Greeting to the Class of 1918

The year 1918 will be a memorable year in the history of the University of Illinois, in the history of the Commonwealth which created and fostered it, and in the history of the nation which gave the impetus for its foundation and organization, and which has contributed liberally toward its support.

This University is one of those institutions which ought to be particularly proud of the circumstances connected with its origin. It will be remembered that the American people were engaged in one of those great struggles, which, like milestones, mark the highway of human progress. It was a very dark day in that mighty struggle; the friends of liberty and freedom throughout the world were greatly discouraged; the friends of autocracy and privilege the world over rejoiced that the American democracy had gone to pieces; in these very darkest days the American people rose to the occasion and answered the hopes of its friends, and defied the desires of its enemies, by the Land Grant Law of July 2nd, 1862, providing for the greatest endowment for educational purposes that the world had ever seen, showing first, that it believed in its own future, and second, that it considered higher education as the corner stone of democratic government and democratic life.

When we entered the great war in April, 1917, there was a lurking fear in the minds of some men, who did not know these institutions, that they might not respond to the hope of the nation expressed more than fifty years before in this organic act. The confidence of the American people however has been gloriously justified. Our own institution, the University of Illinois, in the very lead of all its sister institutions founded under this act has demonstrated by its course in the great war that the anticipations of the American democracy were sound. It has answered every call made upon it. Members of its student body, its alumni and its Faculty are already to be found in every camp and at every training post, even at the very front lines where battle will soon be joined.

When the war is over and our boys come back, they will be received with great enthusiasm, and those who have been left behind on the blood-stained fields of Europe and Asia, will be cherished in loving and grateful memory. I do not need to stimulate the patriotism of the members of the class of 1918. I know that you will honor yourselves and your Alma Mater and the state and the country and humanity in all the fields where you may be called to work. Alma Mater sends you out with her blessing!

And We Got the War Cross

By Arthur A. Dailey

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE ILLINOIS AMBULANCE UNIT IN FRANCE

Twenty-two smooth shaven youths composing the Illinois unit of ambulance drivers with about fifty other units of the same caliber landed at Bordeaux, France on Decoration Day after spending the time since May 19 trying to find the place on the Atlantic. For nearly three days during the search it was thought Bordeaux would never be found. During these three days the S. S. Chicago—meaning Suffering Suspense Chicago—did everything but turn over and sink. And more than a few of the smooth shaven youths would have felt much better if it had.

The trip over was disappointing. Not even one submarine was seen. The boys kidded themselves along once in awhile by putting on life belts, sleeping in the life boats, and staying on deck all night so they would have something to write home about.

From Bordeaux the unit went directly to Paris and reported at the American Field Service Headquarters, 21 Rue Raynouard. The American Field Service informed them that no more ambulances were to be obtained, and that the men intended for ambulance driving were to drive five ton Pierce-Arrow motor trucks. Then the Illinois unit decided to hold a meeting.

After the meeting, at which Milt Silver presided, the entire unit enlisted with the American Red Cross as ambulance drivers, but swung back to the American Field Service when that organization promised them ambulances. That is all of them did with the exception of Grant Strathern, Gould Moorehead, Chuck Parks, Allen Brown, the Kritzer brothers, and Earle Cavette. They stayed with the Red Cross.

While waiting in Paris to be sent to a training camp, Bud Cary broke his arm trying to crank a Ford, Mayer strained his back trying to lift one—a Ford—and Cookson succeeded in getting in the Lafayette Escouadrille. With the ranks somewhat depleted the remnants of the unit spent twelve days in Paris and all their money before being sent to a training camp.

The training camp was an old mill situated at May-en-Multen, a little village near Meaux. The ambulance training at this camp consisted in cleaning up the mill, the yard, and getting things in order for the next batch of rookies that were to follow. Then a French officer came along and showed the boys how to salute and march par quatre according to the French method. After a week of training the boys were sent to Beauvais.

At Beauvais we—(I'm getting in now)—were given 20 ambulances, joined groups from Harvard University, the University of Chicago, a few unattached, and made up the 40 drivers of a complete sanitary section—S S U 65. The U signifies United States drivers. The French lieutenant, Lieutenant Blachot, and our chef—or captain—J. L. Thompson of Indianapolis, joined us at this place. The ambulances we took over were the big, four speed Berliets—not Fords. These cars held six men on the stretchers or ten men sitting. S S U 65 has the distinction of being the first American section to take over the regular French Army ambulances.
We left Beauvais a week after our arrival and started for the front, making the trip in our ambulances. On our way up we passed through numerous towns, including Noyon and Soisson, that were a mass of ruins; complete ruins brought about by shell fire and the retreating Boche. We saw and inspected miles and miles of French and German evacuated trenches and dug-outs. Some of the trenches were just ordinary ditches, while others, especially the dug-outs, were fitted up like first class apartments. We were in one system of evacuated German trenches that were walled and paved with brick; the dug-outs were wired for telephones and electric lights. And in one dug-out we found a Morris chair.

The 68th division of the 10th Army of France was the first division we were attached to. S S U 65 was the sanitary section of this division. We joined this division at Courcelle, a little town about ten or twelve miles back of the lines. Here, we were entertained continually by numerous aeroplanes that swarmed over the trenches and the hundreds of shells that were fired at them by the anti-aircraft guns. During the nights the sky was studded by red, green, and white star shells. Both day and night we could hear the dull roar of the artillery a few miles away. At night this roar became more intense.

Being true Americans, we hung a large American flag in front of our cantonment. An air raid by Boche planes followed three high explosive bombs dropped close to our sleeping quarters. The explosion shook us from our blankets, scared us to death, and in these few minutes visions of home came before our minds' eye. Our lieutenant attributed the cause to the flag, and we took it down the next morning.

The 4th of July was celebrated at Courcelle by a big feed and an entertainment. The feed consisted of soup, olives, celery, radishes, steak, French fried potatoes, lettuce, lobster salad with mayonnaise dressing, nuts, jam, coffee, cookies, and—and—pop. The entertainment consisted of a jazz band of Senegalaifs from South Africa, and wicked sword dances by French troops from Algeria.

Up to this time S S U 65 wasn't anything more than a group of sight-seers, robbing the Cook's tours of one of their well regulated excursions. So far the worst enemy we had encountered was the trench itch. The trench itch is a parlor name for what a dog generally has when a bath is given him. We hadn't any work to do—as far as hauling blesses were concerned. Occasionally, one of the boys hauled a fellow that had a toothache to a dentist or a fellow that had sore feet to a stream of water. But July 6th started us off on the work which we were sent to France to do.

On July 6, Chris Gross, Earl Swain, Fisher, Ray Gauger, Pat Page, and myself were sent to V—— and reported to a French ambulance section we were to help out. From this place we crossed the Aisne river and picked up 20 stretcher-bearers at O——. There was a field hospital at this place. We took the 20 men to poste de secour at P——. And this trip initiated us into the thrills of modern warfare.

Through a little valley past the French 75's we tore. The 75's barked and spit and even shook the very ground—together with our knees. The incoming Boche shells fascinated us as they exploded with a scrunching sound sending up geysers of earth and black smoke—fascinating us until we realized what they were and what they meant. The smell of powder puzzled us. The powder from the Boche shells smelled just like garlic. And cross my heart and hope to die, the shells from the French 75's could actually be seen leaving the cannon and tearing through the air.

We worked all that afternoon, all night, and the next morning hauling the wounded through the rain and mud across the Aisne to the base hospitals. There was only one bridge crossing the river at this point. The Boche knew this and shelled the bridge during the night. A piece of shell ripped through the hood and the engine of Ambulance 10, the car Earl Swain and Ray Gauger were driving, on one of the trips across the bridge. The next day we reported back to the section. Before we left we were given two days' pay—ten cents each—or in other words a nickel a day. This, by the way, is a French soldier's pay.

Two days later the entire section was ordered to V——. We took over two postes—two postes along the Chemin des Dames. One was an artillery poste—a poste we all hated to go to as we never knew whether we'd get back or not. The section was divided into two squads. One squad was on duty for 48 hours at the poste; the other squad rested at the cantonment about three miles back of the lines and peeled potatoes. Every 48 hours the two squads changed places. The shift being made at 4:00 A. M.

Two cars were stationed at the poste—no more were permitted on account of the danger from shell fire. The other cars in the squad evacuated the wounded from one hospital to another. When a car came down from the poste the first car in line at the evacuation hospital went up to the poste. In this way we had a chance to cool off and stop shaking.
The first couple of weeks at the front were very exciting, although no accidents occurred to the men. Car 1, Page's and Talmadge's car was the first to leave our midst. The boys ran into a shell hole, going to the artillery post one dark night. The Boche gas was so bad that they decided to leave the car and look for a healthier climate. The next morning it was found that a shell had passed through the ambulance during the night. Good-bye Number 1.

At the end of three weeks we were to be sent back of the lines for a rest. The day before we left the German Crown Prince had a notion he wanted to take the Chemin des Dames. He didn't do it, but he got 80% of our division and a few cars with his heavy shell fire. This big attack—said by the French officers to be the worst the Chemin des Dames sector ever had—occurred on July 30 and 31.

At one time during the night, the Boche got within 400 yards of our poste, the advance contingent of the attack was cut off, taken prisoners, and shoved down in the cave—our poste was a cave under 30 feet of solid rock. One young German, who claimed he was 17 years old, didn't wait to be taken prisoner. He merely walked down in our cave and surrendered himself. Chris and I got brutal and cut off two of his coat buttons for souvenirs. Chris did the cutting.

There were a number of prisoners taken that night and shoved down in the cave with us. Every one of them said they were hungry, in fact, starving. And they looked it. They told us they had had nothing to eat for eight days except bread—and that bread had been captured from a French trench eight days before. Chris and I hauled a German Captain down to headquarters to be questioned. He tried to be a very nice fellow and gave Chris and I each a gold tipped cigarette. He even went so far as to invite Milt Silver to visit him at his home in Germany after the war.

General Mulvel decorated the boys about August 10 with the croix de guerre medal for their work and devotion to duty during the attacks which they went through in July. Our division, that is, what was left of it, was present at our decoration. They stood at present arms as the General pinned the war cross on our colors and at the same time the division band played the Star-Spangled Banner. The day was misty and the vacant ranks of our mud caked division added a touch of sadness to the occasion.

Our repos was three weeks. At the end of three weeks we were given Fiat cars and joined a division made up of Alpine Chauseurs ("Blue Devils of France") and the negroes from South Africa and the Senegalais.

The Chauseurs are fine fellows, every one of them, and terrible fighters. The Senegalais are not only terrible fighters with their long heavy sharp knives, but they are comical. They couldn't speak English but they could yell "Oskee-wow-wow" better than we could. They liked that yell. Hawley Smith taught it to them. From then on we were to them and called by them—"Wow-wow".

We returned to the same front we were on before. And Earl Swain and Fisher went to Salonika. The fighting was not as severe along the Chemin des Dames after our return to that sector as it was the first time we worked on it. However, bad luck joined us. We lost one of our comrades; and two in our ranks were wounded. Bentley, a likeable and well thought of chap from Chicago was killed on the night of September 14th, as he was passing along a road in full view of the German trenches. The Germans shelled the road. A piece of shell struck Bentley above the left shoulder and lodged over his heart. He died two days later.
Ricks, the chap that was riding with Bentley, was severely wounded. His left arm will be useless the rest of his life. Ricks was an enlisted man in the U. S. Ambulance service. His name heads the list as the first U. S. enlisted soldier to be wounded on the battle field of France. Featherstone, an enlisted man from California, sat on a piece of a gas shell one night and, as a consequence, he was severely burned about the body.

One week later the boys were given their choice of enlisting in the ambulance service for the duration of the war or returning home. Milt Silver and Ray Gauger enlisted. The rest of us returned home and entered branches of service we liked better.

It might be well to mention that we did not go out on the battle fields and pick up the wounded. The wounded were brought to the poste de secours by stretcher bearers. The postes were beyond the French light artillery and situated about 800 or 1000 yards from the German trenches. The blesses received a hurry up dressing at the poste before we put them in our ambulances and drove them to the field hospitals. The field hospitals were from three to six miles back of the lines. From the field hospitals the wounded were removed to the base hospitals. The base hospitals were from six to fifteen miles back of the lines.

But the twenty-two smooth shaven youths composing the Illinois unit of ambulance drivers were not that way in France. Every durned one of us tried to raise a mustache.

We never used to do like this at home.

But we said NO. We can't be sold.
You gotta lot of ambulances we've

During the last semester of the year 1916-17 three ambulance units, numbers 109, 110, and 111, consisting of about thirty-six men each, were made up at the University of Illinois under the direction of Mr. Jordan. On July third after they had been recruited up to the strength of ninety-two men they received orders to entrain for Allentown, Penn. That evening they were entertained by the Rotary Club of Champaign and the following morning they started on the first lap of their journey towards Berlin.

Since then Unit 609, formerly 109, has been sent to France and is now in active service. Sections 610 and 611 are, however, still at Allentown, and although many rumored starts have been made none have materialized. They have been kept in training and it is expected that final orders will be received some time in the early spring.

Among the men prominent on the campus who comprise the three units are "Nic" Nichols, business manager of The Daily Illini, now First Lieutenant in service in France; "Chief" Ivaly, editor-elect of the Siren and campus journalist, also a First Lieutenant in France; Phil Spink, captain-elect of the Varsity Track Team; "Duce" Hart, business manager-elect of The Daily Illini; "Hal" Beardsley, campus playwright and journalist; "Red" Gunkel, Varsity pitcher on several 1000% teams; Marc Goldman, editor of the Illinois Magazine; "Hap" Harland, business manager of the Illinois Agriculturist; Don Atkinson '18, Ted Motter '19, Emory Barkow '19, and Bob Gieser '19.

HRIS GROSS swung ambulance number 12 around the last turn in the Vendresse road. I was sitting on the seat with Chris. "Chris—Chris—" I whispered, "do you think that we'll ever get there?" "Don't know—I'm giving her all the gas she will take." Chris opened her up and headed down the road, hoping that we would get across the Aisne river before anything happened. Every minute counted so we didn't even take time to go around the shell holes—we merely jumped them.

On each side of us along the road were the barking and spitting French 75's, while just above us were the Boche observation balloons watching every inch of the road.

"They're watching us Chris," I hollered, "They'll get us sure. Can't you get more speed out— Look! Look!

Just ahead of us I spotted the results of one small shell. Two horses were lying dead at the side of the road. Their blood had run across the path of the ambulance and stained the leaves of the trees that had also been felled by the shell.

"Chris—Chris—" I cried, "Good Lord——"

"Br-Br-Br-Br," roared the motor instead of Chris' customary answer.

Faster and faster we bounced over the remaining stretch of road. On all sides of us were the results of shelling. They cluttered up the road and caused us to slow down and at times to stop. Would we ever get out of this thing?

Finally we crossed the bridge over the Aisne and pulled up at our destination. We swung down from our car and rushed into the cantonment.

"Golly Chris," I said as I helped myself to some of the jam. "I didn't think we'd get here, did you?"

"Nope-didn't," he answered chewing a hunk of horse, "you know, Mike that's what I call a narrow escape."

And it was. We darn near missed our lunch.
In spite of many obstacles, Major E. W. McCaskey, our new Commandant, succeeding Colonel Mearns, has managed this year to make the military department the most efficient it has been in the history of the University. Last year, under Colonel Mearns, who was then a Major, the brigade on inspection day was for the third time given honorable mention, which meant that it would receive new equipment from the government. During the middle of the second semester the new rifles came, the latest improved model Springfields. The whole department was overjoyed, especially the cadets, because it meant carrying four pounds less, besides many other minor advantages. Their joy was short lived, however. The pressing need of equipment at the various cantonments throughout the country made it necessary for the government to recall its generous gift to the University. This was done almost immediately and the brigade found itself without rifles of any sort. This was the situation that confronted the Major at the beginning of the year. In addition, when Colonel Mearns left he took with him the officers who had been his able assistants throughout the year. This alone was catastrophe enough but it didn't stop the Major. He was fortunate enough to be able to retain three regular army Sergeants, two of whom have since been commissioned, and with their help he went right after the job of making soldiers out of freshmen.

The government regulation making every cadet a member of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and the call for more and efficient officers caused the Major to adopt the policy of giving the student officers every possible chance to make good. An extra day of drill was given them and they were encouraged to take part in the officers' drill given every night in addition to the regular regimental drill. Besides this an extra class in military tactics was worked into the schedule.

This additional intensive training was bound to have an effect. In the call for the third officers' training camp, the University was able to furnish many more than its original quota, and nearly all of these men are making good. But the greatest change is in the attitude of the students themselves toward the military department. The fact that they feel that they are accomplishing something and can see the results adds a new interest to the drilling that was never present before.
The annual competitive drill was done away with temporarily last spring on account of the decrease in the size of each company. However, the Hazelton Gold Medal was awarded to the best soldier in the freshman class. Arthur N. Lies was awarded the prize for the year ending May, 1918.

He has been instrumental in helping the farmers throughout the state to meet the demands for larger production and has had published numerous articles regarding crops and their production.
DEAN CLARK
Dean Clark has undertaken to compile, as near as possible, a record of all the Illini men in the service. At the opening of college he sent out cards of inquiry to the parents of men registered last year who did not return this fall, and he sent some five thousand cards to graduates of the University, asking for personal information in reference to the service. Placards were also placed in Y. M. C. A. huts in all the cantonments asking former students to write.

A Christmas greeting was sent to all the men in the service whose addresses were known. Since then Dean Clark has written a personal letter to every Illinois man in the service.

Letters, clippings, and photographs regarding the men in the service have been compiled and a complete and permanent record will be kept of all Illinois men, who have been in the service of the U. S. during the Great War.

DEAN BABCOCK
Dean Babcock arranged and devised several courses bearing upon war-history, first aid, languages for soldiers, and geology which pertains to soldiers and nurses. He is chairman of the Senate Committee on War Loans and during the first part of the second semester he managed the War Saving Stamp Campaign which was carried on in the University. He was also a factor in the securing of the Y. M. C. A., for the use of the Aviation School, and has served as a member of the committee on the adjustment of the relations of students withdrawing for military service.
DEAN MOOREHEAD

Dean Moorehead has taken an active part in war work as a member of the General Committee on Dentistry which has had charge of the mobilization of all dental activities in relation to the present war program. He also is Chairman of the Committee on Dental Education and Dental Institutions; Chairman, General Committee on Dentistry, Illinois State Council of Defense, and a member of the Exemption Board, Chicago. The Committee on Dental Education and Dental Institutions, with the cooperation of the Deans of the dental colleges of the country, succeeded in securing the exemption of dental students by securing them the privilege of enlistment in the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Medical Department. This same Committee organized special courses in military oral surgery in various sections of the country.

DEAN EYCLESHYMER

Dean Eycleshymer has been selected by the War Department to prepare a book on Applied Anatomy for field use. The new work will be a pocket volume and will contain material of strictly surgical character. Dean Eycleshymer is the author of a Cross-Section Anatomy which is now used extensively on the western front in determining the extent of wounds caused by projectiles, and the location of these projectiles within the body. In addition to this, he is at present serving as a member of the Illinois State Council of Defense.
DEAN WESTON

Dean Weston has by forceful initiative and conscientious endeavor furthered the work of the various committees on War Service in the University district. In addition to having aided directly and indirectly in the campaigns of the Committees for Y. M. C. A. funds, Armenian Relief, Liberty Bonds, and Thrift Certificates, he now holds the position of General Chairman of War Divisional Committee No. 6, a committee which is directly concerned with the carrying on of such war work in this district as is connected with the School of Military Aeronautics.

DEAN GATES

The fact that Dean Gates has been absent from the University since November first has prevented her from participating in the more recent war activities. However, she has been active in furthering the work of the Belgian Relief Committee and the Y. M. C. A. campaigns as well as aiding directly in such work as that of the Red Cross Relief which has been undertaken by the girls of the University.
DEAN BALLANTINE

Dean Ballantine has by his legal advice given in connection with the work of the examining board of this exemption district proved invaluable to the students and residents of the University community, several hundred of whom are subject to national service. In addition to this work he is also a member of the Committee on Publications of War Leaflets and has further aided by helping to carry on the campaigns for the Y. M. C. A. Fund and the sale of Liberty Bonds.

DEAN RICHARDS

The chief work in connection with war activities that has been undertaken by Dean Richards was that of making arrangements for the School of Military Aeronautics here at the University. Dean Richards was the prime mover in the organization of the technical work of the school. In an indirect way he has also aided the war work as a member of the Board of Consulting Engineers for Fuel Conservation and Publicity and as an adviser to the Bureau of Mines and Fuel Administration. The material for the series of circulars published by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University, and dealing with fuel storage and fuel utilization in small plants and on railways had its inception in his office. One of the chief results attained by the department has been the discovery and perfection of the method of recovery of iron pyrites, the supply of which has been cut off due to submarine activity. The method of heating the national army cantonments was also devised in the office of the Dean. Arrangements for the series of War Lectures given at the University were under the direction of Dean Richards.
WILLIAM B. DAY
Acting Dean of the School of Pharmacy

Dean Day is a member of the Committee on Status of Pharmacists in the Government Service appointed by the American Pharmaceutical Association. This Committee is engaged in providing adequate pharmaceutical service for the Army through the organization of a pharmaceutical corps as a division of the medical department. The War Department has no definite organization, and it is hoped that the Committee will be instrumental in furthering legislation to this effect.

Dean Day is also a member of the Committee on Federation of National and State Pharmaceutical Organizations which aims to unite the pharmaceutical activities of the country in order that most efficient aid can be given to carry on the war.
Commencement Day

The 1917 Graduation processional winding its way to the Auditorium between rows of silken flag markers, reflected in a picturesque way the spirit of the occasion. The usual tumult and commotion gave way to a more serious attitude, an attitude which was manifest throughout the entire Commencement and which grew more and more impressive as the speaker, Dr. William Chandler Bagley, pictured those of the graduation class who were absent in training camps and other fields of active military service. The sunshine and the glory of a perfect June day, giving way to a thunder storm just as the exercises ended, caused the last farewells to be made in the foyer of the Auditorium. The Commencement of the Class of 1917, however different it may have been in spirit, nevertheless carried with it the unexpressable joy and the tinge of sorrow of every college commencement.

Rutgers Watching Chicago Game from Illini Stands.

Where the Game was Played.

The Star Performers.
The idea of Fall Homecoming was first conceived by C. F. Williams early in the spring of 1910, and it was he with myself and three others all members of Shield and Trident and Phoenix who presented a petition to the Council of Administration asking that October fourteenth and fifteenth of that year, 1910, be set aside for the First Annual Fall Homecoming of the University of Illinois.

The object of this Homecoming was to make it possible for the undergraduates and the alumni of the University to meet at a time of the year during which school was in session. In previous years the only contact between the old grads and the students was at the time of graduation, but because of the unusual number of duties attending commencement exercises there was very little time for social contacts.

The plan was approved by the Council and the committee of five started work on the first homecoming. Classes were dropped from noon Friday, October fourteenth on, and an elaborate program was prepared for the entertainment of the Homecomers. The first Hobo Band parade was put before the public, and its advent was received with acclaim. On the afternoon of the first day a baseball game between Alumni Allstars and the 1910 100% champions was played. Saturday afternoon the Illini prospective football champions played Chicago and defeated them by the score of 3-0. In between there were various smokers, receptions, band concerts and get-togethers, and when it was all over Homecoming had been definitely established.
Homecoming! Time of "Howdy, Tom" and "Hello there, Bill". It was all done over again, not on quite so big a scale, but with the same enthusiasm and welcome to the homecomers. October 19 and 20, earlier than usual, proved two days of healthy enjoyment for both the old grads and undergraduates. Wisconsin's defeat by a 7-0 score was the joy of the visitors and the attendant program helped to make things interesting before and after the game.

Senior hoboes, arrayed as everything from Hula maids to the Hickville mounted police and not forgetting the Kaiser's goat and the knitting fans, started the program with their annual hilarious parade Friday afternoon. The class handicap track meet was staged on Illinois Field immediately following the parade. Carroll, Lang and Bush of the upperclassmen got away with most of the ribbons, and Deeds took individual honors for the freshmen.

Bob Zuppke told about the ball with the "funny shape" at a big mass meeting in the Auditorium Friday night, and although he said you never could tell which way the ball would bounce, he thought Illinois would do her best. And next day his conservative prediction came true. The Illini outplayed the Badgers, but a slippery field almost turned the gridiron into a skating ring and a drizzling rain put a considerable damper on the pep of both teams. "Get the sophomores" was Wisconsin's battle cry and for a time the Illini paid more attention to the visitors' epithets than they did to the game. Nichols and Charpier pulled Illinois out of the hole, however, and one touchdown was sufficient to beat the Badgers.

Mask and Bauble did its bit for the Homecoming carnival with two productions of "It Pays To Advertise" at the Illinois Theatre, and with a cast which was virile and full of action, the play added further laurels to Mask and Bauble's successes.

Alumni smokers and alumnae teas furnished the necessary means of renewing old acquaintances for the men and women who had come back. The crowds were not as big as usual to the gratification of those freshmen who would otherwise have slept on the coal pile, but the entire program was carried through and marked another—the eighth annual—successful Homecoming.

Pageant—“Illinois Day”

“Illinois Day”, the second of a series of pageants given under the direction of the author, William Chauncy Langdon, in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the State of Illinois, was given in the Auditorium December 3.

The male members of the cast were selected from Ma-wan-da, the senior honorary organization, and the girls were selected as representative of the best girls at the university. This started a tradition and from year to year a representative girl of the university will be selected. Lucile Pierson has the honor of being the first on the role of those chosen. She represented a true Illinois girl in the pageant.

"Keep to the Right"

THE PRODUCTION

"Keep To The Right", a musical comedy was presented as the Spring play by the Pierrots of the Illinois Union at the Illinois Theatre, May 11 and 12. The authors were Henry Beardsley, Carleton Healy, and Ralf Carlsen. Beardsley was the main co-author of the play; Healy wrote the lyrics; and Carlsen was the composer of the numerous catchy melodies.

The cast was well-adapted, and well-balanced; the chorus could sing; the show was well directed and went over with a smoothness that would do credit to a professional presentation. Art Dailey, Phil Young, Bumps Gravens, W. C. Troutman, and H. A. Williamson attributed much to the success of the play.

Such musical numbers as "Lazy Blues", "Keep to the Right", "Cash Register Rag", and "The Artie Cabaret" were whistled on the campus for weeks after the play had been given.

"It Pays to Advertise"

THE PRODUCTION

Mask and Bauble presented for the eighth annual Homecoming play, "It Pays To Advertise", at the Illinois Theatre, October 19 and 20, 1917.

The story of how Cyrus Martin, a hard-headed, practical business man, decided to force his son to enter business and how that act later rebounded to his discomfiture furnished the theme for a play that is full of action. The importance of advertising is impressed upon the veteran soap manufacturer with the aid of a most efficient publicity man, Ambrose Peale, and a private secretary who possesses both brains and beauty.

All of the characters of the play were well represented, even to the minor places, and the production as a whole bore an air of finished culture that is not always seen in student theatricals. Excellent work was done by J. E. Davis in the leading role of Cyrus Martin. He was cleverly aided by Miss Bernice McNair, H. A. Williamson, Merle Turner and others.

Mrs. Gille continued her excellent work as coach which she has shown in other university productions.

Two of the cleverest of the many clever French comedies were presented by Le Cercle Francais for the benefit of the Illinois Ambulance Unit and the Belgian Relief in Morrow Hall May 10.

"La Grammaire", by Labiche, a short skit full of French witticisms based upon the character of the bourgeoise was given as a curtain raiser. "Les Poudre Aux Yeux", by Labiche et Martin, another French comedy full of fun and humor, was the chief play of the evening. The story of the latter was of a love affair which had been hindered temporarily by the quibblings of the young people's parents, but which ended happily enough.

Le Cercle Francais has presented a series of French plays since the foundation of the organization at the university. The ultimate purpose of such plays is to give the lover of French a chance to appreciate in a better way the real culture of French as portrayed in modern French comedies.

"A Christmas Mystery of the War" was given under the direction of the author, William Chauncy Langdon, and with the cooperation of the Illinois Federation in the Auditorium, January 12 and 19.

The masque was more of a story or tableau than a drama. The pageant was divided into three parts. The first showed the modern American family celebrating Christmas with usual Santa Claus and homecoming of the children in the family. The second part represented a battlefield in Belgium and the Christmas celebration of the soldiers in the Belgium army. The climax displayed a scene in Bethlehem, first showing the manger with Mary, Joseph, and Christ child. Then came the Shepherds, the Three Kings, and last the Chorus of Angels. The masque was a comparison between the modern application of Christmas to life and the Birth of Christ.

The costumes were designed especially for the pageant by Mr. and Mrs. Langdon. The music was in charge of J. Lawrence Erb, while the singing was by the combined Glee Clubs of the University.

THE PRODUCTIONS

"Indian Summer" and the "Tragedy of Nan" were presented by Philomathean, Alethenai, Illiola, and Adelphic literary societies at the Illinois Theatre, March 24, 1917.

"Indian Summer", the curtain raiser for the "Tragedy of Nan", was a typical example of the French comedy of the nineteenth century. It was a delightful, pretty, clever and artistic romance of French life. Lois Scott played the lead in a very charming way.

The "Tragedy of Nan" by John Masefield, is one of the finest and most appealing plays of the modern times. The play is mingled with elements of the naturalistic drama and of the lyric or artistic drama. The plot of the play is centered around the early peasant life of nineteenth century. Merle Turner in the role of Nan was regarded by the local critics as the best amateur actor ever seen on the campus.

The literary societies selected Mr. J. Manley Phelps of the public speaking department to take charge of the production and it was through his efforts that a really worth-while play was put on. Many thought that such a difficult play as the "Tragedy of Nan" could not be put on, but Mr. Phelps succeeded. Mr. Phelps has specialized in the drama from a literary standpoint but has had wide experience both as an actor and as a producer. He studied acting in Chicago and at Northwestern University and was head of the school of Oratory and Debate and Director of plays at Dakota Wesleyan University before coming here. He is a member of the Player's Club and has made a reputation in their productions. He also has a wide reputation throughout the United States as a lecturer for the Redpath Chautauqua.
Mask and Bauble of Associated University Players

Mask and Bauble, like all campus organizations, has felt the effect of the war. Many of last year's members were unable to return, and those who were permitted to come back felt rather disheartened at the prospect of starting with so few members. But this did not last long. They soon came to the realization that if there ever was a time when the drama was needed—and would be perhaps of the most use—that time was now. So with aroused enthusiasm the fall play was started—the choice being, "It Pays To Advertise". Mrs. Gille was again the coach—and lived up to her past reputation, in spite of the fact that she was working almost altogether with new material.

The play committee chose "Seven Chances" for the March performance. This play is something different from any thing Mask and Bauble has tried before.

The dramatic hours are again in favor. At the first dramatic hour—December 12th—two one act comedies were presented. The dramatic hours committee has planned to cooperate with the Y. M. C. A. and produce the plays given at the hours as well as special entertainments for the soldiers in the cantonments. Thus Mask and Bauble is one of the University of Illinois organizations—and there are many others—which is trying to do something for her men who are wearing the khakai and the blue.

Regardless of the conditions that prevailed last spring, Pierrots successfully staged its annual student opera, "Keep To The Right", under the direction of Mr. Niel Moore. Mr. Moore filled the place of Mr. Stothart who was unable to be here to direct the opera this year. Kimmel and Beardsley were again the authors of the book—the lyrics were by Healey and the music by Carlsen.

When school started this fall, Pierrots became interested in a Vaudeville, believing that there was a place for it among the university activities. This resulted in their Vaudeville show under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. war fund. It was a success, and it is hoped that Pierrots may make it an annual affair.

The hurried departure of a large number of seniors for military service during the latter part of the semester, defeated the plans of the Senior Class for its usual formal dance. Initiative, however, was not lacking among those who remained, and, as a result, a committee was formed which rapidly completed arrangements for an Informal, known as the Senior Farewell Dance. This dance was held on the evening of June 11 at the Gymnasium Annex. In keeping with the feeling at the University, those in charge felt that all economies possible should be undertaken. Accordingly, the committee betook itself to the woods and procured the necessary decorations from which to construct the booths. The dance opened without the usual grand march. There were twenty-four numbers in all on the program. The spirit that had made itself so manifest among the members of the committee asserted itself among all those who attended the function. Lack of numbers and the general unsettled state of affairs was entirely overcome by the good spirit evinced by everyone present.

The Junior Prom
WOMAN'S BUILDING, DECEMBER 7, 1917

As the only formal function of the year, the annual Junior Prom was a success from the time "Mike" Dailey signaled for the orchestra to start the first dance, at eight-thirty Friday night, until the last import tore up the I. C. platform after the five-fifty train on Sunday night.

The receiving line, headed by Harry Rathbun and Nell Flatt, followed by Harry Wuertenbaecher and Gertrude Cornbrooks, contained many local and out-of-town celebrities. In spite of the fact that practically all decorations had been dispensed with, except those of a military character, the Woman's Building never looked better, and no one missed the elaborate adornments of previous years. The two orchestras, one on each floor, furnished irresistible music and divided the honors about evenly.

A most tempting supper was served during the evening on the third floor. There were also two large punch-bowls, apparently bottomless, which proved very popular with all. It was a real Prom and a great deal of credit is due to the committee responsible for its success.

The worst snow storm of many years, coming on the night of the Sophomore Cotillion, January 11, did not deter the many couples from enjoying the annual Sophomore classic in the Woman's Building. Cabs were at a premium. With the snow nearly knee deep, and with the thermometer hovering at 20 degrees below zero, the girls showed their true spirit and ventured out into the cold to the dance which they soon helped to make a success. The first dance started promptly at eight-thirty with less than a hundred couples present, but this number was soon increased more than twice. Good music, fresh from the latest theatrical hits of Chicago and New York, put "pep" into the dance. Carlsen and Francis were the music masters that "jazzed" the pianos on the two floors of the Woman's Building. The decorations were simple, a few American flags sufficing to take the bareness from the walls. The hot food was better than the average, both in quantity and in quality, and was much appreciated on such a cold night. Due to the terrific storms in the east, the programs were delayed and did not arrive until after the dance. As a result, temporary ones were distributed. The real programs, gold plated booklets on bronze backings, however, made a decided hit when they did appear. At ten minutes before two, the twentieth and last dance was begun, and at two o'clock the guests left the warmth of the building to fight their various ways homeward through the raging blizzard.

At nine o'clock on the evening of February 22, the Military Ball opened amid military decorations of bunting, standards, and service flags. Three of the best orchestras were located, one on each floor, on the three floors of the Woman's Building, and did their part toward providing the guests with plenty of good music. The fact that cabs, flowers, and dress-suits were absent, although uniforms were in evidence, showed that the function was an informal. Nevertheless, it did not lessen in any way the pleasure of those who attended. It demonstrated the willingness of all concerned to do their bit towards war-time economy.

Oratory and Debate

Under the able guidance of Coach Lew R. Sarett, the Illinois debaters closed the most successful season in intercollegiate debating that the University has ever known. They won, for the first time in history, the championship of the Illinois-Minnesota-Iowa League, and tied for the championship of the mid-west league composed of the University of Michigan, the University of Wisconsin, and the University of Illinois.

Last year with Coach Sarett working the teams overtime, the Illini established a record by winning three out of the four debates contested in, with the remarkable fact that the three victories were won by unanimous decisions. The closing battle of the season, March 30, on the question of strikes and lockouts, resulted in an unanimous victory over Wisconsin by the affirmative team, but the negative lost to Michigan at Ann Arbor by unanimous vote.

The fall contests, December 8, were fought out with Minnesota and Iowa. Illinois defeated both by unanimous decisions which meant the championship of the I. M. I. League this year.

The success of debating this year is largely due to the work of Coach Lew Sarett, instructor in public speaking. He has brought about efficient organization and system for the debaters, superiority in handling arguments and rebuttal, and has trained his men much beyond the stage of mere glibness of speech. As the interest of the University public increased, the members of the team showed more spirit and persistence.

Through the efforts of Mr. Sarett, a further incentive to those interested in oratory and debate has been added. By the sale of debate briefs and arguments, sufficient money was realized to warrant the offering of two cups, to be given to the two members of the graduating class who rank first and second respectively in Forensic work. The competition is based upon a system of points scored, that is, each entry made by a contestant in any debate and oratorical contest will score for him a number of points according to the ability that he displays.

The forensic activities of the University are under the control of the Board of Oratory and Debate, in conjunction with the Department of Public Speaking. The members of the Board are chosen by election from the student body, and hold office for one year. The Board has charge of the preliminary tryouts and the intercollegiate debates. It also relieves Coach Sarett of unnecessary routine connected with the debates.

NORTHERN ORATORICAL LEAGUE

Illinois is a member of the Northern Oratorical League, composed of the Universities of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Northwestern, and Oberlin. Illinois has in recent years occupied one of the first three positions. Last spring the contest was held in Minneapolis, and Orlie M. Clem, chosen at the preliminary tryouts, represented Illinois. His oration was entitled “The Test of Democracy”. The competition was unusually keen, but Clem won third place.

PEACE ORATORICAL CONTEST

In the annual State Peace Oratorical Contest, every college in the state is entitled to one representative. The winner of the state contest represents the State of Illinois in the Interstate Contest, composed of the Universities of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Illinois. Last spring, the representative from Illinois, Robert H. Antoszewski won second place by his stirring oration, “Peace and Poland”.

MUSIC
Like all other University institutions, the Band has been hard hit by the war and Director A. A. Harding has had a struggle in keeping it up to its usual standard. The First and Concert Band which plays at the football games and makes the annual spring tour was most effected and lost nearly seventy-five per cent of its number from last year. Out of the eighty-five men who made up that organization last year, fifty-eight were lost, some through graduation, but most from the call of patriotic duty. Forty of the fifty-eight men are now doing service for the United States. Many are enlisted in the naval band at the Great Lakes Training Station, others are commissioned in the U. S. Reserves, and the rest are scattered throughout the different branches of army service.

The Reserve Band has also lost a great number of men and the Second Band and the Trumpeters have suffered in a like degree. Nevertheless, with all the places to be filled, Director Harding has by hard work and study made a Band which is inferior to last year's only in numbers. The full number of men has never been completely gained, but the present Band shows only a slight decrease in the number of men enrolled. The spirit is still there and consequently the Band has done its work of the past year well.

On account of the war, also, the Band curtailed its annual spring tour extensively this year. Only a few small towns adjacent to Champaign were able to reap the benefits of Illinois' real music, for expenses had to be cut and it was impossible to follow out the same program as the tour of last spring contained. The unsettled conditions about school also made it impossible for the organization to make more than one trip with the football team, that when they went to Chicago to help the team against our ancient rivals. The inability of the Band to make more trips was keenly felt by all concerned, but the work this year has been of a more serious nature than ever before. Every night the men have been at the Armory, playing for reviews and making their presence felt by creating a real military atmosphere during drill. As long as the University is kept open the Band will operate regardless of how badly its ranks are depleted by the war and it can always be counted on in doing its share towards bringing glory to the "Alma Mater".

With plenty of real talent, but only a small number of men enrolled, the Glee Club showed plenty of “glee” during the past year. Like the Band, the Glee Club was diminished in numbers by the war and the Mandolin Club consisted of only four members. But even with this small number the club was able to make as much noise as in former years and the annual Christmas tour through Illinois met with a great success. The Post Prom Concert, a new wrinkle presented by the Glee and Mandolin Club, was given before a well filled house regardless of the counter-attractions of the same evening.

The Post Prom Concert was something new and unique and the clever costumes and action throughout the playlet opened the eyes of skeptical observers. Exceptionally good comedy marked the concert and a part of the action used in the Christmas tour met with favor wherever the club went.

At one point in the Christmas tour the Glee club received more than its usual share of attention and applause. That was at Camp Grant, Rockford, where the club sang and played before a packed house of soldiers. Many of these men were old “grads” doing service for their country and the concert led them back to the old college days “before the war”.

Outside of the one trip at Christmas, the Glee Club did no traveling, being content with confining itself strictly to the University when extensive journeying was found impossible.

The Season

With the loss of the last conference game of the year to Minnesota by the score of 27 to 6, Illinois' 1917 football season might at first glance appear to have been a failure. A careful analysis of the facts, however, shows that the achievements of the Orange and Blue eleven on the gridiron last fall left little to be desired. The team coached by Bob Zuppke must be given credit for the multitude of handicaps with which the season was inaugurated and maintained.

Starting with the fracturing of Captain Ren Kraft's leg in practice a few days before the first game, the inimitable Illini jinx seemed to haunt the Indians through the entire season. Kraft will be remembered by Conference fans for his sixty-five yard run through the "immortal" Minnesota eleven for a touchdown in 1916, when Illinois defeated Williams' great team. Though Kraft's shoes, as captain, were ably filled by Swede Rundquist, his loss was a great one to Zuppke.

Many a pigskin artist met the big Swede and remembered it. Rundquist completed his third year of Conference football with one of the most enviable records of any Illini lineman.

Dutch will long be remembered for his work at Ohio State. Only a flying tackle by Chick Harley kept him from scoring a touchdown.

There might be tacklers to the right, to the left, or on top of him, but the "Tank" always came through.
The so-called infant, Ohio State, again claimed the championship. Northwestern and Minnesota tied for second place, Wisconsin landed third, while Illinois was tied with Chicago and Indiana for fourth place.

The Orange and Blue started off with a rush, defeating Kansas 22-0 in the first game. On the following Saturday the game with Oklahoma resulted in a 44-0 shutout for the Illini. Wisconsin came here for the Homecoming game, October 20. In spite of the war, several thousand of the old grads were back for the festivities, and the game was immensely pleasing to them. It was one of the hardest and cleanest fought contests ever staged on Illinois Field. The score was Illinois 7; Wisconsin 0.

Purdue came over from Lafayette for the second Conference game. The Boiler-makers had been beaten by the Maroons the previous Saturday by a score of 27-0, so they were out to make a good showing. But Zup's Indians sent them home defeated by an identical score.

Then started the eleven's reverses. Before a crowd of some 20,000 on Stagg Field, Chicago held Illinois to a scoreless tie in a slow, stubborn game. The team lost its only chance to score, when held for downs on Chicago's one yard line. Tough luck, of course.

Resting a week, Zup took his proteges to Columbus and turned them loose on last year's champions. From the reports, we gathered that it was a battle royal, but unfortunately resulting in a 13-0 victory for the Buckeyes, leaving them for the second time the undisputed title to the championship. Chick Harley, with a veteran team, was responsible. Although the famed Harley was unable to gain much ground, he was in nearly every play. He was also directly responsible for all the Ohio scoring, kicking two goals from placement and throwing the forward pass, which was carried across the Illini goal for a touchdown.
Minnesota journeyed to Urbana for the last Conference game determined to avenge the immortal defeat of 1916. Outplayed but not outfought, Illinois lost to the Northmen, the final score being 27-6. The Minnesota line was undoubtedly better than the Illini first trenches, and their backs aided by the famous "Minnesota shift", easily shaded our quartette. The defeat was accepted by the fans with more than usual good nature.

For the final game, the team journeyed to Camp Funston, Kansas, for an exhibition game with the soldier eleven. The old Illini star and idol, Potsy Clark, was in the Camp Funston lineup, and the boys said he was still going in his old form. He didn't get the support, however, that Pogue and Macomber used to give him, for the score was 28-0 in favor of the Orange and Blue. Some 30,000 soldiers saw the game, and it was a grand exhibition of football from the standpoint of the Illini.

Rundquist, Klein, Halas, Goelitz, and McGregor all played their last game of college football at Camp Funston. They were all good men and their places will be hard to fill. But Zap is left more than the nucleus of a good team in Captain-elect Sterman, Charpier, Mongrieg, Shlaudeman, Ingversen, Nichols, Ems, Lovejoy, and Larimer. However, it is again a case of Freshmen! Front!

Shlaudeman had sufficient inertia to cause the plays sent his way to stop.
Burt Ingversen, the fighting center, made more tackles than any other man on the team.
Nick, the original pep instiller, who never knew when he was whipped. Arsen of Minnesota had a clear field ahead until he met Nick.
Lovejoy seemed to have natural football intentions. His work in the Purdue game, when he was instrumental in getting off eighteen completed forward passes, was wonderful.
Larimer became famous for making the lone touchdown against Minnesota on a blocked punt.

Ems played a smashing game at tackle and sent many a coach's plans awry.

Mongriez proved very useful as a utility man at end until he was injured.

The Season

For the first time in several years, the Orange and Blue nine was obliged to step down from its seemingly immortal pedestal, as Conference champions, and to be satisfied with second place, Ohio State winning the pennant. "G" admits that the nine wasn't of championship caliber. When such a bunch as Gunkle, Crebs, Arbuckle, Clark, Bradley and Walter Halas, all of whom were instrumental in bringing three baseball championships to Illinois, graduate, it is no easy task to get another winning aggregation together. Captain-elect Harry Stiles died during the summer and Thomas didn't return to school so that "G" was left with only the veterans Koptik, George Halas, Klein and Davis for his nucleus.

The first call for practice was made in the latter part of February, the Armory again furnishing the place for workouts prior to the annual southern trip. Inspired by the chance of the big ten-day trip, many aspirants came out daily and worked hard. When the team started March 30, the following fifteen players were fortunate enough to be on the roster: Halas, O'Meara, S. C. Peterson, R. W. Peterson, Hays, Wheat, Flock, Cinnamon, Cox, Klein, Davis, Davission, Koptik, English, and Ryan.

In spite of the fact that Illinois won only two of the six games played, the jaunt seemed to be a good pep instiller and the coaches regarded the trip as being worth the "time and money". The only regrettable occurrence of the trip was the injury to Al O'Meara's shoulder which disabled him for the rest of the season. According to "G", Al was going good and would have been a valuable addition to the team.

Illinois made a brilliant start in the Conference by whitewashing Iowa, and then the old jinx got to working, as a result of which two games were dropped to Ohio State and the long retained championship practically handed them. Only one more defeat was chalked up against the nine, Indiana being the offender. But according to the old saying, that "history repeats itself", the Hoosiers' glory was again short-lived, for when they visited Illinois Field, an 8-1 drubbing was administered them.
Perhaps the brightest spot of the season was the last game, when the Maroons were trimmed 15 to 3. That put a smile on "G's" face, that didn't come off for a while, even though Ohio State did take the championship. "G" says that the nine was a "real high-class ball team" at the end of the season, and Chicago's drubbing substantiates the fact.

Leo Klein and George Halas were undoubtedly the shining lights of the team. Leo was so dependable that he was usually held for pinches. Whenever things began to break against Illinois he was sent in to calm the storm, and the batter who got a hit was the exception. George Halas, better known as "Illinois' most versatile athlete" is famous for his batting average, always leading the team. Peterson came into his own as catcher, after three years of hard work on the scrub team; Lalor, for his long hits, and Cox for his bunting, deserve much credit; English, for his good work at first, and Captain Koptik for his alertness at short, also deserve a good word.

With Captain-elect Klein, Lalor and Ryan of last year's team, as a nucleus for the 1918 team, we'd like to see the championship return to its "happy home". And it'll most likely do so if the war doesn't make too many inroads on "G" Huff's plans.

Lalor is famous for long hits.  English got many an aspirant at first, but he's in the Army now.  Scotty Alcock finished the season hard.
Halas at bat. Scorekeeper, get out the whitewash.

Ryan is a promising pitcher. They never came too hard for Peterson. Cox was the best bunter on the team.

The Season

The creditable showing of the 1917 Track Team was undoubtedly due to the development of new material by Coach Gill and to hard work of the squad as a whole. Starting the year with only a few old men from the year before, Coach Gill produced a team which finished second only to Chicago in Conference standing, and which beat Chicago in the dual meet between the two schools. Considering the material available, the team completed a season quite as successful as that of any previous track team. The work of Ames, Spink, Husted, Bennett, Webster, Carroll, and Lang, is especially commendable as these men performed consistently throughout the whole season.

The indoor season started with a dual meet with Notre Dame in the Armory, February 10. Illinois got the long end of the score of 58\(\frac{3}{5}\) to 36\(\frac{1}{2}\). The best race of the meet was the half-mile, in which Meehan of Notre Dame forced Phil Spink to unlimber a little. Spink covered the distance in 1:59 4/5.

This was followed by the relay carnival on March 3, in which Illinois made a good showing, finishing second to Chicago. Wallie Ames performed by breaking the American 75-yard high hurdle record by 1/5 second. He made the distance in :09 3/5 seconds. Wallie also broke the Illinois indoor record for the 75-yard low hurdles. He made the low hurdles in :08 2/5 seconds, three-fifths of a second faster than the old time. Lang got third in the all-round championship, his best performance being a tie with Fisher and Graham of Chicago in the pole vault at 12 feet. Webster tied with three other high jumpers for first in that event. The relay teams, however, didn't seem to get organized as well as they did in following meets.

The indoor meet with Wisconsin at Madison on March 10 was one of the closest and most exciting meets of the year. Up until the relay, the two teams were tied 45 to 45. The mile relay, everyone thought would decide the meet. Until the final lap Illinois led, but Smith of Wisconsin, pulled up on Spink, and the two crossed the tape in a dead heat. Final score was 47\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 47\(\frac{1}{2}\).

March 24, saw the team journey to Evanston for the indoor Conference. Here we again placed second to Chicago. Three conference records tumbled. Wallie Ames broke another record by stepping over the 60-yard high hurdles in :07 4/5. Dismond, Chicago, beat Smart, Northwestern, in the fast time of :50 4/5 seconds for the quarter-mile. The other record that fell was the one mile relay which Chicago took in 3:32 3/5.

In the Drake Relays, our mile relay team broke a record for the Drake contests by making the distance in 3:21 4/5. This also equaled the conference mark for the mile relay. Northwestern won the half-mile in 1:29 2/5. Notre Dame won the two mile in 7:56 2/5, and Chicago the four mile. In the individual event, Simpson of Missouri, beat Wallie Ames out in the 120 yard high hurdles in the time of :14 4/5.

After coaching Bill Overbee for a short time in the hop, step, and jump, Coach Gill sent him with a few others to the Penn relay games. As a result Bill not only maintained the record that Carter of Illinois set last year in this event, but set a new inter-collegiate record of 48 feet, 4 1/2 inches. Husted brought further honor to Illinois by winning the discus with a throw of 128 feet, 4 inches. Bennett won the hammer by hoisting it through the air for 141 feet, 9 1/2 inches. Our relay team had to content itself with third place, giving precedence to Pennsylvania and Missouri.

In the dual meet with Notre Dame at South Bend on May 5, we won easily by the score of 84 7/12 to 53 5/12. The most noteworthy feature of the contest was the javelin throw in which Mongrieg, '19, made a new track record of 181 feet, 5 inches.

Although the team had been placing second to Chicago in contests in which the two were both entered, the team went up to Chicago, May 26, for a dual meet. In this meet, where only the two teams were pitted against each other, Illinois showed her superiority by winning the meet 73 1/2 to 61 1/2.

The track season ended with the outdoor conference meet that was held at Chicago, June 9. Here we had to again content ourselves with second place. Chicago nosed us out once more, aided largely by the individual efforts of Simpson, Missouri's great hurler, who took first place in most of our strong events. Simpson took three firsts and a fourth and was the individual star of the meet. Ames in the hurdles, Carroll in the dashes, Somers, Spink, and Carlson in the middle distance runs, all performed well in the track events. In the field events Bennett and Husted got firsts in the hammer throw and discus respectively, while Webster, Overbee, and Kreidler all placed in the jumps.

Taken as a whole, the team at no time during the season performed in a manner that was disappointing. To sum it all up the team at all times placed right at the top of the conference standing. This was supplemented by the work of the relay team which placed in every meet and which equaled the conference time for the mile relay. It was indeed a satisfactory season.
First Annual Indoor Relay Carnival

The First Annual Relay Carnival was one of the successful athletic events of the year and proved especially noteworthy for several reasons. First, no other track contest of similar character has ever been staged in the Mississippi valley and there is every indication of its being a yearly meet. It marked the first appearance of Michigan in competition with conference teams since 1906 when they left the conference. It brought together college and university teams from all over the central west, and now has prospects of expanding into a national indoor carnival comparable to the Outdoor Pennsylvania relay games. Results of this year's Relay Carnival were:

This is Wallie making another record. He is shown here finishing the 220-yard hurdles for a new mark of 24 4/5 seconds.

“Wallie” not only made several records this year but was always counted upon for sure points in the hurdles.

Captain-elect “Chet” has done good work in the past two years. Great things are expected from him this year.

Merle, although handicapped by illness, gained many points for the team in the weight events.
Here is Pendarvis making a great finish in the 440 at the spring handicap.

"Pen" was a member of the relay quartet this year. He also ran the quarter mile.

Gants was captain of the cross-country team and also ran the mile.

Bennett was our weight man this year and incidentally better than most of his competitors.
The start of the Cross-Country Run at Purdue

Vedder is adept at "harpooning" with a javelin. This is his last year.

Caldwell is quite a high jumper, but he hasn't been able to overshadow Webster yet.

"Al" did good work on the relay team this year and ran the mile and one-half mile.
This is "Skeeter" Bush clearing the hurdles in the fall handicap. Much is expected of "String" in the hurdles this year.

"Phil" would have little competition in the middle distance runs this year, but joined the army in preference to getting track honors.

Webster has high jumped for three years and seldom takes less than first in a meet.

Sload proved himself a steady miler this year. He had promise of becoming a sure point winner.
"Monte" gives promise of becoming a record breaker if he improves much. At Notre Dame he broke a track record in the javelin throw.

Lang is our all-round man. His particular hobby, however, is pole vaulting.

"Bill" took it upon himself to keep the hop, step, and jump record at Illinois for another year. He is also a broad jumper of ability.

Dave comes to us from Missouri University. He runs in the dashes.

Charlie is quite a sprinter, causing Chicago considerable trouble last year.

The Season

Was there ever a more vacillating season, or one in which old man Jinx delivered more really hard blows than that of 1918, especially between the time that the Orange and Blue opened its Conference schedule in a 27 to 17 victory over Purdue (a veteran team to which the Chicago Tribune had already awarded the pennant), and March 6, when the season was closed by another smear on the Maroon escutcheon.

Illinois easily won the practice games with Millikin and Wabash and then opened the Conference season here in a game with the much touted Purdue team. In spite of the alarming press reports, however, the Boilermakers were sent home on the bottom side of a 27-17 score.

On January 14, Jones' men, fighting as one, sent Minnesota's husky quintet northward with a 28-17 beating. It was undoubtedly the best game of the season. They all had a hand in eating Minnesota's pie. Right from the start, the tilt was a regular old fashioned scrap, the first half ending 12 to 11 with the Gophers in the rear. It was Captain Halas' last game before leaving for the Navy, and he surely wound up his basketball career creditably.

Wisconsin came down for the next game, and here Illinois' reverses started. In a most exciting contest, the Badgers took the game by a margin of one point. The credit for their victory goes to Chandler, however, and to no one else. He was everywhere at the same time, breaking up the Illini plays, and also scoring sixteen of Wisconsin's twenty-two points.

The following game at the Midway was the first one away from home. Chicago was allowed the long end of a 23-19 score in a decidedly loose game. This contest was disastrous in more ways than one, for Mittleman, as a result of sudden heart trouble was obliged to drop out for the rest of the season.

Northwestern's erstwhile thousand percent team wasn't able to hold the Indians, when it visited Urbana. Jones' proteges staged one of the most remarkable comebacks ever seen here. Every man played rings around his opponent, and when it came to making baskets they couldn't miss the ring. Whenever an Illinois man got a shot, another tally went up on the score board. Even the guards were helping roll up the total, which, when the final whistle blew, stood 38 to 22.

Ohio State was easy. The Indians didn't have to let themselves out to defeat them 25 to 21. Then started the trips. Lafayette was the first stop, and there Purdue defeated us by a margin of three points. Proceeding to Columbus, the Buckeyes weren't so easy as in the first game, but the Orange and Blue finally took the game, 26 to 23.

As the 1918 Illinois said, "Wisconsin and Minnesota lived up to tradition by defeating the Jones family on the Northern trip"; so it was this time. The Madison score was 15 to 22, and at Minneapolis it was 22 to 35.

Journeying to Evanston on March 2, the Methodists staged a little comeback themselves and routed the Illini, 14 to 29. The Maroons came here for the final game and by a desperate spurt, Illinois was able to beat them out by three markers and thus tie the two institutions with a percentage of 500 in the Conference race. Wisconsin, the champions, took the pennant with a percentage of only 750, and Illinois scored a total of 371 points to her opponents' 304, so there is some consolation in that.

To Captain Anderson must go the distinction of being one of the greatest forwards Jones ever developed. He had that remarkable combination, so seldom found in good players, of being a good floor man and a superior basket-thrower.

Ingwersen and Vail were a good pair of fighting guards, working well together. The latter filled the vacancy left by George Halas, and made very marked improvement during the course of the season. Burt Ingwersen was an adept at long shots, and Vail also came through occasionally with needed baskets.

Taylor, who replaced Tug Wilson at center, developed wonderfully under Jones' tutelage and though comparatively diminutive, was able to jump with the six footers on some of the other teams.

Probst, Kopp, and Stevens played for all they were worth and should be able to make a good showing next year.

Coach Jones has guided many Illini teams to victory. With unusually bad luck he has been able to hold the team up in the running through the season.

When George enlisted in the Navy many a Conference forward breathed easier. The strong Great Lakes team found a berth for him.
Andy was a forward that no Conference guard ever completely stopped. They might stop one hand, but the other one worked just as good with him.

Other coaches said, "Jones has a five man defense and Ingwersen." He also had time to shoot occasionally.

Taylor, the smallest center in the Conference and one of the best. He is one of the biggest little men ever seen on the Illinois floor.

Vail, a back guard, who could hit the basket. Making his debut in the first Wisconsin game, he went the entire length of the floor for a basket in the first twelve seconds of play.
After winning a place on the team and playing a great game early in the season, Mitt had the hard luck to be retired by a weak heart.

Although handicapped by bad feet, Stan stuck. Chicago will remember him.

Kopp had only a part of the season to play. His playing in the last game where he stopped the onslaught of the Maroons endeared him in the hearts of the Indian rooters.

Stevens was a remarkable utility man and when opportunity afforded gave the team all he had.

In The Tank

"I sincerely believe that we had the best swimming team that ever represented Illinois—but such was the case all around the Conference. The competition was simply too keen." This is the verdict that Coach Manley put upon 1917 swimming activities.

Although headed by such men as Captain Johns, "Jim-mie" Gray, and Phil Gould, the team was not able to get away with a single victory. Some compensation was afforded, however, by the record of the water basketball team, which returned top honors for Illinois.

The Conference meet was held at Northwestern, March 23. It was at this time that the water basketball team fought through a hard schedule for a Conference championship, defeating Chicago in the finals by a score of 8 to 6.

The swimming team was less fortunate at the big meet. Northwestern ran true to form, outdistancing the field with 47 points. Chicago and Wisconsin followed with 26 and 19 credits respectively, while Illinois occupied fourth place with eleven points.

Three dual mets were held previous to the Conference, each of them being a forecast of what to happen when they all got together.

Chicago shattered our glowing prospects early in February in a dual meet held here. The Maroons piled up 42 points while Orange and Blue natators were counting 26. The basketball match went to Illinois by virtue of a whirlwind finish, the score being 4 to 3.

Even worse was the visit of Northwestern to our waters. The champions-to-be drenched us with a 50 to 18 defeat, but the Illini basket artists reciprocated with an easy victory over the Purple.

Journeying to Madison on March 9, the Indians participated in a most satisfactory event of the year. The basketball squad came through with a 19 to 3 victory, and the tank was cleared for the swimming events. Throughout the evening the score board swung first to one and then to the other. At the close of the meet, the score was in doubt, but final counting gave the score to Wisconsin. While Wisconsin was shown to have the better team, Illinois' exhibition was the best of the season.

Those who performed during the year for the swimming team are: Johns, Gray, Waldo, Gould, Vial, Fairecloth, Falkenberg, Dawley and Andrews. The personnel of the water basketball squad was as follows: Ott, Wenzlaff, Shlaudeman, McGregor, Vial, Crewe, Gray.

Prospects for 1918 seemed bright at the opening of schol with "Jimmie" Gray returned to lead the swimmers, but hopes were set at naught by financial difficulties, the Athletic Association deciding that minor sports must be temporarily abandoned.
Two championships out of three is a fair ratio—and by that ratio, the 1917 season for wrestling, fencing and gymnastics may be accounted a success. Orange and Blue wrestlers forced their way through the year without a defeat, and the fencing squad took first place at the Conference. Gymnastics, handicapped by lack of individual stars, was unable to develop a Conference gait.

Madison was the first scene of activities for the three allied teams. A dual meet was held with Wisconsin February 24, the result of which was victory for the Illini wrestlers, a tie in fencing, and a defeat for Coach Fargo’s proteges.

Chicago was our next competitor, coming here March 10, and leaving with the consolation of having won in gymnastics, while Maroon wrestlers and fencers were being counted out.

The Illini fencers took a much firmer stand at the Conference meet, which was held at Iowa City March 23-4. Illinois took first place, with Nebraska and Wisconsin trailing. Coach Evans’ squad of wrestlers had little trouble in annexing the title in their division. Despite the heroic efforts of Captain Horimura, however, the gymnasts were forced to content themselves with fourth place.

Regular members of the wrestling squad, which covered itself with glory, are: Evans, Smart, Kurtzrock, Cope, Ward, Whitson, Hill and Runeburg. Gerten and Cook were the Illini defenders in fencing, and those who aided Captain Horimura in gymnastics were: Adler, Ross, Wagstaff, Johnson and Smidl.

The decision of the Athletic Association to abandon minor sports for 1918 naturally suspended activities about the gymnasium. Interest, however, is so keen in wrestling, gymnastics and fencing that Coach Fargo has maintained informal squads throughout the year, and has given his attention to them as though they were to enter intercollegiate competition.

A. J. Scheutter is the new coach who comes to take the place of Walter Evans. Scheutter has had considerable experience in all forms of gymnastic activities and promises to be an addition to the staff.

1917 TENNIS

Illinois' place in the sun reached such proportions during the 1917 season that the Illini racquet artists wrought a total eclipse of the Conference tennis world. As a climax to the most successful season ever chronicled at Illinois, Captain Becker and Ernie McKay annexed all the honors at the Conference meet, held at Chicago May 24, thus giving Illinois individual as well as team honors for the year.

At the Conference, Becker swept through the field without a defeat, winning the finals from Wente of Rose Polytechnic, who had eliminated McKay earlier in the tournament. Becker and McKay were not "phased" in their course to the doubles' title.

The schedule for the team, previous to the conference, was even more satisfactory. Dual meets with Purdue, Northwestern, Ohio State, Chicago, and a second with Purdue resulted in Illinois victories in every match as well as every meet. The team consisted of Becker, McKay, Sladek, and Wiley, not one of whom lost a match during the year.

The fall tournament of 1916 was again won by McKay, who was subsequently elected captain for 1918.

Prospects for a 1918 team, however, seem extremely uncertain. Becker and Sladek, veterans of two seasons, graduated after their 1917 triumphs, while Captain-elect McKay and Wiley are in the military service.

1917 GOLF

War, which has worked such havoc in collegiate sports, first laid its hand upon golf. As a result, Illinois' team of veterans spent the spring of 1917 poking about the local links and looking in vain for a world to conquer. Only one match was played, Northwestern being a 9 to 3 victim.

The two classes in which Captain White and his men expected to feature were the Western Collegiate at Chicago and the Eastern Collegiate at the Merion Cricket Club in Philadelphia. Both of these tournaments were abandoned on account of the war and the Illini clubs went begging for scalps.

Despite its inactivity on the green, the 1917 team has set a peculiar record, in that every member of the squad is now in some branch of military service. "Shorty" White and "Hank" Ramey are lieutenants at Camp Grant. "Joe" McDonald is a sergeant in the ordnance corps, being stationed at San Diego, California, and "Chink" Weems is in the aviation section of the navy.

"A typical Illinois team. It contained some fine individual swimmers and was a consistent all-round aggregation." — Coach Manley.
The impetus which intra-mural sports have gained at the University of Illinois was evidenced during the past year, when, despite the war, general interest in inter-college and inter-class games was maintained at almost a maximum degree. All inter-class series except baseball and swimming were run off as in former years.

Winning every game by a close margin, the Freshman class eleven annexed the 1917 football championship. That the yearlings were clearly superior was shown by the fact that all the other teams were practically bunched in standing.

Basketball teams in 1917-18 worked under a serious handicap because the Varsity was using the regular gymnasium for practice. A schedule was formed, however, from which the Seniors emerged victors. The Sophomores, Juniors and Freshmen trailed in the order named. The teams were composed, to a large extent, of inexperienced men, a fact which tended to lower the general standard.

Although it was impossible to adhere to a strict schedule, fast soccer teams were maintained in 1917 by the Chinese club, the Cosmopolitan club, and the Latin-American club. Several spirited contests were held on the south campus.

The regular number of handicap class track meets were held during the year of 1916-17. Although swimming was not developed as a regular inter-class event in 1918, two meets were held in which the classes took part. Baseball was the only sport to succumb entirely to war conditions.

Home At Last, You Old Scandal-Mongers

The usual apologies cannot be made because we are doing no one wrong, it is all self-inflicted.

It again proves the simple and homely adage that the truth will out.

Whereupon we offer:

And the fight is on.
Sept. 13.—Just a few of the last year’s models show up who couldn’t get into the army because of sore throat, ingrowing toenails, or general disability.
Sept. 17.—Red Armstrong and Hugh Cross drag Red Landon to the Law Building and force him to register on time, despite protests.
Sept. 20.—Mad rush to increase the size of Greek organizations 500% begins. Betas and Kappa Sigs/tied at the end of the first day. Score 8 all.
Sept. 23.—Fourteen Juniors intending to continue their education withdraw from the Uni to enter the army when Frank Hurley and the great Brigham return to the community and threaten to register.
Sept. 30.—Pulcipher proceeds to improve The Daily Illini by recruiting all available females on the campus including K. Rathel. Kappa Sigs announce their pledges and beat Betas by 8.
Oct. 3.—Bobbie Andrews and Al seen in the vicinity of the Armory unchaperoned; but during the day. Dean T. A. knocks out four in one sentence at the annual hygiene lectures to the frosh.
Oct. 4.—Helen Morris’ intended comeback fails so she decides not to register and returns to St. Louis to do Red Cross work, she says.
Oct. 5.—Red Landon breaks training together with about fifteen others.
Oct. 8.—Grace Flood discovered to be again in the Uni after a year in the cold outside world. Marie Cronin for the 1000 time asks a man seeking a date whether or not he is a good dancer, whereupon Marie stays home.
DAILY FILTH

Oct. 15.—Gyp Davis starts telling people about his many attempts to get into the army. Too bad he can’t make it.
Oct. 25.—Phi Delt chapter reduced to one table. Also S. A. E. Excuse, the war, but the boys couldn’t stand the company any longer.
Oct. 26.—Ethel Gliffe forced to dress hurriedly and rush to an eight o’clock without dressing table preparation, whereupon no one recognized her.
Oct. 30.—Whop Westenhaver shaves and washes up a little and leaves the Arcade to take dinner with the Phi Kap brothers. Dekes assert that they are “coming back” as Gyp threatens to leave school and join the aviation corps.
Nov. 3.—Ash Hallowell loses complimentary ticket and is forced to pay to get into a dance for the first time in his life. Harry Zim drops out of competition for Nelle, the belle of West Champaign.
Nov. 5.—Sal Ainsworth discovered to be still in the University when four hicks present themselves at the Alpha Xi house on the same night for the same date, whereupon Sal pulls in some of the celler gang and takes her pick of the gents.
Nov. 7.—Jack Guthrie and Irene Seaton asked on the quiet to use more discretion in their dancing for the betterment of society.
Nov. 10.—Chi Psis awaken and announce the pledging of about eight freshmen passed up in the mad fall scramble.
Nov. 13.—Nels Thomas, Bunny Rathbun et al gather in front of the Phi Delta stable, reach under the porch and discuss current topics fluently for about fifteen minutes, incidentally honoring about all of the brothers in the service.
Nov. 18.—Sal offers editor of beauty section enticing overtures if he will run her picture again this year.
Jan. 6.—Bartholomew and John Williams each get 48 on a final in the same course.

FACTS AND FIGURES

The following may be old stuff to some, but it was news to us so we thought others might not know it. Hence we spread the light.

Or as Prof. McJohnson of the Commerce school would say, "You never can tell how far the women get ahead of us till you see. That's why I get up to see the Follys once a year." We rise to enquire, "Is that why you are always on the verge of snoring at your eight o'clocks?"

Also—Dean Clark's sweater growing tendency is an attribute of his youth. His Saturdays and Sundays in his college days were often given over to washings and ironings. Lord, keep that dark!!!

During the Annual Faculty Golf Championships last year Dean "Cemetery Road" Richards of the Engineering College was awarded the first cup for possessing the rosiest golf vocabulary. This is a good one—— One day he asked the little boy standing at the fence if they had come to see him play golf. They said no, they came to hear him play it.

Hah—Hah ah ah, here comes the dirt, here comes the——

Old man Ward, zoologically famous, has come out openly and claimed that the tender meat of a whale is the absolutely 212 degrees of dining.

And——

The reason that the Greatest College Organ is always out of shape is because of the ability of Colonel Erb as a profound musical acrobat. This is the tale the janitor tells.

Did you ever notice that our revered Dean Babcock is the best dressed man on the campus barring only John Dietz, acting president of the Student Council. 'Strue.

It is also rumored (we hope falsely), that Dean Davenport is bringing his daughter up "temperance"ly" as the furnace tender, who told us of it, said.

And although Ira O. has no legal option on the blue sky, he gives it away, gratis, to his beloved studes. Hitch your wagon to a star.

IMMORAL DANCES
AGAINST BARS

Juvenile Association
Says Soldiers Got Drinks.

Young girls in skimpy gowns, improper attitudes of boys and girls, young women drinking near the bar, and soldiers being sold liquors are described in the report by the Juvenile Protective association urging the abolishment of the special dance hall permit.

The dance most rebuked was that of the Valley Rose Benevolent association in the Sokol Havtcek hall, at 3617 Lawndale avenue.

"Seventy-five minors were illegally present," says the report, "and at least 25 per cent of them were served drinks. Four became intoxicated, and two soldiers also were intoxicated."

Tells How Soldiers Got Drink.

The report explains the mode of selling liquor to soldiers was novel. A bartender would set out a glass of beer and one of soda; the soldier would toss off the beer and stand innocently fin- gering his soda glass. Two soldiers remained at the bar from 10 until 1:30 o'clock, and the sale of liquor was continued until 2:10. It is charged that policemen 2396 and 579 were present.

"Misconduct of various sorts was observed," continues the report. "Girls hat on men's laps: twenty instances of impropriety were noted. Forty per cent of the couples had army about girls' necks and twenty couples danced with faces together; two girls danced with skirt sashions from the waist as a substitute for skirt."

The report also rebukes "demoralizing conditions" in a ball given by the Black Stars association at 2514 South Ashland avenue, "where three girls about 16 years old drank beer at a table on the dance floor near the entrance to the bar."

Some Dances Commended.

Dances of the Honor club in School hall at Forty-eighth street and Honor street, and the Slivery Bells dance in Columbia hall at 7900 West Forty-eighth street, and also of the Harry Athletic and Benevolent association at Aroda hall at 3551 North Clark street, all were commended by the report as being well behaved and conducted with strict decorum.

The report is to be handed to Hinton G. Chabuag, Samuel Inzitl, chairman of the council of defense, and Chief Schuetter.

And this is hardly what one would expect from Achoth.

Achoth Gives Midnight Party.

The Achoth sorrowfully entertained their visiting alumni members and a few invited guests at a midnight party last evening. The nature of the party was kept a secret. The following alumni members were present: Hazel Frye '15, Ruby Grimes '14 and Eda and Clara Bogert act. All have been the guests of the chapter while in the city attending the High School Conference.

Sounds Like Junior Prom.

80 couples were so seen.

Howe come Bromo—how come. Are you a man of many loves?
WUXTRA
UNIVERSITY SCANDAL
Coed and Fiance Swept out by Janitor

I was a good little girl till I met that D. K. E., of mine,
But you all know he done me wrong—
He said that dancing wasn't half the fun
As many things that he had done
With door locked tight
And little light.
But now I know he lied to me
For I have tried them both, you see
He was my man
But he done me wrong!

We were at a good dance
Up in the Woman's Building
There were about a million chaperons
He led me to a room to get a coca-cola
But all I seen was coca-cola stuff
I never seen that cola stuff.
That's how I know he lied to me.
For I have tried them both, you see
He was my man
But he done me wrong.

That I will go to that celestial blue
Called heaven, I don't doubt,
But there are those who say
That 'cause the Janitor swept us out
Some hours later with a flop
And called a cop
And used a mop
That I will go below—
Where all you do is sing and shout
And sit on coals
And meet lost souls
He was my man
But he done me wrong!

Champaign, night court, January, 1918.
An interesting and unique case was tried here last night. The Participants, a short miss of twenty some serene summers and an emaciated youth of some sixteen wicked winters stood before the judge. The jury, composed of the victims father and the accused's mother, President James, the Dean of men and women, a local minister, the presidents of Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Alpha Theta and Women's League listened in silence to the girl's story:
REINCARNATION

Have you ever looked at a person and said to yourself "Ye Gods", isn't she the spitting image of Jenny Wren?" or—"Heavens and earth, that fellow reminds me of an Australian flying sword fish." Of course you have. A perfectly nice poppah and mom-mah will have Twin sons who bear a striking resemblance to some animal. It happens in the F. F.'S of most any town. Perhaps your own parents have mentioned some such thing to you—though they usually see this likeness to some animal, in our dispositions rather than in our facial expressions. We look too much like them for that!

Because there seemed to be so much good material and the subject as yet uninvestigated here, the staff engaged the services of one of the foremost authorities (at half price because of the war), to conduct a thorough examination here. After shadowing some of the most prominent Seniors and other students, he announced that his theory "That animals are reincarnated in people" seems to be upheld here. Only one failure was noted—that of Mr. Jo. Green, in whom the expert failed to find the slightest resemblance to any living thing. "He resembles nothing," the Professor said. A partial list of his conclusions is printed below,—if you believe in his theory and care to become an investigator yourself, call at the office for his book, "Animals in U. S.", price, thirty-five cents. Also if your name is not among the rank and file below—and you believe it to be rank enough, call at the office IT IS PROBABLY FILED AWAY.

Interesting sidelights on our best. This page has been compiled for the purpose of putting before the public the more personal history of the great and near great of this institution—largely near—some not so close. The following list of statistics can be used for the purpose of making out fraternity date lists, care being taken to match brothers with sisters who through earlier training may be congenial.

In this way surgeons’ daughters and undertakers’ sons, grocers’ nieces and butchers’ grandsons, haberdashers’ youngest and milliners’ best and policemen’s offspring and jewelers’ first born can be put in the same limousines. It will also relieve such perplexing situations as having a banker’s heir hobnobbing with an income tax collector’s heiress.

This is a close up of the Alpha Zi house. The van at the door is bringing a case of rouge and a barrel of powder—the war paint of a true Alpha Zip. Their chief characteristics are thick ankles; desires to wear evening dresses, even to classes; knitting in Jimmy's bar; whiny or nasal voices; rolling eyes; $1.98 hats.

Philip Melangton, ex-president of the Sophomore class, and Pegz Munger are among those present. Do you known the rest?

And here are the Chi O's playing hide-and-seek with Lambda Chi Alpha. We recognize them all but the one on the left and Edith at the extreme right.

When Elgin was a small town, Florence lived there. Since then, Elgin has grown.

ODE TO BOOTS
(Owed to Boots)

To you old Boots
With sly unsuspecting air;
You have filled us with spirit
That drives away care.
You, in your dark, dark cavern
Have done your duty well,
And many a tired worn student,
Who on your door step fell,
Was given drink and sustenance
Which braced him for the morn
When dreary Deans delved deftly
Into the yet unborn.
Oh Boots, may all the univers (ity)
Your praises broadcast fling,
And may you have undying fame,
To you, old Boots, I sing.
In the good old days when mother was a child, Bet the second one from the left in the second row up shakes a wicked sandal.

Five guesses—no, seven—who are it? Yeh Homer, that's Belle in the middle. Ye Gods, look at Sarah next door. Yes, it's the Pi Phi's.
Ode To A College Boarding House

(Feed for Thought)

No turkey rare, or bill of fare
Of canvas back or grouse
Will grace your place through time or place,
Oh college boarding house.

Your stews and hash are but a dash
Into the day just past,
Scraps from the plates, of thing school mates,
Are in their mixture cast.

From kitchen doors the odor pours
Oh, gassy greasy smell
That covers you and smothers you
Ah fate! I know it well.

If death e're came, before I'd fame
Then fame for me arouse
Just mark my bier, "He lived a year
At a College Boarding House."

A TOAST

Here’s to the college without any clubs,
Soliciting sisters or brothers or dubs,
Who talk a blue streak until late in the morn
To get you to join their great club, Hoof and Horn;
Or after they’ve shot you a pro-german line
Will try to entice you to Deuche Verein;
Or who in a manner both trite and blaze,
Will get you to join the Le Cercle Francais.
Oh many there are, and many the ways
To get you to be a good member who pays.
So give me the college of dull care and ease
That hasn’t been loaded with clubs such as these.

Zeta Delta Peptone

Chi Psi Home Coming
November 16th, in the days set for Alpha Chi, Beta Theta, and Eta Xi, the occasion was made all the more memorable by the presence of Zeta Delta. This was the time when all the important men were arriving with the nation in full force, and the Zetas were able to impress themselves upon the visitors. The event was a grand success, and we hope that they will repeat it next year.

The Fall Rushing Season
Rushing is now in full swing, and the chances are that many of the men will be able to allocate their time accordingly. At the beginning of the season, the members were met with somewhat mixed feelings, as many were not sure of how to proceed. However, by the beginning of the season, the members were able to get organized and prepare for the rush. The Zetas were able to make the best of the situation, and they were able to secure many members.

The Lake of Alpha Chi Crafts
Every evening there are a few Alpha Chi Crafts going on around the university. These are typically held in the library, and they offer opportunities for the members to bond and strengthen their relationship with their brothers. The Crafts are an important aspect of the Alpha Chi experience.

AVIATORS
A Hate Song By A Male Co-ed

I HATE AVIATORS.
THEY GET ON MY NERVES.
First they clutter up the Campus,
Running around a hundred strong,
Getting exercise by shoving us off the sidewalks.
Twice a day they line upon the Lib. steps
To have their pictures taken;
I think they send them to the Rogues gallery.
They form a complete blockade in the Arcade door,
And Jimmy can't keep Hersheys enough for us all;
We do without.
Their series of Horns and Bugles
Produces in us something like Shell Shock.
Oh! that I were deaf and dumb and blind!

Next, they act so Darned Aloof,
We don't mind their being so cocky
In their uniform and white bands
But when they ignore us completely,
Just as though we were The Scum of the Earth,
Or a sort of early morning mist to be stared through;
Our blood boils.
And when they talk "Farmans" Nieuports" and never Fords,
Over at our fraternity house
And we don't get a word in edgewise
Well---no wonder we pray for the return
Of last Fall's Plague.
Aviators Hate Song

And they make us feel like Slackers.
They love to do it.
They work overtime at it.
I wonder if they put the Ground School here
Just for that reason?
And when they look at us as though trying to decide Whether we have glass eyes, Flat Feet or Dependents,
Flinging "There's An Alien Enemy" look our way
No wonder we camouflage in our drill uniforms—
Drawing a salute now and then, Ha! Ha!
But anyway they can't be Rays's or Big Boot's pets—
Not in uniform!

And last and worst they vamp our girls.
They line up to the Army's reputation
Of having a Wicked way with Women.
But you notice they put nothing down in Black or White?
On Saturday nights up at Bradley's they appear in droves.
And no matter if they dance like the Devil
The girls all beam on them
And want to "Join the Army" right away.
Or they run and get his dimensions
For a form fitting sweater.
Yes, and though they oogle and catch cold
In the Y. M. windows, they are forgiven.
For they wear O. D. suits—
Speak lightly of Death—
And the girls adore them!
I HATE AVIATORS.
THEY GET ON MY NERVES.

SHERIFF NABBED U. OF I. STUDENTS IN LODGE CABIN

They Paid All Costs Saturday And Charges Were Dropped

Monticello, Dec. 3.—A delightful little domestic scene in the Lodge cabin two and one-half miles north of Monticello, was interrupted shortly after dusk on Thanksgiving day by Sheriff George Lindsey and as a result two well known students of the University of Illinois F. G. King and J. E. Davis were placed under arrest. Two sorority girls, one of whom resides in one of the small towns of Champaign county were with the young men at the time of the arrest. The parties are charged with disturbing the peace, having entered the Lodge cabin without any consultation of the owner and having taken complete possession. When the officers arrived they found the quartet were playing cards so happily that it seemed a shame to interrupt them. William Lodge, one of the owners of the cabin, accompanied Mr. Lindsey when the arrest was made. The two students returned to Monticello on Saturday and paid the costs of the case, $5 apiece, the charges being dropped and it being agreed not to publish the names of the young women.
SCANDAL

For those who enjoy their lives in proportion to the view they have of other people's lives, is this page mournfully dedicated. Herewith!!!!!

Did you know that the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity (on John Street) had awarded several cups to the Chios during the year, cups for their mantle-place. The Pi Kappa Alphas are strong for cups, and have tried to share their joys with the Chios. It was empty enjoyment for the sisters, though.

A female T. N. E. is in our midst, better known as the Matrix Society. Its motto is "Unity for both parties, where there are two points of view there is enlightenment." They contributed greatly to the success of Lois Evans' election as president of the Woman's League.

We have been given to understand that our two affiliated Pi Phi sisters Fritz Mauer and Ash Halliwell, and charter sisters Irene Held and Gretchen Franken looked like a Chinese puzzle when they were suddenly outlined by the glare of a porch light from 705 S. Third Street. Brother Halliwell had to crank a Ford for an hour so that they wouldn't find out who he was. There's a rich morsel.

While on our daily run of janitor work, we stopped back of the A. D. P. house to clean out the waste baskets. The following is an extract from a chapter letter received from the chapter at Baton Rouge: "Three of the pledges who were left down town in their kimonas and bedroom slippers have taken cold and will not be initiated until March 14." And the wind whistled through their rigging.

We hand it to Sal. She has brains as well as braun. In the law school she brilliantly finished a course with the high grade of C, which same course our Varsity Debater, Sandler, flunked without a chance. All of which shows a great amount of diligent concentration and attention to work on the part of Sal.

The Phi Sig brotherhood have often expressed their chagrin at not being able to determine who the rest of the seven Pi Phis, besides Sara Moore, were at the annual smoker held in the third story front room of the old Pi Phi house at 806 S. Third, late last year.

And Herb Bartholomew never would tell us who the Psi U was that attended Sal's Alpha Zi house party with him the night after Xmas vacation started. It was kind of a smoker, too.

Also, have you heard about the Urbana Boarding house that was put under arrest for running a blind pig?

We also must remind you of the girl who had an accident at the Phi Kappa Sigma house, and had to resort to the cloak room for protection. Irene, where art thou?

Before we forget. Who kissed Edna Mann goodbye, on leaving for the front????

Ash her, she knows.

Why, oh why, did the Pi Phis move the porch swings so that you can't see one from the other? "That may be characteristic of some houses but it certainly isn't of ours."

Attractive touring rates have been offered for parties visiting the surrounding country. A group made up of Red Langdon, Vi Moore, Cleland Smith and others, made the trip to Mattoon, Illinois and return, on Wednesday night, March 27. A good time was had by all. This is one of many trips Miss Moore has made.

For rates apply Pi Kappa Alpha House.

One night we passed the Congregational House while a water fight was in progress. They may be congregational, but we are looking forward with keen delight to their next open house. We feel that we know the girls so well.

The Betas have finally affiliated with the Sigma Nus. The promising Beta cook's daughter (she'll promise anything), has engaged herself to a promising Sigma Nu.

We often wondered why we never found Alpha Chi couples in loving embrace before their brand new fireplace. The secret is out. The sister with her longing partner hie themselves over to Laura Bussey's home where they establish themselves on Laura's davenport in front of Laura's grate fire. Ask them if this isn't true. Laura says, Why not give them a chance?

already delivered for use in the U. S. Army and Navy. If fact all the permanent dental chairs bought for the Navy have been PEERLESS HARVARDS. All by the Red Cross, fifty in addition to the above, have been PEERLESS HARVARDS. All for the Motor Dental Cars furnished by American dentists, Dr. S. M. Weaver, chairman of the purchasing committee for army use, are PEERLESS HARVARDS. The purchasing boards for all these departments seek first of all the highest quality. The PEERLESS HARVARDS is being more rapidly installed in the highest class offices and industrial corporation dental departments than any other chair. This also could not prevail were it not the best chair.

Portraiture

The picture Duncan makes for you is entirely out of the picture class—it is a faithful portrait, taken with the kindliest lighting conditions and in a pose characteristic of you.

Every Duncan Portrait is a master portrayal of its subject—his work has received national recognition in direct competition with the foremost of the country.

Duncan

614 E. Green Street
How a Blacksmith Made the Plow that Conquered a Wilderness

Put yourself for awhile in the place of John Deere, young blacksmith, giant in stature and strength, owner of a little blacksmith shop in the little frontier village of Grand Detour, Illinois, in the year 1837.

Around you stretching in every direction are illimitable prairies and muck-lands, black of soil that extends down nearly as far as a man can dig in a day. Rank vegetation covers the land, growing on hot July days so fast that you seem to see and hear the growth.

Around you, too, are scattering farmers—hardy pioneers, among the first to press westward from New England and the Middle Atlantic states—who have stopped here attracted by the promise of this land of wonderful fertility.

But there is gloom in the community. There is talk of resuming migration westward in search of a different soil, or of return towards the land from whence you and the farmers came. For the rich, black, gloey soil rebuffs every type of plow in use. The farmers are unable to put in crops.

There are frequent consultations in your little shop. The farmers know that you are a good blacksmith, and they look to you for a solution of the problem.

You tinker skilfully with the plows that they bring in—plows of wood with iron-tipped shares and iron-patched moldboards. They are the best plows the world has yet developed; they were serviceable in the light soils back home in the East; but here in this wonderful new land of locked soil-treasure, they fail in spite of all that you can do with them. Experiment follows experiment in your little shop; but still the problem remains unsolved.

Then one day a new idea develops in your mind, telling you that the necessary plow must have a steel moldboard and share, with the moldboard curved in such a way that it will pour itself as it works in the gloey soil.

No plow of the kind your imagination sees has ever been built. You have no pattern to follow. Painstakingly you carve a pattern on a log, carefully fashioning the curve that means everything.

Then, since you have no other steel, you cut a piece from an old mill-saw blade, dimension it exactly to fit your purpose, place it over the pattern and carefully hammer it with a wooden mallet until it fits the pattern lines.

Your plow bottom is done—the first of its kind ever built.

You bolt your creation to a frame that you have fashioned from white oak rails, shoulder the assembled plow and go to a nearby farm for a demonstration.

A crowd of farmers look on—some cynical, some hopeful—while you hitch a horse to the plow. You make a few final adjustments, cluck to the horse, lift up on the handles of the plow, and then, while the horse plods on and the farmers gasp, the thing which you have created voices a low, continuous whisper as the black, gloey furrow-slice turns clean and true from its moldboard. Your plow has solved the problem.

* * * * * * * * *

It was thus that John Deere planned, built and demonstrated the world's first successful steel plow, launched his long career as the master maker of farm implements, and unlocked the treasure-hold of the world's greatest agricultural region.

The hungry world is turning landward. The plow-maker is coming into his own. And the world gives special credit to the sturdy blacksmith who evolved a new plow that conquered a wilderness and inaugurated a full line of John Deere implements that leads in the work of producing food for the world.

Illinois Students!

Have you a copy of the ILLINOIS SONGS?

Every Student should know the famous songs from their own College.

"By Thy Rivers Gently Flowing"

By Walter Howe Jones

The SONG that has spread to every state in the union—because of its melody and words, many schools have adopted it, the State Centennial Commission is about to adopt it, you should have a copy in your own home.

OUR BOYS in training camps, in France, our sailors on the big battleships, every patriotic citizen will sing it—Why not YOU?

Use Columbia Ground Limestone

The size of the finished material is exactly right—some of it is finest dust, some is about the size of a grain of wheat, the balance ranges between these two limits. It provides an immediately available supply for the coming crops from the dust like particles. During the succeeding years, the larger particles gradually do their work, so that a single application benefits the soil for years to come, just as the best cropping practice requires.

Insist upon Columbia Ground Limestone, because it is of high quality, and properly ground.

The increased crops, as every scientific agriculturist knows, will easily pay for the cost of liming land, in a single season. All the succeeding increases are clear gain. Write us for further data upon this subject.

Scene: I. T. S. Interurban about to leave for Decatur.

Time: First day of Christmas recess.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
John ........................................ John Crabtree
Lizzie ..................................... Elizabeth Wheelhouse

Elizabeth and John sorrowfully await departure of interurban for Decatur.

John: “Well, we'll see each other in two weeks anyway, dear.

Lizzie: “Yes, but just think we haven’t been separated for more than eight hours since last September.

Conductor: “All aboard.”

(John picks up suitcase and gallantly accompanies his amour into the crowded car; car begins to move slowly while John looks around hastily and discovers high brow University populace.)

Elizabeth: “John the car has started.”

John (somewhat uneasy): “Yes dear, but, but,—the crowd!”

(Car now having moved three blocks, John gets enough courage to perform the ceremony and departs hastily, leaving poor Lizzie to face the disgusted crowd.)

Exit John.

High Life Among the Coeds

"The Coed lives a Jolly Life"
You've heard the fellows sing
Amid a little care and strife
We have an awful fling.

There's the Orpheum second show,
It's an exciting fad.
But heavens! if we often go
We get in very bad.

On Sundays we get an Inman thrill,
With chicken a la King
And a frantic freshman pays the bill,
By hocking his best ring.

And late at night the "Silver Moon"
Or "Chop Suey Joint" so dark
And if we are inclined to spoon
There's good old Homer Park.

Swimming parties at Crystal Lake.
Or in canoes some Bone Yard trips
This boredom stuff is all a fake
If you but own some poker chips.

Ho hummy! school life's one mad whirl
And not a straight and narrow lane
Each one was once a modest girl
But now is bathing in Champaign!

IN CONCLUSION

OUR last frenzied search for the name of the last man in the second row has been made, the last call for the picture of the girl's freshman soccer team has been answered, the engraver has unwillingly compromised and given us our way about the color of the third half tone on the sixth section, page four hundred and seventeen, and our task has been completed. Our work is over, and we await the result, hoping that our effort to make the ILLIO representative of the University and the students has been successful.

It has been a long task and at times a trying one, and blue disappointment has followed keen satisfaction in the compiling of the material. Men of the staff have left school, and the burden has been taken up by others, new in the work but always enthusiastic. The actual has fallen far below the ideal, nothing has seemed to look just as it was planned, but we can feel that it has been our best effort, that we have put our whole soul into the work and that it must stand or fall by this test. We ask for your lenient judgment, and not too great ire at finding your name spelled with an o instead of an a.

We pray that the picture of the Country Life Club run with the Motorcycle Club name will not lose either many new pledges. We crave your indulgence over the rough spots, and hope that the book fills a real need in your college days and that it will be a pleasant memoir in your graduate days. If we can be certain of this, our purpose will have been accomplished.

Of the work of the staff, too much cannot be said. Only their untiring cooperation has made the book possible, and to them must go the credit for its completion. Especially is the work of Walt Remley and Bill Thompson, in charge of Athletics, Jim Fetherstone in charge of the Chicago Departments, Florence Lindahl in charge of Women's Activities, and Mike Dailey and George Unger to be commended. The steady efforts of the sophomore assistants has also contributed largely to any success that can be attributed to the book, and the counsel of last year's pilots, Larry Winters and Rus White, has helped to smooth out many rough places. All have our very deep gratitude for their generous help which has made the 1919 ILLIO possible, and we hope that its final appearance on the campus may be in a small way compensation for their work.
