OFFICERS

Bottom Row—Tohen, Higdon, Stoll, Motte, Riemer.
The Signal Corps! Seems rather silly to talk during the midst of the battle, doesn't it? That is what these boys are learning to do. And with them travel the Air Service. What a combination! The talking ability of the Signal Corps and the handsome uniforms of the Air Service!

AIR SERVICE OFFICERS

Bottom Row—Kerr, Steiper, Texas, Crawford, Iowa.
Yes, Horace, this is the Artillery, and believe me, "those caissons keep rolling along". No, they are not doing setting up exercises!

This is the last of it, all right—but don’t laugh at him, Horace. That boy has been riding on the caisson for two hours, and he has good reason to go to sleep. They’re all asleep now, old timer, all asleep. But when they wake up ———
THE ILLINOIS MEMORIAL STADIUM

The work of constructing the Stadium is being resumed after the let-up during the winter months. If deliveries of the structural steel, of the cement, of the cypress lumber for the seats, and of other necessary materials are made with reasonable promptness, English Brothers, the general contractors, promise to have all of the seats ready for use for the Homecoming football game with the University of Chicago team, November 3, 1923.

At this writing much of the structural steel for the lower stand is being set; the drainage contractor is rapidly laying the big storm sewer to drain the grid-iron and surrounding field; reinforcing and structural steel is arriving daily and some of the cypress for the seats has arrived. Barring strikes and other unforeseen delays, we should be able to use the greater part or all of the Stadium seats by November 3, the date set for the first game to be played on the Memorial Stadium Field.

The main floors are to seat about 37,000 and the balconies will seat an additional 18,000. If only the main floors should be completed by fall, 14,000 more seats than the capacity of Illinois Field would be available.
The brick and stone work, including the Memorial Colonnade, will not be finished until the spring and summer of 1924, when it is planned to have the Stadium entirely completed. The formal dedication will be held in the fall of 1924.

Thru the co-operation of the Board of Trustees of the University with the Athletic Association, an executive committee composed of the following members was appointed to build the Stadium:

GEORGE HUFF ............ Vice-Chairman
C. J. ROSEBERY .......... Secretary

HOME COMING STADIUM PARADE
PREXY SPEAKS AT THE STADIUM DEDICATION

The 1922 Homecoming came this year in all of its traditional glory and with many added attractions appearing for the first time. Led by "Pseudo Sousa" and his motley following of "Sons of the Wanderlust", the 1923 Senior Hobo Parade proceeded to exhibit rags and tatters to the Ford-and-Cadillac-lined avenues of Champaign. "Cupid" in fairy-like glory in the person of J. L. LeMaster, won the individual prize; "Trade" and "Mark", the cough drop twins, won the double trump trophy. I. G. Anderson and F. G. Smith represented the Smith Brothers. The organization prize went to an independent group. Andy Gump, the Sheik, Daniel Boone, Diogenes, Captain Kidd, and Beau Brummel were among those present.

The Sophomores went down to ignoble defeat in the annual class battle against the weavers of the green spot on the Armory Drill Field. The Frosh took three of the four contests, including the tug-of-war. The Varsity took the baseball game from the old timers, 8 to 4, in a contest which was featured by hard hitting and erratic fielding.

A one hundred-piece University Band headed the column which marched through the streets to the dedication ceremony of the new Stadium, where Governor Small and other prominent men spoke a few words. But it was the football game which gave the real touch of Illini spirit to the 1922 Homecoming. The green gridmen fought to win a game in which they were not even conceded a chance. Meeting the Hawkeyes but a week after their sensational victory over Yale, the Illini team held them to an eight to seven score. And the Iowa men came out on top because of a fluke which gained a safety and a two-point count for the invaders. It was a game of which the Illini may always be proud.

The house decorations this year were more elaborate and artful than ever before. In the large sororities, Kappa Alpha Theta took the first prize; in the small sororities, Alpha Xi Delta, Beta Theta Pi, and Phi Lambda Pi copped the prize in the small group.

The Mask and Bauble play, "Rollo's Wild Oat", had more than the usual success of campus plays and was well received at every performance.

It was a day worthy not only of the students of today, but of all the Alumni who feel more strongly at Homecoming the spirit of the Illini, as they live again the memories of college pleasures.

DAD’S DAY

Dean Thomas Arkle Clark originated the idea of Dad’s Day in 1920. He realized that there was need for a day set aside for the Dads to come and visit with their sons and daughters in the University. Dad’s Day of this year has proved the lasting worth of his idea. Leaving hard work and sordid business cares behind for a few days, more than two thousand Dads arrived on the campus to participate in the events of the third annual Dad’s Day celebration.

The morning began with an open-house inspection of the University through organized tours of the colleges including the primary points of interest about the campus.

Thousands of townpeople, students, and Dads lined the streets to witness the parade and review of the R. O. T. C., in which more than thirty-one hundred men took part. The long parade was led by President Kimley on horseback, in the full uniform of a commanding officer, followed by Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, Brigadier General D. V. Mosely, and the R. O. T. C. officers in high command.

Behind these came the boys, arms swinging, chests out, eyes to the front, save when an alert eye caught sight of a Dad watching from the sidewalk.

In the football game of the afternoon, with Northwestern leading three to nothing at the end of the first half, Dads joined with sons in frenzied pleas to “fight ’em!”. And the Illini came from the field with the first victory of the season by a six-to-three score. Between halves the Illinois band of two hundred and seventy-five pieces, played and sang “Hail to the Orange” for fathers and sons.

The Dad’s “get-together” of the evening was the unnecessary final proof that the idea of Dad’s Day was a worthy one. Every Dad was as enthusiastic to return next year as his son is to have him come back—which is saying something.

Three Hundred Twenty-Five MILITARY DAY

With two thousand six hundred and eighty-three students of the military department in the field, competing for honors, and a final review and inspection by Major-General G. E. Bell, in the Armory, the last event on the military schedule for the year was completed effectively.

The program for the morning consisted of competition among unit groups. Infantry companies and battalions were put through movement drills. The Artillery had mounted drill and problems in range finding. The Cavalry had mounted and dismounted drill in the riding paddock. The Engineers went through infantry drill, spar bridge building and pontoon wagon loading. Members of the Signal Corps took field exercises, and the Air Service went through squadron drill.

Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions, the final review was held in the Armory. The Brigade was assembled at 3:45 o'clock, and after decoration of students and presentation of commissions to the seniors, the men were inspected by President Kinley and high army officers.

The Hazelton medal for the best-drilled freshman was won by A. P. Crowell, and the University Gold Medal was awarded G. C. Bunge as the honored sophomore. E. T. Aldrich won the Cavalry Medal, and C. A. Soule '25, won the Engineer Medal.

Company B of the Second Regiment won first honors in the Infantry competition and was awarded the Scabbard and Blade cup, which was turned over to the Company's sponsor, Alpha Delta Pi. Battery C retained the Artillery cup.

Cavalry supremacy went to Troop B, after a keen battle with Troop A. Company A won out in the Engineers, and Squadron A of the Air Service took the trophy for that section. Troop B copped first place in the Signal Corps.

With a final blast from the band, the brigade marked time, marched, passed in review, and out of the Armory, out of the life of the military, the most of them, until another year should come.

ROETTGER CONNECTS WITH A FAST ONE
THE BIG SIDESHOW, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN

The twenty-eighth annual Interscholastic has come and gone. With its passing two new records were marked up in track, the greatest of all the gymnastic spectacles was run through without a hitch, and Illinois won two baseball games in the two days of the period.

Hyde Park continued her success of the past three years in the Interscholastic tennis tourney by taking the doubles championship. Deerfield-Shields won both first and second places in the golf tourney played over the University course.

Lundgren's diamond-dusters collected two more victories for the season's total when they annexed the Friday contest with Michigan, 8 to 7, and took the Saturday battle from the Irish nine of Notre Dame, 11 to 3.

Outstanding among the events of the final evening was the work of the gymnasts. The professional touch, lacking in too many student productions, was evident here. The pyramid builders, five hundred strong, presented a beautiful and extraordinary spectacle in their various formations.
TALLEST AND SMALLEST BAND

Phi Kappa Sigma won first prize for large organizations with its stunt, "The Daily Ilini Events", in which a burlesque of the year's news was presented. Phi Lambda Pi was awarded first prize for small organizations with its stunt, "The World's Tallest and Smallest Band".

George Chandler with his funny costume, spirited white horse, and his jokes, carried off first honors as a clown.

The military display, "Hannibal's Dream", as coached by Captain R. W. Grow, was very effective. The display began with the firing of a number of signal rockets and star shells, after which a heavy machine gun and artillery fire was kept up for some time. Two hundred men of the University Brigade, both mounted and on foot, were used in the creation of the illusion.

The impression which was carried away by the high school students, for whom the interscholastic was prepared, was well worth the effort which had been expended.

ENGLISH POETRY PRIZE

Won in 1922
by
CHARLES E. NOYES

To encourage the writing of campus verse at Illinois, the English department offers yearly prizes of fifteen and ten dollars apiece for the two best poems submitted. In 1922, first prize went to Charles E. Noyes for a series of lyrics, and the second to Harold McKinley Mann for his narrative verse, entitled Prayer. One of the most pleasing of Mr. Noyes’ lyrics we reproduce below.

DEMIURGE

After they’re gone, the fine despised illusions,
Love, and the dreams we say are never true—
When laughter is no more a careless fountain
And you are only you;
When these things are, as we have known they’ll be,
Then will there be an end to all delusions?
And shall we see (as we are sure we’ll see)
The whole of our white gleaming distant mountain, Place where our dreams are, standing near,
Misty through clouds no longer, plain and cold,
No fairyland, but dreams we’ve had, made clear,
When we are old?
Perhaps we travel ever towards the place,
In death attaining one, the last bright dream:
And yet I think we could not bear to face
A time when fancies quite unveiled should gleam
So close at hand.
Blindness, I think, would cut the light before
We saw, or that dim mist where fancies stand
Vanish, and show behind an empty space,
Smooth desert, where we two should dream no more,
There left to wander on forever groping.
In that bright land with no far mystery,
For some mirage-like trick of memory
And vanish hoping.
LITERARY HONORS
THE THACHER HOWLAND GUILD MEMORIAL PRIZE
Won in 1922
by
DONALD FRAZIER LAFUZE

The Thacher Howland Guild Memorial Prize was endowed by the friends and relatives of Thacher Howland Guild, instructor and associate in English, 1904 to 1914. It is an annual prize of twenty-five dollars, and is awarded to the undergraduate student submitting the poem or one-act play which, in the opinion of the committee appointed by the department of English, shows the greatest originality and literary merit. The prize in 1922 was won by Donald Frazier Lafuze by his play, "The Griffin Honor". Helen Irene Buckler's play, "Peter", won honorable mention.

SYNOPSIS, "THE GRIFFIN HONOR"
Matt Griffin slinks back at sunset to the cabin of his father, Sol, Kentucky mountaineer, to get ready to skip the country as the result of a 'shootin' scrape' at Sandy Fork. Sol, who killed a rival to win his own wife, Marthy, makes little inquiry when he learns that Matt has shot Charlie Crane, who was trying 'to beat Matt out fer' Idy Humphreys. While Sol is making sure of his son's guns and ammunition, he brings up the family tradition that a Griffin never hands over his gun, and demonstrates the "finger-flop" by which a man, though extending his revolver, butt forward as if in surrender, may use it to kill his opponent. While Marthy is fixing up a "snack," Matt steps out to get his horse. Marthy doesn't like the looks of Matt's running away, as this time he is going to "Indiana" instead of just up in the mountains to "Uncle Joe's". She wants Matt to stay and stand trial, as she knows juries are lenient on a man who kills in a "fair an' square" fight, and she is solicitous about Matt's proposed marriage to Idy. But Sol feels sure that will all blow over in a few weeks, and says that if he had a son that "folks'd say ought to be brung to trial" he would save the courts the trouble by doing justice with his own hands.

At this point, Dale Barlow, deputy sheriff from Manchester, arrives, a full hour before he was expected. Dale suspects that Matt is still about and decides that he'll "just wait". Sol "gets the drop" on Dale by shooting. 'Don't shoot, Marthy!' and takes Dale's gun. Matt, when he returns, tries to hurry away, but Sol grows suspicious, and by severe cross-examination forces Matt to confess that he killed not only Charlie, but also Idy, 'because she hollered too much', betraying her preference for Charlie. Sol tries to carry out his threat to kill so dishonorable a son, but finds he cannot do it. He gives Dale his gun. Dale calls on Matt to hand over his revolver. Sol tries to warn Dale, but it is too late. Matt tries to work the Griffin trick, but Sol anticipates him, firing from his hip. Sol bends over his mortally wounded son, saying, 'Ye tried to do it, Matt, but you were too slow—too slow—for a Griffin", as the curtain falls.
LITERARY HONORS
THE MASK AND BAUBLE PRIZE
Won in 1922
by
THEODORE PRESTON BOURLAND

The Mask and Bauble Prize consists of twenty-five dollars, awarded annually. It is given to the undergraduate student who writes the play that is judged best in construction, originality, and ease of presentation. The first prize was awarded to Theodore Preston Bourland in 1922, for his play, "The Madhouse". Charles Emory Harner won the second prize of fifteen dollars with his play, "A Divorce of Convenience".

SYNOPSIS, "THE MADHOUSE"

The theme of this play is unusually ingenious and clever, and gives dramatic form to an idea which may at first seem to be more philosophic than theatrical. The chief figure in the action, an occupant of a madhouse, who, for purposes of classification is referred to as number six, had spent years in close captivity. This poor man had seen the world through the narrow casement of his room, and as he brooded on its visible beauties, he also pined for its joys, which he thought must be ideal. He had dreamed of kings who must be majestic, princesses who must be lovely, beautiful men and women as noble and good as they were beautiful. His heart nearly broke with the melancholy of his captivity.

One day his opportunity came. While his physician and keeper were in his cell on a tour of inspection, he dashed into the corridor and locked the door upon his captors. He explained to them that he had a theory that the world was a place of happiness and beauty. Now that he was free, he intended to put the theory to the test. The physician and the keeper explained that what he thought was fallacious; the world was no such Utopia as he had imagined; his idealized dreams were the merest hallucinations; the king was an ignominious, trivial man; the princess, though beautiful, was unchaste, and men and women were unprincipled in love and honor. The madman saw his long cherished dreams tumble about him in the ruins of bitter disappointment.

With an air of patronizing nobility he unlocked the cell door, voluntarily re-entered its precincts, and informed his former captives that they were far more mad than he. So he turned them out into the madhouse of life where they belonged. Behind the bars of his once hateful prison, he found at last, in thought and social aloofness, the freedom and beauty of which he had dreamed for so many years.
ARCHITECTURAL HONORS

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS MEDAL

Won in 1922 by Edwin Christopher Berendes

The American Institute of Architects offers annually a medal for award to the senior in the department of architecture whose development during the four years’ course is the best and most consistent. The award is based on scholarship of all work, the purpose being to prevent over-specialization in design.

THE FRANCIS J. PLYM FELLOWSHIP IN ARCHITECTURE

Won in 1922 by Floyd William Ray

By the generosity of Mr. Francis J. Plym, of Niles, Michigan, a graduate of the University of Illinois of the class of 1897, the Trustees have been enabled to establish a fellowship for the advanced study of architecture. The stipend attached to this fellowship is one thousand dollars, awarded annually by competition in Architectural Design. The holder of the fellowship is required to spend a year in study and travel abroad.
ATHLETIC HONORS

CONFERENCE MEDAL FOR EXCELLENCE IN SCHOLARSHIP AND ATHLETICS
Won at Illinois in 1922
by
CLARENCE F. CROSSLEY
The Conference honor medal is presented at the close of the school year to one athlete in each University in the Big Ten Conference. It is given for a combination of athletic and scholastic excellence during the period the student has been in school.
Clarence F. Crossley won the Illinois medal in 1922. His scholastic average, 4.1, was exceptional, considering the amount of time spent in athletics. He was an "I" man in baseball for three years, and in addition organized and managed the Apache basketball team, which won the intra-mural championship three years in succession.

MILITARY HONORS

THE HAZELTON PRIZE MEDAL
Won in 1922
by
ADISON P. CROWELL
The Hazelton Prize Medal was provided by Captain W. C. Hazelton in 1890, to be awarded annually to the best drilled student. The competition is held each year between May 15 and May 31.
The award is made for excellence in erectness of carriage, military appearance, neatness, in execution of the school of the soldier, without arms, and in the manual of arms, with and without numbers.

THE UNIVERSITY GOLD MEDAL
Won in 1922
by
GORDON C. BUNG
The University Gold Medal is awarded annually by the Board of Trustees of the University. Competitors for the medal must take part in a competitive drill and also must have a required standard of scholarship.
Each student must have matriculated in the University and must have completed one semester's work in Military 1 with a grade of not less than B, and three semesters' work in Military 2 with a grade of not less than A, and be must have an average standing of not less than C in all his other studies for the preceding semester. The award is made for excellence in the same details as in the Hazelton contest.

COLLEGE OF SOPHISTICATION IS STUDY THE END AND AIM OF EXISTENCE?

Consider this question carefully, gentle reader, as you lower at us over your tortoise shells. After all, whilst you plug away at your musty tomes and weight your laboratory liquids and grow old before you have been young, have you chosen the better alternative?

********

Note the two figures here displayed before your wondering gaze, gentle reader. To the left, we have a typical grind—a bumbling and slouchy creature, is he not? with a wonderful brain (in repose). But do you want to be like that?

********

Now, gentle reader, contrast him with the swaggering chap to the right—ahhh—note that easy loll, that nonchalant mouthing of the cigarette and the air of blase cynicism which he simply exudes—does he not? He admits that life is real and life is earnest, but—the grave is not his goal! He is going to see life, see life, gentle reader . . . a man of the world is he!

********

Would you not, gentle reader, also like to see life?—Would you not care to acquire the dash—the verve—the lofty and faultless sophistication which belongs to the man at the right?

********

Then do not delay a single second. Write today for our catalog. Let it not be said upon your tombstone:

Here lies Doc; his heart was kind
He filled his brain and trained his mind
Lord, he was a greasy grind!

CATALOGUE OF THE COLLEGE OF SOPHISTICATION

HISTORY —

The College of Sophistication was founded in June, the year of our Lord 1923, as the result of a petition from irate students who felt unable to express themselves through the ordinary curriculum of the University, and who wished to become Beaux Brummels (masc.) and Belles Brummels (fem.), able to take their place in the most elevated society.

Several handsome buildings were erected with cabarets on the ground floor and class rooms in the upper parlors. Approximately $1,000,000 was lavished upon lighting effects alone, which were extremely sophisticated in character.

June, 1923
Men admitted to the College.
June, 1923
Women admitted.
July 4, 1923
Automatic soda fountain installed, making this college one of the most completely equipped in the U. S.
July 18, 1923
By order of the Dean of Women, lighting effects rendered less sophisticated in character.

DEGREES —

A degree of S. B. (Sophisticated Bachelor) for men, and S. S. (Sophisticated Slinker) for women, is conferred upon those who complete the prescribed curriculum in this College.

MOTTO —

Humanum est Errare (We all make mistakes now and then).
ADMISSION —

Candidates for admission to the College of Sophistication will be required to take mental tests. All intellects rating over twelve years will be automatically excluded. Prospective students will then be divided into four classes according to mentality: (1) Moron (corresponding to freshmen in other colleges); (2) Imbecile; (3) Idiot; and (4) Hopelessly Insane. Male members of these classes will be recognized by their headgear. Morons will go bare-headed; Imbeciles will wear checked golf caps; Idiots will wear brown derbies, and the Hopelessly Insane will wear high silk hats and carry canes on Sunday.

HONORARY FRATERNITIES —

Kappa Beta Phi holds the monopoly in this college.

REQUIREMENTS FOR A DEGREE —

This is not an easy College, and the student will find it necessary to spend at least six years in active training. He should remember that haste and over-eagerness to obtain a degree are the height of unsophistication. Requirements for said degree are:

1. The successful flunking of the majority of subjects in less important colleges.
2. The breaking of at least one Varsity engagement.
3. Rating the Scout Column twice or more.
4. Dating with all of the notorious persons on the campus, subject to the disapproval of the Dean. (Dating average of not less than 8.2 a week required.)

FEES —

Don’t bother us about these sordid details. In the College of Sophistication, it is well to keep several extra check books on hand.
PROCURING THE STUDY LIST —

Do not register systematically, as to do so immediately brands you as possessed of a hopelessly bourgeois mentality.

The secret of being "haut mondish" is to do correctly what everyone else does incorrectly, and to do incorrectly what the unsophisticated masses do correctly.

Students should remember that they are about to enter The College of Sophistication. Assuming an indolent pose, they should slap their class advisors on the back and snicker: "I say, old chappie, where does one procure a study list and all that sort of rot, don't you know?" The student should be obscure in his language, as the bourgeoisie will then think that he has an epigrammatic line. When in doubt, he should toss some clever little "bon mot" such as "I'll say so", or "I'll tell the world", at his advisor. This invariably cows the most recalcitrant faculty member.

Students should fill out their study lists carelessly and at their leisure, securing a few genuine signatures and forging the rest.

CLASS CARD

The College of Sophistication requests your presence at a class to be held from 8 to 12:30 p.m. August 12, 1923

R. S. V. P.

THE DEAN —

The Dean of this College shall be I. Wanta Roam. Instructors shall consist of sophisticated imports from Chicago, New York, and Paris, and of products of the University who have shown a special aptitude for sophistication.

Associate Professors shall consist of instructors in other less important branches of the University who present signed certificates to the effect that they have (1) smoked, (2) drunk, (3) dated, or (4) in cases of scholastic danger, given the benefit of the doubt to students in the College of Sophistication. Associate professorship is considered a high honor and is obtained by comparatively few.

The following explanation of campus terms will enable the prospective student to navigate more easily in the College of Sophistication:

CAMPUS LEXICON

Compiled by

MILLICENT TURNER, '23

ACTIVITIES: State of perpetual motion aimed at by entire student body, resulting in jewelry, complimentary tickets, dues and a list of responsibilities one and one-half inches long beneath one's picture in the Illio. See "Futility".

ARCADE: Lair of iniquity, long known as The Port of Missing Men; now generally conceded that they are not only missing, but irretrievably lost.

ATHLETE: Carniverous, square-jawed, muscular biped; attains immense height and girth, some ranging as tall as seven feet and having torso diameter of three feet.

AUDITORIUM: Arena for exhalation of culture and refinement. Seating capacity: less than required amount. Stage overhung by classic portrayal of "Everybody Works but Father". Acoustics very slight.

BLISS: Ignorance.

BLUES: Melancholy state of mind undergone by students who haven't enough to do. Of numerous varieties: Alcoholic, High Brown, Lonely, South Campus, Clover Blossom, Virginia, Black-eyed, Wabash, Pullman Porter, Got to Have My Daddy, etc.
BLUFF: Impassable barrier erected by students for baffling of instructors.

BONEYARD: Condition of putrescence existing to north of campus, made memorable in verse and prose. Moves at average rate of two inches a year; numerous efforts to can it (visible on both shores) unsuccessful. Of livid opal shade and unmistakable odor. Crossed by five bridges and used as bathing receptacle for reptiles and cigarette stubs.

BRILLIANTINE: Polish giving lustre to wood and bone.

CANE: Chief means of support for Law School.

CHECK: Exclamation used for lack of immediate witty retort. Synonymous with "You said a mouthful".

CHEMISTRY BUILDING: Abode of sweetness and light entered by means of gas mask. Laboratories open all night, but aromas remain. Numerous attempts at destruction by means of explosion have failed. Probably more deadly than any other catalytic agent on campus.

CHIMES: Unpleasant reminder of class of 1922, used to liven up Sunday afternoons by means of Old Home Songs, in many keys, all at once.

CO-ED: Confection of sweetened powder, coloring, gelatine, gum arabic or the like, made in various sizes and moulds, harmless if taken in small amounts.

COKE: Cheap fuel used for warmth and illumination. See Mosi-Overs.

COLLEGE: (a) Salon de danse on Green Street on second floor over restaurant and gambling den. Floor recently sandpapered and walls redecorated in rosettes. Comfortably accommodates ten couples. Low lights and low music. Potent argument in favor of co-education. (b) Also institution of higher learning.

CYNIC: One disappointed in love. See "Futility".
DATING: Chief industry at University of Illinois employing practically 9000 workers in various branches. Many labor overtime for minimum recompense. Few strikes. Many lock-outs. Management problem simplified by system of blind or indirect dating.

DEAN: Patron saint of flunkers and dissolute denizens, knelt to on green carpet. Oracular message given in form of "The 6:25 leaves at 6:25". Also a female deity. See "Precious Stones".

DECAMERON: Earliest and also latest word in sophistication, unfortunately always missing from the shelves. To be mentioned with knowing wink.

DORMITORY: Cloister, generally in attic, where snoring has developed to fine art. Hibernation overcome by use of alarm clocks.

EDUCATION: Art or science of growing bored gracefully. See "Futility".

EIGHT O'CLOCK: Instrument of torture employed in Scholastic Inquisition.

FACULTY: Organization for prevention of securing of degrees by imbeciles. Of three species, bald, bearded, and beautiful, ranging in age from adolescence to senility, and in assorted sexes. Chief product is sarcasm.

FLUNK: Peace without victory. See "Futility".

FORMAL: Carousal lasting until three o'clock in the morning, marked by Tuxedos, Prince Alberts, dinner coats, beauty, chivalry, no flowers (local condition at Illinois), marcelles, starch, liquid powder, etc., and ordinarily ending in rite known as Hanging of Pins. Of several species: Domesticated or House Formal, Pan-Hell, Junior Prom, Military Ball, etc. See Graft, Politics, Riots, and Underground Passageways.

FRATERNITY: Accumulation of faultless haberdashery, all fastened together by same pin.

FUSSING: Process of making a fool of one's self highly remunerative to amusement firms and refectories. Harmless means of keeping heart in good condition.

FUTILITY: Philosophy ultimately evolved by thinking students and others.

GALOSH: Form of light vehicle, propelled by feet acting as treadles.

GREEN STREET: Broadway of the Campus, chief financial and style center, having three cafeterias, bank, souvenir shop, shoe-shining parlor, etc., and being illuminated at night. Formerly Fraternity Row until hotels were required by the more gregarious of the organizations. Named after first freshman to live through Hazing Age.

GRIND: Fabulous creature, half cuckoo and half fish, supposed to frequent seminars on Friday and Saturday nights.

HARD-BOILED: Condition arrived at while living in hot water without becoming cracked.

HEXAPCECIA: Private sanitarium for deranged quadrangles.

IMPORTS: Strike breakers introduced for purpose of humbling the Illinois Co-ed and regarded by latter with much animosity.

IGNORANCE: Bliss. See “Futility”.

JAZZ: That form of insanity characterized by paroxysms and syncopation, twitching of the limbs, rolling of eyes, etc. Attacks brought on by Blumenthal, Donahue, etc.

KISS: A small piece of confectionery.

KNOWLEDGE: The end of all things. See “Futility”.

LAUNDRY BAG: Means of transportation of soiled linen, clean linen, food stuffs and other supplies. Immense levelling influence among students.

LIBRARY: Edifice of Gothic structure and ventilation of early Tudor period. Chief industries are sending out notices of fines and acting as social engagement bureau. It is recorded that during one month (January, 1923), over 23,000 dates were generated, and minor flirtations enacted ran into the millions. Guaranteed to carry no novels published later than 1902, and no poetry worse than Tennyson, while University faculty has prime option on all indecent literature appearing.

LINE: That form of prose, running according to prescribed scheme, substituted for original conversation, repeated indefinitely, climax indeterminate, sometimes with refrain, sometimes without.

LITERATURE: Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, and other boring old boys.

LIFE: System of profits and losses in imperfect balance. See “Futility”.

LOVE: One of several approved ways of wasting time, highly popular because rules of honor system do not apply to it.
SOMETHING NEW

We, the members of the Staff of the 1924 Illio, have seen fit to make a radical change in the arrangement of the section to follow. We have done so because we have felt that greater returns should be realized by those business men, merchants, and firms, who by advertising in our publication, have so materially contributed to the success of the Illio.

Therefore, it is with this idea in mind that we have continued the humor section, the most popular of all sections, throughout the following pages.
The initials of a friend

You will find these letters on many tools by which electricity works. They are on great generators used by electric light and power companies; and on lamps that light millions of homes.

They are on big motors that pull railway trains; and on tiny motors that make hard housework easy.

By such tools electricity dispels the dark and lifts heavy burdens from human shoulders. Hence the letters G-E are more than a trademark. They are an emblem of service—the initials of a friend.

</table>
HOME: Either Chicago or spot of 800 inhabitants and a town pump. Resorted to in vacations and coming to light through reference to student directory.

MOON: Luminous device for inflaming imaginations and reviving old desires. Changes quarters with great rapidity, as in Japanese Moon, Georgia Moon, Swanee River Moon, Venetian Moon, etc. An argument in favor of co-education.

MORROW HALL: Airy, spacious assembly room of modern design, where Mask and Bauble presents plays written by students.

NIGHT: Name of a popular song.

NOTE-BOOK: Leather volume carried to classes and lost the week before finals.

NOTES: Rungs on the ladder of education. See "Futility".

OIL CAN: See "Flesh Pots".

ORPHEUM: Temple devoted to worship of muses of art, song, dance, etc., interpreted in elegance and good form. At second show on Friday and Saturday nights, it is customary for audience to join in on chorus. Effective antidote for history lectures.

PEP: Prerequisite to popularity, consisting of either loud laugh or ability to shake a mean pump.

PIPE: (a) Painless course in stereopticon views, insuring eight hours sleep a day. (b) Also instrument for consumption of tobacco and spare time: largely employed by sophomores.

PLEDGE: One of the lesser bipeds.
HAPPY COLLEGE DAYS

For you, they may be over. For others they are just really beginning. But whether you are now going out to enroll in the “School of Experience” or still have one, two, or three years in the University, we wish you “God-speed.” Remember, wherever you go our best wishes follow.

And to you who are graduating, we say, “Come back and don’t forget us. We value your friendship.”

And to you who will be back next fall we say, “Good luck till then. We’ll be here when you return—and, we hope, we’ll be able to serve you a little better.

POLITICIAN: Upright support of campus structures, with capital, and base. Knows everyone by his first name or preferably nickname, and dispels suspicion with the sunshine of his smile.

PORCH SWING: Convenient mechanical contrivance for the stimulation of campus wit.

POST-GRADUATE: Demi-god, little higher than undergrad and little lower than faculty. Found in large quantities in seminars. Theoretically that group of graduates too lazy to get out and earn an honest living.

QUARANTINE: Common mechanical device for avoidance of scholastic duties. Induced by subjecting pledge to smallpox or having drag with University medical corps. While in force, its victims live in ease and pajamas.

ROAST: Primitive method of working off a grudge. See "Dirt".

ROOM-MATE: Colleague with whom secrets, spreads from home, fits of anger and clothes are shared; guaranteed not to wear threadbare in less than six months.

SHADY: Full of shade.

SHEEP-SKIN: Final permit to the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

SERENADE: Irresistible impulse felt by young men of campus between ages of eighteen and twenty-five, between months of April and June.
"IT NEVER RAINS BUT IT POURS"

The Morton Salt Company, makers of the famous box salt, are users of "American" Pumps. The above illustration shows a 24-inch single stage type NTMB deep well turbine pump installed at their plant in Hutchinson, Kansas. The pump was designed to have a capacity of 2000 G. P. M. against a total head of 90 feet at a speed of 1170 R. P. M. and is electrically operated by a 75 HP motor. This pump was installed the latter part of 1921 and at the present time is pumping about 2300 to 2400 G. P. M. No matter what the type of centrifugal pump, many concerns demand that it should bear the name plate of The American Well Works!

SOUTH CAMPUS: University of Illinois Arcadia between cemetery and first agricultural experimental plots ever planted in the U. S. Contains fish ponds, accommodating about 5000 tadpoles in the spring, three trellises and about 1000 couples every Sunday afternoon.

STADIUM: State of millenium when everyone will have a seat at football games, paid for on the installment plan.

STUFF: Material from which lines are made. Colloquial “To know one’s stuff” is to have one’s method well in hand.

SWANK: Commendable to a high degree.

TEA HOUND: Soft-shelled, long-lashed mammal, with sap head, tolerated only in polite society. Very plastic when warm. See cooky pusher.

THRILL: Condition of delirium tremens marked by sympathetic vibrations, crimsoning of cheeks, etc. Prevalent among the unsophisticated lower classes.

TWIN CITIES: Term of endearment applied by students to tiffany setting of the University. Noted for muddy thoroughfares, lack of amusements, and high prices for inferior goods. Trains leave at all hours.

Champaign & Urbana Water Company

The water supplied by the Champaign & Urbana Water Company to the Twin Cities is taken from 35 tube wells 160 to 204 feet deep, and is pumped into a receiving basin being aerated for the purpose of oxidizing the iron content. It is then pumped to the mechanical filters for the purpose of removing the iron. Liquid Chlorine is introduced into the water before entering the filters in the quantity of four pounds per million gallons of water. The water flows from the filter into the storage reservoirs from which it is pumped into the eighty miles of distributing mains.

WARNING

The College of Sophistication is not an easy one, and students wishing to obtain their degrees must expect to spend none of their evenings at home except by special permit from Dean I. Wanta Roam, or because of death (in which case they must present a signed certificate from their undertaker). For all courses in which more than five hours a week are spent, 5 credit hours will be given. There are no regularly assigned hours for classes. Students attend when they feel like it. The layman may be bound by a definite program, but in the College of Sophistication the principle of self-determination is exercised.

EXAMINATIONS

No grades will be given in this College, since the faculty has more important business than bookkeeping. However, practical examinations of a sophisticated character in every course will be given from time to time.

CORRECT DEPORTMENT AT MOSI-OVER'S

PROF. ST. ORPHEUM

Every once in a while in the course of a college career, you are confronted with an evening wherein lies a date and the problem of spending the evening (if you have nothing else to spend). On this occasion there is nothing to do but to hie yourself to the parlor of Mosi-Over with your lady close to your side or driven slightly in advance.

Upon entering Mosi-Over's you should scatter thirteen hellos to the crowd assembled around the door and acknowledge the acquaintance of any notorious characters in loud carrying tones. Soon you will come to the booths. Look into each one as if expecting to see your grandmother or bill collector, and say in the order listed: Booth No. 1, "Got a match, Tom?"; Booth No. 2, "Gimme a cigarette, old man"; Booth No. 3, "Say, I want to see you later, you cheat"; Booth No. 4, "Hi, Bill, how's politics?"; Booth No. 5, "Well, how did you get in here?" etc. By this time your date (whom we may designate by the term, "Lucille") will be thoroughly impressed with the fact that she is with a popular boy, and will have picked out the last booth to sit in.

Now order a malted for yourself and a coke for Lucille. If she is behaving in a manner agreeable to you, you may grant her the privilege of signifying her choice of chocolate, strawberry or gooseberry flavor.

Now get acquainted with her by asking her what kind of tooth paste she thinks you should use; if she thinks you have a good complexion; if she uses Pack-er’s Tar Soap or other similar leading questions.

Then tell her about yourself, that you are extremely bashful, having attended a private boys’ school and having had a Norwegian tutor before you came to Illi-ois; that your father wants you to quit school and help him in his undertaking parlors; that your mother hopes you will not marry a sorority girl; that your sister has great hopes for you if you get to do something which will not overwork your brain, and that you are positive that you would have made Ma-wan-da your sophomore year had you only lined up with the right political party.

If the waiter chances to come around before the one o’clock closing law goes into effect, you should order bounteously, first speaking to the waiter as if you belonged to the same chapter of Eagles at home.
After consuming carefully and with much pleasure, there are two ways of getting out without paying for the drinks.

The first and probably the simplest of these methods is to choke Lucille, the female companion, to death.

It is then almost certain that everyone will rush out in search of an undertaker. While they are gone, you should take from your pocket a saw and cut a hole in the floor; lower yourself to the basement and crawl backward out of a cellar window.

The other method is to tell Lucille to close her eyes and count ten. While she is thus engrossed, it will be a simple matter for you to rise and walk out of the front door.

Upon the occasion of your next date with Lucille, you should treat her the same as before, except that you will be carrying heavy life insurance, and you will be clad in a suit of armor, rented from the Lincoln Hall Medieval Museum. Even with these precautions, you are in danger of your life, since Lucille is apt to be equipped with poison gas.
In 1850 American farmers produced but 4.3 bushels of wheat per capita; today they produce 10 bushels per capita.

In 1840 it required two hours of one man’s time to produce, harvest and thresh a bushel of wheat; today the same results are accomplished in only ten minutes.

Sixty years ago, it required 4 1-2 hours of one man’s time to produce a bushel of corn; today the time required is only 41 minutes.

Sixty years ago it required 35 1-2 hours of man labor to make a ton of hay; today only 11 1-2 hours are required, and the cost is less than one-third of what it was then.

For that transformation the use of improved farm implements and machines is responsible.

The American farmer of today depends upon farm machinery to increase yields, save time and labor, and thus decrease production costs per bushel and per ton—a fact that insures a great opportunity for continued service in the farm equipment field, in which Deere & Company has been a leader for 86 years.

DEERE & COMPANY, MOLINE, ILLINOIS
PROPER CONDUCT AT A SORORITY HOUSE

There are nine ways to conduct yourself at a sorority house. The first eight may be discussed with Dean Clark. The other and only prevailing one will be discussed at short length in this lecture.

First is the item of clothes. Oftimes it is neglected, and as a result many romances which have had favorable beginnings are prematurely shattered. Groom yourself in such a way that the impression you want to get across will be unmistakable. Thus do not think that you will be mistaken for an eccentric poet if you appear correctly attired in every way, with the exception of being minus your trousers. People will merely imagine that you are impersonating Harry Lauder. Obviously, if the sorority is at a blind institution, the matter of clothes may be utterly disregarded.

Before you enter the house, make up your mind to appear nonchalant throughout the entire evening. A good way to rob your face of all power of expression is to use Fels Naphtha soap. Now just try to smile.

Next, practice hand-shaking. You will have to know how to shake hands with two types, chaperons and sorority girls. Your roommate is captain of the football team. Practice with him and attempt to appear as delighted as possible when he attempts to mutilate your hand. This will put you hep as to the proper way to register when the chaperon gains possession of your paw. To get used to shaking hands with your date and her sisters, tie your washrag to the doorknob, and grasp it gently ten times, being careful not to wrinkle it.

Now you are prepared to enter the House of Many Adventures. If the date is arranged for eight o’clock, you should arrive as the chimes toll eleven-thirty. Then by clean living and a rugged constitution, you may be able to hold out until the said date puts in an appearance. While you wait, you will be scrutinized very closely by the females who are supposed to keep you in the house. One pleasant way of spending your time is to play horseshoes with the chaperon; that is, of course, providing they keep horses. You might ask anyone around a few leading questions, such as: Have you any popular girls in the organization, and, if so, how many and why? or, Do they specialize in activities or are they good looking, etc.

As soon as your line of small talk runs out, you should say: "Gee, but I like to play pranks". If you are seated near the doorway, you will stick your foot out and trip the next person who enters the room, sending her sprawling. This is one way of getting everybody in the house to know you. You will soon have achieved the reputation of being a "differential".

After several generations, the lady fair will trip down stairs (if you happen to be looking at her), and the date will start.

Upon returning, always march straight into the house, no matter what the time, and smoke a cigarette. Gaining admittance after four o'clock in the morning may be achieved by disguising yourself as Dean Mason or else growing side whiskers so that the chaperon will think you are Santa Claus. The easiest way to solve the problem is to get Dean Clark's ideas on the subject as he knows all the schemes that have been tried for the last fifty years.

and so he did, and his mother wept as did his best girl, and papa shook hands with him and said, “Be careful”.

“Father”, said the boy, “I shall color three pipes, make the football team and sing in the glee club”.

“My boy”, sobbed his proud mother, and all the rest bowed their heads.

And now three weeks have passed and he has arrived with both feet. He has learned that to belong, one must be—gin himself, and oftimes call at the Phi Kappa place.

But the great and mighty Dean of Men is not pleased and has ordered the equitation on the upper deck of the light-colored pack animal to cease. But the Boy thought that he jested and merely chuckled. Then came letters from papa saying that he was tired of doling out the dollars. Still the sabotage faltered not, neither did it cease. Then came the day that the mighty Dean of Men advised him to make arrangements with the passenger agent for transportation.

But our hero worried not, but started home, and when upon arriving at the home greensward the band was not out he shed nary a tear, but hurried to his papa’s arms. But papa’s arms were as open as a brewery to Wm. Jennings Bryan. He took but one glassy stare and remarked tersely, “Grasp ozone”.

And the moral—The worm has two speeds and the fastest is reverse.
WHEN THE GONG SOUNDS

The floor of the Chicago Board of Trade is the auction place for the grain crop. Here are gathered hundreds of buyers and sellers. The seller, representing the producer, seeks the highest possible price; the buyer, representing the consumer, seeks the lowest price. Surplus or shortage sits a final arbiter of values. And prices represent the composite opinion of the world.

The future’s market, part speculative, provides hedging, or price-insurance facilities. Hedged grain protects the owner against losses through price fluctuations. Such insurance may cover the grain from the time it is grown till it reaches the mill. Like fire insurance, it removes the speculative risk. This very removal of the speculative risk, made possible by the modern grain exchange system, results in the farmer receiving more for his grain, and the consumer paying less. Thus a tremendous economic service is performed by the future's market.

In the cash market of the Board four hundred million bushels of grain are handled in a year, making Chicago a giant granary.

The Board of Trade is an association of merchants. It neither buys nor sells grain. It simply furnishes a market place and enforces the most rigid rules known in the realm of commerce. For three-quarters of a century it has provided a continuous market in which the producer could dispose of his grain at any hour of any business day. Grain is one of the few commodities which has an open continuous market.

When the trading gong sounds for the day’s business it is heard throughout the grain world. It means that the law of supply and demand still rules.

THE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

You are invited to visit the center of the world grain trade. Literature descriptive of the grain exchange system may be had on request, either in person or by letter.
EXTRACTS FROM OUR PROFESSORS IN TECHNICAL WORK

DOCTOR NOYES IN CHEMISTRY

Sodium, the metal out of which summer drinks are made, has some very peculiar properties. When stirred rapidly, and an ordinary United States nickel is dropped in, it changes from its colorless state to a creamy chocolate color. If then another nickel is put in, or the first one withdrawn and a silver dime inserted, all the properties of an egg—about three months old—appear in the mixture. You can test this by tasting with an ordinary mouth. Applying this test to the same mixture when three nickels, a dime and a nickel, five cents and a dime, or any other combination totaling the same are dropped in, the liquid will be found to contain a new element, which, when oxidized, will prove to be malted milk.

Take about three grams of C I G and apply a light and you will find a smoke emanating from the lips when the C I G is applied to them and a sucking motion enacted. This smoke’s color varies. If you use the O M A R mixture, it is a pale, musty yellow, with the C A M E L it is a thin blue; F A T I M A gives off a pale, brown vapor.

This ends my lecture for this morning. You may work in the laboratory on this morning’s work at any time you please.

FROM OUR CLASS IN REPARTEE

These are chosen as fair examples of the conversational brilliance which is acquired by our students through a conscientious study of the arts of Wit and Humor as expressed in daily speech.

HE KNEW THE TIME

Two young fellows were strolling along Green Street when they chanced to encounter a policeman.

"Have you the time?" asked the officer, thinking to fool the young men.

"Ten-twenty", answered the boys, without hesitation.

HIRED

A young graduate was applying for a job.

"What", said his prospective employer, "is your age?"

"Twenty", snapped back the young man.

NO CHANCE FOR HIM

The young student's proposal had just been unfavorably passed upon by the pretty young lady.

"Is there no chance at all?" he asked dejectedly from the doorway.

"Absolutely none", she replied inexorably.

"Then, goodbye", he said, quick as a flash.

"Well, I aint seen ye for ten years, Bill. How's the world been treatin' ye?"

"Fine, Jake”, replied the other, with a twinkle in his eye. "And how's everything with you?"

Telephone Stock Owners Increase
3,000 Per Cent.

The increase in the number of stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent Company of the Bell Telephone System, from less than 10,000 in 1900 to nearly 250,000 at the close of 1922, represents in round numbers a growth of 3,000 per cent; in other words, for each stockholder in 1900 there are now thirty stockholders. The women stockholders outnumber the men stockholders. A relatively small number of stockholders represent estates, trustees, etc.

Practically every stockholder is a telephone subscriber. The number of stockholders has been increasing at a more rapid rate than the telephones owned by the Bell System, and the day may come when every telephone subscriber will be a part owner of the public utility upon which he depends for so many benefits and conveniences in his daily business and social life.

A LITERARY BALLAD

by

D. BELL

There was a maid to whom the fates
Decreed to be unkind,
For she could neither cook nor sew;
Her angel cakes were soggy dough,
With flavor ill-defined.

This maid she had a pretty face,
But sorely grieved I am,
That she should read from morn to night,
And though her room became a sight,
She didn’t give a damn.

Her parents, both, were quite distraught,
And worried for her soul;
She said the Bible was a tale,
And openly denounced the whale,
That swallowed Jonah whole.

And when she ate the hometown schools,
And hungered still for knowledge,
She started writing poetry,
So to avert calamity,
They shipped her off to college.

"Three years she grew in sun and shade".
But, oh, the darksome stains!
She bobbed her hair, her bonny hair,
And all that one saw wagging there,
Was charred and curled remains.

She learned to swear with manly skill,
And smoke a camel well;
She advocated birth control,
Laughed down the man who claimed a soul,
And reconstructed Hell.

Down town---but not forgotten

Zom can say that because his departure from the old place on East Green to his new big store on Neil and Main streets did not break home ties.

University men come in the new place often enough to make Zom feel that he is still hooked up with the University community.

This makes him feel pretty good because he never wants to get out of touch with the men out there.

She quoted Mencken, and she read
Free verse from every poet,
Admitted cows were sometimes blue,
(Since Sandberg’s imagery was true),
Though cows need never show it.

She read the masters, (since she must),
But thought them quite naïve;
That people took life seriously,
Or loved their loves so amorously,
She never could believe.

She sipped her coffee wickedly,
Her verse was thought quite naughty;
And when the maid so bold had grown,
She came in glory to her own,
A campus literati!

TO CANADA
It’s a long, lonesome ride
On the wagon,
And monotonous beside,
On the wagon:
And you don’t see cows with wings,
Or a green giraffe with rings,
Or a lot of other things,
On the wagon.

Willie had a sweater vest,
He sent it to the dyers
To have it changed from white to red—
And now look at the damn thing!

BALLAD OF THE FAMISHED YAM
By
DAVID V. FELTS
Sir Beach was dined and lightly wined,
And stuffed with toothsome ham;
He saved the place from sore disgrace,
Likewise a famished yam.

Indeed were grieved sore;
Each comely maid was sore afraid
To venture from her door.

The countryside both far and wide,
Shut up just like a clam,
For through the shades and everglades
There roamed a famished yam.

This hungry brute who deigned to root
For food down in the soil,
Had scared the coons for many moons,
And chased them from their toil.

This yam in truth was so uncouth
That sheriffs oft would quail;
And once through fear (the yam was near),
They locked themselves in jail.

But undismayed and unafraid,
The yam on mischief bent,
Indeed did eat of various meat,
Nor did he stop for Lent.

The folks were scared and no one dared
To face the hoofed foe,
Who spread distress and nervousness
Where'er he chanced to go.

The people wailed, the armies failed
To bring the pest to bay,
All business ceased, the yam increased
Each day in every way.

"A UNIVERSITY DEPOSITORY"
The good Sir Beach, tho not a peach,
    Was stranger to all fear,
And tales are told how Beach, the bold,
    Caught lions by the ear.

And when he heard his wrath was stirred,
    He seized his trusty lance,
And climbed into a shirt of blue,
    Likewise his army pants.

And nothing loathe he swore an oath,
That ere the day were o'er,
The dread yam's tail would grace a nail
    Above his castle door.

From his abode he nimbly strode,
    With vengeance in his eye;
And far and wide the yokels cried,
    "At last, the yam must die".

Without a fear he ventured near
    The dread yam's residence,
And far and wide defiance cried,
    And likewise insolence.
Way down below, the horrid foe
Awoke him from his snooze,
And gave a roar that shook the door,
Sir Beach quailed in his shoes.

Mid flying stones and victims' bones,
The yam came tearing out;
Sulphuric smoke hissed when he spoke,
And fire flamed from his snout.

His thirteen ears with triple gears,
Evolved a three-foot spark:
His blazing eyes as big as pies,
Dispelled the inky dark.

Sir Beach he stood as made of wood,
Forgotten were his fears;
Then cool and calm, approached the yam,
And tweked his thirteen ears.

A blinding flash and then a crash,
The yam lay stiff and stark.
That single tort had made a short,
And caused the fatal spark.

Three million volts of lightning bolts
Were in that circuit short.
Electrified the dread yam died
Without a single snort.

* * * * *

Sir Beach was dined and lightly wined,
And stuffed with toothsome ham.
He saved the place from sore disgrace.
Likewise a famished yam.

TESTIMONIALS

Dear Sirs:

Before I entered the College of Sophistication, my parents despaired of my ever becoming a great social success because my hair parted naturally on the side instead of in the middle. But, thanks to your course, I am soon to become a floor-walker in one of the largest department stores in the city.

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES COX

Dear Sirs:

The course in porch-swing construction alone would be worth a small fortune to a sincere devotee of Sophistication.

You may use my name.

Yours truly,
FREDERIC RICE

Dear Sirs:

I feared I was a failure in life until I entered the College of Sophistication, as my friends accused me of being slow, and I knew of no way to overcome this tendency of mine. However, after three weeks in your course, I am now prepared to meet any emergency with poise and sophistication.

Yours affectionately,
T. F. CASSON

Dearest Sirs:

How little I thought when I entered your school that I should soon be giving lessons to dear little pupils of my own at five dollars an hour. But I am, and you, dear, darling directors of the College of Sophistication, how can I ever thank you enough for all you have done for me?

Oodles and oodles of gratitude from,

Edna Asmus

Dear Sirs:

The College of Sophistication has simply opened up a new world for me. Not until I registered with you did I realize that it is perfectly correct to wear grey trousers with a blue coat as a morning costume. I feel that I am now a distinguished figure on the campus.

Yours,

Bill Lindley

When I first came to college, just fresh from the farm, I wore woollen leggings to keep myself warm. My hair I combed back in a nonchalant way, and the life that I led—well, it wasn’t so gay.

I shudder to think of my innocent talk:
My pleasures were eating and taking a walk.
I studied and dug like a dog after bones,
I hated the flappers and cakies and drones.
Continuing thus, I might have gone mad,
Until, quite by chance, I spied out your ad.
I resolved on the instant to cut a big dash,
Away to the mail box I flew like a flash.
Just look at me now and see what you think
Of the way that I vamp and chatter and slink.
Hear how I talk: I've a terrible line,
Beauty and wit and vogue all combine
To make me a person of polish and swank;
For me the men perish and rob the state bank.
As I think of the pleasures of my education,
I boost for the College of Sophistication.
I am what I am because of your school.
Most lovingly yours, Miss Lucy O'Toole.

Why Shouldn’t We Be?

We’re in business to save every student money. And why shouldn’t we be? For isn’t “The Real Co-Op” owned and operated by the students? Therefore it’s quite evident that we’re going to save ourselves money every chance we get—and we [all the students] are or can be part owner of “The Real Co-Op.”

Every Student Can Be A Part Owner

The membership or ownership is handled this way. You invest one dollar [$1] which will be returned to you upon graduation or whenever you may leave school. And in return you are a part owner of “The Real Co-Op.” and receive a dividend or a percentage of the profits at the end of the year. The dividends are paid on what you buy during the year—many members last year received around two dollars and fifty cents on their dollar investment.
