The ILLIO
DEDICATION

Mankind, stunned to realize that it has emerged from six years of war holding the future of humanity in its two hands, faces the exigent problem of maintaining order and peace. Failure in learning the lessons of living together entails the destruction of the human race.

A final solution to the intricate problems involved in the creation of a world order lies with our national leaders. Our responsibility as citizens is to guide our leaders toward creating the type of organization we feel is best. To do this we must keep ourselves informed. We must realize that we have the power to voice our opinions, and we must exercise this power intelligently. Our voices must not be stilled.

We dedicate The Illio of 1946 to a future world where an orderly government will echo the words of the people. May this volume be the first of an endless line of Illios produced in a world at peace.
Every beach-head, foxhole, and battlefield bears witness to the glory, strength, and valor with which our Illini fought.

We would humbly pay tribute to the six hundred and nineteen Illini whose devotion and self-sacrifice we revere, and to the courage exemplified by their gold stars.

To the nineteen thousand alumni and former students who gave of themselves, their time and their achievements, we offer the grateful hearts of a nation and of a university at peace.

To our valiant returning Illini we now consecrate our hearts, our hands, and our minds, for the preservation of the peace in which they believed, and for which they fought.

We pause in memory of all those “Fighting Illini” who gave their all, so that we might enjoy peace.

ADMINISTRATION

WHAT MAKES THE UNIVERSITY TICK...

The primary objectives of the University are carried out in three programs—educational, academic, and research. A fourth program operates quietly in the background, namely, that of administration.

Many officers included on the administrative staff of the University do no teaching or research. They are the managers, the welfare officers, the public relations officers—the operators of the University.

Chief administrator is the President of the University. He is the co-ordinator of all academic and operational work of the University. A group of specialists, each with his own staff and field of operations aids him. This group of specialists consists of the Provost, the Comptroller and his staff, the Director of the Physical Plant, the Registrar, the Dean of Students, and the Public Relations officer.

Other administrative officers guide the Illini Union, the Personnel Bureau, the Alumni Association, the Athletic Association, the Bureau of Institutional Research, the High School Visitor's office, the Press and Information Office, the Radio Station, and the Retirement System Offices.
TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

The University of Illinois welcomes home its returning faculty, students, and alumni who have contributed so much to the winning of World War II. Of the 19,946 Illini who have served in the armed forces of our country, over 639 Illini will not return—they have given that “last full measure of devotion” for their country and for the preservation of our “American way of life.”

Conscious of its obligations to the State and the Nation, the University has met fully and patriotically the calls of two World Wars, giving unstintingly of its manpower in combat, in research, and in programs related to military instruction and training. While we are proud of the achievements of the past, we recognize the responsibilities of the present and the future. The varied educational problems of reconversion in the post-war period, now upon us, will require great skill and ability in their solution. Among these problems, none is more vital and pressing than serving the needs of the thousands of returning veterans who are already appearing on our campus in ever increasing numbers. Every resource of the University will be devoted to the assistance of these men and women in securing a college education in a minimum of time. The Division of Special Services for War Veterans is now in full operation with a most capable and sympathetic staff directing the many activities of the Division.

We face all these problems with the full confidence that the University will meet and solve them. With a scholarly and loyal staff, with greatly increased facilities now being designed and about to be constructed, and with the desire and will to do all that is expected of it, the University will, in the future, as it has in the past, justify the confidence reposed in it by the people of the State of Illinois.

When each "green" freshman enters Illinois, feeling perhaps a little unsure of himself and awed by the size of the campus and the crowds of students, the fact is quickly impressed upon him that he may go at any time to see the dean—Fred H. Turner, Mrs. Leah Trelease, and Edward E. Stafford. To them any student can go for vocational counsel, financial aid, and friendly advice in almost any and every field—schedules, housing, scholarship, work, and home troubles and responsibilities.

The dean of students is Fred H. Turner. Through his office pass matters dealing, among other things, with fraternities, extra-curricular activities and organizations, social affairs, and campus events. Several of Dean Turner's surveys of student life at the University have appeared in current magazines, and he is a well-known speaker on student life. Interesting, too, is the fact that Dean Turner's thesis may be found in the University library, for it is considered one of the most authoritative accounts ever made of the Illinois Industrial University.

Illinois' acting Dean of Women is popular Mrs. Leah Trelease. This year has been Dean Trelease's first in her new position, but she was already well-known and liked on campus; her English courses were some of the most popular offered by the University. Liked for her naturalness and sincerity, for her sense of humor, for her vibrant personality, Dean Trelease has interested herself particularly in housing, scholarship, and activities. But Dean Trelease has many other concerns—at least 4,000 of them, each of them a coed at Illinois, and in each of whom Dean Trelease is genuinely interested.

Edward E. Stafford is the Dean of Men. With the return of so many veterans to the campus, his office has become extremely busy, but not too busy to be concerned with the welfare and interest of them all and all the other men on campus. He has had a great deal of experience with University life and students and has been very successful as dean, a position which he has held since 1944.
The Alumni Association is almost as old as the University itself. From the beginning, it has been the bond between alumni and their alma mater; it looks after their interests on the campus. Nearly 80,000 alumni receive Illinois Alumni News, with current information about their classmates and about the University. The alumni office is a storehouse of biographical information about some 80,000 men and women who once attended Illinois.

In January, 1943, the Alumni Association was reorganized. The staff was enlarged to include an executive director, a membership director, a director of field activities, a man to devote much of his time to the Alumni News, and other people to keep records, assist with student activities, and to do a thousand and one things which react to the benefit of the alumni and the university.

The association maintains an office and lounge facilities in Chicago—on the 18th floor of the LaSalle Hotel; it is working on a program of club activities which eventually will be nationwide in scope; it has increased its membership from less than 4,000 to 12,500 and it is still growing rapidly. It is one of the fastest-growing organizations at the university. It hopes to justify the faith of thousands of Illini who have become members of the Alumni Association.
COLLEGES AT URBANA

WHAT ARE UNIVERSITIES MADE OF . . . ?

The schools, colleges, and divisions here at Urbana make up what we think of as the University of Illinois. Each has its own functions and services; each expands to fit growing needs for more services.

Our University is always working and planning to keep abreast of the times, even ahead of them, to give us and we who follow us the opportunity of entering a good college in the field in which they are most interested. In accordance with this growing and expanding, the University as a whole is always looking forward and planning for new colleges. Plans are now in the making for a Veterinary School of Medicine, an Institute of Aeronautics, and a Labor Relations Department.

Advancement in the individual colleges make the University progressive—another reason why we think the University of Illinois is one of the best.
LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences offers instructions in the humanities, the social sciences, and the natural sciences, leading to the degrees of bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of science in chemistry and chemical engineering and in home economics. In addition, it offers the necessary work preparatory to medicine, law, journalism, and education.

Liberal Arts and Sciences, the largest of all colleges, attained its present status in 1913 when the College of Literature and Arts and the College of Sciences were combined.

A student Personnel Bureau, created in 1937, affords the opportunity for personal counseling along the lines of educational, scholastic, and vocational guidance.

The Division of General Studies with a curriculum built around non-departmental courses is designed specifically for students seeking a general education.

Mathew T. McClure has been dean since 1934.
The curricula in Engineering are planned to give a thorough training in mathematics and the physical sciences which are applied in design, construction, and operation of engineering structures, machines, and industrial works. A moderate amount of specialization is provided through options and by special arrangement of courses in the senior year.

The Engineering Experiment Station, organized in 1903, was the first in any engineering college. Nearly 400 bulletins and circulars recording the results of investigations in almost every field of engineering have been published and are to be found in libraries in all parts of the world. The Station is engaged in many investigations in co-operation with trade associations, government agencies, and with industry.

Melvin L. Enger, Dean of the College of Engineering since 1934, heads this college which is meeting the unprecedented demand for engineers created by the astonishing developments and advances in engineering and industrial production during the war.
The College of Education believing that “only an enlightened people can be free” has as its purpose the instruction of those who will teach our children the ideals and fundamentals of the American way of life.

The college offers, on the undergraduate level, professional preparation for high school teachers. On the graduate level, it offers advanced professional preparation for elementary and high school teachers, supervisors and principals and superintendents of schools, and prepares faculty members to teach and carry on research in Education in colleges and universities.

The College of Education had its origin in 1893 under the influence and teaching of Charles de Garmo, Professor of Psychology. In 1900, a Department of Education was set up, which became in 1907, the School of Education and in 1918 received its present title the College of Education. The present dean of the college, Walter S. Monroe, has been dean since 1945.
The fundamental purpose of the College of Law is to train students for the practice of law. But the training involves more than the learning of legal rules and formulae. The college seeks to develop an appreciation of the highest ideals of the profession, a facility in legal scholarship, and a consciousness of the responsibility of the lawyer to society for furthering the wise development of law and its administration.

The College of Law was established in 1897, guided by Dr. Andrew S. Dooper, President of the University and first dean of the College, and the Honorable John D. Altgeld, governor of Illinois. The building that houses the College is named Altgeld Hall in honor of Governor Altgeld and in memory of his interest in the College.

Albert James Harno, dean of the college since 1922, heads a college which has kept pace with, or has been a leader in movements for the advancement of standards of legal education.
"Journalism is taught in American universities because the journalist needs a cultural and a technical education which only the universities are providing; he needs to have that education related to the practice of journalism; he needs inculcation with the professional ideals and the social objectives of modern journalism; and he needs today more than ever before in history the discipline of practical and scientific investigation in contemporary affairs which courses in journalism teach."

The present curriculum includes courses in newspaper, magazine, press association and radio journalism, publishing management, and advertising.

Frederick S. Siebert, director of the school since 1941, is head of the American Association of Schools and Colleges of Journalism.

The School of Journalism champions a free press as the right of a free people and offers a curriculum to prepare its students for actuating the ideal.
In 1902, courses in Commerce were established at the University of Illinois, having as their objectives, the training of citizens and businessmen who could understand the underlying principles of economics and the fundamental concepts of sound business organization and operation to the end that they might help in a better execution of the growing complexities of business and fiscal phases of government. By 1915 such substantial progress had been made that the College of Commerce and Business Administration was organized with two departments, one designated Economics and the other Business Organization and Operation.

Hiram T. Scovill, acting dean since 1942, has, with the faculty of 75, the responsibility of preparing the constantly growing stream of young men and women, who are pouring out into the business world, "for life as well as for living."
The School of Physical Education, established in the fall of 1932, includes three departments: Physical Education for Men, Physical Education for Women, and Health Service.

The Department of Physical Education for Men conducts service courses (required of all students), conducts a professional training curriculum for students majoring in this field, and promotes a program of recreational sports for men.

The Department of Physical Education for Women also conducts the service courses in physical education, a program in intramural sports, a professional training curriculum, and a program in faculty recreation for women.

The Department of Health Service, in general, gives health examinations to all students, confers with students about health problems, co-operates with the State Board of Health in controlling contagious diseases, regulates sanitary conditions on and about the campus, and conducts courses in sanitation and hygiene for both men and women.

Its director, S. C. Staley, has been director of the school since 1937.
The Division of University Extension is the means by which certain of the facilities of the University of Illinois are put at the disposal of the people of the state who are beyond the confines of the campus. Some of the ways in which this is done are: the offering of 86 college courses by correspondence, the teaching of a limited number of extramural classes in various Illinois cities, lectures by faculty members before clubs and other organizations over the state, short courses and conferences, forums, a state-wide program of citizenship institutes for first voters, a lending library of educational motion pictures, and a resource and consulting service for teachers of speech and of science.

The Division, which is the youngest of the major administrative units of the University, is, appropriately enough for a youngster, growing rapidly.

Its director, Robert B. Browne, has been the capable head of the Division since its organization in 1934.
Through its many varied courses and its research and extension branches, the College of Agriculture seeks to improve quality of food and fiber products for the consumer, and advance the welfare of agriculture and its many allied industries.

A wide range of courses dealing with the production, marketing, processing, and utilization of food and clothing materials is offered. Thorough grounding in the basic sciences is required, as is also the broadening experience gained through cultural courses.

The teachings of the College are vitalized by the work of the Experiment Station, with its hundreds of projects designed to test new practices and develop new knowledge; and by the close contact which members of the staff have with the people of the State through its well developed and active Extension Service.

Henry P. Rusk, dean since 1939, is the spokesman of the Illinois farmer through the college.
The College of Fine and Applied Arts was established in 1931 by combining in one administrative unit the Departments of Art, Architecture and Landscape Architecture, and the School of Music, all of long history and in flourishing condition. To these departments the Bureau of Community Planning was added in 1934.

These curricula are so framed that the student obtains as wide a training in liberal studies as is compatible with the laying of a firm foundation in the particular art which he proposes to study.

In addition to its more formal program, the college offers annually many events in the way of lectures on the various arts, concerts, recitals, and the constantly changing exhibits of art objects displayed in the Architecture Building.

The Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, Rexford Newcomb, has been dean since 1932 with a faculty of eighty men and women. The College enrolls nearly eight hundred professional students.
The University Library, through the General Library and its branches, provides books needed by students for class reports, theses, and general readings, and books and journals needed by the faculty for their research. The Browsing Room, for general voluntary reading, is popular with undergraduates. The Library bookstacks contain more than one million volumes, a collection increasing at the rate of more than 30,000 books a year.

The Library School, a professional school for the training of librarians, admits only college graduates. Established in 1893, it is the oldest Library School west of the Alleghanies. From the beginning it has ranked as one of the outstanding library schools in America. The curriculum leads to the degrees of a Bachelor of Sciences in Library Science after one year of study, and to the degree of Master of Science after two years of study.

Robert B. Downs, the director, has been head of the school since 1943.
The principal aim of graduate study is the development of the power and the promotion of the spirit of investigation. The student who pursues an extended course is expected to obtain a wide knowledge of his subject and of related fields of investigation, and also to acquire and begin to use the power of extending the range of what is known.

Scholarships and fellowships, established by the University Board of Trustees, are open to graduate students of exceptional ability and promise. Funds are available from several special sources for the support of additional fellowships, the purpose of which is to promote higher education and to contribute to the extension and diffusion of knowledge. Several important individual research programs are encouraged and helped forward by the aid of the resources which have been made available through the Graduate School and the Research Board. Some of these are of very great value in the social process.

Robert D. Carmichael has been dean of the school since 1934.
SENIORS

The Class of 1946 saw the University at war, but it also saw the University at peace. Some of its members marched away, but this class was able to see them marching back again. During their sophomore year, they joked about "this girls' school", but during their senior year they had a chance to joke about the crowded Broadwalk.

They will have many memories of their college careers — girls as activity leaders, the showy splendor of post-war Homecoming and Mother's Day, the return of important dances and "big-name bands", the sudden shift from all-girl classes to those with a majority of vets. However, the wartime Illinois has not been without its fun. The student body was small and still friendly; play was mixed with work; cokes were still a dime at the Annex. With their sheepskins, the Class of 1946 will take memories of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln Hall, 2-5 labs in the Chem Building, "fags" on the steps of Greg Hall, bridge in the Pine Lounge between classes — all part of four memorable years at Illinois.

CHICAGO CAMPUS

The University of Illinois Colleges of Dentistry, Medicine, and Pharmacy form an important part of the Chicago Medical Center. The program of teaching and research in these three medical sciences is here co-ordinated with service to thousands of citizens of the State of Illinois through the University's Research and Educational Hospitals. Affiliations with the Illinois Neuropsychiatric Institute, the Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary, and Rush-Presbyterian Hospital have made possible high standards of clinical teaching.

Over 1000 undergraduate students, more than one-tenth of them women, are enrolled in the three colleges. The colleges, in addition, have inaugurated a large-scale program of refresher courses to fit the needs of veteran doctors and dentists returning to civilian practice. Expanded research and teaching programs are being made possible by the return of many of the faculty, nearly 500 of whom have been serving in the armed forces. Plans are underway for a 450 bed addition to the general hospital.
COLLEGE OF MEDICINE
Reconversion of its many-sided program to the requirements of the new world has occupied the College of Medicine, as it has the rest of the University during the past year.

Augmented service to its students, to the State, to the veteran and to humanity is the keynote of the year’s accomplishments, which include the addition of many distinguished men to the faculty, inauguration of new research projects, great expansion of postgraduate courses for veteran medical officers and civilian physicians, graduation of our first class of occupational therapists, completion of plans for important additions to the Research and Educational Hospitals, co-operation with the Veterans Administration in supplying consulting physicians and residents at the Hines Hospital, significant expansion in the research and graduate teaching program in the Rush-Presbyterian Division, and advances in numerous inter-departmental and inter-campus research and teaching activities.

In peace and war the mission of a medical school is the same—to educate and train physicians and surgeons and their assistants to bring the best of medical care to the sick and to do all that is possible to prevent illness and disability, paying equal attention to the rich and poor. The advance of medicine, in the future as in the past, will depend on research not only in the medical sciences, but also in the natural sciences, the social sciences and the humanities, which have contributed their knowledge and wisdom concerning the life process to the progress of medicine. The newer knowledge of nuclear physics and chemistry, to which the University of Illinois has made such distinguished contributions, holds untold possibilities for medicine.

Medicine, like the peace, is indivisible. It knows no racial lines nor national boundaries. Its only concern is to advance its understanding of man, in health and disease, wherever on the face of this tortured planet he happens to live, and to bring him as much relief from pain and disease as the knowledge and skills of the physician make possible. The University of Illinois College of Medicine is dedicated to these high aims.

COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY
Since the last issue of the Illio the College of Dentistry has graduated forty-nine men. Many of these were immediately commissioned in the Army and Navy of the United States and are now serving in all parts of the world. The military atmosphere has now disappeared with the separation of the last Navy V-12 trainees during the Christmas holidays, and the civilian has returned to his own.

During the past few months a number of familiar faces have reappeared and the teaching staff is gradually attaining its pre-war strength. Several more are expected in the near future. Incoming classes, however, have been small owing to the relatively few candidates who had completed their preprofessional training prior to the outbreak of hostilities.

Judging from present indications, the class entering the College in September will be of near capacity size and it is expected that the demand for dental education will increase markedly during the years just ahead. The opportunities in this field of the healing arts will be great for many years to come.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY
This issue of the Illio will undoubtedly record many accomplishments of alumni and former students, attained through their efforts to preserve the principles which gave birth to this nation. It is enough to say that their devotion to this task was unselfish, and for their services rendered in our behalf we must now consecrate our efforts to glorify the peace in the days to come.

The profession of Pharmacy has, throughout the generations of the past, represented that field of medical sciences essential to the supply of necessary remedial agents in the treatment of the afflicted. In the days to come this responsibility will be magnified in direct proportion to the shortening of distances between the widely separated centers of civilization. The insidiousness of disease has been afforded new channels of migration by means of the roads built to the far corners of the world. The problems which have so readily reached our door-step from afar afford a challenge to the pioneer in the field of science. Into this larger field of endeavor men serving the profession of Pharmacy must be willing to go, if we keep faith with the callings of the profession.

Alpha Kappa Kappa, now enjoying its forty-seventh year on the campus, continues to fulfill the broad purposes of mental development, scholarship, social intercourse, and mutual assistance on which our professional fraternity is based. We congratulate brothers Fortner, Nolan and Henderson for attaining scholastic achievement and election to AOA. We are proud to be the only fraternity completing the past year without losing a brother or pledge because of scholastic reasons. Our representation on the councils, committees, and organizations of the student body continues to prove the leadership of our members. Garrison is president of the student council and senior class. Bone and Rosell are the presidents of Pi Kappa Epsilon and the sophomore class respectively. We are also well represented on the student council, Union social committee, and sports committee. Our social life includes a senior farewell dinner-dance, Tri-Chapter dance, beach parties, and frequent house parties. Dancing, singing, and entertainment at these are unequaled in Chicagoland. Remember the Awful Kreepy Kavern of our recent Spook party? Our mantel now has added to it the 1945 trophies for championships in swimming, basketball, volleyball, and track. Present officers are: president, Guynn; vice-president, Richards; treasurer, Purdy; secretaries, Woodworth and Walker.
ILLI-SOTA

Occupational Therapy was introduced as a curriculum on this campus in the fall of 1943, under the direction of Beatrice D. Wade. This course, the first to be administered by a college of medicine, consists of ten semesters of study, six of which are given under the direction of the Liberal Arts College on the Urbana campus, and four in the College of Medicine in Chicago and affiliated hospitals. On November 19, 1944, this curriculum was accredited by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

Illi-Sota, the official name of the Illinois Student-Occupational Therapy Association, recognized as a campus activity in March, 1944, seeks through monthly meetings to acquaint its members with each other and with the activities of their future profession. Similar organizations exist in the majority of the seventeen accredited schools of Occupational Therapy throughout the country.

At the present time fifteen students are registered on the Chicago campus taking the combined clinical and medical instruction, thus forming a division of Illi-Sota on that campus.

The present officers of the Association are: Jean P. Cassels, president; Betty Mae Wilkinson, vice-president; Louise Kremens, secretary; and Elizabeth Larrance, treasurer.
From the time of its first establishment at the University of Illinois, in March, 1902, Iota Chapter of Phi Beta Pi has held a key position in the student activities of the College of Medicine as well as in the national organization consisting of forty chapters located in important medical centers throughout the United States.

In addition to the opportunity of living and studying the science of medicine in close association with fellow students, the Phi Betas have found the additional advantages of freely discussing their work with members of alumni—both of the faculty and of the many practicing physicians throughout Chicago. Thus is gained that certain insight to the profession which can be acquired from no text book, but is well at hand in the medical fraternity where alumni are frequent visitors and active in fraternity affairs.

For many years Dr. Hugo O. Deuss has devoted much time in skillfully guiding the activities of the chapter in his capacity of faculty advisor.

As a stimulus for academic endeavor and the maintenance of the responsibility for the upholding of the standards of the profession, such association has shown itself in the most commendable scholastic achievement of the members of Phi Beta Pi.

PHI RHO SIGMA

_Phi Rho Sigma_, an international fraternity of forty-four active chapters in the United States and Canada, was founded at Northwestern University in 1890. Beta, the second oldest chapter, originated in 1894 at the College of Physicians and Surgeons which later was incorporated into the University of Illinois. Gamma Chapter, of Rush merged with Beta after the University of Illinois bought Rush Medical College. Beta Gamma now owns its own chapter house at the present address.

Ever feeling that the chapter house is the medical students' "home away from home", Phi Rho has attempted to create a home-like atmosphere. Our meals are served family-style in the large comfortable dining room. After dinner the brothers assemble in the living room for a few songs or a friendly game of bridge to rest their minds for the long hours of studying ahead.

While scholarship is the main interest of Phi Rho Sigma, the social needs of its members are not neglected. Phi Rho holds numerous stag parties and alumni reunions for its members and also a monthly party and dance to which members of other fraternities are invited.

Careful attention is given the freshman to enable him to successfully complete his most difficult year of medical training. Upperclassmen lend every assistance to guide the freshman in his entry into the world's highest profession.

Phi Delta Epsilon was founded at Cornell University in 1904, and the Illinois chapter, Alpha Alpha, was established in 1912. Pledges for the chapter are selected from the student body of the College of Medicine. Alpha Alpha chapter at the University of Illinois is the largest of the fifty-six chapters of Phi Delta Epsilon.

Phi Delta Epsilon is well known on the Chicago Campus and is well represented in campus activities, having won first prize for the best booth at the campus carnival this past year. In athletics it has always distinguished itself by continuing to hold the intramural championship in baseball for the past six years and by always putting contending teams in the touch-football tournaments.

Scholastically, this group is well represented by such high-ranking seniors as Ira Budwig, Raymond Echt, Harry King, Howard Wallach and others.

Bottom Row: Harry Kaufman, Filmore Schiller, Sheldon Dray, Bernard Dobrow, Marvin Rosner, Peter Segal, Sol Altshul, Charles Goldenberg, Charles Alpern, Bennett Sherman
William Lichtman, the consul of this group, is also the vice-president of the senior class and business manager of the Illini Scope, the Chicago Campus student publication. Sheldon Dray, one of the high-ranking seniors, is now the editor of the same publication.

Numerous affairs are sponsored at the Chicago Illini Union by this group, including coke dances and luncheons.

The annual Senior Farewell and Initiation dinner dance is the fraternity's outstanding social event of the year. Many lectures, at which outstanding personalities in medicine speak, are also sponsored by this organization.

There are eighteen faculty men in the College of Medicine who are alumni of Phi Delta Epsilon. Among them is Dr. Ben Lichtenstein, professor of neurology and noted clinician, teacher and humorist, who is the fraternity advisor.
Phi Lambda Kappa

Phi Lambda Kappa is a national medical fraternity founded at the University of Pennsylvania in 1907. Alpha Alpha chapter of the University of Illinois was established in 1908.

The fraternity has as its object, a brotherhood of Jewish physicians actuated by similar ethical ideals, and as its goal—the fostering of fraternal fellowship, unselfishness, an appreciation of obligation, tolerance, individuality and high scholarship. In addition to active and alumni membership, the fraternity confers honorary or faculty memberships on outstanding medical personalities. Among the honorary members of the fraternity are such noted men as Dr. Simon Flexner, emeritus director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, and Dr. Bela Schick, the originator of the Schick test for diphtheria.

At the present time the fraternity roll includes thirty-seven undergraduate chapters and five alumni clubs located in the larger cities. Over 11,000 alumni served in the armed forces of our country during the World War II.

The official publication is the Phi Lambda Kappa Quarterly and the official colors are blue and white.

There are numerous members of Phi Lambda Kappa on the faculty of the College of Medicine and from these a faculty advisor is chosen. At the present time the faculty advisor is Dr. Benjamin Pearlman of the department of internal medicine.

Members of the fraternity have been very active in other activities at the College of Medicine, having officers and representatives of the fraternity in Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical fraternity; Phi Mu Phi, honorary music fraternity; The Illini Scope, student publication; student council and Union building committees.

The present officers are: Herbert Grossman, president; Reuben Beezy, vice-president; Patrick Israel, treasurer; Harvey Gassman, secretary; Irvin Susman, sergeant-at-arms; and Max Forman, alumni secretary.
NU SIGMA NU

Nu Sigma Nu was founded at the University of Michigan on March 2, 1882 by six students, the most notable of whom was Will Mayo. This Alpha chapter and our own Eta chapter, founded ten years later at the University of Illinois, are both “firsts” in professional medical fraternity circles. At the present time there are forty-one active chapters with a aggregate total of over 21,000 members.

In preparation for the arrival of the new class, extensive remodeling converted the chapter house into very comfortable living quarters for the members. During the course of the year, Fred L. Whitlark, Martin Koeck III, and Edmund M. Brophy became members of the national honorary fraternity, Alpha Omega Alpha. The faculty members, numbering eighty, were well represented at the annual pheasant dinner and also at the Christmas turkey dinner. Among those to attend were Dr. Kellogg Speed, professor of surgery; Dr. Ernest E. Irons, professor of medicine; Dr. Ford K. Hick, assistant professor of medicine; and Dr. John T. Reynolds, assistant professor of surgery. Other chapter functions including interfraternity dances, a campus carnival, several nights at the opera, and impromptu gatherings at the fraternity house, rounded out another busy year.

The chapter officers for this year were William G. Neilson, president; Edmund M. Brophy, vice-president; John H. McLaughlin, secretary; Robert D. Morgan, treasurer; Ralph D. Lowell, historian; and James D. Brown, custodian.

DELTA SIGMA DELTA

Delta Sigma Delta was organized as a fraternity on the University of Michigan campus in 1882. Rho chapter at the Chicago campus, University of Illinois, was chartered in 1901. The continual growth of the fraternity was marked by the addition of a new chapter this year, and the fraternity now has 32 subordinate chapters.

Delta Sigma Delta is a professional fraternity organized for the benefit of member dental students, and in a wider scope for the alumni practitioners with membership in the supreme chapter. The supreme chapter is active in most of the larger cities of this country. Beyond our own shores it has world wide recognition by means of the continental chapters which were founded in 1923.

Membership in Delta Sigma Delta is restricted to students and practitioners of the profession of dentistry who keep high standards of scholarship and strive toward scientific, ethical, and professional progress.

Rho chapter of the "Delts" looks forward every year to its full and varied social calendar which includes the famous "Hobo" dance, the Senior Farewell dinner-dance, frequent house parties, and functions in co-operation with the Illini Union's social plans.

Dr. Peter Wlodkowski is the faculty advisor. The officers of the chapter are grand master, Marvin Carius; worthy master, Sherman Johnston; scribe, William Schulte; treasurer, Robert Frost; historian, Anthony Malone; senior page, Louis Alessio; junior page, Jerry Wilson, tyler, Keith Olsan.
DENTAL STUDENT COUNCIL

The student council of the College of Dentistry is composed of three representatives from each of the four classes and the president-elect of each class. All representatives are elected by ballot by each of the respective classes.

The functions of the council are those of promoting closer harmony between the administration and the student body, consideration and analysis of all student body problems with the administration, sponsorship of the annual Student-faculty dance and the general promotion of the welfare of the members of the student body in regard to their academic pursuits.

The council meets once a month together with the dean of the College of Dentistry to discuss all business at hand. Special meetings are held when urgent business presents. The policy of student-faculty relationship is largely formed by the efforts of the council to present to the administration the students' viewpoints upon university matters for intelligent discussion and disposition.
The aim of the American Pharmaceutical Association is to unite the educated and reputable pharmacists and druggists of America in the improvement and regulation of the drug market, to encourage proper relations between pharmacists, druggists, physicians, and people at large, to improve the science and art of pharmacy, to regulate the system of apprenticeship and employment, to suppress empiricism, to uphold standards of authority in education, theory and practice of pharmacy, and to create and maintain a standard of professional honesty equal to the amount of our professional knowledge with a view to the highest good and greatest protection to the public.

The American Pharmaceutical Association pioneered in the field of drug standardization and prevention of drug adulteration, in the establishment of state and national associations and in promoting pharmaceutical education, registration, legislation, and reciprocal licensing. The organization led in the development of the United States Pharmacopeia and in the establishment of the National Formulary, and in their adoption as governmental standards.

Since 1934, the A. Ph.A. has maintained the American Institute of Pharmacy in Washington, D.C. with a complete office and staff whose personnel is constantly being enlarged. At the Institute there is a thoroughly equipped laboratory, reference library, and historical museum.

Student membership is provided for students of pharmacy in those schools and colleges which maintain student branches. The student members have all the privileges of active members except that of voting, and become active members upon graduation.
KAPPA PSI

Kappa Psi is a national pharmaceutical fraternity founded in 1879. For the past few years, however, the membership of Kappa Psi has been at an all-time low due to the war. From the beginning of 1945, there has been a decided increase in membership since more eligible men are attending the College of Pharmacy, and since old members are returning from service to take up the profession where they left off. The majority of the activities of the year has been confined to pledges new members and a general reorganization of the fraternity. We have held two smokers during the year to foster a more genuine interest in the prospective pledges. Friendly card games and discussions carried over the professional fraternalism offered by Kappa Psi.

LAMBDA KAPPA SIGMA

Since its founding in 1913, at Boston, Massachusetts, Lambda Kappa Sigma has been fostering lasting friendships among women studying and practicing the use of mortar, pestle and graduate. Gamma Chapter, third oldest of the 26 chapters, chooses its members from among the students in the College of Pharmacy on the basis of scholarship and character.

Chapter activities involve tradition, social work, and fun. There are plays and programs for the children in the Research Hospitals. For fun, there are beach parties, theater parties, hell week and charter sessions.

Chapter officers are: Clara Verges, president; Gloria Bell, vice-president; Betty Knauss, secretary; Frances Fenton, social chairman; and Irene Nowak, treasurer.
Alpha Epsilon Iota is a national fraternity of medical women—both students and practicing physicians. There are 22 active chapters in medical colleges in America. At the University of Illinois, Delta chapter was founded in 1899. Numbered among its alumnae are many able medical women. This year with 68 active members it is one of the largest chapters. Officers are: Lillian Goldman, president; Marjorie Naylor, vice-president; Mildred Polniaszek, recording-secretary; Pearl Reiffel, treasurer; Fern Rusteberg, corresponding secretary; and Carolyn Esberner, sergeant-at-arms.

Alpha Omega Alpha is a medical honor society, membership to which is based upon scholarship. Each year the senior class is represented by eighteen students and the junior class by six students.

At the present time, 47 chapters in medical schools of the United States and Canada have charters. The original chapter was founded in 1902 by Dr. William H. Root at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Granville Bennett is the faculty sponsor and Dr. Warren H. Cole is the honorary advisor. Officers for the present year are Ira Budwig, president; Neil Flaherty, vice-president; Robert Schlesinger, secretary and treasurer.
MEDICAL STUDENT COUNCIL

The student council of the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois, an organization consisting of elected members from each of the four classes and special representatives of certain student organizations, is the student governing body of the college of medicine. Its purpose is to consider the welfare, education and individual problems of the students. In carrying out its functions, the council co-operates closely with the administration and the faculty.

Pi Kappa Epsilon is a professional honorary fraternity composed of men elected by popular vote from medical fraternities on the Chicago Campus, and from the medical faculty of the University of Illinois and Rush Medical College.

The fraternity was founded in 1921 at Northwestern University Medical School with the Beta Chapter being founded soon after at Illinois. Bimonthly dinner meetings feature discussions of currently popular and vital medical questions led by guest speakers.

The officers are E. Chester Bone, president; James Wainwright, vice-president; James Flaherty, secretary; and Russell Zack, treasurer.
Alpha Omega

Alpha Omega was organized at the University of Pennsylvania in 1910, and from then on has grown to be a professional fraternity extending to practically all of the dental colleges in the nation. The Alpha Alpha chapter at Illinois, organized in 1928, is one of the largest and most productive chapters of Alpha Omega.

Aside from the cultural aspect, there are various social functions held, and the fraternity has achieved an excellent record in the athletic field as well.

The officers for 1945-1946 are: chancellor, Lester Kahn; vice-chancellor, Julius Hazelkorn; treasurer, Burton Reizner; recording scribe, Alvin Altman; corresponding scribe, Bernard Cohen; chaplain, Gerald Ascherman; and historian, Jerome Noskin.

Psi Omega

Psi Omega was organized in 1892, and at the present time has thirty-four active chapters with a total membership of 18,630 members. Beta Alpha chapter at the University of Illinois consists of twenty-five active members.

The chapter resides in a fraternity house at 312 South Marshfield avenue. Officers for this year are Alan Cerney, grand master, Phil Wersching, junior master; Francis Higgins, secretary; and Wayne Stevens, treasurer.

Among the faculty are such noted alumni as Dr. Tylman, Dr. Bazola, Dr. Wach, Dr. Kwicinski, Dr. Bone, Dr. Besic, Dr. Dusek, Dr. Underwood, and Dr. Eckert.

THE JUNIOR PROM

Spring in December, 47’s Fantasy was the theme of the Junior Prom Friday night, December 7, with the music of Glenn Gray and his Casa Loma Orchestra. Joanna Cavenee, Chi Omega, was crowned queen and took her throne surrounded by flowers and palms. Her attendants were Barbara Gilbreath, Alpha Phi, and Shirley Wright, Cagle Hall.
Tommy Dorsey's coming to Huff Gym, April 27, 1946 for the Sophomore Cotillion made it an outstanding success. The skyline backdrop behind "T.D." and orchestra gave most of the dancers the feeling that this dance was somewhere out of Chambana.
"Joe College" and his freshman friends met in the Illini Union Ballroom, March 15 for the Freshman Frolic. The Freshman Council sponsored the dance with Mimi Buckley, chairman. The theme "Joe College" was adapted from Marvin Litman's prize-winning cartoon and Milton Caniff's Hot-Shot Charlie was an honored guest.
Miss Georgianna Baker, Alpha Omicron Pi, reigned as Queen of the Inter-Fraternity ball held April 6, 1945 at the Urbana-Lincoln. The music was provided by Ben Bradley's orchestra. Under the direction of Joe Warren and his committee, the ball was a memorable affair.

CAMPUS LEADERS

THESE ARE THE CAMPUS LEADERS . . . !

They are a few chosen men and women capable of leading others because they are outstanding in whatever they do . . . . scholastics, activities, and honoraries. They have wisely supervised campus publications, athletics, entertainment, and the government of the student body.

Because they have learned the "spirit of co-operation" which is so necessary for a successful life, they have guided and inspired undergraduates so that they are eager to become "leaders."

The spirit and success they have brought to the University has helped it become one of the outstanding colleges in America. They have worked eagerly, diligently, and well to attain the high offices they hold.

Yes, these are the campus leaders . . . . they have given and so they have received.

THE ILLIO BEAUTIES
SELECTED BY CECIL B. DEMILLE

JUST HOLD YOUR BREATH . . . !

Prepare to be dazzled! For months you’ve been eagerly waiting to find out who are the fourteen most beautiful women on the Illini campus.

You’ve watched the contest starting with 236 beauties, representing each house on the campus, narrow down to 56 in the first elimination and down to 26 in the second elimination.

You’ve envied the faculty judges their job of picking the final twenty-six queens whose pictures were sent to Hollywood.

You gasped when you found that Cecil B. DeMille was to judge the final twenty-six pictures.

You have waited a long time, but this is it. Prepare yourself! Here are our queens!

CAMPUS "BIG-WIG" . . . ?

Or are you one of the bystanding thousands whose encouragement and co-operation have made the Illini student government an effectively functioning body?

Social events, honoraries, and extra-curricular activities are all under the management of the twenty-one members of the Student Senate. Fifteen of these are chosen by the vote of the various classes; six are chosen because of their outstanding activities achievement. For seventy-six years this body has governed University affairs.

The freshman class has a government of its own—Freshman Council. It is composed of ten members who are appointed by the Student Senate committee.

Dances, recreation, war, public, and special service departments all function under the Illini Board of Student Activities.

To the campus "big-wigs" who have thus engaged in student government, we say thanks. Your interest has made service, social life, and scholarship true Illini traditions.

Highlighting the activities of Torch this year was a tea dance given for junior-transfer women and veterans. Another “Clean Your Closet” drive was also conducted to add to a successful year.

Torch, activity honorary for junior women, does not have a limited membership. The constitution stipulates that it shall be “large enough to represent the junior class.” The number of members has varied in past years from thirty-seven to fifty-five.

Founded in 1924, Torch chooses its members for their character, personality, and service to their activities and the University. A 3.5 all-University scholastic average is required, and each member must have from twenty-six to fifty-six hours of University credit.

Prospective members are recommended by the heads of seventeen major activities and their councils. The women are then considered by a council of twenty, who make the final selection.

SACHEM

Sachem, established at this University in March, 1912, is a junior honorary for men engaged in extra-curricular activities. Each March, the active members of Sachem initiate a group of sophomores who have excelled in activities and who show promise of becoming senior campus leaders. The men who are initiated remain active members for the following two semesters, and they are responsible for directing the various social activities sponsored during the school year. The traditional Sachem sing is the most important function sponsored by this group.

The current active members and their activities are William Butkovich, football; Eric Ekstrom, Interfraternity Council; Charles Francisco, Theatre Guild; Leo Gedvilas, baseball; Marce Gonzalez, track; John Haulenbeck III, swimming; William Heiss, football; Lloyd Ireland, M.I.W.A.; Howard Judson, basketball; Joseph LaPalombara, M.I.W.A.; John Orr, football and basketball; Edward Planert Jr., baseball; Thomas Sublette, Theatre Guild; Louis Thomas, Illini Union; Donald Wise, Y.M.C.A.

Since 1907, Shi-Ai has been an active honorary on the Illinois campus. Its founders chartered Shi-Ai at a time when the need to promote a truer friendship among sororities was necessary. With the same purpose in mind, Shi-Ai has continued to grow until it now holds eighteen sororities in its active membership.

Each fall the active members of Shi-Ai have a supper party when plans are made for the selection of the two new pledges in each Shi-Ai house. During the following pledge period, the two new pledges must do their original stunts at all Shi-Ai houses.

Since 1925, Shi-Ai has sponsored the inter-sorority sing which is always a colorful highlight of Mother's Day week-end. In connection with the sing, Shi-Ai sponsors a milk fund drive. The money received is used to provide milk for needy families of Champaign and Urbana.

The girls of Shi-Ai play a significant part in university life by contributing their time toward university and community service.

Skull and Crescent, a wartime casualty, was reactivated last spring when the first pledge class since 1944 was initiated. This year the membership has risen to thirty-six, only eighteen of the eligible twenty-five houses being active and sending their candidates. The fraternity has been gathering strength, and the second semester saw it reinstated on campus as a leading activity organization.

The traditional Skull and Crescent pajama race was held this year under the guidance of the members for the first time since the chapter became inactive. Another tradition, the Skull and Crescent dance, was held second semester.

Skull and Crescent draws its members from outstanding activity freshmen from twenty-five prominent campus fraternities. Two men are elected by each individual fraternity, the idea being to promote goodwill among the fraternity members.

STUDENT AFFAIRS AUDIT AND SUPERVISION COMMITTEE

The Student Affairs Audit and Supervision Committee supervises all general University functions and social events to which admissions are charged. It is a committee of the Student Senate and the Committee on Student Affairs and is responsible to them. It is composed of five students selected by the Student Senate, one student and two faculty men named by the chairman of the Committee on Student Affairs, and its executive secretary, Dean Vern J. Hampton.

The work of the Student Affairs Audit and Supervision Committee includes approval of the date, place, and budget of the functions and events approved by the Committee on Student Affairs, and the printing, issuance, collection, and audit of all tickets. In addition the committee is charged with responsibility for the patron and complimentary ticket lists as well as the distribution of invitations and of the complimentary tickets. All season passes issued to dances and the other supervised University functions are issued by the committee.

The Student Senate is composed of fifteen members elected by the undergraduate students of the University of Illinois, and ten ex-officio members who represent major campus activities.

The purpose of the group is to promote the general welfare of the student body. Housing regulations, social events, campus activities, professional and honorary societies are some of the fields over which it has jurisdiction. No regulations can become effective however, until the approval of the Committee on Student Affairs of the University Senate is secured.

This committee, likewise, must have the approval of the Student Senate for any regulations it seeks to enact.

The expenses of the Student Senate are paid from the Student Senate fund which is maintained by the payment of 1.5% of the gross income from all dances under the supervision of the Audit and Supervision Committee.

Standing committees of the Student Senate are Honorary Organizations, Social Events, Extra-curricular Activities, General Welfare, Elections, and By Laws.

On October 23, 1945, Post 909 of the American Legion made its formal appearance on the University of Illinois campus. The initiative in organizing this post was taken by Jim Keefe, past president of Post 909's predecessor, The Illini Veterans of World War II, and Jerry Dovrovoly, also a past "Illini Vets" officer.

Since the presentation of the post charter by National Commander John Stelle, membership has increased in such great proportions that there will be an estimated 1000 members by the time this publication is released. Membership is open to all students and staff members who are honorably discharged veterans of World War II.

In addition to the Legion objectives of the preservation of the memories of the great wars and promotion of one-hundred percent Americanism, the University Post voices the collective opinion of the Illini veterans to the University, state and nation.

In the few short months of its existence, Post 909 has raised this collective voice for the maintenance of an accelerated academic program and for the reinstatement of an efficient Director of the Division of Special Services for War Veterans. With the willing co-operation of University officials these things have been accomplished. The big problem facing the University and the Post at the present time is the providing of adequate veterans' housing.

The purpose of any American Legion Post is to preserve the memories of the great wars, to uphold the Constitution of the United States of America, and to promote and foster one-hundred percent Americanism. With this always in mind, it is the primary aim of Post 909 to help the returning veteran by providing the proper amount of recognition, guidance, and above all to insure him the right to express his opinion on all issues related to him.

May the presence of the American Legion Post 909 at this University always be a symbol of freedom and a tribute to those who fought and died for this freedom. Let us remember those who gave their lives in World War II so that the students of this generation and the next may continue to enjoy the American way of life and learning, and should we fail to give the veteran that consideration he so rightly deserves, then, and only then will those who gave their lives have died in vain.

With the returning of more veterans to the campus, the membership and work of this organization will continue to expand in the coming years.

MIWA unites independent men in a common fellowship, furthers their interests, and promotes campus leaders. As signified by its title, MIWA is the unified group of wards distributed over the campus. Together with representatives from each organized house, the district chairman of the wards form the collective group known as the MIWA Council. The Council meets weekly to formulate policy and to discuss problems common to all independent men.

MIWA's functions are threefold: athletic, social, and academic. An intramural basketball tournament is sponsored exclusively among the independent men's houses, the winner of which plays the I-F Council winner for the campus championship. Along social lines, MIWA co-operates with W.G.S. in presenting the Annual Stunt Show. Dances and smokers are a part of MIWA's social agenda. Each year, MIWA presents a trophy to the men's house compiling the highest scholastic average.
The purpose of the interfraternity council is to govern all activities of all social fraternities on the University of Illinois campus. The council promotes general welfare and serves as a coordinating body between fraternities.

Rules and regulations for the formal rush week in the fall are determined by this IF Council, and in conjunction with the YMCA, it sponsors a Pledge Banquet for all the new pledges. Each spring an IF Ball is held for all fraternity men and their guests.

Some all-campus activities and entertainment may be attributed to this council. The traditional Pajama Race held each fall and spring is always a source of amusement at the expense of the pajama-clad runners. The Illini Union Pow Wow Dance was sponsored last year by the interfraternity council for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The council does not limit its activities to these mentioned, but includes others for which it finds a need or which it desires.
With the return to the campus of hundreds of men from military and naval service, the Young Men's Christian Association of the University of Illinois has been greatly occupied, in its seventy-third year, with reconverting from a program of war-time activities and services to a program designed to meet the particular needs and interests of the returning men.

Two new staff members, one a women who is an experienced counsellor on Marriage and Family Relationships, and the other a veteran who saw months of Pacific combat, are helping to develop the special post-war program. Student leadership of programs this year has been mainly in the hands of veterans, young men who have come back to resume their volunteer committee responsibilities, as well as their classroom studies.

ILLINI UNION BOARD
The purpose of the Illini Union Council is to unify the functioning of the Union as a whole. The Council consists of all the major chairmen and department directors of the Illini Union. At the bi-monthly meetings of the Council each chairman reports to the group on the activities of his committee, and in this way the meetings serve to acquaint each chairman with his co-workers. It also gives him a concept of the over-all functioning of the Union and of the work of the other departments and committees.

The Illini Union Board is the governing body of the Illini Union. Its function is to unify and co-ordinate student activities. Special days, events, dances, and student use of the Illini Union Building are under the jurisdiction of the Board. Any profits from Illini Union functions are redistributed to the students in the form of free services and entertainment.

The Illini Union Board consists of six student directors who comprise the Executive Board, three faculty advisors, the social director and the manager of the Illini Union, the director of the Alumni Association, student representatives of independent and fraternity men and women, and the chairmen of publicity and office management.
ILLINI UNION
DEPARTMENT OF DANCES

Lou Thomas
Director

This year’s dance calendar has been crowded with formals, informals, and mixers. Unlike preceding war-years, tuxedos and tails have been donned for the occasions, to replace uniforms prevalent during the war.

The Illini Union’s Department of Dances has sponsored mixers every Wednesday and Friday evenings. Before the mixers on Wednesday night there are classes in social dancing. These informal parties are planned to acquaint students. Sunday afternoons have been devoted to phonograph dances for servicemen.

Club Commons, the student night club, gives students a talented student floor show plus a smooth dance band. Club Commons has been twice a month on alternate Friday nights, and there is always delightful entertainment, dancing and refreshments.

“Never a dull moment at the Union” is the motto, and it is rare to enter the Building on a Saturday night when there is not at least one dance in full swing.

The registration dance in the beautiful Illini Union Ballroom each semester gets the round of campus dances off to a wonderful start. The sponsoring of this and special dances with big-name bands constitutes a portion of the entertainment undertaken by the Department of Dances.

The keynote of the success of many collegiate celebrations is credited to the Department of Special Affairs, the behind-the-scenes committee which arranges all special affairs on campus.

All-University Sings have been sponsored throughout the year at which time local bands and student entertainment have thrilled capacity crowds at the Auditorium.

“Chief Illiniwek”—a ne’er to be forgotten figure in his colorful attire, smokes the traditional peace pipe between the halves at the football games.

This year’s first peacetime Homecoming weekend brought to light many of the former beloved traditional Illini customs. Most of the organized houses on campus were beautifully decorated for the great event, and four gala Homecoming dances were held to accommodate the record-breaking crowds that flooded the campus. This year, for the first time, the Homecoming Badges were shaped as novel wooden Indians, carrying orange footballs. Badge sales hit an all-time high of 9000, a complete sell-out.

Dad’s Day and Mother’s Day both are long remembered by the parents as well as the students. This year, Dad’s registered at the Union where they availed themselves of all the University’s recreational facilities and attended the Dad’s Day dance. Mother’s Day was characterized by the traditional procession, the crowning of the May Queen, and the sale of corsages.
The seven major committees of the Department of Recreation all work to make the Illini Union a center of recreational activities for every student on campus. Special entertainment is sponsored every week by the Friday Night Entertainment Committee. The Chess Club, a new attraction, was organized by the Tournaments Committee which is kept busy planning tournaments in ping-pong, bowling, billiards, bridge and checkers. For the lover of classical music there are daily music hours while popular music is provided by the Popular Music Hours committee in the Pine Lounge. At the Illini Town Meetings lively debates are held on subjects of special current interest to students. The Coffee Hour sponsors Student Faculty Coffee Hours every Thursday afternoon. The Social Forums acquaint students with proper social conduct and Illini convention.
Both students on campus and the general public are offered the services of the Department of Public Service. The six major committees co-operate to give service to all who come in contact with the Illini Union.

The Guide and Travel Service committee sponsor and plan conducted tours of the campus for students and many visitors who come to the campus during the year.

The Illio Services committee arranges for the distribution of free Illios to over one hundred Illinois high schools. This year the compilation of the Illini Union Section for the Illio was added to this committee's work. The Publicity committee has charge of all the publicity for the various departments in the Union. The clerical work of all the Union Activities is done by the Office Management committee, while information is provided at the Question Box on the main floor.

At the beginning of each semester during Freshman Week, a gala Freshman Activity Night is held and is planned by the Orientation committee of the Public Service Department to help acquaint students with all student activities.

The Department of War Service is made up of six major committees all working with this one aim: to help the service men feel at home at Illinois. This department was created to give the coeds a chance in furthering the war effort.

One of the outstanding events of the Illini Union, conducted by a committee of this department, is the Red Cross PowWow. It is a carnival affair in which twenty-eight student organizations participate. Dancing at Chanute Field is also sponsored by this department. Hostesses are transported to the Field by bus where they spend the evening entertaining the service men. They also act as hostesses at the Field Hospital and at the local U.S.O. A committee of hostesses of graduate students for the Officer's Club has been added.

Dances and parties are held on Sunday afternoons for the soldiers, sailors, and officers who come to our campus. During the War Loan Drives, the War Savings Committee sold war bonds and stamps.

A campus chapter of the Red Cross was started under the influence of the War Service committee. They take charge of rolling bandages, packing Christmas boxes, and entertaining the wounded Illini from the Mayo Hospital who are flown in for the football games. They also arrange parties for the married veterans and their wives on the campus.

The Department of Alumni Affairs is the newest of Illini Union Departments. Its purpose is to promote relations between the Alumni-at-large and the students. Each committee has its own functions and works in co-operation with other university alumni organizations.

Four students, one chosen from each class, have been elected to serve on the Alumni Association Board of Directors.

Reviving latent traditions is one of the main aims of this department. The newest addition to Illini traditions is "Sweet Souix", the Indian trophy awarded for the first time this year to the winner of the Illinois-Northwestern game. This was revived by Sachem. Next year we will see a revival of the "Hobo Parade", a parade of floats and individuals who portray vagrants.

Through the progressive efforts of the Department of Alumni Affairs, there is a more closely bound student body with a well informed alumni association to aid them efficiently.
The Roger Williams Fellowship, the Baptist center for all students and servicemen, designs its social and religious activities with special regard for campus needs.

The Student Council, aided by Reverend and Mrs. Offenhiser, plans and directs social activities for the church. Highlighting the week is the Sunday Evening Candlelight service, when students join together to discuss contemporary problems and search for religious truths. Vespers, Wednesday afternoon relaxation hours, Sunday morning Bible classes, and the Fellowship Discussion groups complete a week of Christian endeavor.

The center provides friendly places to sing, read, or meditate quietly under the guidance of Mr. “O”.

The Wesley Foundation is the center for Methodist students and servicemen, providing a church life especially designed for campus needs. The Student Council plans and directs this program. Dr. Paul Burt, Pastor of Trinity Methodist Church and Director of the Foundation, and Rev. Joe Brown Love, Associate Director, serve as advisers.

Major phases of the program are the morning service, a student class, and fellowship supper and vespers on Sunday. Social events, study, music, drama, and discussion groups are offered during the week. Support for a fellow-college in China and for a refugee child are two varieties of their service projects.
The spirit of friendship is one of the principles of the Foundation's hospitality. Popular events during the year include tea and vespers on Wednesday afternoons, "Gloom Chaser Teas" during exams, Supper Club and "Singing on the Rug" on Sunday evenings, and the annual spring banquet. Illini Mac, with McKinley spirit, is the mascot of the Foundation.

Twenty-three years ago the first Hillel Foundation was established at this University, to bring a more adequate knowledge of their cultural and religious heritage to the Jewish students on campus. Since then more than 125 such units have been created on campuses all over this country and Canada.

The Newman Foundation is the Catholic student center on the campus of the University. Its program is under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Edward J. Duncan, who is assisted by the Rev. Edward W. O'Rourke.

First among the Foundation’s activities is the work of St. John’s Catholic Chapel, which offers the Catholic students several Masses daily and Sunday, opportunity for frequent reception of the sacraments, and other liturgical services throughout the year. Other activities of the Newman Club include corporate communications, discussion study clubs, lectures, debates, dramatics, and parties.

Important phases of the Foundation program include Credit Courses in Religion, the choir, the Sanctuary Society, the Altar Society, and the Graduate Students’ League.

The Newman Club has a threefold purpose; to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal lives of its members; to weld the Catholic students into a common union; and to assist the University and its students whenever possible.
A typical group assembled for a week-night activity.

ILLINOIS DISCIPLES' FOUNDATION

The Illinois Disciples' Foundation is the long arm of the home-town church, serving Disciple youth at the University of Illinois. It is a center of worship, study, counselling, fellowship, and fun. Dr. Stephen Fisher, Minister of University Place Church and Director of the Foundation from its beginning, and the Rev. Miss Norma C. Brown, Student Pastor and Associate Director are the adult counsellors of a program of activities formulated and carried out by student officers, cabinet and council.

The Foundation relates its work to that of a large church in which “town and gown” work everywhere side by side. Students are never segregated, but are encouraged to give service and receive training in all departments of the church.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

Interdenominational religious co-operation at the University of Illinois is accomplished through the Religious Workers Association and the Student Religious Council. The R.W.A. is composed of the staff members of the denominational foundations and the Y.M.C.A. The S.R.C. consists of representatives from each of these groups. The two advisors appointed by the R.W.A. this year are Mrs. Otto Kugler and Rev. James Hine. The officers are: Lura Jean Minto, president; Donald Wise, vice-president; Mary Jane Meeker, secretary; and Charles Richey, treasurer.

The S.R.C. sponsors Campus Marins and special services on Thanksgiving, Holy Week, Good Friday, and Easter. It also promotes functions which encourage students to participate in church activities.

The All-University Convocations were begun in February, 1944, to bring to the campus competent speakers on subjects of general interest. The convocations are without charge and, following each lecture, opportunity is provided for questions and informal discussion.

The first speaker of 1945 was Norman Hackett, distinguished American actor, who included several dramatic readings in his lecture, “The Drama and Art of Acting”. In March, Dr. Walter Lowdermilk, Advisor to the Chinese government, spoke on “China in an Industrialized Asia”, and in the same month Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally famous architect, presented his interpretation of “Organic Architecture”.

In April, Emily Taft Douglas, Congresswoman from Illinois, discussed the problems confronting Congress, with special emphasis on foreign affairs. “Challenges to Youth” was the topic chosen for the May convocation by Mark Starr, a prominent figure in labor education.
STUDENT CONVOCATIONS

The 1945–46 series was opened in October by Ely Culbertson, speaking on "Our Fight for Total Peace". In November, Carl Sandburg, beloved poet and distinguished author gave a capacity audience his answers to the question: "What Would Lincoln Do Today". The last program of 1946 was devoted to a discussion of the atomic bomb and its control, by an atomic research physicist and former member of the University faculty, Dr. Philip Norrison.

Supplementary to the lecture program is a series of educational films, dealing with aspects of life in foreign countries and in selected regions of the United States.
UNIVERSITY WOMEN

THAT MAN IS HERE AGAIN . . . .

That mass of protoplasm that makes weekends so pleasant—the Illinois male! Coke dates, afternoons at the “Candy shop”, evenings at the Club Commons, the Union dances have all become living terms again in the vocabulary of the Illinois co-ed. However, during the “out-to-lunch-for-men” years at the University, the women have carried on remarkably well.

Numerous activities have served to keep the co-ed busy. Y.W.C.A., Torch, Mortar Board, the Union, Alpha Lambda Delta (for throughout all, the Illinos woman has maintained her excellent grades), W.A.A., Shi Ai, and Pan-Hellenic provided enough work to fill any leisure hours. It sounds like a large order, but the girls came up time after time with new and original ideas for the year’s events.

But now the men are back, and, difficult as it is to admit, they do add to the University life. Result: femininity replaces that efficient look in classes and activities; social life climbs to unparalleled heights; pre-war competition sets life at a faster pace; and the spotlight shines brighter on the clever, attractive Illini woman!

PAN-HELLENIC

The guiding hand on campus behind Rush Week, informal rushing and the spring term Workshop is Pan-Hellenic. Illinois' Pan-Hellenic is a branch of National Pan-Hellenic Council which governs all the sororities in the United States.

This year, Pan-Hellenic instituted changes in the pledge system to make the freshman woman more adult. Emphasis was shifted to the constructive.

The annual pledge banquet for the 400 pledges was held at Wesley Foundation, March 6. Social Chairmen gave a tea for the house chaperons in December and Sophomore Council gave a Christmas party for orphans at Huling Children's Home in Rantoul. Dean of Women, Leah Trelease, spoke at the scholarship banquet held in the fall, presenting awards to Chi Omega for highest scholarship and to Alpha Epsilon Phi for greatest scholastic improvement.

Pan-Hellenic is governed by a council composed of the president of each of the sororities on campus. Above this is an executive committee composed of four officers, six department heads, and six members of the Court of Appeals who serve as their assistants.

This year the two Negro sororities, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Delta Sigma Theta were admitted to Pan-Hellenic as associate members, bringing the number of sororities in the group to 24.

Pan-Hellenic was proud to be the largest contributor to the War Chest and World Student Service Fund Drives.

W.G.S., the organization of independent women students, devotes its time to the encouragement of scholarship, activities, and social life among its members. This year there were over one hundred organized W.G.S. groups.

Among the major group events of the year are a stunt show, the Christmas Musicale, district teas, the President’s Banquet, the Watcheka Sing, and the Spring Awards Tea. The Independent Informal and a formal Majela dance are also traditional.

Individual awards are given at the Spring Awards Tea to the outstanding independent girl in each major activity, and the names of groups excelling in service to the University in scholarship and in social life are placed on an Honor Council plaque to be hung in the Woman’s Building.

The group activities are governed by the Executive Council which is composed of the officers, district chairmen, committee chairman, and faculty advisors. The officers are elected each spring for the following year by popular vote of all the members of W.G.S. The other positions are appointed following the interview of qualified members. Any girl may petition for a position on the committees of W.G.S.

The Young Women’s Christian Association has served as a center for Christian living on the University of Illinois campus for sixty-two years. Women students, faculty and alumnae combine their efforts to maintain the high standards and ideals of the association and to achieve its purpose—"full and creative life"—for all students.

Each week of this year the Y.W.C.A. has sponsored Thursday afternoon vespers, Freshmen Interest Groups and social functions. The annual Doll Show brought happiness to many underprivileged children who found the lovely dolls, made by the women students, on Christmas morning. The Public Affairs Committee has been working on world problems as well as helping returning veterans on the campus.

Each and every girl is important in the Y.W.C.A., but the freshmen are foremost in the minds of all. The YW has special Interest Groups and a Freshmen Council so that they may find their place on campus.

All members contribute the annual fee and may participate in all Y.W.C.A. functions. All university women are invited to take part in the YW program.

W.A.A. is the organization open to all Illini coeds who enjoy sports and fellowship with other students. You do not have to be a skilled athlete to be a member. The opportunity to acquire skill in many different sports is offered in a four season program.

Any girl may become an active member of W.A.A. upon completion of one sports season. Successful completion of ten sport seasons is the requisite for the highest award, the Major "I". Orange class numerals go to those girls who complete six sport seasons.

W.A.A. has two divisions—Interhouse and General. Interhouse W.A.A. is designed to stimulate competition between houses for the Interhouse trophy, which is awarded in the spring to the house that accumulates the most points during the year. General W.A.A. is open to any girl who wishes to participate individually.

Orchesis, an honorary dancing group and Terrapin, an honorary swimming group, are under the sponsorship of W.A.A.

Alpha Sigma Nu, the W.A.A. honorary, pledges those girls with a University average of "B" and who have completed eight seasons.

Besides the four sport seasons, there are several special events each year—receptions, teas, contests, and play days with other schools.

From the first week of school until the last, W.A.A. has some planned activity for all girls interested in athletics. These tend to promote the aims of the Women's Athletic Association—honesty, loyalty, and good sportsmanship.

Orchesis, modern dance group of the University, gives its members opportunity for both composition and performance. "The Juggler of Notre Dame," a story in dance, presented in Lincoln Theatre during the Christmas season, was Orchesis' first program of the year. In January a lecture demonstration by Mrs. Mains and seven members of the group was presented for a class in Music Appreciation.

The dance group has been ably guided under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Small Mains and the aid of Miss Anne Betts. Officers of Orchesis include Miriam Levin, president; Alice Burke, secretary; June Foster, publicity secretary; M. R. Abbott, treasurer; and Martha Franklin, mistress of the wardrobe. Other members are Jeanne Humberstone, Barbara Hunsucker, Lorraine Meyer, Jo Anne Reed, Beverly Stone, Mrs. Laura Ziner, and Louise Freer who is an honorary member. Roberta Mulligan and Carol Haas render the accompaniment.

Orchesis with the aid of Miss Lucilla Hall anticipate a spring performance of "L.," an expressionistic dance drama highlighting the hectic life of metropolitan New York in the 1920's.

Orchesis' spring concert, its most ambitious production of the year, will be offered Wednesday evening, May 22, in Lincoln Theater.
Terrapin, the honorary swimming club for all girls on campus, held its annual water show in May. Amid sparkling costumes, colorful scenery, and beautiful music, the girls executed outstanding poise, grace, rhythm, and skill, individually and as a group. The entire performance was originated, planned, and then performed by the forty girls themselves.

Two swimming meets were sponsored by Terrapin Club. The first one in the early fall gave W.A.A. credit, and trophies were awarded to the winning interhouse relay team and to the high-point individual swimmer. In the early spring, the club entered a team of fifteen girls to represent the University of Illinois in the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet. This meet is an annual affair and the most outstanding swimmers on campus become members of the team through try-outs.

Membership in Terrapin Club is obtained through try-outs held each semester. Judged as to the degree of their ability in swimming and diving, those girls who are accepted as members are placed in either Major or Minor Terrapin.

MAJORING IN PUBLICATIONS . . . ?

Or do you just sandwich your journalistic activities between week-day studies and week-end fun?

Whether you are a leader or just a staff member, you've found satisfaction in being a part of University activities.

Study takes a back seat on afternoons when the approaching publication date keep the Illio staff busy at the office. Equally time consuming are the daily beats on the Illini—tedious, yes, but often rewarded by a coveted byline or a headline assignment.

Our Agriculturist part-time journalists have produced a magazine easily worthy of their goal, a better agricultural journal.

Of equally high caliber is the Technograph, published for and by our north campus intelligencia.

You who have thus given the time and effort needed to produce our top-notch publications have been compensated by the friendliness and appreciation of Barb Clayton, Illio editor, Sam King and Jean Howerton, Illini "bosses", and all the other campus "publication majors" whose efforts are described on the following pages.
The Illio of 1946

The Illio office is a busy place for those who have helped make up and sell The Illio of 1946. Here, along with the clatter of typewriters, headaches, worries and the general wave of confusion, Barbara Clayton, Editor, and Carol Shaffner, Assistant Editor have produced this year's Illio. To these two we say, "well done" for a fine job. The Art Staff, headed by J. William Kennedy, Assistant Professor of Art, includes Edson Newquist, Ruth Wahlberg, and Betty Dean. The art work for the entire book was designed by them.

And on the other side, . . . . Eleanor Pickett, Business Manager, and Doris Levy, Assistant Business Manager, have ably done the job of taking care of the sale of books, advertising, and all the other financial matters of the yearbook. Last, but not least, we say thanks to the photographers—their job has been long and hard but the results have been rewarding. On the staff headed by Jerry Borden are Phil Rose, Jack Schneider, Dick Stouffer, and Shirley Randall.

Daily Illini seniors supervise the work of the staff, plan the policy of the paper, and cover major events.

Managing Editor Sam King, in a campaign to give complete local coverage, keeps a file of coming events and assigns reporters to special work, co-ordinates the work of his staff, and makes final decisions on questions of policy.

Associate-Editor Jean Howerton is in charge of the freshman staff. Assistant-Editor Mary Ellen Brown, the juniors; and Martha Swain and Elaine Sell, acting Senior Editors, work with the sophomores and city staff respectively.

Sports Editor Bob Doherty travels with the teams to other colleges and supervises the work of the sports staff.

Mrs. Jean Herron, Business Manager, serves as co-ordinator of the business staff, and works on book-keeping and payrolls of the publishing company.
In the editorial department, junior editors serve once a week as night editor, and once a week as assistant night editor. The sports juniors, Pat Zogg, Jim Brooks, and Howie Wissel train their underclass reporters and cover all sports events. The business department has charge of advertisement, circulation, and copy.

ILLINI PUBLISHING COMPANY

The Illini Publishing Company is under the direction of Cecil A. Moyer, chairman of the board of control, and Paul C. McMichael, company business manager and student advisor. The object of the company is to provide a printing service of high standard at a minimum cost.

Student publications of the university under the company's direction are The Illio, yearbook; The Daily Illini, newspaper; The Agriculturist, magazine published by the students of the College of Agriculture; and The Technograph, magazine published by the students of the College of Engineering.

A board of eight directors controls the affairs of the company. Of the eight, four are faculty members chosen by the president of the university to serve for one year. The other four members are students elected by the student body for a term of two years.

This board of control chooses the students to fill vacancies on the publication staffs. Recommendations are given by the student heads of the publications. The board acts as an advisory committee, encouraging student initiative.

THE AGRICULTURIST

This year marks the golden anniversary of the Illinois Agriculturist. The magazine is published six times yearly by the students of the college of Agriculture. It covers the events of both the agriculture and home economic students, and also new developments in this field which are made at the University. Reports on the activities of various agricultural honoraries and student organizations may be found on the pages of the Agriculturist. The publication is sent to various high schools throughout the state to promote and encourage interest in this field. The Agriculturist staff this year includes Eldon Larson, editor; Mary Argenbright, assistant editor; and Lucille Pocklington, business manager. The student staff is assisted by a Faculty Advisory Board: O. H. Sears, R. H. Wilcox, A. S. Colby, C. S. Rhode, and Miss Jesse Heathman.
THE TECHNOGRAPH

Presented monthly by the students of the college of engineering, the Illinois Technograph is now in its sixty-first year of continuous publication. The first issue of the “Tech” appeared in 1885 as a highly technical magazine. Since that time, the publication has become increasingly semi-technical in nature through the addition of features designed to better acquaint the faculty and the student body and to provide monthly information concerning engineering honoraries and societies. The main purpose of the magazine is to provide the subscribers with interesting material concerning engineering developments in the various fields and to supply a means whereby each student can obtain valuable experience in the art of expressing himself.

Although handicapped by the lack of staff members, the Illinois Technograph remained in existence during the war; this was due largely to the efforts of Professor John Henry, faculty advisor, and men from the engineering V-12 unit. With the war at an end and with increased civilian enrollment, the “Tech” is looking forward to an even better publication.
STAGE, MUSIC, AND CONCERT

CURTAIN GOING UP . . . . !

Kindly take your seats as the house lights dim and the play or concert begins.

Ever since the Mask and Bauble was initiated in 1925, the students have worked diligently for a well-equipped place to hold their numerous plays. The result is the beautiful Lincoln Hall Theater established in 1928.

Theater Guild was formed from the Players Club, Mask and Bauble, and the Pierrots, although the latter two still exist as separate organizations. The repertoire of productions this year has included everything from a comedy to a tragedy to the light operatic performance of the Pirates of Penzance.

For aesthetic appreciation of music, the Illini has its famed Star Course, created in 1917 to bring notable artists to the University. There are two series, the regular Star Course and the recital series.

The University Band Concerts, the traditional Easter Twilight Concert, and the University Sings will always remain in the students' memories collected from days at Illinois.
"Clear stage! Actors! Places!" This is what you can hear at curtain time of an Illini Theatre Guild production, but behind these few words are weeks of rehearsals, crew meetings, painting, construction, advertising, and ticket selling. Hundreds of students are vitally interested in seeing that the curtain goes up on opening night, because each one has been an important member in the whole production.

Behind these hundreds of undergraduate workers are the supervisors and the directors. Wesley Swanson is Supervisor of Productions and Director; Charles Shattuck, Associate Director; Joseph Scott, on military leave, Technical Director; Miss Elizabeth Harris, Technical Director in charge of scenery painting and construction; and Miss Lucilla Hall, Technical Director in charge of costumes and wardrobe, and Director of the Laboratory theatre.

The policies of the Guild are determined by the Guild Board, including Professors Abner Knight and C. R. Anderson, University representatives, Cameron Gullette, representative of Players club, and three student representatives from the dramatic honoraries, Mary Stevens, Mask and Bauble, Jack Hasch, Pierrot; and Rosanna Webster, Arepo. The chairman of the board is General Manager JoAnn Perring.

The backbone of the Guild is the group of managers; senior, junior, and sophomore, who supervise the work of the various crews and help them find the thrill that comes with working in theatre.
ILLINI THEATRE GUILD

The position of Senior Manager in the Illini Theatre Guild calls for supervision, organization, and experience. There are eight such managers, each in charge of a department of activity. JoAnn Perring is the General Manager, whose job it is to keep all the work in the Guild coordinated. Helen Brooks is in charge of properties, Jayne Alice Groves directs stage entertainment for service men, Ruth Johnson is head of the scenery painting crew, Mary Alice Lambert heads the box office and house crews, Ruth Lewis handles make-up and wardrobe, Robert Minor is in charge of publicity for productions, and Mark Robinson is the head of the construction crew.

The crew chairmen for each production are the Junior Managers. These eighteen managers rotate as chairmen in production or business. They are Carolyn Dallenbach, Barbara Gulley, Ina Herbrig, Mary Homrighous, Eileen Neadell, Phyllis Rose, and Gerry Spitz on business, and Marjory Bean, Joan Clark, Dorothy Knaphurst, Betsy Ladd, Nancy Noble, Peggy Overberger, Jean Rogers, Doris Sewell, Esther Streger, Atha Tehon and Margaret Waldo on production. There are forty-three Sophomore Managers who assist the Junior and Senior Managers in the running of the crews. These managers, combined with the hundreds of students who profess interest in the activities of the theater, present Illini Theatre Guild productions that provide entertainment for large campus and service audiences.
William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" offered to campus audiences all the beauty of his great romantic tragedy combined with the physical beauty of the authentic replica of the Old Globe theatre.

This tenderest of all love stories was uniquely presented on a stage that was the result of study by some of the country's most eminent authorities on Shakespeare. The two young lovers were portrayed by Lorrie Ross and Jack Clay.

As the second production of Mask and Bauble's thirty-eighth season, "Romeo and Juliet" broke the attendance record for all previous Guild productions. The play was presented on January 12, 13, 19, and 20.
Always delightful, always amusing, Gilbert and Sullivan operettas never fail to appeal to a campus audience. On April 6, 7, and 14, Arepo, the Theatre Guild operatic honorary, presented the ever-popular "The Sorcerer." This operetta was Gilbert and Sullivan's third production, and set the pattern of their later operas. In the Theatre Guild performance the original score was followed, except that the overture was arranged by Laurence Chidester. Sidney Rushakoff was the comic John Wellington Wells, and the production was directed by Mr. Jay Allen of the Music School.
When mammoths parade across the stage and scenery flies into the blue beyond, the audience begins to sit up and take notice. Thornton Wilder’s “The Skin of our Teeth” was one of the wildest pieces of imaginative writing ever to be presented on the stage of the Lincoln Hall theatre.

The story concerns the simple story of man, his temptations, and his tribulations. It is the story of his struggle against the elements and himself. Charles Francisco as Mr. Antrobus, man of yesterday, today, and tomorrow, storms through all the floods, fires, and wars, and emerges as man will always do, unharmed and ready to go on.

This was the third production of Mask and Bauble’s thirty-eighth season and was presented on March 16, 17, 23, and 24.
"The Male Animal" (top and center pictures) is a whimsical farce on college life in a midwestern university written by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent. This play, completing one of the most successful seasons for the Guild, was presented on May 4, 5, 11, and 12, with Florence Lynn and Tom Sublette in the leading roles.

"Three Men on a Horse" (bottom picture) written by John Cecil Holm and George Abbott was presented as the first production of Mask and Bauble's thirty-ninth season on November 9, 10, 16, and 17. This comedy was the Guild's Dad's Day show, and was the story of Erwin Trowbridge, writer of greeting-card verses, and his adventures.
Mask and Bauble, the all-university dramatic honorary, each year presents three or four student productions. Each season presents plays of a varied nature—tragedy, comedy, modern plays, and classics. Among the productions this year were "Three Men On a Horse," a modern comedy by Abbott and Holm and William Shakespeare’s "King Lear."

JoAnn Perring led the organization this year as president with Ruth Lewis as vice-president, Margaret Waldo as secretary, Mary Homrighous as treasurer, and Marjory Bean as historian.

Mask and Bauble was formed in 1905 by Thatcher Howland Guild to recognize outstanding work done by students on back-stage crews, business crews, and acting casts for the productions. Since that time the organization has helped to create the interest in dramatics which makes the Illini Theatre Guild one of the largest campus activities.
Arepo, dramatic music honorary, whose name is derived by spelling opera in reverse, was founded in 1933 by a group of Theatre Guild members who felt the need of such an organization. Arepo honors those students who have taken part in the production of campus operas.

Today’s organization with Stella Jean Hunter as president is sponsoring Gilbert and Sullivan’s operetta, “The Pirates of Penzance.” The members of the cast are:

- Mabel ................. Sylvia Sitavich
- Ruth ..................... Stella Jean Hunter
- Edith ..................... Marguerite Laning
- Kate ..................... Allis Dennett
- Isabel ..................... Doris Baldwin
- Frederick ................. Stanley Rahn
- Pirate King .............. Wesley Schwengel
- Major General .......... Wallace Sturim

Police Sergeant .......... Duane Jones
Samuel ..................... Neil Kelsey

The understudies for the principles are as follows:

- Mabel ................ Betty Durham
- Ruth .................. Allis Dennett
- Edith ................ Harriet Haycock
- Kate ................... June Saylor
- Frederick .............. Ralph Ivens
- Major General .......... Donald Staut
- Police Sergeant .......... Elwood Penerson
- Samuel ................ George Maxey

Other officers of Arepo are: Vice-President, Mary Lambert; Secretary, Mary Mayhew; Treasurer, Nancy Gerhardt; Historian, Marguerite Laning; and Guild Board Representative, Rosanna Webster.

Activities this year, other than the opera, include a banquet and a party with Pierrots.
PIERROTS

Pierrots, honorary fraternity of the Illini Theater Guild, founded at the University of Illinois in 1911, has an illustrious, if somewhat gawdy, past. Established for men only, the organization began with the idea of presenting an annual student-written musical comedy. Although in 1917 Pierrots came through with a show, they were forced into an inactive state because of the shortage of men and of materials during World War II. Now with the return of peace and men, Pierrots looks ahead to an era of renewed activity.
CONCERT AND ENTERTAINMENT BOARD

The University Concert and Entertainment Board consists of a chairman, executive secretary, three faculty members, two seniors, and two juniors. The board selects the Star Course managers and the artists who are to appear on Star Course concerts. This year the board also sponsored a recital series of varied chamber music.

The present members of the board are Director Frederic B. Stiven, chairman; C. A. Webber, executive secretary; Professor George L. Clark, Professor P. V. B. Jones, Professor James G. Van Derpool, Nancy Kollman, Ann Miles, Mary Homrighous, and Patricia Smith.
For the past fifty-four years Star Course has brought cultural entertainment to the University of Illinois. As early as 1883 lectures by outstanding men and women of the time began to be sponsored by the Philomathean and Adelphic Literary Societies. These occasional lectures proved so popular that in 1891 the Star Lecture Course was begun. For twenty-six years it remained under the auspices of the literary societies. Finally, in 1931, the University Concert and Entertainment Board was organized to supervise all public entertainment given at the University for which admission is charged. Star Course was then placed under control of this board.

This year completed another very successful Star Course season. For the second consecutive year the tickets were completely sold out the first week of ticket sales. So, to satisfy the demand for more entertainment, Star Course brought a series of recitals to the campus.

The artists who appear on Star Course are selected from the suggestions of the staff, outsiders, and the University Concert and Entertainment Board. The final decision rests with this Board which is composed of four faculty members and four student members.

Junior Managers
Elaine Sebastian, Joan Gazan, Mary McPleeters, Carol Andich, Anita Turner, Jane Cover
The University Concert and Entertainment Board appoints the senior and junior managers and the sophomore staff of Star Course. The senior managers work with and under the Board in an executive capacity. The junior managers are chosen from the sophomore staff at the end of the school year. Under the seniors' supervision they take care of the accounts, make arrangements for publicity, check tickets, and help to entertain the artists. At concerts the juniors are in charge of the box office and serve as leaders for the sophomores who sell tickets. Sophomore staff members, who also do filing, typing, and ushering, are chosen for their work in freshmen activities, their scholarship, and their interest. Besides attending the concerts, the staff members have the privilege of close, more personal contact with the artists backstage.
Rudolf Serkin, the great pianist, appeared at the University March 28. Born in Bohemia, Mr. Serkin came first to the United States to play at the Coolidge Festival in Washington, but his debut as solo pianist came in 1936 with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. Since then, he has duplicated his original triumph in almost every American city.

Leonard Warren, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Association, gave his concert October 23. Born in New York, Mr. Warren was destined for a business or professional life but then decided that singing should be more than a hobby. Beginning his career in the Radio City Music Glee Club, he entered the Metropolitan Opera in 1938 through the "Auditions of the Air".

Eugene Ormandy, conductor and musical director of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, directed the orchestra here November 6. This concert was the most outstanding of the season. Mr. Ormandy began his musical career at the age of seven and assumed charge of the Philadelphia Orchestra at the start of the 1938-39 season.
Joseph Szigeti, violinist, made his debut with Stokowski and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in 1925. Hungarian by birth, he has achieved world fame on two round-the-world tours, eleven tours of the Soviet Union, and nearly two decades of coast-to-coast tours of the United States. Mr. Szigeti gave his concert here March 8.

On January 23, the Gordon String Quartet, featuring Lois Bannerman, harpist, appeared before the Star Course audience. The Gordon String Quartet was organized by the first violinist, Jacques Gordon. The other members are Walter Hagen, second violin, Kras Malno, viola, and Gabor Rejta, 'cello.

Lotte Lehmann, world-famed soprano of concert and opera, gave her concert March 21. Mme. Lehmann, a native of Germany, has earned a place in the front rank of America’s favorite singers during the years she has been in this country.
The Recital Series of the Star Course brought several other outstanding artists to the campus. December 5, the series was opened by the Pro Arte String Quartet. This Quartet, one of the best known in the country, has appeared here numerous times. Claire Coci, distinguished American organist who started her career as an organist in the Jesuit's Church in New Orleans, was the second artist of the series. This concert was given January 9 in Smith Recital Hall. The big attraction of the series was Anne Brown's concert given in the auditorium January 29. Anne Brown, considered one of the outstanding singers of the times, was chosen for the first lead in Gershwin's Porgy and Bess. Since that time she has appeared as a soprano soloist with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Symphony, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and the Chicago Symphony; and in concerts of her own. Another favorite was William Primrose whose concert was April 18. Mr. Primrose was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to New York in 1937 to be Toscanini's principal violist. In 1942 he began his solo concerts. The series was closed on April 30 by the Chicago String Ensemble. This ensemble is made up of members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.
CONCERT BAND

It has been recorded that the first performance of the University Band was at graduation in 1872.

A. A. Harding became director of the University Band in 1905. He introduced new ideas in college band work, and developed an organization reflecting the dignity and quality of the institution it represented.

Early Director Harding began the development of an organization which played the same type of music as a symphony orchestra. The band did it well, too. By 1910 he had developed the original symphony or symphonic band, as pleasant to listen to indoors as out. He developed a seating arrangement similar to that of a symphony orchestra.

The Concert Band was maintained throughout the war. Former members are now returning from the armed services and the band is rapidly achieving that high musical standard its Director, A. A. Harding, and the University Concert Band have been noted for.

The "Football Band" at Illinois has been outstanding since the early 1920's. It was the first organization to spell out words, to make designs, and all types of formations on the field while playing. It is equally famous for its A Cappella singing.

The "Football Band" was reorganized the first semester of 1945 and performed for the Homecoming and Dad's Day games. This was the first appearance since 1942.

During the war the service organizations stationed on the campus performed for the athletic events. Special credit should be given to the Navy V-12 Marching and Singing Unit for their football formations during the war period.

The "Football Band" activities have been directed by Clarence E. Sawhill since the fall of 1942.
The University Orchestra has for more than a quarter of a century served the dual purpose of giving orchestral training and experience to the young musicians on the campus, and of offering each year to the student body, faculty, and community several programs of orchestral works. In order to do this successfully, the organization and procedure of the group is like that of a regular class, with enrollees assisted by many students from other colleges, faculty members, and townspeople. The fine standard of performances has elicited high praise from musicians of international fame.
The University Chorus gives two major performances each year. For more than twenty-five years, Handel's Messiah has been given during the Christmas season. An oratorio, a cantata, or an opera in concert form is performed in the spring. In the spring of 1946, Professor Miles' setting of Oliver Wendell Holmes' The Chambered Nautilus and the Faure Requiem were sung. Past performances have included Bach's Christmas Oratorio, the Passion According to St. John, Mendelssohn's Elijah, Haydn's The Seasons, Gounod's Faust, and St. Saens' Samson et Dalila.
Dedicated to furthering the appreciation of choral music, to bestowing honor on the Alma Mater, and to creating a feeling of sorority among its members, the Women's Glee Club again this year added honor to the Illini tradition of famed musical organizations.

Under the direction of Miss Grace Wilson, the group presented two major programs, the Spring Concert, featuring light classics, and the Christmas Concert, which, for the first time since the beginning of the war, was given with the Men's Glee Club.

The organization also made scheduled broadcasts from Radio Station WLL, and selected groups entertained at the U.S.O. and at Chanute Field. Accompanist was Jo Lindsay; soloists included Joan Guard, Pat Smith, Marguerite Laning, Stella Jean Hunter, and Marilyn Hannah.

The Glee Club met in the Orchestra Room of Smith Music Hall Tuesday and Thursday mornings at ten o'clock. The officers, elected under the rules of the new constitution, were Ruth Hutter, president; Doris Dugan, secretary; Marguerite Laning, treasurer; Martha Gruba, music chairman; and Pat Barton, publicity chairman.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB
The University Men’s Glee Club was organized this year for the first time since the fall of ’42. At that time, the Men’s Glee Club, always a traditional and respected group on campus, was forced to disband, because the army and navy were taking so many of its members. Now, the group is receiving into its fold a large number of returning veterans, and it is once again organized and functioning. Charles E. Sawhill is the University Men’s Glee Club director. The officers are: Albert Leach, president; Frank Long, secretary-treasurer; Arnie Sklare, business manager-publicity; Ellis Know, librarian.
YES, WE HAVE SERVICE MEN!

And to clarify any doubts as to just why they are here and just what they are doing, we proudly present some data concerning the men in uniform on the Illinois campus.

Usually found strolling down the famous broadwalk, a library of books under their arms, are the V-12’s. In addition, there have been added to the Illinois campus, as of this year, the Naval Reserve Officer Training Cadets. These boys are a part of a big program designed for learning which has been in progress since July 1, 1943.

Hep, two, three, four . . . . can mean only one thing, a platoon of A.S.T.R. boys marching to class. Civilians beware! These boys mean business. There are now 170 of these students on campus. Their activities are regulated by Army officers and . . . . no explanation necessary!

In salute to the Illini in uniform we have devoted the following pages to their recognition.
Captain Leland R. Lampman, USN. Professor of Naval Science and Tactics and Commanding Officer of the V-12 Unit at the University of Illinois was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in June 1927.

From 1927 to 1934 Captain Lampman served in the Atlantic Fleet, Central American Patrol, Asiatic Fleet and Yangtze Patrol, and the Pacific Fleet. After six years of sea duty he returned to Annapolis and later to the Marine School at Quantico, Virginia for post graduate work. From 1936 to 1939 Captain Lampman served on destroyers in the Atlantic Fleet. Coming ashore, he served for two years at the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit at Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut.

During the war Captain Lampman was commanding officer of the destroyer, U.S.S. Ellis in the Atlantic Fleet, commanding officer of the destroyer, U.S.S. Thatcher in the Pacific Fleet, and Plans Officer for the Amphibious Force which participated in the invasions of Leyte, Lingayen, Zamboanga in the Philippines, and the invasions of Tarakan and Brunei Bay in Borneo.

In addition to the appropriate area campaign medals he has been awarded the Silver Star and The Legion of Merit Medals, and the Phillipine Liberation Medal.

Captain Lampman's position at the University of Illinois calls for ability to recognize the character needed in junior officers in the fleet. It is his job to see that the young men under his command have these characteristics, and are capable of applying them so as to be advantageous to the service of the United States Navy.
The University of Illinois Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps was officially commissioned on November 1, 1945 under the command of Captain Leland R. Lampman, USN, with Commander Carter B. Jennings, USN, as Executive Officer. It is the mission of the Naval ROTC to train qualified junior officers for the naval service, both reserve and regular, as a component part of the national strength and prestige, in peacetime as well as in war.
The college year 1945-1946 was one of significant change for the Navy program on the U. of I. campus. A naval commissioning ceremony was conducted as part of the Commencement Exercises for the first time on February 10, 1946. Sixty-one engineers, graduates of the Navy V-12 Program, were commissioned as Ensigns in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and before leaving the campus, received their orders for duty. The oath was administered by their Commanding Officer, Captain Leland R. Lampman, USN. This class included the first group to complete eight terms entirely in the Navy V-12 Program. With the graduation in June, of the last V-12 class, the Navy College Training Program which was inaugurated July 1, 1943, came to a close.

War conditions have caused University military activities to be critically altered. Just basic training was given civilian students and members of the A.S.T.R.P. the first semester. The six branches of the service represented on the campus, including Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Engineering, and Signal Corps, were presented as a “Branch Immaterial” course.

Second semester, however, a series of significant and progressive changes founded a new and vigorous ROTC program. Infantry, Cavalry, and Engineer units were reactivated, along with a first year advanced course. Pershing Rifles, an honorary group for increasing knowledge of military drill, was re-established at battalion strength.

The ROTC teaches courtesy, respect for authority, and the value of individual effort in mass accomplishment. It creates an interest in national affairs, and points out the duties and obligations of citizens in time of peace.

This year, the sports writers coined a new title and bestowed it upon the Fighting Illini of 1945: "Hospital Champions of the Nation."

Facing a tough schedule with the most experienced eleven he had fielded since pre-war days, Coach Ray Eliot saw his bright hopes for a conference contender fade with the loss of the "Elusive Eddies", Bray and McGovern, 'ere the conference tilts began. By midseason, five more regulars, George Bujan, Larry Forst, Stan Sprague, Lou Agase and Bill Heiss were sidelined for the season, or available for only limited portions of games, because of injuries or illness.

The Illini saw five games slip from their grasp by a single touchdown. Such things as the failure to gain a yard on fourth down, a fumble on the two-yard line, a pass incomplete into the end zone, a field goal which missed by inches, all while knocking at the door to victory, cost the Illini a possible record of seven wins and two losses. The final tally was two victories, six defeats and a tie, with a record of 1-4-1 in the Big Ten.

ILLINOIS 23
PITTSBURGH 6

Although Coach Ray Eliot's hopes of starting the 1945 season with an upperclassman in every position were dashed three days before the opening game by the hospitalization of half-back Eddie McGovern, the Fighting Illini showed a great deal of poise and power in soundly spanking the Pittsburgh eleven, 23-6. The starting lineup, which was to undergo many more changes before the season was through, included three seniors, six juniors, three sophomores and one freshman, the most experienced lineup since that of the memorable renaissance year of 1942.

Eliot was obviously using this game merely as a testing ground for the Notre Dame fracas, and, victory assured after the first few minutes, was loath to let any Irish scouts in the stands see just what the Illini would have to offer the following week. Conventional plays from the "T" and but a standard defense were sufficient to trounce the outclassed Panthers.

Tom Zaborac, called upon at the eleventh hour to replace McGovern, displayed power, which seemed a rare commodity on the Illini market, combined with speed matched only by tiny Eddie Bray. With these two valuable assets, he turned in a very creditable 4.1 yard average for the day, and was stopped without a gain only once.

But it remained for Bray to turn in the most spectacular run of the day, and perhaps of the season as well. He smashed his way 19 yards to the goal, reversing his field and changing pace, again and again, and ran through, over, or around every Panther on the field.

NOTRE DAME 7

Never in the history of the sport have the Fighting Illini been able to best the Fighting Irish on the gridiron. In years gone by, it has often been a moral victory for the Illini to bring home a scoreless tie. At other times, it has been the "luck of the Irish" that has saved the South Benders from seemingly inevitable defeat at the hands of a superior Illini eleven. A memorable example was furnished by Frank Dancewicz in 1944; Illinois seemed on its way to the breaking of a precedent when a lateral pass play saved the day for the wearers of the Green.

This year's game was the same old story. Notre Dame scored on a 75-yard run by Phil Colella on the first play of the ball game, and from there on, the Orange and Blue was continually frustrated. After eight minutes, Bray was limping to the sideline, his "good" knee out of commission. Even without him, the Illini racked up thirteen first downs to Notre Dame's six. But their inability to move, once inside the 15-yard stripe, proved fatal. Of ten plays started from within fifteen yards of the goal line, none got past the one. More than once the ball game was lost by an acute case of fumbleitis, complicated by the inability to connect with passes.

Zaborac was the outstanding back for the Illini, gaining an average of 4.8 yards each time he carried the ball. The entire Illini forward wall played magnificently for sixty minutes, allowing but one threat other than the initial play. But the player of the day was Dancewicz, of the Irish, who streaked from out of nowhere time and again to pull down an enemy who was seemingly in the clear.

ILLINOIS 0     INDIANA 6

Indiana, now reigning as undisputed king of Big Ten football for 1945, almost slipped off the road to the throne in the opening game of the season. Illinois, playing without four regulars, all sorely needed, battled the boys from Bloomington on even terms for the first forty-eight minutes, turning back fourteen plays from within the fifteen yard line. On the fifteenth play, the Hoosiers uncorked a touchdown pass that proved the game-winner.

Stan Stasica, a discharged veteran, received his first taste of Big Ten competition with but two days of practice under his belt, and sparkled the entire eight minutes he was in the game. It was he who headed an Illinois drive in the closing minutes, topped off by a twenty-eight yard run to the nine, that had "Bo" McMillan fearing for the scalps of his "po' little boys."

Starring on defense for the Illini was Mac Wenskus, another veteran, who postponed defeat many times with his magnificent linebacking. Less in action, but receiving far the greater amount of publicity, was a Great Dane that had somehow escaped Matt Bullock and sauntered onto the field in time to stop an Indiana touchdown pass.

ILLINOIS 7     WISCONSIN 7

For a brief moment, it seemed as though the Fighting Illini would win their second conference start with ridiculous ease. Bill Burkovich passed to Ray Ciszak on the first play for a score, the entire operation covering seventy-six yards. A few minutes later, fans thought they were about to witness one of the highest scoring games in history, as the Badgers took the ball from the kickoff and marched the length of the field to score.

And there, however, the scoring ended, but not the excitement. The rest of the game followed the familiar pattern of Illini frustration. With the exception of the first five minutes, Wisconsin was in constant peril of defeat. Each time they gained possession of the ball, stellar defensive work by Wenzkins, Lou Agase, Les Bingaman and others halted their every attempt. Illinois' offense worked wonders in midfield, but each time the Badgers were forced back into the shadow of their goal posts, a tragic fumble or a pass that could not seem to be caught would halt the invaders in their tracks.

After knocking at the door to victory the entire second half, the Illini had one last attempt which missed by a sickeningly small margin. With second remaining, Bunker Jones attempted a twenty-four yard field goal from a bad angle. The kick was wide of the uprights by inches, and Wisconsin took possession of the ball for the remainder of the game, satisfied to return to the locker room with what Madison fans considered a moral victory.

ILLINOIS 0  MICHIGAN 19

The Fighting Illini lived up to their name as never before, before a near capacity Homecoming crowd. With seven regulars either out of the game or seeing limited duty only, Illinois' remaining linemen fought two alternating Michigan lines, both superb, to a standstill for forty-eight minutes. Then, at the point of exhaustion, their effectiveness diminished steadily, allowing fresh Wolverines to pour through gaping holes to throw the Orange and Blue for loss after loss, to block punts, to knock down passes, and to score nineteen points in the last twelve minutes.

Illini partisans, who had seen Butkovich put Michigan on their heels time after time with punts reaching phenomenal yardages up to eighty-six yards, and who had seen a line which Fritz Crisler praised as "better than Army's for forty-eight minutes" subdue one threat after another, were stunned by the sudden turn of events. It had not seemed possible that the Illini, who had given up only one touchdown in each previous game, could fall apart so suddenly.

It was a boy from Bloomington, Illinois, who was largely responsible for the crushing blows of the last twelve minutes. And, ironically, his name was Elliott.

ILLINOIS 6  GREAT LAKES 12

A revamped Illini squad, with only Bill Heiss and Ralph

Serpico remaining from the original eleven, was swamped by the surprising sailors from Great Lakes in the first quarter. The Navy's "lucky seven" returned again and again to plague the unhappy Illini during that troublesome period. After a seventy-three yard return of the opening kickoff, the sailors navigated through seven plays to a score. The first time they gained possession of the ball in the final quarter, they again took exactly seven plays to push the count to 12-6.

It was a great day for the newcomers to the Illinois squad, however. Discharged veterans and freshmen took over most of the duties and performed them in a very satisfactory manner. Gene Kwasniewski showed great promise on several well-executed runs, scoring the lone Illini touchdown. Stasica came up with another of his spectacular long runs, and Jack Pierce did well in his share of the ball carrying.

Jim Valek, Bill Kolens, and Jack Jordan were outstanding on defense. Kolens blocked two punts and was instrumental in breaking up several sustained sailor drives. And, for the first time this season, Illini overcame their tendency to excessive fumbling.

ILINOIS 48  IOWA 7

The point-hungry Illini, who had totalled only thirteen points in the five contests immediately preceding the game with the Hawkeyes, ate their fill at the expense of the bewildered lowans with a barrage of forty-eight points. After an unpleasant start, during which Iowa gave notice that they possessed some power and unlimited spirit, the Illini turned the tables and dashed, passed, ploughed, and place-kicked for seven touchdowns, three conversions, and a field goal.

Pierce, who was to lead Big Ten rushing at the end of the season, was the individual star of the day, scoring twice on long jaunts, passing to Ciszek for another, and setting up others with his brilliant running. The rest of the scoring was divided among five players, Zaborac, Valek, Al Zimmerman, and Mickey Perkins counting for touchdowns, and Jones splitting the uprights with a perfect field goal.

For the first time in the 1945 season, injuries were at a minimum. The notable exception was the broken leg suffered by one of the officials late in the first half.
FOOTBALL

ILLINOIS 2  OHIO STATE 27

Illinois was definitely a three-quarter ball club against Ohio State, succumbing in the fourth period for the season's worst defeat. Although magnificent punting by the Buckeyes' Dick Fisher kept Illinois deep in their own territory from the outset and the Illini were unable to muster any sustained drive, the score at the beginning of the final period was only 7-2.

Ohio's superior manpower was used with telling effect in the last 15 minutes, as the Buckeyes marched through Illinois' injury-riddled defense for three touchdowns.

The only score for the Illini was a safety which occurred when Ray Giszek slipped through Ohio blockers to catch a would-be Buckeye punter in the end zone. This came following a touchdown threat by Eliot's team which was stopped on the four-yard line. Outstanding on defense was MacWenskunas, whose line-backing was largely responsible for the close score for three quarters.

Most spectacular run of the day was a Stan Stasica specialty, a 56-yard broken field dash on a punt return which ended just short of the Ohio goal line as the gun fired ending the first half. There was little doubt, however, that the best back on the field was Ollie Cline of Ohio, a fullback who ultimately earned honors as the Big Ten's most valuable player.

ILLINOIS 7  NORTHERN 13

In the season's finale, the Fighting Illini met the surprising Northwestern eleven at Evanston. Bally underrated at the beginning of the season, the boys from the shores of Lake Michigan had held Indiana third team in the nation, to a 7-7 tie and upset powerful Purdue. Illinois was starting a vastly different eleven from that which began the season—only three of the original lineup remained. Few even were present from the midseason starting eleven. This year had ranked with 1943, when Illinois earned the name of the "Vanishing Illini", but that year through the draft rather than by this year's injuries.

However, this game proved to be one of the most evenly played of the season, for both the Illini and the Wildcats. Illinois led early in the second period, by virtue of a forty-one yard run by Pierce. Northwestern retaliated in the same stanza with a seventy-nine yard march to the goal. Late in the game, a field goal attempt by Jones, which seemed as if it were the decisive play of the contest, struck the goal post and fell harmlessly aside. Thus inspired, the Northwestern team scored the game winning points after an exchange of punts.

It was a great day for the youthful Illini halfbacks, as Pierce, Zaborac, and Zimmerman scintillated throughout the game.
BASKETBALL

In 1945-46 the Illini pulled out of a midseason slump to avenge every conference defeat save one, spoil the bids of Iowa and Northwestern for the crown, and give the Illinois fans a preview of things to come.

Not just one of the fabulous Whiz Kids has returned, but four; not merely a pair of the sensational freshman squad of 1943 have returned to the basketball capital of the world, but almost the entire pack.

The 1946 squad upset mighty DePaul, rated the top team in the nation, and saw five conference games slip from its grasp by an average of 3.6 points. Short on experience and individual stars, but long on pep, enthusiasm and love for the game, the "Eager Beavers" kept the fans on the edge of their seats time and again with breathtaking second-half rallies which ended now in victory, now in a heartbreaking two-point defeat.

Does the problem of picking even a traveling squad from the dozens of stellar performers seem insurmountable? "The kind of a headache I'd like every day in the week," smiles Doug Mills.

Illinois faced the 1946 season in the same position it has enjoyed since 1943—the perennial dark horse, always upsetting the finest calculations of the experts with the outstanding play of squads composed largely of freshmen.

This year's team performed in the best of dark horse traditions, dropping its first game by a slim margin to one of the top service teams in the country, Wright Field, which sported such stars as Illinois' Dike Eddleman. The squad then outlasted a scrappy St. Louis five with the first of a long line of spine-tingling rallies which ended as little Dwight Humphrey calmly tossel two free throws through the hoop after regulation play was over, to tie the score and send the game into an overtime. He also scored the first basket in the extra period which brought the Illini a victory.

The next three games, warm-up wins over Great Lakes, Great Lakes Hospital, and Detroit, showed the excellent condition of the Illini, as every man saw action in contests which ran in high gear for the entire forty minutes.

This four-game winning streak was cut short by a defeat at the hands of the championship Ohio five, resumed with two easy non-conference wins over Drake and Nebraska, and then stopped again as Iowa staved off the smoothest second-half rally of the young season to win, 41-39.

At the time that DePaul visited Champaign, they were rated by the vast majority of the newsmen as the nation's number one team. True to tradition, the Illini, the underdog in DePaul contests since 1943, toppled the Demons from the ranks of the undefeated by the decisive margin of 56-37, on the all-around brilliance of Jack Burmaster, Wallie Mroz, and Bob Doster.

As the conference season swung into full play, Illinois hit a slump during which they edged by ninth place Wisconsin, dropped a heartbreaker to Michigan by a single point in the last fifteen seconds, and again saw a second-half rally, led by Doster, fall short as Risen-less Ohio State proved its championship mettle.

The upsurge of Illinois fortunes started with a sound spanking of the highly touted Northwestern squad, as Bob Rowe took the evening's honors away from King, the Wildcat center and a promising candidate for all-Big Ten honors. It continued with the overwhelming of hapless Chicago twice, Doster alone contributing almost as many points as the Maroons in each contest.

Sandwiched between the Chicago series was an evening of sweet revenge for the Bluejackets of Great Lakes. Mel Riebe, able to run with the "Eager Beavers" at last, starred in crushing the Illini, 67-42.

On February 10, at 4:30 p.m., post-war sports at the University of Illinois began in earnest. The beginning of the second semester brought the return of Whiz Kid Jack Smiley and a pair of stars from Illinois high school basketball and the 1943 Freshman Wonder five, Fred Green and Dwight Eddleman, and with them, a smoother-working cage machine and a greatly increased following of fans.

Starring slowly, but becoming unstoppable by the second period, the Illini avenged the earlier defeat by Michigan, with Rowe leading the scoring in what was decidedly a team victory. And after a bad night against Northwestern, where ex-Illini Max Morris led the Wildcats to a 48-43 win, the Orange and Blue began to exhibit form of championship calibre, topping a greatly improved Wisconsin team, 72-53. Returned veterans led the scoring for a second straight week, as Green racked up 19 and Smiley 13. Mroz stepped in when Doster experienced a continuation of his three-game scoring famine, and counted 11 points.

A fitting climax to a hair-raising season was the upset, 57-51, of the league-leading Iowa Hawkeyes, after the Illini trailed for 30 minutes, at one time by 15 points. Doster returned to form with brilliant rebounding and offensive work, scoring 22 points, and Smiley turned in the best performance on a team in which stellar floor play was commonplace.

Of the season's lettermen, no five can be picked as the "first string". Starting lineups were never the same. Standing out among those who played from the start of the season was Bob Doster, third in Big Ten scoring, one of the three Illini ever to score over 200 points in a single season, picked by his teammates as the most valuable player, and selected almost unanimously on the second all-conference squad. Sharing the last honor was Jack Burmaster, a returning letterman from 1945, whose stellar defense and steady shooting contributed much to the success of the Illini.

But every victory was won by teamwork and the less heralded play of such men as Wallie Mroz, Dwight Humphrey, Jim Seyler, Bob Rowe, George Leddy, and Bob Menke. Once again the coaching genius of Doug Mills and Wallie Roettger and the natural ability of a group of boys just out of Illinois high schools have proven themselves!
Coach Wallie Roetrger once again was faced with a draft-riddled lineup at the start of a new season, but proceeded to fill those vacancies with such success that Illinois finished a remarkable third in the Big Ten, with six wins and five losses.

With but a small nucleus of men back from 1944's all-Freshman squad, the Illini had the Herculean task of meeting twenty opponents, including such strong foes as Great Lakes, Chanute Field, and Lockbourne Air Base, and came out with an even break—ten victories and ten reverses.

Though strong in the pitching and fielding departments, the Illini had only one major weakness—power hitting, without which championships never can be attained.

Most Valuable Player

John Johns

Most Valuable Player
The 1945 baseball season was one of decisive wins and sound spankings, of brilliant hurling and lapses in hitting, of vaunted opponents and youthful Illini. The net result was a .500 percentage in all games, with ten wins, ten losses, and a tie, and a repetition of 1944's third place slot in the Big Ten with six-five-one.

Opening the year's activities was the return of Lou Boudreau, probably the greatest baseball Illini, with his Cleveland Indians, to best the collegiate nine, 9-1. This was followed by a pair with Lockbourne Air Base, which were split, the victory in the first game coming by timely hitting on the part of Howie Judson. Chanute was then topped, 8-7, in a twelve-inning session which finally turned on the superior physical condition of the Illini for a prolonged duel.

The conference season opened with a victorious double-header over Iowa, which proved the Illinois pitching staff to be among the most potent in the Big Ten, and was followed by a pair of heartbreaking losses to Michigan, both of which were hurling duels that could have been snatched from the loss column with the aid of lacking power hitting. The opening month’s play was finished with a free-scoring win over Sedalia, with Judson counting two homers, a loss to Indiana, and a spectacular fifteen-inning tie with the Hoosiers. It was Judson’s day again in this marathon, as he lasted the entire route, matching pitch for pitch the best work of three Indiana hurlers.

The next two weeks found the Illini hitting their peak, winning three in a row and four out of five, before hitting a late season slump that cost them four defeats in five starts. Included were decisive victories over Ohio, Northwestern, Purdue, and Lambert, and losses at the hands of Great Lakes, the Iowa Seahawks, Purdue, Northwestern, and a revenge-bent Chanute nine.

The outstanding players were naturally among those who had gained the invaluable experience in intercollegiate ball the year before and around whom Coach Roettger built his third place ball club. Included in this group of sophomores were John Johns, catcher, voted the most valuable Illini and among the leading conference hitters with a .300 average, and Hovie Judson, the Illini’s outstanding hurler, who won three, lost two, and went the entire route in the 14-inning endurance contest at Indiana. Judson was elected captain for the 1946 season, but entered the Navy at the close of the 1944-45 school year.

Perhaps the most promising freshman prospect was Bob Anderlik, centerfielder, whose timely hitting was instrumental in several rallies, and whose natural ability has been rated by many as the equal of any Illini since Lou Boudreau. Also outstanding among the first year men was Jim Wakefield, brother of Dick Wakefield of Detroit Tigers fame, who forced Johns to hustle every minute to keep his first-string catching position.

Pitching, at first no problem with three hurlers, Howie Judson, Art Ecklund, and Marv Rotblatt, on call, was dealt a critical blow by the loss of Rotblatt with a head injury. Judson and Ecklund, however, turned in one stellar performance after another, to lead the pitching staff and the team to a successful season.
Seldom is the track prowess of the University of Illinois thought of by modern track enthusiasts without bringing forth memories of climactic finishes after spectacular seasons.

The year of 1945 in outdoor track and the indoor season of 1946 were no exceptions to the excellence that has become an Illinois trademark under the guidance of Coach Leo Johnson. The former saw an Illinois team, which had grown to rely upon Buddy Young and Bob Kelley for at least four or five firsts in every meet, adapt itself so well that the loss of Young to the Navy and Kelley on injuries went almost unnoticed to the casual observer of the point totals. A fitting climax to the outdoor season was the decisive defeat of favored Michigan in the Big Ten Meet, followed by a near upset of powerful Navy in the NCAA with a token entry of six Illini.

Indoors, in 1946, Illinois found itself in the unusual position of the favorite. Having swept the schedule of dual meets without a defeat, its annexation of the Conference crown was thought assured. Narrowly averting an upset, the Illini won the meet by $\frac{2}{3}$ of a point, gaining that margin on the last event of the day.

Although crippled almost as soon as the season began by injuries to Bill Buster, Bob Phelps, and Bob Kelley, Illinois' 1945 outdoor track team overcame the handicap to prove itself one of the best squads in the country. Paced by freshman George Walker, always a double winner in the hurdles in which he consistently approached or tied existing records, the youthful Illini not only brought home the Big Ten laurels, but exploded at Milwaukee with a concussion that was felt as far east as Annapolis, nearly upsetting Navy, the outstanding NCAA favorite, with an Illinois entry of but six men.

The season opened as the Illini, not yet in condition, sent its 880 yard relay team to the Drake relays for a win. Quickly whipping into shape, they crushed Marquette, Indiana, and Northwestern in a quadrangular meet in which Walker, Kelley, and Marce Gonzalez each finished with double wins to lead the parade of Illinois firsts.

Great Lakes and Michigan both edged out Illinois and Ohio State the following week, as Illini firsts were cut to four by a series of pulled muscles. But in the next meet, with Notre Dame, nine wins were registered, the Orange and Blue finishing ahead of the Irish by the substantial margin of 68 to 83.

Suffering from an acute shortage of sprinters after the loss of Buster, Coach Johnson entered Walker in the 100 in the Big Ten meet in a surprise move that, together with the return of Kelley from the ranks of the injured to take two titles, the usual double win of Walker in the hurdles, and firsts by Gonzalez in the 220 and Henry Aihara in the broad jump, supplied the necessary points for the championship.

The Illini chose not to compete in strength in the NCAA championships, but even so finished second to Navy, winning four firsts and a number of minor places for a total of 57 3/4 points. In addition to Walker's almost automatic national championships in the hurdle events, Phelps returned to form to take the pole vault crown with a mark of 13' 6", Aihara captured the broad jump title, Buster, competing in the 100 for the first time of the season, won a second, and Gonzalez placed fourth in the 440.

The NCAA culminated an undefeated season for two Illini. Walker competed twelve times, in the hurdles and the 100, and took twelve firsts, while Aihara, winning the broad jump time and again by only a fraction of an inch, entered five times for as many victories.

The 1946 indoor track season was the most successful in recent years for the Illini, as they went through the conference meets undefeated and climaxed the year with a 2 1/2 point victory over Michigan in the Big Ten meet.

On February 10, at 4:30 P.M., Coach Johnson saw his first semester team, paced by such stars as Walker and Phelps from the 1945 squad, win the opening dual meet from Minnesota. Simultaneously, he greeted the great host of stellar performers who had just returned from the wars to enroll for the second semester.

A week later, the thus-bolstered Illini crushed a strong Ohio State squad, 69 to 35, with double wins by Walker, representing the first-semester performers, and Dwight Eddleman, a returned veteran, the former in the hurdles, and the latter in the high and broad jumps. Michigan was then edged out in a dual meet by \( \frac{2}{3} \) of a point, on the last event—the mile relay—auguring with amazing accuracy the result of the conference meet two weeks hence.

In the final warm-up meet before the Big Ten, the Illini thoroughly vanquished a hapless Indiana squad, 86 to 18, winning every first but the shot put, and almost every minor place as well. Herb McKenley made it appear a habit to set a new record every time he ran, as he broke the Armory mark with a time of \( :49.2 \) in the 440.

As the conference meet approached, it appeared that two Illinois Big Ten champions would be dethroned, and so they were. Their own teammates, both freshmen took the crowns—Bill Mathis over Buster in the 100, and McKenley over Gonzalez in the 440. The Illini took four other firsts, Walker in both hurdles, Eddleman in the high jump, and the mile relay team, and thus outsored Michigan in that department, six to two. However, the Wolverines took several places in Illinois' weak suits, the mile, half mile, two mile, and shot put, and forced the Illini to await the victory of its superb mile relay team before bowing, 57\( \frac{1}{2} \) to 56\( \frac{3}{4} \).
OTHER VARSITY SPORTS

Seldom heralded by headlines, but just as seldom finishing a season anywhere but in the Big Ten's first division, are the athletes who participate in the so-called minor varsity sports.

In 1945-46, the last of the war years, the fortunes of the Illini in four of these five sports started the upward trend, the end of which will not come for many years. Tennis was the lone recalcitrant as it dropped to seventh place.

The most spectacular jump was that of the wrestling team, which climaxed a highly successful season by annexing the Big Ten Crown. The Illinois swimmers, riding on the crest of a wave churned up by the squad's star and consistent winner, John Haulenbeek, finished sixth in the Big Ten. In golf, the Illini jumped from the conference trailer position in 1944 to fifth in the 1945 season. Cross country, track, sporting the top harrier of the conference in Vic Twomey, placed fourth.

Scores of boys in the "minor" sports thus proved themselves a major factor in the upholding of Illini prestige and tradition.
Illinois' 1945 golfers, led by Captain Gene Emery and under the tutelage of Coach Ralph Fletcher, turned unpleasant prospects into a very satisfactory season, as they jumped from 1944's Big Ten cellar to 1945's fifth place.

Two lettermen returned from the previous team, and around them was built a group that split its two dual meets and took a first and two seconds in three- and four-way contests.

The season started with a loss at the hands of Chanute Field and a victory over Purdue. The following week, the Illini finished second to the championship Ohio team in a quadrangular meet. A first place in a triangular with Purdue and Indiana and a second behind Northwestern in another three-way meet finished the warm-ups for the conference finale. In the Big Ten meet on May 26, the Illini finished fifth, behind Ohio, Northwestern, Michigan, and Minnesota, to complete the season.
After a brilliant start, Coach Ralph Johnson’s tennis squad suffered a steady decline which found the Illini of 1945 in seventh place at the end of the season.

Seven lettermen, Keith Clark, Jack Clatfelter, Jared Davis, Ercument Karacan, Roger Little, George O’Neal, and Paul Riepma led the squad to four meets and returned without a defeat before lapsing to wind up the season with a record of four wins, two losses, and a tie.

The Illini looked strong in taking the measure of Chanute Field, Normal, and Northwestern. They tied favored Michigan before hitting a slump which cost them decisive defeats at the hands of Ohio and Purdue.

Illinois seemed to return to form in defeating Normal, 6-0, but then finished in seventh place in the conference meet on May 26, just a point out of fifth place. Michigan, Ohio State, and Purdue led the field.
SWIMMING

Fortune smiled and frowned by turns on the aquatic Illini of 1946, as the team ended the season with four wins, four losses, and sixth place in the Big Ten meet.

John Haulenbeek was Illinois' star performer all season, winning 21 firsts in 23 starts to tie the existing conference record. He took the title in such varied events as the 50, 100, and 220 yards free style, the 220 yards in the breast stroke, and 220 yards back stroke to earn Coach Manley's plaudits as the best all-around swimmer ever to compete for Illinois. Haulenbeek also won the crown in the 50 yard free style in the conference meet.

The Illinois wrestling team of 1945 climaxed an unusual season with an upset win over power-laden Indiana at the Big Ten meet. What was but an average team at the beginning of the season was bolstered by the return of several veterans with the opening of the second semester, and it turned in five magnificent performances to finish the season with five wins and four losses.

After taking the opening dual meet and then dropping three in a row, the strengthened Illini disposed of three conference opponents, and lost a close one to Indiana, before ending the season with the capturing of the conference crown—a feat that surprised everyone but the loyal followers of the squad on the Illinois campus.

The most colorful wrestler of the season was undefeated Norm Anthonisen, whose crowd-consciousness while on the mats won him the role of the people's choice in every meet. Also consistent winners were Dave Shapiro and Lou Garcia, but probably the best performance of the season was shown by Bob Wilson as he took his only win of the season over Bollas, Ohio State, who had been undefeated until then in intercollegiate competition.

It is seldom that one man from an unsuccessful team can lift himself above all other competitors in his sport. But such was the case with Vic Twomey, of the 1945 Illinois cross country team.

Neither Twomey nor his teammates had run over long courses before, the only men with any track experience were middle-distance runners at most. They competed in three dual meets, with Notre Dame, Ohio, and Wisconsin, and in each, they were badly beaten. The finishes were similar: Twomey would finish among the leaders, and the opposition would take the next four or five places.

In the Big Ten meet, over a four mile course, Twomey emerged with the individual crown in 21:29.9, and with help from the other letterman, Eric Hughes, brought back fourth place for the Illini.
The Tribe of Illini, organized for athletes on the Illinois campus, is for the purpose of promoting good fellowship and athletics. It is to help in every way possible in placing the athletic program at Illinois on the highest level. The membership, which is open only to "I" lettermen, consisted of 56 members during the 1945-46 school year. Through the willingness, interest, and cooperation of the coaching staff and the active members, the Tribe of Illini has become one of the most successful groups to fulfill their purpose on the campus. The president of the Tribe this year was Marce Gonzalez; the faculty advisor, Glenn C. Law.

THEY'RE BACK . . . !

They're back to full houses of pre-war fraternity strength, to studying all hours of the night and day, to class routine, and to activities.

Once again smoke-filled rooms echo big bull sessions, with war tales heading the list of subjects.

With a more experienced eye, they attend exchange desserts, looking over the sororities and sometimes finding a new name to add to their list.

As reluctant as ever, they linger at the door at the stroke of one, and just as enthusiastically they return the next day for an afternoon coke, a bridge date, or a Sunday morning church date.

Serenades, pinhangings, and pin serenades again enliven Chambana in the wee hours of week-end mornings.

In plaid shirts, sport shirts, slacks, and jeans, they have returned to comfortable, sometimes lazy, sometimes hectic college life.

They're back! We're glad to have them, and they're glad to be here!
Passers-by on Daniel Street can again see the jewelled emblem of Acacia proudly lighted above the doorway of the Old English manor.

Inside, actives and pledges can be seen planning activities and talking about the past record. Despite the war, loyal Acacians have made their organization first in scholarship among social fraternities and brought many another honor to their house—letters in four sports, plus two Big Ten championships, three class presidencies, a presidency of Phi Eta Sigma, junior editorships of The Illio and The Agriculturist; offices in the Inter-fraternity Council and Skull and Crescent, and memberships in Student Senate and Freshman Council.

Many of these men are expected back and some are already here. All are determined the coming years will be as kind to Acacia as the past have been.
Alpha Chi Rho returned to campus this fall of 1945 after having closed its doors in May, 1943. Returning to campus following military service are Howard Wissel, Phillip Rose, Bill Wright, Wayne Watson, originally class of '45, Paul Stavenger, Bill Fisher, and Alex McCornack, formerly '46, '44, and '41 respectively, complete the roster of actives who are again taking up college life.

President is Howie Wissel. Howie writes sports features for The Daily Illini and assists Coach Ed Manley with the swimming team. Vice-president is Phil Rose, who shows up at unexpected moments at University functions with the recording eye of The Illio camera.

Alpha Chi Rho boasts two more veterans of war and campus in ruling positions in the house, secretary, Bill Wright, Sachem, and treasurer, Paul Stavenger, Star Course.

Top Row: Myron Beckman, John Lewis, George Fisher, Arthur Odegard, Thomas Wright
Third Row: Robert Scott, Dwight Humphrey, Francis Garbe, Albert Sipker, Alexander McCornack
Second Row: Wayne Watson, Phil Stavenger, Howard Wissel, Phillip Rose, William Wright
Professional spirit among the students in the divisions of the Chemistry Department is encouraged by Alpha Chi Sigma.

The scholastic requirements of Alpha Chi Sigma are high; undergraduates are pledged no earlier than their sophomore year, and usually junior or senior status is reached before membership is offered. Thus, before admission, each man has had the opportunity to choose chemistry or a related science as his life's work.

The functions of Alpha Chi Sigma center about its professional activities. Thus, the chapter maintains a chemistry library and sponsors lectures and smokers. An annual high school essay contest is part of the chapter's activities. Alpha Chi Sigma gives a scholastic award annually to the student in college chemistry who has the highest grade average for his freshman year. Zeta's social program is as extensive as its professional activities.
By reopening the chapter house after a two year period of inactivity, Delta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity celebrated the 25th anniversary of its University of Illinois charter.

Growing from a nucleus of eight pledges in June, Alpha Epsilon Pi had a total membership of 45 men by October of the same year. Delta was declared inactive when 61 of the last 62 men pledged went to the armed forces.

Officers for the fall semester were: master, Stanford C. Kaatz; lieutenant master, J. Clifford Moos; scribe, Bennett Berman; exchequer, Alilton Sabin; and member-at-large, Earl Spiro.

With three of the former actives already returned from service, and more on the way, Alpha Epsilon Pi is looking forward toward a successful future.
The president, Dean Robb, former I.F. president and V-12 has worked hard to bring Alpha Kappa Lambda back to normalcy. Alpha Kappa Lambda won Sachem Sing again last spring, and then at Homecoming the house decorations trophy.

Don Wise is a member of Sachem and Y.M.C.A. cabinet. Frank Long is treasurer of Phi Eta Sigma, and Art Tiedemann is president of Pi Tau Sigma, engineering honorary.

One of the highlights of this semester has been the return of them all.

Through the war emergency and once again taking its place among the leaders on the Illinois campus is Alpha Kappa Lambda, always known for high scholarship and student activities.
Greek letter Tau Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha was founded at the University of Illinois on March 23, 1917. Since its inception, the members have been active on campus. Intramural basketball championships were won in 1922, 1931, and 1941. The chapter was awarded the Sachem Scholarship Trophy in 1941 for the greatest improvement in scholarship of any fraternity on the campus.

Cecil Clift, who is working toward the doctorate degree in agronomy, is a member of Phi Sigma, biological honorary. Charles Gaines was chairman of the Illini Town Meeting during 1944-1945. Wendell Jennings is a special research assistant in chemistry and Mason Wilkes is a member of The Daily Illini.
Alpha Rho Chi is a national social and professional fraternity. It was organized in order to encourage a greater interest in the study of architecture and the allied professions, and also to organize and unite in fellowship the architectural students of the country in order to improve their artistic, scientific, and practical efficiency.

Alpha Rho Chi awards annually the Ricker Key to the student writing the best research paper in architectural history.

Anticipating the return of a number of members now in the Armed Forces, Alpha Rho Chi looks forward to a gala post-war Homecoming.
Alpha Tau Omega has made a fine start on the road of reconversion in this, the first post-war year of activity. Nearly 50 pledges and members were on hand when the ATO home on Pennsylvania Avenue was opened.

In the sports world ATOs have taken a prominent place. Members on the 1944-45 basketball team included All-American Junior Kirk, captain, Walt Kursulis, and Don Delaney. Three new freshmen cagers, Chick Doster, Hal Craig, and Van Anderson, are expected to carry on again this year. In football there is Eddie McGovern. Vic Twomey joined Bill Cooley as another track “I” man when he won the Big Ten cross-country championship for Illinois this fall. Jerry Davis starred on the tennis team and Don Scherwat in swimming. Others are on the baseball and wrestling squads.
Activities and scholarship are the foremost things for which Beta Theta Pi stands. The Betas of Sigma Rho chapter are proud of the achievements they have made.

For the last twenty years, of the ten oldest fraternities on the campus, Beta has ranked in the upper three places in the scholastic standings more than any other house. Beta’s scholastic average for the last twenty semesters is 3.62. The house average for the last semester computed by the Dean of Men’s office was 3.967.

Sixty-nine Betas in the past years have been initiated in to the junior activities honorary, and sixty have been chosen for the senior honorary, Ma-Wanda. Now Betas are active in campus politics, swimming, basketball, track, Theatre Guild, football, The Daily Illini, baseball, and The Illio.
Traditions of Chi Psi extend back one hundred and five years to 1841, the date of its founding. In the beginning, the founders of the fraternity laid down a policy of conservatism that has been a rich heritage over the years, presenting the outstanding example in fraternity circles of what a policy of quality, as opposed to quantity, can do in maintaining high ideals.

On the Illinois campus, after the war years, Chi Psi is again proving that conservatism in pledging pays. We now have men that are a credit to the fraternity system and to the University. The goal of Chi Psi has been, and remains, to excel in scholarship, athletics, and activities, so that each member may enter life with a well-rounded personality.
The purposes of the Cosmopolitans are: to cultivate social and intellectual intercourse among persons of different nationalities at the University of Illinois, to promote scholarship and character among its members, to foster the spirit of universal brotherhood, and to propagate the ideal of a higher standard of justice between nations. The motto of the fraternity is "Above all nations is humanity."

The present membership includes students from the United States, Canada, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Hawaii, Mexico, Peru, Panama, Trinidad, Turkey, and Yugoslavia.

The chapter engages in a full social and sports program. Its members are active in Theatre Guild, Union Board, War Chest, War Queen contest, and the Clothing Drive.
The Delta Phi Fraternity, third in order of establishment of American College Fraternities and oldest fraternity on the Illinois campus, was founded November 17, 1825, at Union College, Schenectady, New York. Delta Phi, with Kappa Alpha and Sigma Phi, which were established in the fall of 1825 and in the spring of 1827 respectively, have been known as the Greek Triad.

Tau of Delta Phi was established on January 14, 1920, and annexed the Iris Club as its nucleus.

Delta Phi, on the campus again after its inactive war years, is again furthering its aims.
Delta Tau Delta fraternity plunged into the school year of 1945 by opening its house for the first time since cessation of hostilities.

Just as it was before the war, and still remains uppermost in the fraternity, the objective is to further the education and maturity of men who are “good Delts”. High in activities and intramurals, Delta Tau Delta gives the campus a leader in Ralph “Babe” Serpico, captain of the Illini football team; Bill Krall, an Illini football veteran and returned serviceman; and Bob Bohannon, “I” man wrestling mainstay.

Pointing the way to a red letter year in 1945 and ’46, is the determination and the past history of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.
Representing the culmination in “regular fellows” on the Illinois campus is Beta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi.

From its initial chapter at the University of Indiana, organized in 1911, Kappa Alpha Psi has been extended to nearly every large college or university in the country. Then, too, there are more than fifty active Alumni Chapters.

Achievement is its purpose. Therefore, in spite of severest disillusionments and handicaps, Beta Chapter strives for excellence in every field of activity here on campus. It especially strives for scholarship, athletics, and brotherhood.

Men of Beta Chapter dedicate this page to the founders of the great clan of Kappa Alpha Psi.
Lambda Chi Alpha’s president this year is Dick Kosobud, treasurer of the Interfraternity Council, and past president of Phi Eta Sigma. Duke Hubka, secretary, under the pen name of “Mole”, writes the Scout Column for The Daily Illini. George Sturm, proctor, was president of the I.F. Council for two terms.

Joe Hayes won his major letter in track and also leads his popular band. Harlow Staley and Jim Scheeler are both members of Phi Eta Sigma. Bob Sang and Dick Creswell carried off the laurels in “Three Men on a Horse”. In Washington, the Lambda Chi crescent is worn by major activity leader, Harry Truman.
The Phi Delta Theta president is Jack Bales, returned war veteran. Pete Blom, V-12, is reporter, and Jim Ogden is secretary. Bob McCarthy is treasurer.

Phi Delts are leaders in intramurals. I-M manager is Ralph Silberman. One Phi, Mickey Perkins is quarterback on the football team. Others out for football were Bob McCarthy and George Lewis.

Coming back to the chapter were Newt Krabbe and Bob Troup. The Pledge class was largely composed of veterans.

Jack Prowell is a sports writer on The Champaign News-Gazette, and Woody Sudbrink works on The Daily Illini. Bill Back is active in Theatre Guild, and Rogers Vien has been doing radio work.
Psi Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity received its charter in 1920 and has been increasingly active and successful throughout its existence. The president is frater-superior Chuck Levy who is assisted by vice-superior Al Friedman.

Last summer the softball team won the championship once and also took a second place. The pledge dance went out west with the Forty-Niners, and the summer formal was at the Champaign Country Club.

Jerry Mendelson is again active in the Illini Theatre Guild, Bert Slavick is aiding in the work of the Interfraternity Council, Jack Jaffe cartoons for Tom-Tom and Lew Manilow is president of the Junior Council of Hillel Foundation.

The recently returned veterans include Chuck Levy, Bert Norton, Stan Newman, George Litow, Barney Selby, and Bill Frankel.

In this, Phi Gamma Delta’s first peacetime year since 1940, they have successfully overcome the tribulations of a university in wartime, and the Fijis have again emerged as one of the top houses on the campus.

Starting with only three men last spring, they have built the chapter up to a complement of thirty-five men, almost pre-war strength. Rushing was very successful, and they are rightfully proud of the fine group of pledges.

In all branches of campus activity and social life the Phi Gams are once again gaining the very high rank held before the war, and as more and more members of the chapter return from service, Phi Gamma Delta again forges to the front in campus life.
Along with most other fraternities on the campus, Phi Kappa Psi moved back into the house this fall for the first time since 1943. They celebrated the homecoming by obtaining a fine pledge class of 25 men. A lot of the old fellows who have been gone are now returning to finish their work, and this blending of the old and new gave Phi Psi one of the finest groups of men at the University.

Carl Bontemps, Hawk Richmond, Wes Spear, Ernie Frazier, all alumni were welcomed back when they visited.

The chapter officers for 1945-46 were: George Bujan, president; Ray Ciszek, vice-president; Dick Telander, treasurer; Jack Hagen, secretary; and Bob Slaybaugh, corresponding secretary.
Fraternity life with all the trimmings was resumed at Rho chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma in 1945-46. This ninety-fourth year after the organization’s founding was marked by a full return to pre-war size and activity. The halls once more resounded with the call of “49”.

Full participation in the intramural athletics was instigated and an expanded social program was put into effect. Those “Skulls” with large vocabularies and an appetite for cigar smoke resumed their interest in campus politics.

There was a marked tendency, particularly on the part of the returning men, to “get some studying done this year”. Quiet hours were broken only, and then just occasionally, by a trumpet, a trombone, and a one fingered piano player.

This year has marked the Skull’s return to its position of prominence on campus.
In the year of 1945, Pi Lambda Phi, after successfully thriving during the war period, has entered into the full swing of reconversion. Veterans, Harlan Schwartzbach, Edwin Goldenburg, Ronnie Carter, Gordon Lovitt, Paul Nagel, and Sherman Stiegel, put Pi Lam in full pre-war activity.

Socially, the leadership of Arnie Opler has placed Alpha Kappa Chapter in a favorable position. The Sweater Dance, the Pledge Dance, and the Winter Formal have been some of Pi Lam’s successful social affairs.

Many men have placed highly in activities. Ronnie Carter, feature writer with The Daily Illini, Chuck Goldsmith, chairman of the Friday Night Union entertainment, and Norm Berliner, varsity football manager, are some active Pi Lams. Our rex, Marsh Litvak, and his officers, have led Pi Lam to an extremely successful year.
"... Illinois Beta we hail to thee, and sing of dear old SAE"—yes, sing of college life with its activities and honoraries and of fraternity days with their social functions and good times.

The SAEs kept tab of campus dances. Lou Thomas was chairman of all student dances at the Illini Union and Len Anderson was chairman of Union Couple Dances.

In regard to honoraries, Eddie Planert, Lou Thomas, and Marce Gonzalez are members of Sachem, the former serving as president. Gonzalez is president of the Tribe of Illini and Planert is corresponding secretary.
Back to pre-war strength of 55 and 12 ex-service-men already back to the "Octagon", a bright future is foreseen.

Holding scholarship as the uppermost function in fraternity life has led Sigma Alpha Mu members to attain Phi Eta Sigma, Omega Beta Pi, and Honors Day.

As one of the foremost social fraternities, SAM has successfully held its annual Winter and Spring formals, pledge dances, and numerous social functions.

Athletics too have played an important role in Sigma Alpha Mu's fraternity life. With such outstanding athletes as Robert Silver, Al Zelkin, Norm Brainin, Hal Paddor, Bob Margulies, Floyd Lofchie, Floyd Stein, and Howie Sachnoff, SAM has proved to be the outstanding intramural house at Illinois.

More glorious days of fraternity life are ahead. Fast and firm is our union!
Sigma Chi, second national fraternity on the Illinois campus, now stands second to none in the Illinois fraternity world. A large civilian membership bolstered by a sizable V-12 group saw the completion of the war with even greater hopes.

Sigma Chi boasts some of the top activity men on campus. Eric Ekstrom, president of the Interfraternity Council; Merrill Prichard, editor of The Daily Illini; Jerry Cies, Joe Saban, and Bill Heiss, varsity football; Jim Seyler, Jake Stabb, and Bill Eddelman, varsity basketball; Charles Hopp and Lloyd Thorson, Theatre Guild; Ernest Hausler, drum major of the Illinois Marching Band; Dare Moore and Jim Hastings, varsity swimming; Jerry Cies, vice-president, Tribe of Illini. Sigma Chi is well represented in Sachem, Ma-Wan-Da, and the various scholastic, professional, and honorary fraternities.
Sigma Nu is one of the strongest fraternal organizations in the country. Gamma Nu at the University of Illinois works for the intellectual and social development of its members.

The Gamma Nu Chapter has always been well represented in varsity athletes, and this year is no exception, with Agase, Bingaman, Burnmaster, and Jones wearing the white star of Sigma Nu.

The chapter is once more firmly located in the fraternity house, with many veterans, some ex-officers, some heroes of many battles, but all the men hold in common the ideal of advancement and development for the fraternity and for each of its individual members.
Sigma Phi Epsilon is back on campus after a two-year’s absence due to the war. Since February, ’46, a lot of the boys have come back and the house is again full of Sig Eps.

The housewarming dance was a dance to end all housewarmings, but the big thing this year was the revival of the Casino Dance in March.

President Fairman and ex-G.I. Smith, during the “active shortage” last fall had their hands full during several pledge rebellions against the “bigger boys”, but actives rank high in the house now. It’s been a great year for Sig Ep, now that they have once more taken their place in the Illini Greek World.
In the fall of 1945, the Sigma Pi fraternity rushing list had grown to ten. The actives find all of the pledges very fine men and filled with interesting tales of the war. In fact these have become regular “sessions” of the curriculum.

The actives number eleven, including two recent returnees. Many of the actives have worked very hard to keep Sigma Pi active on campus. The Sig Pis are represented in many extra-curricular activities, including among others, the Debating Club, The Daily Illini, the Interfraternity Council, and the Socialist Study Club.

The next year ought to show still better results and more improvements.
Tau Delta Phi

Within the score of past years Tau Delta Phi has seen scholars, athletes, activity leaders and just plain "swell guys", come and go, taking their places in the world.

Scholarship is the prime objective of the fraternity. Within the last year several fraters made Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary; Omega Beta Pi, pre-medical honorary; and Phi Mu Alpha, musical honorary.

As is traditional in the house, Pi will have its biennial pledge dances, formals, and Senior Dinner for the graduation fraters. Also traditional is Pi's activities in intramural events. The house has done well for itself in baseball and basketball, winning the sectional championship in baseball last spring.

All in all, Pi chapter of Tau Delta Phi is looking ahead to an even bigger and better year.
Tau Epsilon Phi is composed of men from all walks of life, who are striving to better themselves and preserve their college friendships through fraternity life. With the restoration of peace throughout the world, they are looking forward to the return of many members who have been serving in the armed forces.

During the summer semester, the outstanding social event was a highly successful pledge dance aided by Mendel Riley's orchestra. One of the outstanding social events of this semester was the pledge dance with Wayne Karr's orchestra; there were also other activities such as a Spring Formal. TEP has entered all intramural sports and great promise is shown by both the soccer and tennis teams.

Tau Epsilon Phi, now more than ever, is interested in scholasticism. This interest is shown by a Phi Beta Kappa, several Phi Eta Sigmas, and other scholastic honorary societies. Along with these activities, they have men active in the Theatre Guild, radio station WILL, and The Daily Illini. All in all, Psi chapter is looking to another outstanding year on the Illini campus.
The Tekes play a prominent role in campus activities. Some of their leaders and respective accomplishments are Kenny Brassfield, chairman of Senior class political party “Gung Ho”; George Heinrich, president of Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce fraternity; Ralph Tribbey, track manager and member of Sachem; Jerry Lofquist, swimming manager; and Gene Johnson, chairman of Illini Town Hall meetings. Still others are Bill Krueger, summer intramural manager; and Bill Gallen, chairman of the Illini Union Dance Committee. The house is represented in Tau Beta Pi and Phi Eta Sigma scholastic honoraries.

During the past year the Tekes, as they are popularly known, had the following officers: president, Ralph Tribbey; vice-president, Henry Callsen; secretary, George Heinrich; and treasurer, Dick Calhoun.
Theta Delta Chi

Theta Delta Chi, one of the oldest social fraternities, celebrates its 98th anniversary this year. The local charge, Kappa Deuteron, was founded at Illinois in May in 1908.

Similar to most campus houses, they lost many men to the Armed Forces. Through efforts of the remaining actives and returning veterans, the charge is now at pre-war level.

Joe Warren was made National Undergraduate Secretary, marking the first time since 1922 that the Illinois charge has been represented in the Grand Lodge.

Athletic activities include intramural participation along with two house lettermen—Wes Tregging, who returned to win another football letter, and Stan Jaronik, golf “I” winner. Having had a splendid year, Theta Delta Chi hopes next year will prove even better.
Theta Xi has had a phenomenal development at Illinois. Although comparatively young, it has one of the most beautiful homes on campus. Its active chapter has been exceptionally strong financially, scholastically, and in fraternal spirit. Its members have always played a prominent part in campus affairs.

At present Alpha Beta has fifty-one members—fifteen actives and thirty-six pledges. Many of the active members are discharged veterans.

Social functions for the year included a Christmas and spring formal. Alpha Beta dances have become known on the campus for elaborate decorations and excellent music.
ZETA BETA TAU

Strengthened by returning veterans, Zeta Beta Tau opened the fall semester with a 41 man house, including 2 members of the Naval unit, and a pledge class of 17. Among the more outstanding men in campus activities are Richard Zweig, Theatre Guild; Ronald Ager, Illini Union Dance Committee; and Edward Ex, business staff of The Illio.

Rounding out the year with some of the most unique social functions on campus, including a “Day at the Races” dance, featuring a live horse, Rho has been responsible for some excellent social affairs.

Led by Edward Mann, president, Rho of Zeta Beta Tau looks forward to a very successful year.
The Zeta Psi's moved back into the familiar John Street location last fall after an absence of two years. With a membership of more than 40 men in the fall of 1942, only eight active members were on hand when the first post-war rush week got under way. During the first semester, sixteen pledges were invited to join the Zeta Psi ranks.

The chapter at the University of Illinois was chartered in 1909. Zeta Psi long ago adopted Abraham Lincoln as its patron saint. The living room of the chapter house has been dedicated to Lincoln, and each year an exercise is given in his honor.

Despite its reputation for conservatism, Zeta Psi is notable for a well defined policy of expansion, which it has consistently pursued.
The making of "better men and through them a broader and better agriculture" has been the objective of Alpha Gamma Rho since its founding.

The AGR, inactive during the war, is re-establishing its name on campus and in activities. Eldon Larson was editor of The Agriculturist and Bob Corzine was on the business staff. Gail Harms, treasurer of the Ag Club, and Ralph Castenson were active in the Y.M.C.A. John Philips was a member of the football band.

Alpha Gamma Rho in its comeback year has achieved success in its advancement of agriculture and of the fraternity.

KAPPA SIGMA

With the opening of the house just prior to rush week, Kappa Sigma returned to the Illinois campus this year after a two and a half year's absence.

Due to lack of numbers the house has been unable to undertake participation in intramurals as in other years, but several of the pledges have distinguished themselves in campus activities already. Kent Westrate played the lead in "Three Men On A Horse" and Vern Lewis took the part of Edmund in "King Lear." Ken Lundgren has played an active part in veteran's activities. He and Vern Lewis are on the board of control for the newly-formed American Legion post on the campus.
TRIANGLE

Triangle, a professional fraternity for engineers, was nationally founded at the University of Illinois in April, 1907.

Since that time, Triangle has industriously promoted the ideals which the world expects from engineers, namely, intellectual and moral honesty, courage, fairness, good common sense, sound and careful judgment, orderliness, and accuracy.

These high ideals were especially exemplified in such distinguished members as Arthur Newell Talbot and Daniel W. Mead.

SERENADE...!

The call echoes through the house. Girls drowsily stumble out of the dorm to stand enthralled, but freezing, to the first serenade of the year.

Rush week and its gallons of tea—ends in a sigh of relief and hearty congratulations on the superiority of each new pledge class.

Then the work begins—seminar, pledge duties, pledge lessons. Week-ends begin to whisk by in a flurry of house dances and fall picnics, until suddenly, during one of those all night bridge sessions, the realization strikes—finals are only a month away.

Actives and pledges alike get down to serious studying. The jeweled pin is the incentive for the pledges and is realized in the impressive ceremony of initiation.

Shi-Ai, spring dances and picnics, the Senior parties go to bring the school year to a close.

Anxious to get back?
Alpha Chi is proud of its many members in campus activities. In Mortar Board we have Jane Jordan and Betsy Ross Fine. Our Shorter Board member is Dorothy Kelly Rupp, president of the Illini Union Board, and chairman of Illini Union Special Affairs Committee. Torch members are Joan Clark and Jayne Alice Groves. Marge Perkins is pledge chairman of Panhellenic Council. Shi-Ai pledges are Mary Barbara Green and Carla Heiss.

Social events at Alpha Chi Omega were highlighted throughout the year. The pledge dance opened the season. Following this was the annual Christmas weekend with a formal dance. Homecoming, Dad’s Day, and Mother’s Day banquets were all festive events.

It has been a busy, happy year—one they will always remember.
Leading Sigma chapter of ADPi at Illinois this year were Patricia Noling, Armour, president; Helen Wacker, LaSalle, vice-president, Barbara Reeder, Arthur, secretary; and Pat Lough, Mt. Vernon, treasurer.

Alphi Delta Pi participated in many campus activities and honoraries, including The Daily Illini, The Illio, Y.W.C.A., Theatre Guild, and Illini Union.

Filling the calendar of social events were firesides, picnics, dinners, and dances, climaxed by the traditional Stardust formal in the spring. Mothers and Dads were honored at dinners on their respective days, and scholastic honors won by members of the group were recognized at an Honors Banquet. On May 15 they celebrated the 95th anniversary of the founding of the sorority with an annual Founders Day Dinner. At the traditional Senior Banquet they bid good-bye to seniors.
Twenty-five years together—and Mu’s still going strong. This was the theme of the tea and banquet given in celebration of the Silver Anniversary in May. The 25th year finds Mu with Sally Bloom, dean; Roselle Osoff, sub-dean; Marilyn Kaffie, treasurer; and Cara Heller, secretary.

Truly a BWOC of the Senior class is its vice-president, Doris Levy. “Do”, also a member of Mortar Board, can be found at almost any time at The Illio office, as assistant business manager. Carol Andich, member of Torch and Shi-Ai, is president of Hillel, and has a junior job on Star Course. Working in the Y.W.C.A. cabinet and Panhellenic Executive Council is Roselle Osoff. Estelle Schermer is active in the Illini Union, while Margy Golder is busy with her junior job on The Illio.

In the gayer vein, they gave two pledge dances last year, and numerous spreads for the newly engaged sorors. And so you are brought up to date on the doings at AEPhi.
The Alpha Gams are prominent in honoraries on campus. Margaret Claxton, Zeta Phi Eta and Psi Chi; Mariella Mapes, Sigma Alpha Iota; and Peggy Hackett, Illustrators are the typical examples. Then too, there are those in the various campus activities. Acting as sophomore managers in Theatre Guild are Barbara Feurer, Joyce Hull, and Nancy Radeke. Virginia Harlan, president, is chairman of the pep rallies. At the Y.W.C.A., Marian Hazen is chairman of office management.

Besides the honoraries and activities the Alpha Gamma Deltas were well represented in the last Honors Day Convocation. Three freshmen were named to Alpha Lambda Delta—Joyce Hull, Nancy Radeke, and Winona Schroeder.

Pledge dance, Christmas, and spring formals were all huge successes as planned by the social chairman, Shirley Armour, and all added to make it a year to be remembered.
Through Iota's bonds almost 800 women have become sisters in one ideal. The present active members of Alpha Omicron Pi try to prove that ideal through scholarship, activities, and good neighborliness.

Some of their campus activity leaders are June Bramlet, Y.W.C.A. Religious Education, Panhellenic Activities chairman, Torch vice-president, and co-chairman of the W.S.S.F. Community Chest Drive; Helen Brooks, senior manager of Theatre Guild properties; Esther Streger, “Y” Social chairman and junior manager of Theatre Guild; Jeanne Starkey, treasurer of Y.W.C.A. AOPi is represented in Torch, Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Delta Pi, Illustrators, Iota Sigma Pi, and Zeta Phi Eta.
Traditional and other social events made for an unforgettable year in Alpha Phi. The Founders Day Banquet, Pledge Dance, Christmas Faculty Tea, and Senior Breakfast were the highlights.

This year, the chapter activities have continued under the leadership of president Jean B. Thompson, Shorter Board; vice-president Mary Atterbury, Y.W.C.A. Cabinet and Iota Sigma Pi; secretary Martha Swain, Torch and senior editor of The Daily Illini. Barbara Gilbreath is also a junior editor, and a member of Torch. Dorothy Dolan, Torch, is inter-house manager of W.A.A. Jean Rogers is a junior manager of Theatre Guild, and Patricia Smith is on the Concert and Entertainment Board.

Alpha Phi marked herself by winning first place in the Y.W.C.A. Doll Show, 1944-45.
Above the rose, our emblem stands apart.
The symbol honored most by our fraternity
Which every sister wears upon her heart.
The Golden Quill, its meaning and its mystery
Through all the years, we proudly treasure still.
And so forever more our love and loyalty
We pledge to Alpha Xi and to the Golden Quill."

Alpha Xi Deltas all over the world sing these words each day, pledging themselves again to the spirit of friendship and fraternal love. And with the words come memories of college days. Kappa Chapter at Illinois leaves with each cap and gown a closer bond—to the coed of '46 thoughts of Illini. There are house dances, banquets, and cozies—visits from Alpha Lam, Shi-Ai, Torch, and Mortar Board—activities in the Union, Theatre Guild, The Daily Illini, and many others. Pledge, active, alum—all join in the words, "I'm from Illinois and an Alpha Xi!"
Chi Omega is proud to have received the Panhellenic Scholarship cup for eight out of the past nine semesters. Aside from this, Chi Os find time for campus activities and just plain fun. Joanna Cavanee, Torch, was chairman of Homecoming; Mary Stevens, Mortar Board, was co-manager of Star Course; Joan Gagan, Torch, was scholarship chairman of Panhellenic; and Tui Stevenson was chairman of the annual Y.W.C.A. Doll Show. In Theatre Guild, Joanne Perring, Mortar Board, was general manager, Mary Homrighous, Torch, and Barbara Gulley were junior managers.

Social events were the formal Pledge Dance, the annual Christmas party, and exchange dinners with sororities and fraternities. Highlighting the whole year was the Chi Omega traditional Kentucky Breakfast which was given this May.
The word “college” means something different to everyone — to the Illinois Tri-Deltas, it always brings thoughts of evening firesides, of the yearly ducking of the seniors by the juniors, of fun and dances, of walkouts, of “Isn’t the mail in yet?”, of the senior breakfast, of many other things distinctively Tri-Delt.

Besides memories, the Tri-Deltas have many honors to look back on. In the spring of 1945, they won Shi-Ai Sing and the next weekend sang at Sachem Sing.

They won the WDWS Sorority Charm Program. The Pan-Hellenic vice-president was Tri-Delt Dotty Strong, a Shorter Board member, and Ellie Lukens, Shorter Board, was an Illio Beauty Queen. Del Schwartz and Jean Reedy, Torches, had junior jobs on The Daily Illini and The Illio, and Alice Ann Walker was a Union chairman. The Tri-Delt president was Ann Lewis, Mortar Board.
The Delta Gamma ship sailed through its usual colorful year under the captaincy of Lois Friedrich. Peg Sherwood, social chairman, launched the very successful Pledge Dance in the fall, the Christmas Formal, and the traditional Senior Breakfast.

The DGs dropped anchor to win second place in the Panhellenic scholastic rating and participated in many war drives, and campus activities. Marilyn Chapman was a member of the Illini Board of Control and Student Senate. Jean Herron, Mortar Board, was general business manager of The Daily Illini, and Barbara Hubbard was chairman of the Red Cross unit.

Jo Ann Baysinger and Joy Chapman were chosen Shi Ais; Betty Rowen, Alpha Lambda Delta; and Dorothy Griffith to Terrapin.

The DGs reached port after a successful journey and are ready to hoist anchor again for next year.
DELTA PHI EPSILON

At the University of Illinois, Rho chapter of Delta Phi Epsilon has been re-organized, and is taking its place as an active organization on the Illinois campus.

The “Deepers”, thirty-two strong, are proud of their president, Shirlee Feltman, and “The Georgia Peach”, Allene Rittenbaum, who is vice-president. You can also hear the D Phi E’s bragging of their Homecoming plaque, which was won only two weeks after Rho was organized here. Rho girls participate in almost every campus activity—from Theatre Guild to Alpha Lambda Delta. Oh yes, high scholarship is an integral part of Delta Phi Epsilon ideals.

Already known for their friendliness and hospitality, the girls of Rho have shown themselves capable of assuming an outstanding position on campus.
Service and worth are the ideals of Delta Sigma Theta. These ideals have been interpreted to the community through a program increasingly rich in educational, cultural, civic and social activities. Traditional highlights in this program are the lecture tea at which some eminent thinker is presented, and The Spring Festival Frolic at Hillel Hall.

Deltas are loyal supporters of many campus activities, and they are proud of Martha Grimes and Dolorite Rodgers who featured in concert orchesis.

One might go on and on about the drives for the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, the Red Cross, the Urban League, and the custom of celebrating Founder’s Day with a banquet.

"How we love you little lamp of gold" is the keynote for Delta Zetas.

To create a well-rounded program DZ participates in many university activities.

Last year Alpha Chi Sigma awarded to Martha Ryder the medal for the most outstanding student in the chemistry curriculum. Betty Van Doren was pledged to Shorter Board. Betty is also a new member of Terrapin. Serving as rushing chairman of Phi Chi Theta has kept Helen Mitchel busy throughout the year. The bat of Shi Ai flew late one eve to pledge Irene Curtis and Georgiana Gates.

Business in activities has not kept the DZs from enjoying a full social program, too. A hayride was scheduled first on their calendar, followed by the pledge dance and the winter and spring formals.
Gamma Phi Beta shone with the true splendor of the crescent moon again this year.

Barb Clayton, editor, and Eleanor Pickett, business manager, headed The Illio with the Gamma Phi help of two junior business managers and three junior editors.

Mortar Board chose Eleanor Pickett and Alice Koehler, vice-president of the Y.W.C.A. and Phi Beta Kappa. Shorter Board president is Barb Clayton, and Melba Miller, Gamma Phi president, is also a Shorter Board. All the Gamma Phis are very proud indeed of having five Torches — Mary Lou Barber, Margery Bean, Marion Bollinger, Jackie Tatman, and Elaine Sebastian. On The Daily Illini, Mary Kay Northam was a junior editor.

Next year Gamma Phi hopes to pile up more laurels to add to an already shining record.
Kappa Alpha Theta started the year with many of its members in top positions in campus activities. President Rosanna Webster, Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board member, was elected vice-president of the Student Senate. Anne Noble and Dorothy Johnston were chairman and business manager for the Y.W.C.A.'s traditional Homecoming Mum Drive. Kappa Alpha Theta's ballet scene, Alice in Wonderland, won first place honors at the Homecoming Stunt Show.

Torch members for this year include Dorothy Knaphurst, Anne Noble, and Dorothy Johnston.

The pledges scholarship cup and the W.A.A. swimming trophy, both won last year, are trophies they hope to keep in the house this year.
Kappa Delta

KDs are leaders in campus activities. Members of the W.A.A. board, The Daily Illini junior business staff, Illini Union board of directors, and student directors of Theatre Guild are only a few of them. Illini Union has picked Kappa Deltas as chairmen of Chanute dances, Dad's Day, University Sings, Club Commons, Homecoming Stunt Show, and Founder's Day. Besides a good representation in honoraries, KDs are proud to have the president of Mortar Board and the president and vice-president of SAI, music honorary.

The social chairman, Norma Del, planned a busy year of dances, teas, exchange dinners, open houses, picnics, and informal get-togethers.

"Awee" Cantry, able and attractive president, has made this a busy and successful year for all the KDs.
KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

From the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance to the Spring Formal, Kappa had its usual active year.

Rosemary Grundin was chosen Queen during the Red Cross Drive and Juin Whipple, “Miss Ohio State” for the track meet. “Wee” Daniel was a member of the Queen’s Court at the I.F. Ball.

Kappa Joan Ralston Lippincott was Pan-Hellenic president chosen for Mortar Board.

Another Mortar Board was Kay House, Phi Beta Kappa and a senior editor for The Daily Illini.

Marilyn Hannah had the lead in both the operetta and Union Show, and Juin Whipple was chairman of Homecoming.

Margaret Robbins is the all-around girl, head of Star Course, member of Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa. She also received the Bronze Tablet.

These are outstanding Kappas!
The Phi O Pi chapter house was the scene of the lovely wedding of Elizabeth Lehighly last April. During the summer there were many more marriages in its ranks and consequently the Phi O Pis came back to campus in the fall a little depleted.

During Homecoming weekend the chapter house echoed with merriment as alums renewed old bonds of sisterhood and made new ones.

Honors go to Lee Wilson Koenig, a member of Psi Chi; Arlene Bailey, president of Eta Sigma Phi; and to Barbara Lanman, a member of Alpha Pi Delta.

All Phi O Pis, actives and pledges alike, enjoyed the many house dances, especially the traditional Christmas formal. Under the beautiful tree, it started the holiday off with a bang.

So ends one of Phi O Pi's happiest and most successful years.
"Phi Sig, we'll always be true to you," has been sung by the Phi Sigs on this campus since Theta chapter was established at Illinois on November 26, 1923.

Phi Sig girls have always shown a great interest in campus activities. Our secretary, Carol Schaffner, is assistant editor of The Illio and active in Theta Sigma Phi. Seena Minkus is president of Alpha Kappa Delta and of Psi Chi. Also Psi Chi members are Barbara Colen, and treasurer, Vivian Schatzman who is a junior on the business staff of The Daily Illini. Alice Weber is a junior editor of The Illio and assistant rushing chairman of Pan-Hellenic. Sherry Kaplan is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, while Patty Berkman and Lorraine Eisenstaedt have sung at University Sings, Club Commons and with C-17. One of our June graduates, Helen Sher, was salutorian of the Class of '45.
A Golden Anniversary was celebrated this year by the Pi Phis. With 90 national chapters and 44,000 active members, Pi Beta Phi has a larger organization than any known sorority.

Among the renown is Nancy Kollman, a Mortar Board member, who holds a senior position on the Union Board. “Toppy” Case, Y.W.C.A. president, and Allene Eberle, manager of Star Course, are also wearers of the famous black cap and gown.

Last year Shorter Board visited the Wright Street mansion to pledge Wanda Zimmerman and Ginny Mauney, the house president. Kay Seed is a member of Torch.

Homecoming was one of the biggest week-ends for the Pi Phis, for their house decorations and stunt show skit both took first prize.
SIGMA DELTA TAU

The Sig Delts made this a record year. Their new pledges are enthusiastically following the members in activities. SDT has three Torches — Jackie Corman, Bobbie Polk, and Charlotte Krasne. Bobbie and Chuck have junior jobs on The Illio while Jackie holds a junior editorship on The Daily Illini. We are proud of the girls who made Alpha Lambda Delta — congratulations to Lois Klein, Charlene Cohen, and Gloria Gould. Shi-Ai's new members are Betty Ann Romm and Margot Tick. Bev Frank, Shorter Board, is treasurer of Pan Hellenic, besides assuming her position as president of the house.

The campus is regaining that pre-war standard of social life — and along with grades and activities the Sig Delts are looking forward to another year packed full of "serenades and escapades."
The first year in the new house on John Street began when Gamma Chapter of Theta Upsilon was re-opened on campus in March, 1945.

Theta Us are active in all phases of college life. Their president, Muriel Stuart, is a member of Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, and on the staff of The Daily Illini. Theatre Guild, Star Course, The Illio, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Union activities are represented too.

The aims and ideals of Gamma are an important factor in the life of each Theta U. The aim is threefold: first, to foster close friendships between members; second, to stimulate the intellectual, social, and spiritual life; and third, to count as a world force through service rendered to others.

The girls are proud to wear the pin of Theta Upsilon.
Zeta girls have played a leading role in campus activities throughout the last year. Gypsy Minnis on the Y.W.C.A cabinet, Elaine Sell and Jane Buescher on the staff of The Daily Illini, Lee Kerres as director of War Service during the summer semester, and Louise Heidler as a member of the Pan-Hellenic Court of Appeals. Zetas have been represented in the honoraries too. Virginia Clutter was elected president of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary; Elaine Sell was named to Torch; Phyllis Nickelson became a member of Alpha Lambda Delta; and Gypsy Minnis was elected historian of Sigma Alpha Iota.

Zeta Tau Alpha is proud of their trio, Louise Heidler, Lee Kerres, and Gypsy Minnis. The trio entertained at University sings and at special programs on campus, as well as at Chanute field.

THE MISSING LINK . . .

There just isn’t any in the bonds of unity which have given W.G.S. and M.I.W.A. the strength they now enjoy on the Illinois campus.

Working together, these two groups, the Woman’s Group System and the Men’s Independent Ward Association, sponsor the W.G.S.-M.I.W.A. banquets, musicals, and the annual stunt show.

W.G.S. was the first organization of its kind on any campus. Illinois is very proud of its progress since it was organized in 1922. The enrollment now is nearly three thousand members, a successful indication of the group’s strength.

The independent men and women on campus have shown by their democratic spirit that they have that necessary “all-out pep” which is indicative of Illini. One need only turn the page for examples of the zest they have added to our peacetime campus.
Abandoning its wartime duties of housing the Navy, Busey Hall has gone all out for peace by renewing its task of providing a home for one hundred and ninety-four girls, as well as three understanding counselors and a charming house mother. Thus Busey fills the role of being the largest girls’ house on campus.

The girls, too, are dedicating their activities to the peace by entering with zeal into all the activities that are being reinstated this year. They have not forgotten, however, the ravages of the war, but are spending many hours in entertaining servicemen and are donating money and clothing to the battle-scarr ed peoples of Europe.

One of the first tasks the girls fulfilled in planning their social calendar was to elect a capable group of officers. Those chosen to be the house leaders for this year were Alice Hildebrandt, president; Priscilla Jacobs, social chairman; Roberta Webb, vice-president; Rosella Thomas, secretary; and Catherine Sullivan, treasurer.

The election was followed by a series of social functions, with six holiday parties preceding Christmas vacation. The new year was heralded in by the first formal dance and gave promise of the many things to come during the second semester.

But Busey girls gave thought to scholastic aspirations as well, for the house boasted representatives in nearly every honorary on campus.

This is only the beginning. It has been the first hard year, with everyone’s learning the ropes together. Look for great things to come from Busey Hall. It has girls who are willing and capable of reaching the ultimate goal of the residence halls — to recognize and promote scholarship as well as social development.

With the opening of the fall semester Evans Hall resumed its proper position as one of the official Women's Residence Halls. Once again the halls echoed to the sound of feminine voices and the rooms took on the more delicate airs associated with the members of the fairer sex. On the evening of October twenty-fourth in a quiet, impressive candle-light ceremony the officers of the hall were installed. These were Esther Morley, president; Maggie Sloan, vice-president; Charlotte Robertson, secretary; and Louise Kremens, treasurer. The reorganization presented no small problem to the girls, but they managed to overcome all obstacles with remarkable alacrity. The new year was a busy one filled with house activities such as open-houses, W.G.S. teas, faculty teas, caroling, after-hours parties, and one of the loveliest formal dances of the season, the Ice Blue Ball.

Activities were not by any means restricted to the Hall and the girls found time to participate in Red Cross, Gray Ladies, Y.W.C.A. (second place in the Doll Show), USO, Illini Union, Illio, Daily Illini, Theatre Guild, WILL, University Chorus, All-University Convocation Lectures, and numerous other University activities. They boast of two members of the Senate in the persons of Bobbie Crawford, and Pat Murphy, and of the secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class, Mary Lou Rohling.

Evans hasn't been lax in the realm of scholastic achievement and can point with pride to its members of Alpha Lambda Delta and especially to Bernice Ranz, Phi Beta Kappa.

The year has been an exciting one for the residents. They have had a splendid tradition to uphold and have given their best to the task.

Lawyers, doctors, fashion-editors, business executives, and opera stars will be Bethany alumnae in ten years! At least those are the goals of the girls in 1945.

Bethany was well represented in campus activities. There were girls in the Union, Theatre Guild, the Y.W.C.A., University chorus, Home Economics Club, and many honoraries. Every freshman girl is urged to go all-out for activities, so that she may get well acquainted with the campus during her first year.

The girls still had time for the Doll Show, Homecoming decorations, dances, and parties. Ten years from now, the Bethany alums will have many good times to recall.
The house on the corner of Fifth and Chalmers . . . fifty girls . . . memories never to be forgotten . . . that super dance of December 7th, snowball fights on the lawn, candelit dress dinners, our five graduating seniors, Charly Aaron, Harriet Cole, Esther Nathan Dorothy Sachsel, and Gerry Spitz pleading for seniority rights, our romantic Spring Formal, the rebellious freshman walk-out, the five-pound boxes of candy shared at pinnings and engagements, the excitement of long-distance telephone calls and our men coming back. Our thanks to Dorothy Sachsel, president, Myrna Eisenberg, Charlotte Wenig, and Bernice Morganstein, our other officers, who were responsible for those terrific social affairs; to Judi Baskin for our new songs . . . thanks for the memories.
Of the thirty-one girls living at Brentwood Manor this year, ten are freshmen and twenty-one are upperclassmen.

Mary Mayhew is president; Lucille Nelson, vice-president; Elaine Wyckoff, secretary; Nina Lou Huffaker, treasurer; Alaine Pabich, freshman advisor; and Barbara Hackett, social chairman.

The house is well represented in W.G.S., W.A.A., Y.W.C.A., the Daily Illini, Illini Theatre Guild, and Illini Union activities.

Though extra-curricular activities are important to the girls, still more important to them is a high scholastic standing.

With these attributes and with Mrs. Charity E. Pidcock as housemother, Brentwood Manor is sure to succeed.
Cagle Hall, located in the former Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house, appeared on campus this year with sixty-eight members. The girls who were elected as officers for the new group were Jeanne Kofoed, president; Mary Rose Belland, vice-president; Margaret Fristoe, secretary; Sandy Albertson, treasurer; Jean Homm, social chairman; Ruth Boggs, historian; and Charlotte McKinney, W.A.A. Representative.

Barbara Christy, Ruth Green, Jo Ann Reed, and Barbara Shade achieved membership in Terrapin, and Jo Ann Reed won admittance to Orchesis. Dolores Timm served as chairman of the Y.W.C.A. Doll Show.

A Hallowe'en party commenced social activities at Cagle Hall and was succeeded with an autumn hay ride and a Christmas formal.
The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity House, in its second successful year of feminine inhabitation, is known as Chandler Hall. Behind the ruffled curtains and gay chintz, live an active group of college women whose interests range from bridge and ping pong to the more intellectual pursuits of chemistry and accounting.

Heading the roster of officers is Adele Winkley, president. Assisting her in the government of the house are Midge Westaby, vice-president; Shirley Gray, secretary; Nancy Blakemore, freshman advisor; Janet Auer, treasurer and Gloria Hudson, social chairman. Activities planned in the social field were a fall sweater dance and a Christmas formal—with an eye towards more to come.

Aside from scholastic and social participation, the girls are active in campus functions, such as The Daily Illini, The Illio, Illini Theatre Guild, Orchesis and The University Concert Band.
Devon Hall had its start this year, but it took only a short time to have a well organized house. Alice Armstrong was elected president, Ann Falknor, vice-president, and Vera Esch, secretary-treasurer.

Ginger Pearl, the social chairman, got the house activities under way with a "Harvest Hop" on November 2nd. Joe Hayes' orchestra played for the winter formal, which was held on January 4th. The usual Spring formal was held in May.

The majority of the forty-two girls in the house were freshmen, but entered various campus activities including Orchesis, Terrapin, and WILL.

Since the Kappa Delta Rho's will soon be returning on campus, Devon Hall will have a short life as a women's house, but it will have had the reputation of a well organized house.
Although Forest Hall has been known to the rest of the University for only three years and will cease to function as an organized house for women with the close of this school year; it has established an enviable reputation for itself among the other houses on campus.

During the first house meeting of the year Ruth Jones was elected house president, and chosen to assist her were Ruth Weimer, vice-president; Norma McKeen, secretary; Virginia Bowton, treasurer; and Laurel Shurson, social chairman. Mrs. Beatrice Harlan endeared herself to the girls with her kindly and sympathetic understanding in carrying out her duties as chaperon.

This year the thirty-two women who reside at Forest Hall were hostesses to returning alums at Homecoming and entertained their mothers at a special Mother’s Day weekend in the spring and their dads with a formal dinner in the fall. They presented a “‘Tis Autumn” record dance, gave a party for children during the Yule Season, enjoyed a formal Thanksgiving Dinner, sponsored another formal dinner and dance at Christmas time, participated in coffee-hours at the Union, and acted as hostesses at a dance for servicemen.

The house at the corner of Lincoln and Pennsylvania and across from the forestry is a member of W.G.S., W.A.A., League of Women Voters, and honor council. It is represented in band, chorus, glee club, and Illini Theatre Guild.

Concluding the social activities for this very active house was a senior breakfast honoring the graduating seniors.
Four-H House is completely co-operative in every way. The girls do their own buying, menu-planning, cooking, cleaning, and financial management.

Membership in Four-H House isn’t just an accident either. The girls are carefully selected through interviews, detailed applications, and recommendations from their Farm and Home Bureaus. Each girl must have a 4-H Club record of outstanding work including high-school activities, scholarship, character, personality, and leadership qualities. Girls are pledged for one year, and if they meet standards of scholarship, character, and leadership, they are initiated at the end of the year, becoming active members.

Four-H House has many social activities during the year. Formal and informal dances, faculty teas, heart sister week, big sister week, "pin parties", Dad’s Day Banquet, Mother’s Day Weekend, and 10:30 class parties all add to the fun. One of the biggest events is the annual Alumni Banquet which the pledges serve during Homecoming weekend.

This sounds like a full time job, but the girls find time to participate in school functions. A few of the activities represented in the house are W.G.S. vice-president, a district chairman, sub-chairman, awards and music chairman, Home Economics Club president, and Office Management chairman of the Union. They also have girls in Mortar Board, Torch, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Chi Theta, Theatre Guild, Illini Union Board and on Star Course staff.
Granada Club, the largest men's independent house on campus is a smooth running, well-organized, active house.

Active in campus activities, its members have generously contributed to the war and community funds sponsored by the university. Granada also sponsors social functions every semester such as hayrides, picnics, dinners, and dances. Active in politics, Granada boasts of having Joseph La Palombara, president of M.I.W.A.; Bernard Goldstein, senator of the sophomore class; and Sam King, editor of The Daily Illini, among its members.

One-fourth of the house are World War II veterans, who, by living in this organized independent house, have been greatly aided in their readjustment to civilian life.

Every Monday night Granada holds a house meeting, when, under the eyes of its able officers — Bernard Mack, president; Don Page, vice-president; Armon Brewer, secretary-treasurer; and Joseph La Palombara, social chairman — the Granada men give vent to their opinions.

Under the capable management of athletic director, Roy Pesavento, Granada Club expects to go on with its great threat in intramural activities as in the past.

The house functions are an integrated and combined unit under the able management of Mrs. Albert Tuxhorn.
The girls of Hamchar Hall got off to a very merry start in fall social affairs. The second Saturday night of the new semester featured a pajama party. After the dates had gone, all the girls in their pajamas sat in front of the fireplace and sang songs familiar to all Illini. The second social event of the season was a skirt and sweater dance for the girls and their dates.

At the first housemeeting, the girls elected Loretta Rueter as president, Joyce Pinault as vice-president, Lois Sandquist as secretary, Mary Ellen Carmichael as treasurer, and Peg Montgomery as social chairman.

Mrs. Ruth B. Kelley is the very gracious housemother.

The girls are working in many activities on the campus including Illini Union, Daily Illini, The Illio, Y.W.C.A., and the Newman Club. There are several Alpha Lambda Delta's and members of Phi Chi Theta.

Peg Montgomery, one of the talented freshmen, played the part of "Audrey" in the Illini Theatre Guild play "Three Men On a Horse."
The former Warner Hall letters on the front door of this campus home, at 1106 West Oregon in Urbana, have dissolved and are now the gold letters of Henry Hall. This is the first year of its existence, under its new name, in the Woman's Group System. Henry Hall is comprised of a representative group of girls, twenty-five in all, five seniors, seven juniors, seven sophomores, and six freshmen.

New management and new hope have the girls of this hall, working in a bright illuminating spirit, to make their home a thoroughly pleasant one. There is a definite enthusiasm for co-operation and diligence in scholarship and campus activity. The girls have planned and organized mixers for servicemen, formal dances, hay-rides, teas, dinners, and parties among themselves. There are Henry Hall girls in the Alpha Lambda Delta, Iota Sigma Pi, Sigma Alpha Iota, Theatre Guild — Arepo, Citizens Defense Corps, Y.W.C.A., W.G.S., U.S.O., and Union activities.

The officers promoting this year's activity include: president, Loraine Krbec; secretary, Evelyn Long; treasurer, Joyce Brumback; house manager, Jean Moore; and social chairman, Helen Spanabel.
If you dial 3446 and find the line busy, try the other phone. And if the result is the same, blame the University, for that's what keeps the Ivy girls so busy.

With forty-four of them, you can be sure they are well represented on campus—everything from Illini Theatre Guild to Illio; Star Course to coffee hours; and Alpha Lamb to W.A.A.

Every day in every way they get better and better, meaning that this year’s activities far surpass the triumphs of last. Among these were Barn dances and formals, soldier parties, skits galore, interhouse volley ball, and bridge games. Of course, those heavy dates on one o'clock nights, the inevitable study hours, and pajama parties with hamburgers and cokes are never forgotten times.
“La Treinta, our service always, we pledge to thee.”

This opening line of the La Treinta house song is lived up to by each of its thirty-three members. Organized in 1941 as a girl’s independent house, La Treinta has become well-known on campus.

“La T.” girls maintain a high scholastic average but they still find time for social activities. The Alumni Buffet Supper, the Dad’s Day Banquet, faculty and formal dinners, various house dances, and the Senior Breakfast are some of the social highlights of the year.

La Treinta is a member of the W.G.S. Honor Council, a member of W.A.A., and has distinguished itself by winning three firsts and one second out of four years participation in the Watcheka Sing. The girls are also active in Star Course, the Illini Union, The Illio, Spanish Club, Illini Theatre Guild, and Y.W.C.A. Such honorary organizations as Torch, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Phi Beta Kappa are all represented at La Treinta.
Books, plaid shirts, blue jeans, shell-rimmed glasses, bulletin boards, songfests after hours, pajama parties, and formal dances typify college life in an independent organized house. Such is what one finds at Leeman Lodge. But, here, there is something more, that spirit that gives the words "Leeman Lodge we'll always cherish" real meaning.

To prove the existence of this spirit, the girls at Leeman Lodge have become engaged in many campus activities and honorary organizations. Among the activities are Illini Theatre Guild, Illini Union committees, W.G.S., Y.W.C.A., Daily Illini, Illio, W.A.A., Terrapin, and various church activities.

The honorary organizations represented in the house are Zeta Phi Eta, Alpha Lambda Delta, Torch, Arepo, Illustrators, Mask and Bauble, Sigma Alpha Iota, Psi Chi, Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Shorter Board. A new trophy has also been added to the many that adorn the fireplace at Leeman Lodge. This latest one is the award for winning the 1945 Homecoming badge sales among the independent women's houses.

No house is complete without its dances, parties, campaigns, and house meetings. For such an event to function smoothly, it is necessary to have an efficient leader. Such a leader is Marian Hinton, president. Other house officers are Norma Zimmerman, vice-president; Ruth Gale, treasurer; Kay Forbes, secretary, and Shirley Tomisek, social chairman.
Having one of the most beautiful locations on campus is the boast of Lowell Hall, 310 Gregory Drive. Situated only two blocks from the Broadwalk, Lowell Hall, nevertheless, has an impressive view of Memorial Stadium and the spacious grounds which surround this great university monument.

The house, resembling an old English hall of the Sixteenth Century, was named after the famous poet, James Russell Lowell.

Lowell Hall functions as an organized independent house, and is a member of the Women's Group System. The forty-five girls of the house are members of all the leading campus activities and try to participate in all school functions.

Homecoming Weekend was especially important this year, as many guests and alumnae gathered for the traditional Homecoming buffet dinner after the game. A twelve foot Illini chief welcomed guests through the door of his tepee, which was three floors in height. The house also entered the stunt show, and placed second in the Independent Women Badge Sales.

The banner which stretched the length of the second story windows during these Homecoming festivities, typified the friendly spirit which is the goal of Lowell Hall. Welcome Home Fighting Illini!
THE MANSION

410 East Green Street

The Mansion, which made its initial appearance as a women's independent house this year, is located at 410 E. Green St., and is composed largely of transfer students and freshmen this year. This fall found it humming like a dynamo. The Mansion took second place in the Women's Independent Division for Homecoming Decorations and portrayed the eagerness, ingenuity and co-operation of its members.

One also found them sharing in the honors as well as the fun in the fields of scholarship, activities and leadership.

All house functions gained many compliments for their courteous and womanly conduct. Members strived to maintain this reputation.

Highlighting the season's social events were the hayrides, teas, and the open house. The Mansion closed a very successful and happy year with a beautiful spring formal. In the background are the guiding hands of Mr. and Mrs. Lapham who made the Mansion a real "home" for their girls.
In 1913, McKinley Hall, a dormitory which houses seventy independent girls, was built by Senator William B. McKinley, as a memorial to his mother, Hannah McKinley.

During the last year, the girls won the W.A.A. interhouse sports trophy, and they are working to win it again this year. There are representatives of practically every major activity in the house—Illini Theatre Guild, W.G.S., Daily Illini, The Illio, Student Senate, Star Course, Y.W.C.A., and class offices.

Mrs. O. O. Rice, the chaperon, and an executive council, aid the officers in planning the house program. The officers are: president, Anne Hoit; vice-president, Esther Little; secretary, Marion Hoppe; treasurer, Carol Koepke; social chairman, Jan Crader; and activity chairman, Ruth Johnston.

The house is represented on W.G.S. Honor Council, and is a well organized and happy group.
Another page, another year in the history of Medea; a year filled with the excitement of campus life, crammed with the bustling enterprise, and rich in memories for each of the girls who has found in Medea her "home away from home."

House activities began early in the fall with the Koffee Klautsches after the football games, pajama parties, open-house programs, hay-rides, dances, and various other memorable occasions. The girls also participated in the W.G.S. Stunt Show, the Y.W.C.A. Doll Show, and W.A.A. activities in addition to acting as hostesses at Union Coffee Hours, faculty and student teas, and a formal house dance.

Among the high-lights of the social calendar were Homecoming Festivities, Mother's and Dad's Days, the annual Medea party for orphans, and the Senior Breakfast.

Social life and gaiety ran high at Medea, but not without the parallel of hard work. Seminar, library nights, and study hours counter-balanced the good times and maintained the spirit of learning. Thus, social life, education, friendship, hospitality, and cooperation joined hand in hand in the writing of another page of Medea's cherished memory-book.
Menomée Manor was a newly organized house this year. Its officers were: president, Dorothy Ruth; vice-president, Evelyn Mando; secretary, Alice Dowling; treasurer, Virginia Tomasian; social co-chairmen, Shirley Peters and Sylvia Sitavich; and freshmen adviser, Mary Jane Ritchie. Mrs. Fitzgerald was the paragon among housemothers, who watched over the fifty-three members.

Social events of the year included several informal dances, a Mid-Winter Formal, exchange dinners, teas, a sleigh-ride, Dad’s Day Dinner, and entries in the annual Doll Show and W.G.S. Stunt Show.
The charm of Mensen Manor lies in the spirit of the friendliness and gaiety that pervades the house. The welcome mat is always out and a wonderful time is had by all.

Activities for the year began with a hayride, after which everyone came back to the house and enjoyed barbecues and hot chocolate. Mensen Manor entered the W.G.S. Stunt Show with a skit entitled, “In This Our Life”. Other activities included a Christmas formal, teas, exchange dinners, and informal dances.

Members of the house are represented in such organizations as Alpha Lambda Delta, Terrapin, Illini Theatre Guild, and the University Band. The officers of the house are: Catherine McGinnis, president; Betty Herath, vice-president; Ruth Christiensen, secretary; and Lynn Kobel, treasurer.

Mensen Manor is proud of the fact that it has succeeded in becoming well-known on campus, although it has been organized only a short time.
This is Noam Hall’s second and last year as an independent house, and the girls are making the most of it. Their biggest affair was a social which was centered around the theme “Matrphony”. Gold wedding rings were given to the escorts and refreshments were those of a wedding reception — cake and all.

President of the house, Natalee Burstein, is interested in radio, as are Sunny Karlin and Evie Millman. Social chairman, Lee Sessler, had the help of artists Cynthia Guiderman and Sarah Rabinowitz in decorating the house for its various affairs. Journ. major Judy Gottlieb is scholarship chairman and freshman advisor. Mary Lou Sherris, secretary, keeps in form by writing poetry. Co-treasurers Meryl Miller and Debbie Koppel keep the house on the profit side of the ledger.

An outstanding innovation which Noam Hall brought to campus was its open house. The affair was informal, and the music was by an eleven piece band. Dancing took place in the basement recreation room which the girls painted and decorated themselves.

All in all, Noam Hall will be sorry to close its doors on a very happy year at Illinois.
PRESBYTERIAN HALL

Presbyterian Hall, better known as "Presby", was founded in 1927, and has been known from its beginning as a well-organized house with active participants in many campus activities.

The house is directed by a house council whose members are the house officers: Thelma Bullard, Paulita North, Barbara Anderson, Georgann Logsdon, and Jane Cooke.

The girls in the house are in such activities as Daily Illini, Illini Union, Illini Theatre Guild, McKinley Foundation, W.G.S., and W.A.A. They are members, too, of Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Alpha Iota, Theta Sigma Phi, and Illustrators.

Social functions, in addition to studies and activities, are a part of life at Presby. The year is highlighted by the annual Christmas and Spring formals and the traditional Senior Breakfast to honor the year's graduates.
The story of Sager House begins in 1931, when seventeen girls moved into a house at 504 East John Street, under the supervision of Mrs. Leslie W. Sager. In 1932, the house was officially organized as Sager House and became a member of W.G. S. In that year the custom of informal Friday afternoon teas, one of the best-loved traditions was established. In 1938, Mrs. Sager moved to 307 East John Street, the present home.

Social life flourishes at Sager House. Each fall we look forward to the annual Harvest Party which is held on the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving. Autumn leaves and flowers furnish the decoration, while pumpkin pie, coffee, apples, and toasted marshmallows provide refreshment. In the spring, Sager House Alums return to the campus for a reunion and present a cup from the Sager House Alumnae Association to the outstanding freshman in the house. These events are supplemented by freshman initiation, pajama parties, heart sister week, formal and informal dances, and a senior breakfast.

A glance at the mantel, laden with cups and trophies, reveals that Sager House has always been active in campus activities, while the plaques show that Sager House girls have always won individual recognition for activities and scholarship. This year we have outstanding girls in the Illini Union, W.G.S., W.A.A., Daily Illini, Student Senate, Y.W.C.A., Star Course, and the Illio. We have members of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Delta Pi, Illustrators, Alpha Sigma Nu, Iota Sigma Pi, Shorter Board, and Torch.

Scholarship, service, and fun are the objectives of the Sager House girls; and we are proud of the place our house holds on campus.
SHAWNEE

1004 West Nevada Street

Nineteen hundred and forty-five marks Shawnee's seventh year on campus. Since seven is considered a lucky number, one may expect to hear a great deal about its members this year.

Shawnee ranks high in scholastic achievement, as well as in extra-curricular activities. This year, as usual, Shawnee is well represented among the members of the W.G.S., Illini Union activities, Y.W.C.A., Illini Theater Guild, Daily Illini, Torch, S.A.I., Sigma Delta Pi, Honors Day, and W.A.A. During recent campus political campaigns, several Shawnee names appeared on the ballots.

The house's social calendar included such events as exchange dinners, two formal dances, open house, picnics, and Friday afternoon informal teas.

Stonehaven, making its debut into W.G.S. in 1944, proved itself to be one of the most active independent houses on campus. The fall semester of 1945 began with a rush of pajama parties, a faculty dinner, and the Campus Social Forum. An informal dance was followed by a Christmas formal.

Its social ability was equalled by its intellectual capacity with Marilyn Zimny, Adeline Rogers, and Virginia GeLaz, members of Alpha Lambda Delta.

The officers were Betty Parrott, president; Betty Ovresat, vice-president; Adeline Rogers, secretary; Margaret MacLaren, treasurer; and Pat GeLaz, social chairman, not only in Stonehaven, but also in Terrapin.
Ten years ago, Stratford House was organized for independent women at the University of Illinois. Since that time, Stratford girls have proved their worth as true Illini by building up a long record of activities and scholarship.

They have always been active in the Illini Theater Guild, The Daily Illini, the stunt shows and Homecoming, beside their regular house activities. Stratford girls have been selected for membership by Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Mortar Board, and Alpha Lambda Delta.

With such a record of ten years of campus achievement, the girls of Stratford intend to go on to even bigger and better things to build traditions for the Stratford girls of the future.

The officers for this year include Joanne Geartts, president; Doreen Warman, vice-president; Eleanor Hallowell, secretary; Dolores Leppla, treasurer; and Jane McConnell, social chairman.
The Alpha Delta Phi fraternity house, with its paneled windows, spacious living room, and overhanging balcony, seemed so typically English, that it was given the name "Trelawney".

Socially speaking, we are quite alert. In late October, a scavenger hunt and mixer dance was enjoyed by the girls and their dates, and in December at the Christmas Formal, all danced to the music of Mendel Riley in the Illini Union.

House officers are Miriam Albrecht, president; Marge Halpin, secretary and treasurer; Ann Halpin, freshman advisor; Betty Ash and Joan Baker, social co-chairmen; and Teddy Kirk, music chairman.

Trelawney is also very proud of their four members of the freshmen honorary fraternity, Alpha Lambda Delta, Malrina Bartosiewicz, Joyce Elledge, Jane McClure, and Frances Wacaser.

Although Trelawney from outward appearances seems peaceful, things are always buzzing within. Bull sessions, midnight snacks, and singing around the piano are daily occurrences. The very pleasant housemother, Mrs. Cross, and the friendly girls help make Trelawney a home on campus.
Welsh House was organized in 1936, and through the years has built up high standards in activities, scholarship, leadership, and sisterhood. This year it has three Mortar Board members, two to Shorter Board, a member of the Illini Union Board, President and members of Student Senate, Senior Managers of Theatre Guild, President of W.G.S., and members of Y.W.C.A., Illini Union Committees, Theatre Guild. Daily Illini, University Chorus, Women's Glee Club, Arepo, Mask and Bauble, Accountancy Club, and Home Economics Club. As for scholarship, Welsh House is represented in Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta, Beta Gamma Sigma, Phi Kappa Lambda, Phi Chi Theta, Sigma Alpha Iota, and Phi Upsilon Omicron.

The year started off with a house spread, while dances and other activities have been planned.
Wenatchee came to life on this campus on September, 1940, with a membership of twenty-four. The following year, Wenatchee moved to 805 West Pennsylvania Avenue, the site it still occupies.

The organization was founded for the purpose of providing a high standard of living for independent men students on the Illinois campus. It was organized on a co-op basis, the work of maintenance being handled entirely by the members. Because of having been provided with proper study conditions, moral surroundings, and a competent housemother, Wenatchee was granted a charter by the University in 1942, designating it as being an approved co-operative house. Wenatchee offers its members a fraternal atmosphere along with a democratic form of government.

The housemother, Mrs. Florence Godfrey, and the following house officers: Wes Peterson, president; Wayne Ziegelmiller, vice-president; Dick Jones, secretary; Bob Jarrall, treasurer; Len McClush, work-manager; Bob Chenalloy, commissary; Frank Williams, social chairman, with the co-operation of all its thirty-six members have made Wenatchee one of the better men's independent houses on campus.
WEATHERLY HALL

212 East Chalmers Street

Weatherly Hall, newly organized house of 26 girls, has enjoyed activities offered by the University of Illinois, despite the fact that most of the girls are new on campus.

In this house of variety are Mina's art, Mary John's writing, Janice's corner, and the air-mindedness of Gerry, Eloise, and Kay. We are proud of Lillian Frizzell, who is a member of the freshman honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta. Tall girls, short girls, pretty girls, gay girls, and bright girls! Any kind to please, but don't forget all their hearts belong to the Hall's mascot, little Jimmy Weatherly and Poochie, his pup.

The inspiring leadership of our officers, Doris McLane, Dorothy Cooney, Gerry Bowers, and Frankie Bird, has laid the foundation on which Weatherly Hall will build year after year.
The women at Whyte Pillars will tell you that all they are they owe to the “good cookin’” at the house.

By working together and with Mrs. M. N. Wikholm, housemother, always behind them, these women have made a success of every project they undertook this year, from Homecoming decorations to house parties.

President LaMoine Hasse and other officers, Lynn Lehmann, Catherine Claeys, Audrey Weibler, and Phyllis Schwab have provided capable leadership.

Through living at Whyte Pillars all have come to know and love the University and have learned how to live and work as a team.

“Old Girls”, Lynn Lehmann, Betty Lipari, Isabell Holmgren, Marge Barret, and Jean Howerton showed the new girls how to have fun Whyte Pillars’ way.
More than half the girls of the newly-organized Windsor Hall are freshmen, and yet, it has representatives in almost all the major activities on campus, including Theatre Guild, W.A.A., The Daily Illini, Y.W.C.A., and Illini Union. In addition, it can boast members of Terrapin and of the University chorus.

The girls have also entered into the swing of house activities by having a hayride, Christmas Formal, open house, and participation in the W.G.S. stunt show.

The house officers are Betty Sicher, president and freshman advisor; Jeanne Kurz, vice-president and social chairman; Frances Benda, secretary-treasurer; and Rosemary Ferraro, house manager.

Top Row: Marie Gargano, Florence Hall, Ruth Bruninga, Dixie Glazebrook, Eleanor Kohlberg, Jeanne Oliver, Marjorie Leverenz, Mary Ann Lucy, Roseano Kennedy, Eileen O’Connell
Third Row: Nora Federighi, Lee Gentsch, Loretta Goeppe, Patricia Scott, Betty Jane Martin, Vivien DeBatts, Prinda Haslan, Lois Schneberger, Arlene Matousek, Audrey Melka
Second Row: Charlotte Knight, Wilma Mehler, Frances Benda, Betty Sicher, Jeanne Kurz, Mary Ann Ruif, Marjorie Hohe, Rosemarie Ferraro, Shirley Smith
Achaea, meaning “Welcome”, is one of the oldest organized houses on campus. All twenty-five of its occupants were very proud when the House won first place in the Homecoming Decorations Contest. Eunice Deffenbaugh, president, with the aid of Lois Throuw, vice-president, Joanna Brenner, secretary-treasurer, and Beverly Barber, social chairman, hopes to make Achaea rank first in everything it undertakes.

Frances Logan, Alpha Lambda Delta, who acts as freshman advisor, hopes that there will be more high scholastic ranking students. Achaeans are represented in various activities. A few of them are: Betty Towsley and Norma June Luthy, University Chorus; Marty Langham, The Daily Illini; Dee Underwood, Phi Chi Theta; and Bernice Mueller, Phi Upsilon Omicron.

ALCESTIS

Along with Jeannie Merrifield who presides over Alcestis is Ida Mae Farlow as vice-president and Mary Lou Roberts as secretary-treasurer. Busily buzzing around and planning gala events for fun and entertainment are Jean Erickson, Florence Witges, and Lorraine Watkins. As the end of another year comes, who won’t remember the wonderful times we had at the Rushing Tea and weekly meetings, and what fun the parties were that we planned? Many will remember the Doll Show and the things we did together because we were all a part of Alcestis.
ALPHA HOUSE

Evening shadows stretching long
Autumn's glow of gold and red
Groups of co-eds strolling home
"Mmmm, do I smell gingerbread?"
Plaques and trophies—scholarship
Traditions cherished; customs kept
Lemon custard, pumpkin pie . . .
"And has the lower hall been swept?"

Favorite songs at dinner time
Voices vie in rounds;
Stifled giggling in the dorm
Sleepy, early morning sounds . . .
Busy, happy, capable
Working as we learn
Striving as we dust and clean
To help the lamp of knowledge burn.

BEAU CHATEAU

Beau Chateau, the big, red brick building at 206 East Green Street is home to twenty-eight girls, of which twenty-three are freshmen.

Plus studying for hour exams and aiming for a high scholastic standard, Beau Chateau had time to enter into campus activities, not to forget their many social functions which were very successful.

The officers who helped the girls make Beau Chateau the homey place it is are president, Gertrude Siegel; secretary, Barbara Davis; treasurer, Freida Lustig; social co-chairmen, Norma Axelman and Rita Einhorn; and freshman advisor, Florence Levinson.

After dinner, around the fire in the living room is another scene that the girls will never forget.
Bella Vista, one of the prominent independent women's houses, finds itself engaged in many campus activities which include The Daily Illini, Illini Theatre Guild, Hillel Junior Council, and Hillel committees, Question Box, Music Hour, Illini Make-up and War Savings Committee.

The officers of Bella Vista are: president, Evelyn Wiesberg; vice-president and social chairman, Patricia Ehrlich; secretary, Miriam Lew; treasurer, Marilyn Hoffman; and freshman advisor, Sally Weber.

"Dear forestry shades, we love thy trees so tall, A-swaying 'round our Beta House.
When pines we see, we'll ever think of thee,
Thy green and glow, thy falling leaves, thy winter's snow."

"When pines we see, we'll ever think of thee——" so goes a line of the Beta House song. This allusion to pines has a double meaning. Beta House is situated next door to Forestry, where the tall majestic pines form a familiar background. Then too, the twin pine trees are the traditional symbol of the co-operative movement of which Beta House is a part.

"Friendships here will linger through the years,
Just as in years of college days gone by.
We'll ne'er forget the friends we've met
In Beta at old Illinois."

"Friendships here will linger through the years——" is not merely a phrase in a song, but is the actual feeling of each of the twenty-two Beta House girls.
BRITTANY HALL

Brittany Hall was opened in February 1945, by thirty-six freshman girls. Although living on a university campus was a new experience for them, the girls quickly acclimated themselves and went all out to organize their house successfully. The present officers are: Lorraine Port, president; Lois Goldberg, vice-president; Gloria Holland, secretary; Rena Allegan, treasurer; and Lucille Pruzansky, proctor.

There are sixteen of us in Mrs. Trumpe's little house on John Street. Barb, our senior, is president of Phi Chi Theta; Clare is our enterprising freshman with the engaging smile; and Loretta is a pre-med student. Our self-appointed “coed”, Elaine is also the house secretary and Norma is a deceptively innocent brown-eyed gal. The scales are controlled by Lenore, Jackie, and Bernice, who strive toward gaining weight. Ginny Scholl, our house beauty, declares herself a member of the Damma Phi Data’s. The house president, Babs, is a connoisseur of male photographs and buries herself in writing themes and letters. Marilyn, the vice-president, and Ginny are the pride of the chemistry department, while full-time working gal is Cass, who has a dozen different jobs. Joan is the gracious arbitrar of all disputes; Marge entertains us with her nonsensical quips; and Ruth keeps us in good humor by just joining in the fun. We have had our share of parties, dinners, and “coffee hours”, and have members in the Y.W.C.A., USO, Gray Ladies and campus organizations and activities. There you know about us . . . in the happy house, Chalanda.
The Citadel, comparatively new as an independent women's house is proud to boast of their high scholastic standard, which is above the average in most independent homes.

The Citadel, a democratic house, elected as president, Marion Ecale; vice-president, Esther Ardern; secretary, Adeline De Biasio; treasurer, Fairlene Kirchhoefer; and social chairman, Carolyn Stucky.

Many successful social functions were held throughout the year, adding enjoyment to the college life of each girl at The Citadel.

COLLEGIENNE

This year Collegienne was composed of seventeen girls — ten freshmen and seven upperclassmen. Their majors ranged from home economics to civil engineering.

The group was represented in Alpha Lambda Delta, Accountancy Club, Home Economics Club, and the University Orchestra. Some of the girls bowled and played hockey in W.A.A. All the girls were very active in their respective church organizations. Parties were held on special occasions during the year.
COLONIAL MANOR

Life at Colonial Manor runs smoothly, and one of the most important reasons is the fine spirit of cooperation displayed by the twenty-seven girls who live there. Every girl has taken active part on the committees that planned and made such a success of our fall hayride and our two formal dances. Informal affairs are held in our large recreation room. Mrs. Breuer, the housemother, is very conscientious in making the stay at Colonial Manor comfortable and pleasant for each and every girl. Throughout the year, she has delighted the girls with several teas, plus the added attraction of her special home baking.

One of the first houses to be organized after the closing of the women's dorms, was Delano Hall which gained an enviable position in independent circles. Named after Sara Delano, mother of the late President Roosevelt, it has continued its interest in her ideals as well as her son's, and one of the largest contributions toward the Warm Springs Foundation is received from the girls living there.

The house is well represented in student activities such as the Illini Theatre Guild, The Daily Illini, Orchestra, Terrapin, and Hillel. These activities are supplemented with social doings such as the semi-annual servicemen's dance, formals, and hostessing at the USO and Chanute Field.
Dornoch, an independent men's house, was organized in 1941 at 1109 South Fourth Street. The name was derived from the town in Sutherlandshire, Scotland, located on the Dornoch Firth of the North Sea. Today the town is noted as a health and holiday resort.

Members of the house have taken active interest in the band, Illini Union, glee club, Illini Theatre Guild, Y.M.C.A., and intramurals. Success has been attained in all its past social functions, and the house has also upheld a high scholastic standing.

At this time, over eighty members are serving in the armed forces, and three of the present members are veterans.

Fireside

When the past members of Fireside mention their campus home, they cannot refrain from adding that every year Fireside was the best independently organized house at Illinois, and included factors supporting this decision.

This year being no exception, the present members, once they are out of college, will write and speak just as highly of "210 E. John" as the alums now do. The home atmosphere created by the Fessler family was particularly welcomed by the veterans who constituted a majority of the seventeen members this year. Due to the atmosphere and the fellowship displayed by the boys, their years at the U. of I. will always be remembered.
FOUR COLUMNS

The thirty-one men who call Four Columns home include nine veterans from all branches of the Armed Forces. Four Columns is proud to welcome these men to the University of Illinois.

Fall elections named William Allen, pre-med, as president. Dick Cohen of the Law School is vice-president and Frank Chapman of Commerce keeps the minutes and the money.

Four Columns is a member of Men's Independent Ward Association and has participated in the intramural activities of that organization. Several honorary and professional fraternities are represented, including Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Beta Phi, Pi Tau Sigma, and Omega Beta Pi.

Sixteen girls again form Gamma House—co-eds with a variety of ambitions ranging from home economics and education to business administration. Six are new this year, and ten are "old-timers". They hail from the population extremes of Chicago's millions to Reddiek's hundreds. Helen is tall and Phil is short—Kate's a redhead and Effie, a blonde—Ruth prefers sailors while Dottie dotes on the Air Corps.

A heterogeneous mixture, you say? Yes, we agree, but that adds variety to the school picture. And differences in individuals' tastes surely are welcome when they stimulate new dinner menus and social programs. They help make Gamma a co-operative house that everyone likes.
The girls of Graham Lodge have joined together to make the lodge their special home during their stay on the campus. They are a very representative group of girls who work hard to make this an honor house by taking an active part in campus activities, both social and educational. Their members boost the causes of The Daily Illini, Theatre Guild, W.A.A., several church foundations, and Y.W.C.A. There are very few social events at which Graham Lodge is not represented. Being together, with a wonderful housemother, is making some very splendid memories for the girls to tell their grandchildren in fifty years.

HARRISON HALL

For the past two years, Harrison Hall, at 902 South Second Street, has been serving as an independent house for forty-nine girls. Chicago is well represented since forty-seven of the girls are from the Windy City, while New Jersey and Indiana each offer a representative. This year’s officers are Jean Krachock, president; Edith Nudelman, vice-president; Muriel Price, secretary; Miriam Schinberg, treasurer; and Rose Feigen, social chairman. Open House was held the Sunday after Homecoming, and a few weeks later a hay rack party, “The Last Straw”, was given. Highlighting the year were Harrison Hall’s two so- cial, “Pink Champagne”, which carried out the night club theme, and “A Thousand and One Nights”, the unfolding of a college girl’s diary. Mrs. Florence Nash, the housemother, aided in making these affairs a big success.
ILLIANA LODGE

Illiana Lodge reopened two years ago as an independent house. This year sixteen members chose as their officers Jeannette Klemola, president; Peggy Cummins, secretary; and Jean Adams, social chairman. Last year the house was among the highest in scholastic rating. Among the girls is Jean Leach, a transfer student from Blackburn College. Helen Bailey is the only out-of-state girl, hailing from Baltimore, Maryland.

The newcomers lost no time in joining into the prevailing spirit of congeniality and high scholastic standing.

ILLINI HALL

Illini Hall is a University dormitory for women with ninety-five residents. Organized in 1944 under W.G.S. rules, the officers for 1945-1946 were: Mary Louise Carpenter, president; Juanita McKean, vice-president; Connie Roark, secretary; Julie Schreiber, treasurer.

House members participated in the Homecoming Stunt Show and the Y.W.C.A. Doll Show. Informal teas, a hayrack ride, a Christmas party, and a winter formal were included in the year’s activities.

The high spirited group of girls was well co-ordinated by Miss Bower, our housemother, and Betty Cripe and Shirley Finger, the house counsellors.
Keowa and Illiwanis, two W.G.S. houses, have joined for participation in campus social affairs and especially in charitable work. The officers of Illiwanis are Lois Tendick, president; Virginia Ernst, vice-president; and Mollie Wilson, secretary. Keowa's officers are Joan Siegfried, president; Olga Kalapaca, secretary-treasurer; and Edna Meadors, freshman advisor and vice-president. Three senior Illiwanis girls have been elected to honorary societies: Betty Borchers, Phi Chi Theta; Olga Skablikoff, Kappa Delta Pi; and Lois Tendick, Phi Upsilon Onicon. Joan Siegfried of Keowa, a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary, is also a sub-district chairman for the Woman's Group System. Members of the two houses have also been active in language clubs, Illini Theatre Guild, victory campaigns and church affairs.

Illiwanis-Keowa

IVRIA

Ivria originated as an organized house in 1941. Since then, many of its girls have attained various scholastic and academic honors, including membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Several of its graduates have also earned fellowships to other universities.

Since its origin, Ivria has gained a place on the W.G.S. Honor Council plaque and has had every year recognition of leadership in scholarship and extra-curricular and social activities.

This June, nine seniors will graduate from Ivria, constituting the largest number of graduates in one year, since its origin.
KEELEY HOUSE

Keeler House is the large white house halfway down on Illinois Street.

Officers for the past semester were Dorothy Mabel, president; Renee Brickner, vice-president; Della Allen, secretary; and Sylvia Moscowitz, treasurer.

Although such honoraries as Alpha Kappa Delta, Psi Chi, Alpha Sigma Nu, and Zeta Phi Eta are represented, it wasn't all work and no play, for during the year the girls had an open house, entertained alums at Homecoming, and had a house formal.

The Hillel Foundation is well represented at "909", Shirley Rubenzik is vice-president, Gloria Lieberman, editor of the Hillel Post, Harriet Satz, chairman of the Social Welfare Group, and Josephine Neiburger is chairman of the Affiliate Drive.

This, in a few words, is the story of Keeler House.

---

LOCKE MANOR

A small house, yes, but an active one to compensate for the few in number. This year's activities gathered momentum early in the semester and continued to roll all term.

Active in campus activities, the members of Locke Manor proved themselves hospitable hostesses at a tea for Homecoming guests, gave willingly of their limited time to the work of various campus foundations, contributed generously to the War Student Drive, and enjoyed many other affairs such as a Hallowe'en Party, picnics, hayrides, and dances.

Whether phone duty, house committees, or making dolls for the annual Doll Show, the girls at Locke Manor did their share willingly under the able leadership of Gladys Liddle, president; Marjorie Huddleston, vice-president and treasurer and Marylou Baur, social chairman.

Friendly, co-operative girls and a gracious housemother, Mrs. Locke make Locke Manor a pleasant and inviting atmosphere for everyone's higher endeavors.
Lombardy Lodge

Forty-six girls regret that Lombardy Lodge is not theirs for “keeps” but is only leased from the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Nearly all of the girls came to Lombardy as freshmen or transfer students and have had to help one another become acquainted with the U. of I. world.

For leadership they chose Jean Kelly, president; Doris Baldwin, vice-president; Marilyn Wachlin, treasurer; Genevieve Czerwinski, secretary; and Margaret Frazier, social chairman.

Social functions were started with a formal tea to introduce “Mother Pat”, housemother Hannetta Kirkpatrick. Then a dance for V-12’s was given in the spacious living room. Christmas brought caroling time with hot chocolate for the carolers and the Christmas formal dinner.

All of the girls have enjoyed their stay at Lombardy and will regret having to leave because of the return of the D. U. boys.

Lowry Lodge

From within the walls of this small brick house at 1007 South Fifth, comes plenty of activity. Almost every organization on campus is represented by one of the seventeen girls of Lowry Lodge. Two of the girls are members of Alpha Lambda Delta, another active in Psi Chi, and three have been pledged to the women’s Cosmopolitan Club. Tom-Tom, The Daily Illini, and the Illio each has a Lowry girl on its staff, and the house is also represented in the Illini Theater Guild and the University Orchestra.
MANDERLY

Forty-nine women call Manderly their home, and while they don't have all the luxuries, they make up for it in general college-joe living. The women aren't satisfied with having a house full of bookworms, although there are several Alpha Lambda Deltas and national honorary people flying about, but do manage to get in on major campus activities.

House proxy, Lynn Friedman, between the callisthenics of accountancy, manages to keep the house stable, while sociable Charlotte Kaplan takes over the duty of vice-president, and Betty Joseph, secretary, helps out on Illini Theater Guild crews. Lillian Gilbert, former house treasurer, took over the job of proctor during the second semester.

Off the beaten path the house put on some excellent affairs such as the “November Night” dance, freshman welcoming events, and the house was decorated for special week-ends such as Homecoming and Dad’s Day.

MULL MANOR

Who says that no one can live with an engineer? If you are doubtful, you should visit Mull Manor where Engineering, Commerce, and I.A.S. students are all happily living under the same roof. Although everyone is happy, it is usually the engineers who are called upon to help the poor freshmen.

Under the capable guidance of Donald Schell, president; Walter Siarski, vice-president; and John Kramer, secretary-treasurer, Mull Manor has continued with a full program of University activities. The social activities — coke dates, hay rides, and other parties at the local candy store were arranged by the social committee who were John Refieuna and Jim Steward.
Nabor House, a university men's residence, located at 811 W. Oregon Street in Urbana, was organized and obtained a co-operation charter from the state in the spring of 1939. The chief reason for organizing Nabor House was to provide economical living for worthy students of agriculture, who otherwise would not be able to obtain the supplementary social and cultural advantages essential to a college education because of financial difficulty. In every sense, the organization is co-operative. The property, house, and furnishings belong to the corporation; dishwashing, housecleaning, lawn mowing, general repairing, etc., is done by the members.

The membership is limited to students of agriculture who are active participants in church activities, and those who are of good character, and who are willing to co-operate in the work of the house, and those who are good students scholastically. Each new man must spend one semester on a trial or pledge basis after which he becomes a member, providing he receives the unanimous vote of the active membership.

Onondaga House

A busy coed's life is the life for the girls at Onondaga. These true Illini maidens enjoy participating in such activities as: McKinley Foundation, Y.W.C.A., Theatre Guild, USO, W.G.S., W.A.A., Gray Ladies, Newman Club, and Agriculture Club.

Onondaga began its year with a homecoming tea for its many homecoming guests, followed by birthday parties, a scavenger hunt, and a lovely Christmas party given by the housemother, Mrs. Hallie Dunlap.

Officers for the present year are: president, Charlotte Lietz; vice-president, Virginia Hagen; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Eckert; honor-council chairman, Barbara Price; social chairman, JoAnne Scott.
PRICE CLUB

We’re a newly organized house, but are in the thick of all campus activities. The ball started rolling with a bang-up initiation of the freshmen by the upperclassmen. That week, the freshman was anything from a boot-black to a chamber maid. There were the never-to-be-forgotten candlelight pajama sings, hayrides, and many other social activities that succeeded in tightening the links in our chain of friendship.

Our studies meanwhile prospered — the freshmen doing their best to join the ranks of Alpha Lambda Delta. Frances Satterlee, house president, and other upperclassmen are the inspiration and encouragement of the freshmen.

You can always tell a Price Club girl on campus. She’s the one with the sparkle in her eye, the one who is seeking knowledge, who is full of enthusiasm and inspiration, and the one who is most fun to be with at all times.

Reeter Club, established as a home for college girls in 1943, has already gained recognition on campus. Let’s take a glimpse into Reeter this year. Betty Jane Atwood and Valerie Samuelson, their two dignified seniors carried the responsibility of freshman advisor and secretary-treasurer respectively. With Dorothy Crabtree presiding at meetings and generally directing organized house affairs, Dorothea Dunlap ably assisting as vice-president, and Carmelina Clement taking care of the social functions, life ran smoothly and efficiently. A feeling of co-operation among the girls in the house maintained Reeter Club’s standards and traditions in work and play.
The first post-war year at "The Armes" was an eventful one for many reasons. First, Joe Spitz and Al Miller returned from service and, theoretically, resumed their studies. Second, Glen Craft, the only graduating senior, finally received his degree in architecture, easing the tension of everyone.

The year was also punctuated by several fine dances and other social activities.

The co-operative spirit of all the members was directed by the house officers, Glen Craft, president; Tom Carneal, vice-president; Vic Day, treasurer; and Frank Strehl, secretary.

The house was run efficiently and smoothly, as usual, under the able management of Mrs. Mann.

Rustic Lodge, one of the smallest Indee houses on campus, is the homey, little brown edifice located just across the street from “gold old” Natural History.

It has been home to eight girls since October, 1944, when House Mater Mrs. Conlee waved goodbye to eight fellows who were waving hello to Uncle Sam, excavated all shaving cream and pipes and opened “Rustic’s” doors to the feminine world.

Mary Liz Bogar serves as president, Ann Holmes, secretary, and Trudy Kumerlen, social chairman.

“Rustic” was represented in Y.W.C.A., Illini Theatre Guild, Daily Illini, and W.A.A.
TALLAWANDA

A newly organized house on campus composed largely of transfer students and freshmen is Tallawanda.

The fact that these girls were new did not hinder their social activities. A hayrack ride was one of the first functions of the season, followed by heart-sister week from November 26th to December 3rd. Theatre parties, swimming meets, pajama gatherings, and bridge games were part of the unplanned activities. Ever present is Mac with her camera, who always gets that picture.

The officers of Tallawanda are Chris Kerasotes, president; Mitzie Welch, vice-president; and Marian MacNeal, secretary-treasurer.

WAHINA

One of the most active independent houses on campus, Wahina, 212 East Green Street, has been organized for several years, but renamed this year. Although almost two-thirds of the girls this year are freshmen, they have volunteered to work on the Illio, both the editorial and sports staffs of the Daily Illini, Tom-Tom, Illini Theatre Guild, and Illini Union committees, to name a few. Two of the most important features of the year are the Christmas formal and the Easter "Bunny Bounce."

Officers for the first semester were: Lorraine Mansell, president; Connie Pishos, vice-president and social chairman; and Laura Ann Barnard, secretary-treasurer.
Wescoga, a co-operative house for women sponsored by the Wesley Foundation, was founded in the fall of 1942. All planning, as well as the actual work, is done by the girls themselves; yet they still have time to be active at a religious foundation and to participate in numerous house and campus affairs.

Wescoga not only promotes co-operative living, but also stands for Christian fellowship and ideals. An application of these ideals is shown in the inter-faith, inter-racial membership of the house.

"They will endeavor to strive for God's kingdom on earth,

And, in so doing, prove Wescoga's worth."

WESTAIRE

I'm a small house on the corner of Illinois and Gregory and only five years old. I had a wonderful Homecoming open house and the W.G.S. district tea with a lot of new friends and notables arriving from 3 to 5. On Hallowe'en I had a party in my store-room complete with spooks. Birthday spreads with all the trimmings were regular events. The rush of dates on Friday and Saturday nights kept me busy. I had a formal dinner at Christmas, a tree with presents beneath it, and the carols were wonderful.

I have majors in engineering, music, foreign languages, journalism, home economics, and L.A.S. living in me.

My officers are Laverne Hinton, president; Alison Symon, vice-president; Pat Laughlin, secretary; Norma Lindenmuth, treasurer; Sissy Vidovich, social chairman; and Skipper Lohr, freshman advisor.

SHORT ON GRAY MATTER . . . ?

Or is your name on one of the following pages among those honored for high scholarship?

- Honors Day is the day traditionally set aside to recognize these students. Those ranking in the upper two per cent of the University have their names engraved on the Bronze Tablet. Many others receive University of Illinois Scholarship Keys.

- Initiation into Phi Eta Sigma is the freshman man's award for conscientious work and a 4.3.

- Similarly, wearing the "lamp of learning" signifies membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, whose creed is to promote intelligent living with an increased appreciation of the love of study, and to encourage superior scholarship among freshman women.

- Maybe you are one of the lucky "danglers" who sports a Phi Beta Kappa Key.

- Or are you a member of Pi Tau Sigma, Phi Mu Epsilon, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Gargoyle, Kappa Tau Alpha, Tau Beta Pi, or Beta Gamma Sigma . . . all national honoraries.

- Those who have attained this high goal are true "pride of the Illini." It is to them we now pay tribute.
The seniors awarded the honor of having their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet are to be congratulated. They have attained the highest scholastic honor at the University of Illinois. Each year's Bronze Tablet is added and is permanently located in the University library.
Alpha Lambda Delta is the only honorary organization open to freshman women. It was founded at the University of Illinois by Dean Maria Leonard in 1924 for the purpose of promoting high scholarship among freshman women. There are now forty-nine active chapters. Invitations to become members of Alpha Lambda Delta are extended to those women students making an average of 4.5 or better in their freshman year. Students making an average of 4.0 or over at the eight weeks are invited to a tea held by the actives to become better acquainted with the organization.

Pledging and initiations are held each semester. The 1945 pledge class was the largest ever received into the local chapter, totaling 142.

Members served as ushers at the 1945 Honors Day, and also sponsored a tea in November. Chapter Advisor is Mrs. Joyce Faber, assistant Dean of Women.
Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary for freshmen men, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923 by Thomas Arkle Clark. Since its founding, chapters have sprung up all over the country in forty-nine leading colleges and universities. Its growth has not yet reached its peak, a fact which may be attested to by the numerous schools who are currently showing interest in gaining a charter.

The highlights of the Phi Eta Sigma year come at the two installations, the first in early winter and the second in early spring. The feature of the evening is the initiation banquet, at which time an outstanding personality from the campus speaks to the new initiates.
Tau Beta Pi was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 by Edward Higginson Williams, Jr. to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship in engineering, or by their attainments as alumni in the field of engineering, and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America. The Illinois Alpha chapter of Tau Beta Pi was formed in the year 1897 and was the fifth chapter to be founded. At present there are 76 active chapters of Tau Beta Pi.
Pi Tau Sigma had its beginning in 1915 when a group of mechanical engineers at the University of Illinois planned an honorary fraternity for members of that college. They accordingly formed the first chapter of an organization which would exist "to foster the high ideals of the engineering profession, to stimulate interest in co-ordinate departmental activities, and to promote the welfare of its members." It was to establish a closer bond of fellowship among men in the study and profession of mechanical engineering, who by their achievements manifest a real interest and marked ability in their field.

Phi Lambda Upsilon was founded in 1899 at the University of Illinois for the purpose of promoting high scholarship and original investigation in all branches of pure and applied chemistry. The society has grown into a national organization comprising 39 chapters and over 10,000 members. Alpha chapter promotes the purposes of the organization by sponsoring lectures and awarding an annual prize to the sophomore student in chemistry or chemical engineering who maintains the highest scholastic average during his first three semester's work. In 1945 the award was given to a woman, Ann Ada Krull, for the first time on this campus.
GARGOYLE

Gargoyle Society is a national honorary devoted to the recognition of outstanding scholarship by undergraduates in the Department of Architecture. The Society was founded at Cornell University in 1902. The Illinois Chapter was organized in 1917.

At the Illinois Chapter, those students who have high scholastic averages, and traits of character and personality which make their success in the architectural profession probable, are initiated during their junior or senior year. An initiation ceremony is conducted each semester, followed by a banquet. In addition to the semi-annual initiations, the Society sponsors occasional public lectures, banquets, and dances. Certificates are presented each year to the two freshman architects with the highest scholastic averages.

KAPPA TAU ALPHA

Kappa Tau Alpha was founded at the University of Missouri in the year 1910. Kappa Tau Alpha seeks to honor and encourage outstanding scholarship in the School of Journalism. Only upperclassmen, the highest scholastic rank, are asked to become members. There are eighteen active chapters of Kappa Tau Alpha. Chapter president for the year 1946 was Professor Lawrence W. Murphy.

Beta Gamma Sigma honors and encourages outstanding scholarship among students in the College of Commerce and Business Administration. Only upperclassmen of highest scholastic rank are asked to become members of Beta Gamma Sigma. There are forty-seven active chapters of Beta Gamma Sigma. Chapter president for the year 1946 was Prof. John Fred Bell.
Phi Kappa Phi

Phi Kappa Phi, the only all-University scholastic honorary at Illinois, is open to eligible students from all colleges and schools of the University. The upper twentieth (five per cent) or less of the graduating class restricts the membership. To be eligible for election, a student must be a senior. Phi Kappa Phi has fifty active chapters.

HONORARIES AND PROFESSIONALS

KNOW THE FORMULA . . . ?

Take a university student, a co-operative spirit, and that will to do . . . result—"one more member in Honorary and Professional Organizations."

It is these honoraries and professionals that draw together students of special fields. They promote ideals of friendship, service, and loyalty, advocate learning and achievement, and encourage high standards. These students who have an interest in progress will make the better citizens of tomorrow.

The University of Illinois is indeed proud of the numerous honoraries and professionals and their members . . . they are a mark of advancement and achievement.
The Agricultural Club at the University of Illinois, with a membership of approximately 125 students, acts as the co-ordinator of student activities in the College of Agriculture. Holding the distinction of the oldest, one of the largest and most influential student organizations on the University of Illinois campus, the Agricultural Club celebrated its fiftieth anniversary this year. The highlight of this year’s activities was the celebration of the golden jubilee of the founding of the Agricultural Club.

Regular monthly meetings were held during the school year with appropriate programs planned for student interests. Through lectures by local and noted speakers, discussions, and movies, the Agricultural Club familiarizes the students with the various phases of agriculture and helps achieve its purpose of “training agriculture students to be men of affairs in later life.”

Each year the Agricultural Club sponsors the “All Agricultural Field Day”, the “Little International”, the intercollegiate judging teams, the spring judging contest, the All Agricultural Banquet and the Plowboy Prom.
Alpha Kappa Psi, the first and oldest commerce fraternity, was founded on October 5, 1904, at New York University. Since 1904, fifty-nine student chapters have been installed in leading educational institutions throughout the country.

The aims of Alpha Kappa Psi are "to further the individual welfare of its members; to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts, and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein; and to promote and advance in institutions of college rank, courses leading to degrees in business administration."

Epsilon of Alpha Kappa Psi was the fifth chapter to be installed, and it was formed in 1913 at the University of Illinois.

Membership is based on good character, scholarship, and satisfactory ability for potential business success. Throughout the year, we have meetings, parties, and educational lectures which pertain to our aims in the business world.

OFFICERS

Vice-President ..................... Bill Carroll
Secretary .......................... Ted Strunck
Treasurer ......................... Frank Strikich
Since the spring of 1922 when Chi Epsilon was founded on the University of Illinois campus it has become one of the largest honorary societies for civil engineers. Scholarship, character, personality, and sociability are traits which the society endeavors to develop. The basic objective of the fraternity is to increase the efficacy of the civil engineering profession as an instrument of social betterment by gathering together a nucleus of capable men of high standards who will apply the widening scientific principles to the practical needs of society. Chi Epsilon sponsors dances, lectures, and engineering forums. The officers are: Robert Reinhard, president; Harold Turner, vice-president; Malcolm Pickett, secretary; Dale Sheldon, corresponding secretary; and William Curtis, treasurer.

ACCOUNTANCY CLUB

The Accountancy Club was established in 1924 at the University of Illinois to foster and maintain a sincere interest in the accounting science. Four meetings are held each semester, at which either faculty members or businessmen speak on subjects of interest to accountancy students. Entrance requirements for students at present is two semesters of accountancy. All accounting professors are members of the club. Robert P. Hackett, assistant dean of the College of Commerce, is the sponsor of the organization. The officers this year were: president, Wilma Pratt; vice-president, Ted Strunk; secretary-treasurer, Barbara Dickson.
A. I. C. E.

The student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, founded at the University of Michigan in 1922, promotes fellowship and professional spirit among chemical engineering students. There are now seventeen active members. Current events and developments of the profession are discussed at the bi-weekly meetings and prominent chemical engineers are invited to lecture. To further acquaint the student with his classmates, numerous social affairs are held, climaxed by a farewell banquet. Seniors enrolled in chemical engineering are eligible for membership; however, underclassmen may attend the meetings and lectures.

A. S. C. E.

The A.S.C.E. chapter at the University of Illinois, one of the largest in the United States, seeks to acquaint students with the practical aspects of civil engineering. It familiarizes the engineering student with the purpose, procedure, and objectives of a professional society, and fosters a fraternal relationship among its members. At the bi-monthly meetings, speeches by the country’s foremost civil engineers and slide lectures are given. The Society arranges and sponsors inspection trips. This year’s officers are: Dale Sheldon, president; Harry Breinin, vice-president; Dalton Hoskins, secretary; Edwin Bly, treasurer. James Clark is faculty advisor.
The Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers functions primarily for the purpose of familiarizing the beginning engineer with a knowledge of the various fields open to him, as well as to develop in him a professional spirit and code of ethics. At the regular meetings, significant developments and new ideas pertaining to Mechanical Engineering are presented and discussed.

To further acquaint the student with recent trends in Mechanical Engineering, the parent society publishes a monthly periodical which contains informative and interesting articles.

Members of the Student Branch are eligible to compete for various prizes and awards.

"The electrical industry of the future will depend upon the college student. How shall he prepare himself to measure up to the new demands?"

This is only one of the many problems which presents itself at the frequent meetings of the student chapter of the Institute. Every young student engineer joins his fellows in the kind of co-operation which underlies progress in the individual and in the industry.

The meetings are of varied types and include student get-togethers as well as lectures by the faculty and representatives of industry.
In carrying out its three-fold purpose, to offer service to the scouting program, to the community, and to the University, Alpha Pi Delta, College Service Scout organization, has helped with local scouting activities and with service programs on the campus. Girls reluctant to break contact with Girl Scouting while in college, continue in the advanced scouting experiences offered to them by Alpha Pi Delta. Its membership is offered to all University of Illinois coeds who are interested in exchanging scout experiences.

Gamma chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology honorary, was established on this campus in 1928, to promote an interest in sociology, research in social problems, and activities leading to human welfare. Graduate students in sociology and others having a four point University average, with eight hours of sociology credits or six hours with current enrollment in two additional courses, may become candidates for membership. Regular meetings are held once a month, and initiation dinners, in the spring and fall. There are at present 46 active members. The officers are Seena Minkus, president; Billie McCray, vice-president; Bernice Baskin, secretary-treasurer.
All girls enrolled in the home economics curriculum are eligible for membership in the Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club. The purpose of the monthly meetings is to acquaint the g's with the leading personalities of their field. A new feature—Freshman Home Economics Club, encourages freshman girls to take part in the activities of the club and college.

Wiener roasts, joint dances, parties and meetings with the Agriculture Club give students enrolled in the School of Agriculture an opportunity to become better acquainted with their class-mates. All-Ag Field Day, an all University function sponsored by the Agriculture students, was resumed again this year. Another highlight of the year was the Plowboy Prom. During Mother's Day weekend, the members have a tea to honor their mothers. The year draws to a close with the spring banquet, at which the newly-elected officers are introduced.

Sigma Alpha Iota is a professional music fraternity for University women. Membership is based largely on scholarship and musical progress.

S.A.I. has been particularly active in presenting musical work and programs. An all Chopin concert was given in connection with the 7th War Loan Drive which netted over $2,000 in war stamps and bonds. The chapter sends talent to Chanute Field to entertain, presents an informal musicale each month, and has a radio program every Saturday morning at 11:30 over WILL. Two public recitals a year are given.

Each year, the chapter awards the pledge cup to the most outstanding pledge of the year, the Honor Certificate for having the highest grade-average of any senior for four years of college work, and the Swords of Honor. This local group received the Chapter Achievement Award for being the most outstanding chapter of the year.

El Círculo de Espanol (The Spanish Club) was founded about 1907 as the Circulo Literario Espanol by Professor John D. Fitzgerald. It has held a long and varied career since then and has sponsored many Spanish plays, movies, and lectures. The Spanish Club now meets bi-monthly and its meetings are attended by about two to three hundred students and faculty members. The club also sponsors a declamation contest in Spanish every year in collaboration with the Spanish honorary fraternity, Sigma Delta Pi.

This year the club’s programs, all of which are conducted in Spanish, have included a talk on the Civil War in Spain by visiting Professor Iglesia of Madrid, Spain; plays and skits by Spanish students; group singing of Spanish and Latin American songs; a fiesta, including a Latin American floor show; the presentation of a Mexican movie; a piano recital of Spanish music by Senora Iglesia; a debate; Spanish folk dances; and a recital of Negro poetry of the Antilles by Senor Ortiz.

The purposes of the national organization of Sigma Delta Pi are to promote a wider knowledge and greater love for the Hispanic contributions to modern culture; to stimulate a greater interest on the part of our students in colleges and universities of the United States; to foster friendly relations and a cooperative spirit between the nations of Hispanic and English speech; and to reward those who show special attainments and interests.

Each year the national officers assume the responsibility of planning a general program of activities in which each chapter may participate. Our local chapter each year sponsors a reception for Latin-American students on campus so that we may become better acquainted with their ideals and culture.

Active membership includes university students who are nominated on a basis of high scholarship in a specific amount of academic work in Spanish. Honorary members are members of the Spanish staff and other scholars of Hispanic culture.

Kappa Delta Pi was founded at the University of Illinois in 1911 by William Bagley, Truman Kelley, and Stephen Calvin. The society's three-fold objective is scholarship, an educational profession, and the development of the power to serve. Its policies, administrative machinery, meetings, publications, and investments have all been developed in the interest of these purposes. It is the only national coeducational honor society in American education that includes undergraduate and graduate students and members of the education and allied faculties. Alpha Chapter maintains a loan fund. It makes an annual award to the outstanding senior in the College of Education.

Omega Beta Pi

Omega Beta Pi, a pre-medical honorary fraternity, was founded at the University of Illinois to further the interests of the pre-medical students on the University of Illinois campus, to provide a social outlet for them, and to spur their intellectual activities.

A scholarship award is presented to the freshman pre-med making the highest average. A shelf of pre-med books and bulletins from the leading medical schools in the United States is maintained in the Zoology Library. Omega Beta Pi also presents a lecture series.

The staff of officers include: Herman Sturman, president; Dolores Schwartz, vice-president; Julian Miller, secretary; Meyer Gunther, treasurer, and Victor Horvitz, historian.
Phi Chi Theta

Phi Chi Theta is a professional organization for girls enrolled in the College of Commerce. The purpose is to promote the cause of higher business education and training for all women. Sigma Chapter, one of the twenty-five active chapters over the nation, has rushing, pledging, and initiation for selected girls once each semester. Each prospective pledge must have at least sophomore standing and a 3.3 all university average. Teas are given for the commerce instructors and students; the organization also sponsors lectures. Through the planning and execution of these functions, the spirit of co-operation, a necessary quality for business women, is encouraged.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national professional organization, was founded at the University of Minnesota in 1909 for the purpose of establishing and strengthening the bonds of friendship, promoting the moral and intellectual development of its members, and advancing and promoting Home Economics. One of its projects is the collecting of material for the biography of Miss Isabelle Bevier, former head of the Department of Home Economics at Illinois and a pioneer and outstanding leader. Another project is the dressing of a figurine in the prevailing fashion of the year. These figurines are on display in the second floor of the Women's Building.
Organized on April 1, 1927, the Illustrators, a social-professional fraternity, fosters the ideals and interests of art and artists outside the regular curriculum of the classroom. It places a mark of distinction on the undergraduate who has shown unusual ability and interest in the field of art.

Activities consist of pledging, formal initiation, mixers, smokers, receptions for prominent lecturers, and picnics. Illustrators reinstated the Fine Arts Costume Ball as a major dance.

The Illustrators promote good fellowship between the students and faculty. Officers include Betty Keeran, president; Ellen Attebery, vice-president; Nancy Gray, secretary; and Atha Tehon, treasurer.

Psi Chi, the psychology club, is a national honorary society, composed of psychology majors and minors, with grades in upper third in psychology and upper half in other subjects. Its officers for 1945 are: president, Seena Minkus; vice-president, Jeanne Starkey; secretary-treasurer, Mary Alice Pfeiffer; membership chairman, Mary Ellen Mitchell; publicity chairman, Bernice Baskin. The faculty advisor is Dr. A. J. Smith. The club's major social event is a biennial initiation banquet at which one of the outstanding professors of the department is asked to speak.
The purpose of Theta Sigma Phi, professional fraternity, is to make definite contributions to the cause of bettering journalism and to assist its members to achievement in the field of Journalism. Pi chapter at the University of Illinois is one of 42 student chapters on college campuses all over the United States.

Pi chapter will revive many of its old traditions this year. Spring will find it sponsoring the Matrix table again, a tradition postponed during the war. This function brings together the members and their guests, interested in journalism, for dinner and an address by a prominent speaker working in some branch of journalism.

Zeta Phi Eta, a national Professional Speech Arts fraternity, was founded at Northwestern in 1893. Tau chapter at Illinois was founded in 1937. The purpose of the organization is to encourage high standards of speech among women, and to promote and maintain worthy dramatic and speech enterprises. In keeping with this national policy Tau chapter undertakes, as one of its main projects of the year, an event called the Curtain Raiser. At this time the organization brings to the campus some noted person as a speaker. This year Major Gen. Claire Chennault of the “Flying Tigers” was brought to the campus by Zeta Phi Eta.
Sigma Tau was founded February 22, 1904, when a group of upperclassmen of the Engineering College of Nebraska held a banquet and announced the organization of a new group of civil engineering students. After two meetings in the fall of 1903, the organization broached the matter to other engineers, and invited the advice of certain members of the faculty. In 1912, the first National Council was elected. On March 3, 1930, Sigma Tau was admitted to full membership to the Association of College Honor Societies. The number of active chapters at the present time is twenty-five.

Out of the bounty of the good earth, comes life's first essential—our daily bread. Thus the sowing and the harvest become the two most important events in our scheme of life.

Through the ages, man has continually striven to lighten his task of tilling the soil. It was John Deere who gave to the world the steel plow, and this accomplishment alone was of substantial importance. But the John Deere institution has never been content to live in the past.

Constantly keeping an "ear to the ground", John Deere has followed the steel plow with an enviable succession of time-saving and labor-saving implements for all kinds and conditions of farming.

It is probably this habit of always "fitting into the future" that inspires the confidence with which American farmers today are looking to John Deere for the better farm machinery of tomorrow.

Recalling the accomplishments of the past, these men feel that the full resources of peace now can be released for implements of growth rather than instruments of destruction... that an even more pleasant and more profitable way of life will dawn on the American farm.

Yes, if the past of John Deere is any promise of the future, the fields of peace should be far more fertile, more fruitful fields for farmers... and for John Deere dealers... everywhere.

"We're Proud of You!"

Proud of you young Americans who have worked and studied through hectic war-time years to help share the responsibility of the Peace, so bitterly fought for, so gloriously won. Into your future, let the spirit of those fellow students enter . . . those young men and women who will not graduate today . . . who remain on foreign soil thousands of miles away never to return. They were the price of the Peace . . . yours is the responsibility to build the better world they died for.

Your proudest moment perhaps, will be the day you hang up your "shingle" ... announcing to the community which you are about to serve that you possess all of the qualifications to practice dentistry according to the requirements set forth by your school and by law.

The measure of success you will enjoy will depend upon many things ... personality ... ability ... integrity ... and last but not least, your spirit of progressiveness which will be reflected by the environment of your office. And it is here that Weber will prove of inestimatable value and help to you—not only through its many "Practice Building" services which are furnished gratis to you as a user of Weber Equipment but as a source of new and better appliances which are designed to make your work more efficient, more enjoyable, more profitable.

Ask your Weber Dealer how you can qualify for this complete course in "Dental Counselling and Office Management" or write us direct.

BEHIND THE SCENES

The glamour of huge industrial plants, intricate machinery, and mass production methods is the usual mental picture of American Industry. And a true picture of much manufacturing... but not so with photo-engraving.

Machinery? Certainly! Precision equipment, but not mass production. Glamorous? Yes! Skilled hands and chemical processes and always intriguing.

Your year book is the result of many procedures...photography, copy writing, art, engraving, printing and binding, plus salesmanship, accounting, etc.

The graphic arts industry has many branches and many opportunities. You might consider the possibilities of your future in this highly interesting business.
