THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
This book is dedicated to the Junior Editors and Business Managers of the Illio staff. With an increase of 100 pages over the size of last year’s book and a decrease in deadline time by two and one-half weeks, due to school starting late last fall, the work of these people has enabled the production, on time, of the Illio of 1948. Thanks, then, to Junior Editors Barbara Seaquist, Judy Flesch, John Westenhaver, Edith Wells, Jack McKinzie, Mary Lou Solomon, Jane Kurrus, Bette Samson, and Lee Gardner; Junior Business Managers Mary Alice Barstch, Phyllis Skiles, Bob Nelson, Adeline DeBiasio, Marta Spielberger, Bob Clapp, and Mary Lou Walling.

Also to Donald S. Hoebel, manager of the Illini Publishing Co., goes a big vote of thanks for invaluable technical aid and advice, and for being such an industrious helper and good friend.

To the Students of the University of Illinois:

At Urbana-Champaign, as at Chicago and Galesburg, we are bigger than ever before. Probably few old residents or "old timers" ever expected to see the day when over 19,000 students would be in full-time residence on the main campus. Of course, this has brought some hardships to us all but my observation is that students, faculty, and townspeople have exhibited an extraordinary amount of patience and good will. The housing facilities have improved somewhat and the lines for food and other services are perhaps shorter than last year.

The main thing is that through the generous provision of the Legislature and the farsightedness of the Board of Trustees we are able to serve the needs of over 27,000 students on four campuses. It is evident that staff members, old and new, are doing their utmost to maintain a high quality of instruction and guidance. All of us are anxious to keep the educational experience from being diluted. To this end we have added large numbers of staff members.

We all hope to have new classroom and laboratory facilities available by the end of 1948. With the completion of the buildings for Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and Chemical Engineering, together with a large residence hall for women, we shall have some relief. However, we ask every student to be patient in view of a predicted shortage of educational facilities during the junior and senior years.

The student body is still predominantly veteran and it is on behalf of these men and women especially that we renew our pledge of loyalty and service to the University, State, and Nation.

Sincerely yours,

George D. Stoddard

The Deans...

The major duty of the Deans of the University is to counsel students in regard to their personal problems, including social, scholastic, and financial difficulties. Dean of Students Fred H. Turner, supervises the numerous Dean's activities. In the eyes of University Students Dean Turner has gained high admiration for his genuine interest and helpful advice in personal consultation as well as his work pertaining to campus events, social affairs, fraternities, extra-curricular activities, organizations, and employment.

Dean of Women Mariam A. Sheldon assumed the duties of her office in January of 1948 after serving as an officer with the WAVES, and soon gained the admiration of all the Illinois Coeds, single and married alike, because of her straightforward, efficient, and sincere manner.

Edward E. Stafford has been Dean of Men since 1944, and has handled the duties of his office with efficiency and distinction although thousands of veterans on the campus have necessitated enlargement of the Dean's facilities.
...President Stoddard's Installation...
The University of Illinois Foundation...

The chief function of the University of Illinois Foundation is to encourage gifts from both individuals and corporations for the purposes of assisting the general educational and research program of the University. In addition the Foundation assists the University in its service to students, alumni, and the citizens of the State in general.

The Alumni Association "begins where student days end." Besides publishing a monthly newspaper which goes to thousands of former students, it maintains current addresses and biographical information of members. In behalf of the University the Association is seeking to create better public relations with high schools, newspapers, and the people of the state in general.

For almost four decades Dean Rusk has served the University of Illinois. Starting as an assistant in animal husbandry in 1910, he advanced in twelve years to the headship of the Department of Animal Husbandry. In 1939 he became Dean of the College of Agriculture, the latter office carrying with it two other heavy responsibilities — the directorship of the Agricultural Experiment Station and of the Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics.

Dean Rusk was born on a farm near Rantoul, Illinois, in 1884. The family later moved to northern Indiana where, Dean Rusk says, he had the usual experiences of a boy who grew up around the turn of the century on a fairly large farm with some native prairie sod still to be broken, glacial boulders to be hauled from the fields, tile drains to be laid, and hogs, cattle, and horses to be cared for.

He received his B.S. in Agriculture at the University of Missouri in 1908 and his M.S. from the same institution in 1911. He was a member of the staff of the University of Missouri in 1908 and of the Purdue Experiment Station in 1909.

Dean Rusk is noted for his clear thinking and fearless speaking in matters concerning agriculture. He is a member of the Agricultural Board of the National Research Council and has just accepted membership on the Agricultural Committee of the recently created Commission on Organization of the Executive Branches of the Government, Ex-President Herbert Hoover being the chairman of the Commission.

The recreation the Dean loves best he finds in the fields and flocks of his own and the College farms.
The College of Agriculture as we know it today, with its 1700 students, graduate and undergraduate in agriculture and home economics, its 224 courses, and its 260 research projects, had its real beginning in the 1890's with the coming of Eugene Davenport to the University.

In the earlier period (1867-1895) the efforts of Burrill, Bliss, Miles, and Morrow gave substance to attempts to vitalize the agricultural interests at the University. Louise Allen (1874-1879) organized what was said to be "the first college course of high grade in domestic science in this country." The famous Morrow Plots, the oldest of their kind in America, second oldest in the world, were started. But these years were marked mostly by slow advance and recession, disappointment, and lack of support.

The story was different in the Davenport period (1895-1922). In 1899, with only 19 students in the College, the General Assembly appropriated $150,000 to build what is now Davenport Hall. Research was vigorously pushed. The Extension Service was developed. Hopkins, Mumford, Blair, Frasier, and Isabel Bevier formed the nucleus of what was to become a notable staff. Each gave years of service to the College. They pioneered together, they built, they supplied the philosophy and direction for the policies and procedures that in a remarkably few years were to place the College in the front rank of such institutions. By 1915 over 1200 students were enrolled in the College.

Since 1922 Dean Mumford (1922-1938), Dean Blair (1938-1939), and Dean Rusk have guided the affairs of the College. Despite the severe and prolonged depression and the second world war, these have been years of steady growth, the consolidation of gains, and the meeting of problems that come with maturity. The present academic staff numbers 374 full and part-time members. The investment in buildings, flocks, herds, and equipment is valued at more than 2 million dollars. But the students and what they do with their education remain as always the primary interest of the College.

Dean Howard R. Bowen is a native of the State of Washington. He was educated at the State College of Washington from which he was graduated with B.A. and M.A. degrees, and the University of Iowa, from which he holds the Doctor of Philosophy degree. He studied in England at the London School of Economics and Cambridge University as a post-doctoral fellow of the Social Science Research Council. His fields of specialization are business fluctuations and finance.

From 1933 to 1942, Dr. Bowen was a member of the economics faculty of the University of Iowa. From 1942 to 1945, he was in the service of the Federal Government, first as Chief of the Business Structure Unit in the Department of Commerce and then as Chief Economist for the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

From 1945 to 1947, he was economist for the Irving Trust Company of New York. On September 1, 1947, he became Dean of the College of Commerce.

Dean Bowen is a member of the American Economic Association, National Tax Association, Royal Economic Society (England), Phi Beta Kappa, and other professional societies.
The College of Commerce and Business Administration has long recognized the threefold nature of its responsibility, as a part of the University, to the Commonwealth of Illinois.

The dynamic character of American economic and social life demands a broad cultural understanding and a good vocational foundation. The educational policy of the College stresses the cultural aspects of living as well as vocational and professional training. The College also recognizes that a good teaching program must be integrated with research to stimulate thought and activity by both students and faculty. Yet even with stimulation of thought and activity by students and faculty, the College has not completed its job. Its responsibilities reach beyond the campus, across the borders of the State of Illinois, and have repercussions throughout the nation.

Members of the staff of the College have published many textbooks and articles. The Bureau of Economic and Business Research has produced numerous studies and has cooperated with governmental and regional groups in advancing the development of the State’s resources. A management consultation service is being set up in business administration, production, office operation, personnel, purchasing, sales, records and finances. Members of the College staff will serve as consultants.

The College believes that its teaching program will be enriched by such integration of teaching, research, and service; that its prestige, both on and off the campus, will be enhanced, and that the perspective of students, faculty, and citizenry of Illinois will thereby be enlarged and strengthened.

Realizing that the human element in business is a most important one from the point of view of social welfare, this College establishes principles of business conduct, procedure, and operation. It emphasizes the recognition by businessmen of their social responsibilities, the appreciation of cause and effect, and above all, honest and scrupulous conduct with respect to their employees, other associates and customers.

Dr. Willard B. Spalding, newly appointed Dean, brings with him to the College of Education experience as an educator and administrator. Before coming to the University of Illinois, he was for three years Superintendent of Schools in Portland, Oregon.

He secured the B.B.A. in his native state from Boston University in 1926 and the M.Ed. from the University of New Hampshire in 1933. During the period 1925-1932 he served as principal of the high schools in Princeton, Charleston, and Hamilton, all in Massachusetts. From 1932 to 1941 he occupied the superintendency of schools at Massachusetts Supervisory Union, Number 18 and Belmont, Massachusetts.

While serving as Superintendent of Schools at Passiac, New Jersey, from 1941 to 1944, he was awarded the D.Ed. degree from Harvard in 1942. Pacific University granted him the LL.D. degree in 1947.

He has been active as a member of the Intercultural Relations Committee and as Secretary of the American Council on Education. He holds membership in a number of professional organizations including the Illinois Education Association, American Federation of Teachers, and the National Society of College Teachers of Education. He has written numerous educational articles for professional publications. Since his appointment, he has also participated as a speaker in many educational programs that include the American Federation of Teachers, Superintendents' Round Table of Northern Illinois, Illinois Education Association and the Visual Aids conference tour sponsored by the Visual Aids department.
The first definite recognition of the need for providing facilities for the training of teachers came twenty-six years after the incorporation of the University itself with the selection of Dr. Frank Martin McMurry in 1839 to fill the newly created professorial chair of Pedagogics. In 1896 the departmental staff was increased to two, one of the men serving also in the newly created position of High School Visitor.

After a period of some growth the School of Education was created in 1907 with Professor Stephen S. Colvin acting as Director for a brief time until the coming of Dr. William Chandler Bagley, who served in this capacity for ten years.

On June 1, 1918, the trustees of the University of Illinois created the College of Education. W. W. Charters was influential in establishing the Bureau of Educational Research in 1918 during his brief service as Acting Dean.

The next twelve years from 1918 to 1930 saw a great expansion in the College of Education during the administration of Dean Charles Earnest Chadsey.

In 1921 the University High School was organized to provide teaching practice facilities, a laboratory for educational experimentation and a model school for the observation of educational methods.

In 1941 the College of Education inaugurated a new program leading to Master of Education Degrees. A number of faculty additions this year has made possible the expansion of the work and services of the College of Education both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The bureau now designated as the Bureau of Research and Service, endeavors to investigate the unsolved problems in education and to render service to the public schools of the state through providing information, advice and recommendations for improved types of educational activities.

The University maintains an appointment service for the placement of its graduates who wish to become teachers, a service which is free to the students and to the board of education.

Melvin Lorenius Enger, Professor of Mechanics and Hydraulics, since 1934 Dean of the College of Engineering and Director of the Engineering Experiment Station, was born May 5, 1881, in Decorah, Iowa. He attended the University of Minnesota and the University of Illinois where he received the Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering in 1906 and later the C.E. and M.S. degrees. In 1906 while he attended the University of Illinois he was a member of the Civil Engineering Club and half-back on the senior class football team. After a year in the Bridge and Building Department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, he was appointed instructor in Theoretical and Applied Mechanics, and has served on the faculty since that time. From 1926 to 1934 he was head of the Department of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics.

Dean Enger is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and was director from 1932 to 1934. He is a member of the American Society for Testing Materials, the council of the American Society of Engineering Education from 1921 to 1924, and Vice-President from 1938 to 1939, Western Society of Engineers, and was President of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers in 1929. He is also a member of Newcomen Society, Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Tau, Chi Epsilon, and is an honorary member of Triangle Fraternity. Dean Enger was awarded the Goodell Prize of the American Water Works Association in 1940.
The College of Engineering was organized in 1870 as a part of the Illinois Industrial University. The first University class included six candidates from the College of Engineering. For many years the College enrolled more than half the men students in the University. The first published curricula (1871) were in Mechanical Science and Art, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, and Architecture. In 1892 curricula were added in Electrical Engineering, Architectural Engineering and Municipal and Sanitary Engineering; in 1906, Railway Civil, Railway Electrical, and Railway Mechanical Engineering; in 1915, Ceramics and Ceramic Engineering; in 1920, General Engineering and Engineering Physics; in 1933, Agricultural Engineering and Metallurgical Engineering; and 1944, the Curriculum in Aeronautical Engineering. The Departments of Physics and Theoretical and Applied Mechanics were established as independent departments of the College of Engineering in 1890.

The Department of Municipal and Sanitary Engineering was discontinued and its courses were transferred to Civil Engineering in 1926; in 1931 the Department of Architecture and Architectural Engineering was transferred to the newly organized College of Fine and Applied Arts. The Department of Railway Engineering was abolished in 1940 and its courses were transferred to the Departments of Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering.

The curricula in engineering emphasize the mathematical and physical sciences and their application to design, construction, and operation of engineering projects and industrial works. The first three years are fundamentally scientific in character, with a common core in the first two years. A moderate amount of Specialization is provided through options and by special arrangements of courses in the senior year.

The Engineering Experiment Station, the first in any engineering college, was established in 1903. The Station is engaged in nearly sixty investigations in cooperation with governmental agencies, industrial associations, engineering society committees, and individual companies. More than five hundred bulletins and circulars have been published on important researches in many fields of engineering science and practice.

Rexford Newcomb, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, received his training at the Universities of Kansas, Illinois, and Southern California. His academic studies were supplemented by travel and research in Europe, the Near East, and the Orient.

Before coming to the Illinois faculty in 1918, Dean Newcomb was for five years Director of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts at Long Beach (California) Polytechnic School and for four years Director of Adult Education and Principal of the Long Beach Evening High School. He practiced architecture in California for five years. He served also on the faculties of the University of Southern California and the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, at the latter institution as Professor of Architecture and College Architect.

Dean Rexford Newcomb

Dean Newcomb was for ten years editor of the Western Architect, Chicago, has served as technical consultant in various connections and has lectured widely on the Fine Arts. He is the author of fifteen volumes and several hundred magazine articles in his field.

The Dean is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, past-president of the Institute’s Central Illinois Chapter and past-president of the American Society of Architectural Historians. He was a member of the State Planning Commission under Governors Horner and Green. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi and various other honorary and professional organizations.
Training in the field of Fine Arts was provided in the original plans for the University of Illinois and instruction in Art and Architecture was early offered in the University’s history. Courses in Music were soon introduced also and a School of Music was organized in the year 1897. For more than a third of a century, training in Landscape Architecture has been offered.

It was long felt that all of these Fine Arts interests should be brought into close administrative relationship but this was not possible until 1931 at which time the College of Fine and Applied Arts was established by a grouping of the Departments of Art, Architecture, and Landscape Architecture, and the School of Music. The Bureau of Community Planning has been a part of the college since 1934. The Walden String Quartet, joined the College staff of instruction in 1947. With the College of Medicine, it now offers a curriculum in Occupational Therapy.

The teaching program of the College is two-fold: first, to train professionals in the various fields of art and second, to offer students the cultural advantages to be gained by the study of and the participation in the various arts. The various curricula are so set up that the student gets a background of liberal studies.

In addition to its program of instruction the College offers annually many free lectures, concerts, recitals, and a constantly changing series of art exhibits displayed in the Architectural Building. In cooperation with other University departments, the college sponsors a Festival of Contemporary Arts during the spring semester. Students from the other Colleges of the University come in search of the many cultural courses offered by the College of Fine and Applied Arts as well as the musical organizations it sponsors.

The Graduates of the College hold important places in their respective professions throughout America and in all foreign lands.

Louis Nicot Ridenour, now Dean of the Graduate College and Professor of Physics at the University of Illinois, who had formerly been Professor of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania, succeeded Robert Daniel Carmichael. Robert Daniel Carmichael, fourth Graduate Dean, retired in July, 1947, after 32 years of service to the University, including 14 years as Graduate Dean.

Dean Ridenour did his undergraduate work at the University of Chicago, and his graduate work at the California Institute of Technology. After a term as a member of the Institute for Advanced Study, he was appointed instructor in physics at Princeton University. In 1938, he went to the University of Pennsylvania as assistant professor.

At the end of 1940 Dean Ridenour was granted leave to become a staff member of the Radiation Laboratory established at Massachusetts Institute of Technology by the National Defense Research Committee.

This laboratory, of which Dean Ridenour later became Assistant Director, was devoted to the development of military and naval radar equipment using the microwave radio frequencies which had been only a laboratory curiosity in 1940. Later, Dean Ridenour assisted the Air Forces in introducing the new equipment, serving in 1944 as radar advisor to General Spaatz, the European air commander.

After editing a series of 27 technical volumes describing wartime advances in electronics, Dean Ridenour returned to the University of Pennsylvania for a year before coming to the University of Illinois.
Facilities for advanced study and for research were offered by the University as early as 1872, and organized instruction under the name of the Graduate School was begun in 1892. In 1894, the office of Dean of the Graduate School was established. The first two Ph.D. degrees were conferred in the year 1903. In 1906, the Graduate School was organized with a separate faculty, and an appropriation of $50,000 for its support was made by the General Assembly. By action of the Board of Trustees, the name was changed to Graduate College in 1947.

The Graduate College provides advanced instruction and facilities for research in about fifty fields of specialization, and grants Masters' and Doctors' degrees to candidates successfully completing the requirements for degrees in course. In addition, professional second degrees in engineering are conferred upon graduates of the University who enter successfully into the practice of engineering, and otherwise meet the requirements for such a degree.

The nature of graduate work has not changed since Dean Kinley, later President of the University, wrote in the Graduate Announcement of nearly forty years ago: “The principal aim of graduate study is the development of the power of independent work and the promotion of the spirit of research. Each candidate for a degree is expected to have a wide knowledge of his subject and of related fields of work; for the graduate student is not expected to get from courses all the knowledge and training necessary to meet the requirements for his degree.

“Students are warned against restricting themselves merely to the courses prescribed or suggested by the departments in which they are studying. Each student is expected to do a wide range of private reading and study, and in many cases will find it advisable to take one or more courses of lectures quite outside the field of his chosen subject.”

Director Siebert has been a member of the University of Illinois journalism staff since the School was established in 1927. During those twenty years he has achieved recognition in Illinois and the nation as an authority in radio and press law, as a teacher of journalism, and as a practical, foresighted administrator.

A native Minnesotan, Professor Siebert received his B.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1923 and a J.D. degree from the University of Illinois College of Law in 1929. He received his journalism training on the Hibbing Daily News, the Duluth Herald and the Chicago Herald and Examiner. He was associate editor of the Journalism Quarterly from 1927 until 1930 and is now a member of the Board of Editors of that publication.

He has completed one volume of a two volume work on the History of Freedom of the Press, an outgrowth of more than a year's study in Europe under the auspices of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Director of the School of Journalism since 1941, Professor Siebert has served as president of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, Secretary of the Illinois Press Association, and chairman of the Council on Radio Journalism. He is chairman of the Law of the Press Committee of the Inland Daily Press Association, member of the U.S. Wage and Hour Committee for the Publishing Industry, member of the American Council on Education for Journalism, and member of the Illinois Bar.
Journalism...

Journalism training at the University of Illinois, developed over a period of 45 years, strives to produce communications workers who are "tough-minded in the search for truth," who speak plainly in a world of complex ideas, and who have the skill and judgment required for superior accomplishment in all fields of communications.

The first instruction in journalism at the University of Illinois was given in 1902 as part of the courses in English. The training has reached its majority during nearly a half-century of troublesome and changing years which witnessed two great wars, saw the development of the airplane, the radio, the automobile, and the atomic bomb. Today journalistic training must be based on a sense of responsibility to the reader, a broad social background, and specialization in the many phases of a technical world.

Obligation to the reader keynoted journalism training at Illinois. Since the establishment of the School in 1927 from what had been a division in the department of English, special emphasis has been placed on the ethics of the profession. Only men and women who feel that theirs is one of the most important and significant jobs in the world today are encouraged to prepare for professional journalistic work.

The first quarters of the School of Journalism were in University Hall (now the site of the Illini Union Building); in 1941 the school was moved to specially designed quarters in Gregory Hall. In addition to its specialized curricula in editorial work and publication management, in recent years the School has developed an outstanding program in radio training and has greatly expanded its offerings for the advertising student. Journalism courses at the graduate level were offered for the first time in 1946-1947. The School is administered by Director Frederick S. Siebert, with the assistance of an Executive Committee composed of Professors Lawrence W. Murphy and Charles H. Sandage and Associate Professor Arne Rae.

Dean Albert J. Harno, Dean of the College of Law of the University of Illinois since 1922, was born in Holabird, South Dakota, January 30, 1889. He spent his boyhood in South Dakota and was graduated from Dakota Wesleyan University in 1911. He received his law degree, magna cum laude, from Yale Law School in 1914. He was admitted to the practice of law in California and practiced there from 1914 to 1917. In 1917 he was appointed Dean of the Law School at Washburn College and remained in that position until 1919. Between 1919 and 1921 he was Professor of Law at the University of Kansas. In 1921 he came to the University of Illinois as a Professor of Law, and in 1922 was named Dean. He also served as Provost of the University from 1931 to 1944. He is the author of monographs and articles on legal subjects.

Dean Harno has held national offices in organizations of lawyers and law teachers and at present is President of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws; member of the Council on the American Bar Association’s Survey of the Legal Profession; Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Judicature Society; member of the Advisory Board of the Division for Youth and Community Service, State of Illinois; and member of the Advisory Committee on Revision of the Statutes, State of Illinois. He holds honorary degrees from Dakota Wesleyan University, Tulane University, and Boston University, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, the Order of the Coif, and a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.
We live in a period when thinking people are reappraising the premises underlying the concepts of “freedom” and “democracy.” It is well that they are, for in the clash of ideologies of our time, there is a tendency to lose sight of the values that are implicit in the concepts of freedom, democracy and justice. Democracy is founded in justice and freedom is rooted in law. Liberty and justice complement each other; neither can exist without the other and both find expression in law.

The law does not operate in isolation; it is inseparably woven into the social fabric. Only through the processes of law can we in a free society adequately co-ordinate the various phases of life into a system that speaks with authority. Not only must we in a free society be governed by law, but it is equally essential that its function and purpose in relation to that society be understood by its members. As architects of the law, it is the responsibility of lawyers not only to act as advocates, judges and statesmen of the law, but also to educate the public on the contents and ends of the law, on its propitious qualities, and on its very essentiality to each individual in that society.

The College of Law seeks to develop in its students an appreciation of the highest ideals of the profession, a facility in legal scholarship, and a consciousness of the responsibility of the lawyer to society. It takes pride in the contribution it has made, through its faculty and graduates, to the development of law and its administration.

The College was established in 1897, under the guidance of Dr. Andrew Sloan Draper, President of the University and first Dean of the College, and the Honorable John P. Altgeld, Governor of Illinois. The building that houses the College is named Altgeld Hall in honor of Governor Altgeld and in memory of his interest in the College.

The dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is Henning Larsen, who also serves as head of the Department of English. Son of Norwegian immigrant parents, he grew up bilingual—a product of the American melting pot. His father, an alumnus of the University of Oslo, was the first president of Luther College, an institution organized in civil war days by Norwegian immigrants. His own education was gained at Luther College, the State University of Iowa, the University of Oslo, and Princeton University. As a teacher he has served at the University of Iowa, the University of Texas, and the University of Illinois, besides holding summer appointments at the University of Chicago, Stanford University, the University of North Carolina, and Northwestern University.

In college days his main hobby was athletics, with tennis and basketball dividing his interest.

During student days in Norway, he turned to skiing. Next in his interests came Old Norse and Old English literature, which eventually became his professional field and his main area of research.

His academic work was twice broken by war. In 1917, after completing the work in the first officers' training camp, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the infantry. After services with the 33rd and 76th Divisions, he was transferred to military intelligence and stationed at the legation in Oslo, Norway. In 1944, he served a tour of duty in the Office of Strategic Services.
Liberal Arts and Sciences

Liberal Arts and Sciences is the largest and most complex college on the campus. It serves, or tries to serve, a great many purposes. It is the bearer of the old tradition of liberal education cared for in the General Curriculum of the Division of General Studies—the former leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. The University of Illinois has never been without a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences since it opened on March 2, 1868. The College functions as a service unit for other colleges offering fixed curricula in preparation for medicine, law, journalism, dentistry, and giving basic training in English, foreign languages, science and social science prescribed as all university or special college requirements. In cooperation with the College of Medicine it offers a professional course in occupational therapy leading to a degree in the College of Medicine. Special curricula lead to professional degrees in Chemistry and in Chemical Engineering. Fourteen special curricula lead to Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degrees in the teaching of specific subjects. The college offers these approaches to various professional schools and colleges with the purpose of aiding the student in orienting himself both in his profession and in the increasingly complicated experiences which confound today's college graduate.

It is still the largest of the colleges on campus, not only in the number of students, but also in the size of its faculty. There are approximately 800 members on the faculty and 5,000 students enrolled in the college.

The administration is in the hands of a dean, an associate dean, and three assistant deans. These officers are the intermediaries between the faculty and Provost and President, on the one hand, and between the faculty and the students on the other. The assistant deans give their time almost exclusively to counseling students on scholastic and educational problems.

Robert B. Downs came to the University of Illinois as Director of the Library and Library School in 1943. A native of North Carolina, he has been active in the library profession for the past twenty-five years. His first experience in the field was at the University of North Carolina, where he worked as an assistant while attending the University. After graduation in 1926, he entered Columbia University and received professional library degrees in 1927 and 1929. In the meantime, he was on the staff of the New York Public Library. From 1929 to 1931 Downs was librarian and assistant professor of bibliography at Colby College in Maine. Some years later the College honored him with a Doctor of Literature degree. Returning in 1931 to the University of North Carolina he became assistant librarian and after one year, librarian and professor of library science. While there he took an active interest in library service to undergraduate students.

He started a general college library and encouraged recreational reading by installing a book store in the library building and arranging for weekly talks by authors and critics.

In 1938, Downs was appointed to the Directorship of Libraries at New York University, a new position created to integrate the University's widely distributed libraries. After serving for five years as Director of Libraries for New York University, he came to the University of Illinois in 1943.

Mr. Downs is active in various professional organizations. He is a fellow in the American Library Institute, a member of the American Library Association Council and the Bibliographical Society of America. He was president of the Association of College and Reference Libraries in 1940-41. He is also the author of numerous books and articles, chiefly relating to resources for research and library cooperation.
School ...

In 1893 the first library school in the Middle West was founded following by only six years the earliest library school in America at Columbia University. At the beginning the new school was located in Chicago at the Armour Institute of Technology, but in the summer of 1897 it moved, equipment, faculty, and students, to the University of Illinois in Urbana.

The Library School is one of five in the nation accredited by the American Library Association as Type I and offers education for librarianship on the highest professional level. Admission requirements include the presentation of a bachelor's degree. The school has at its disposal 1,200,000 volumes. With so few training agencies it is not surprising that the Library School finds its students coming from every state and often from foreign countries. That it is a national as well as a regional school is indicated also by the nation-wide distribution of its graduates. Libraries in every state in the Union and in seventeen foreign countries are being operated by Illinois graduates. One hundred nineteen served in the armed forces during the last war, six with the American Red Cross, and at the present time seven are overseas in the Army Library Service.

Besides this widespread geographical distribution the Library School, during the past half-century and more, has exhibited a profound influence upon the growth as well as the character of the profession of librarianship. Three score or more Illini have taught or are now teaching in library schools; at least three are, at present, directors of such schools. Two Illini have held the high post of President of the American Library Association and many more have held lesser or committee posts. Of even greater significance are the nearly two thousand active Illini librarians helping to provide to Americans the kind of library service that is the envy, as well as the model, for the rest of the world.

Seward Charle Staley was born in Sprakers, New York, August 1, 1893. He graduated from Springfield College in 1917. After serving as an officer in the United States Army, he secured his master's degree from Clark University in 1920. Dr. Staley joined the faculty of the University of Illinois in 1922 and has been a member of the Physical Education staff continuously since that time. In 1929, he was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree in Education.

Dr. Staley is the author of several books and magazine articles: Sports Curriculum, Games Contests Relays, Sportsmanship Education, and his Massed Athletics has been translated into Greek and his Individual and Massed Athletics has been translated into Chinese. He has also written for Hygeia magazine and the Journal of Physical Education.

He has made three trips abroad to study physical education and sports, and in the course of these travels visited most of the countries in Europe plus several others in North Africa and Eastern Asia. In 1936, Dr. Staley lead the American delegation to the Sports Student Congress in Berlin. He was made an honorary fellow by the American Physical Education Association in 1938, and was elected to membership in the American Academy of Physical Education in 1944. In addition, he holds membership in most of the national, midwest, State, and local physical education associations and societies. During World War II he served as consultant in physical fitness and recreation with the Army Ground Forces, the Army Air Forces, and the Navy.
The School of Physical Education was established by Board of Trustees action in 1933. At the present time, the School is comprised of two departments: Physical Education for Men and Physical Education for Women.

The School's major function is to offer professional training in the fields of physical education, athletic coaching, health education, safety education, camping, and recreation.

One of the more distinctive features of the School's program in professional training is its work in counseling and guidance. The School has always carried on some work in this field, but with the ending of the war and the resultant increase in enrollment it was very materially expanded. The present program is designed to cover personal, educational, scholastic, and professional problems. The current registration of approximately 460 undergraduate men and women is the largest in the history of the school.

In addition to the professional training work mentioned above, the School conducts a service program in physical education for the general student body. By University regulation, all undergraduate students are required to secure four semester's credit in this subject. During the present year, 2500 men and 1500 women have been enrolled in these courses.

To carry on its work, the School has a variety of facilities. The men's program is carried on in two separate buildings — the George Huff Gymnasium and the Men's Old Gymnasium. The women's program is centered in the Women's Gymnasium but also uses quarters in Bevier Hall.

Over the years the faculty of the School has assumed leadership in initiating and developing several enterprises of national consequence in the field of physical education. The School's most recent effort in this direction has been the creation of a Physical Fitness Laboratory and Clinic. The staff of this unit is engaged in carrying on a broad program of fundamental research in the areas of motor and organic fitness and giving diagnostic fitness tests to both students and faculty members.

Dr. Robert Graham, member of the University of Illinois faculty since 1917, was appointed as the first dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine in December, 1946.

Born in Ames, Iowa, Dean Graham received the doctor of veterinary medicine degree from Iowa State College in 1910 and his bachelor of science degree from the University of Kentucky in 1912. While in Kentucky, he served as veterinarian to the state board of health and as pathologist to the state livestock board. During the first World War, Dean Graham was a captain in the army veterinary corps.

As a scientific writer, he has been chief or contributing author of more than 150 scientific papers pertaining to veterinary medicine, and senior or co-author of more than fifty bulletins and circulars on animal disease.

In 1919, he developed the first antitoxin for botulinous poison in man at the University of Illinois. Colleagues in his field credit Dean Graham with significant and outstanding contributions to the knowledge of more than 13 diseases of domestic animals.

His memberships include the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Public Health Association, Illinois Academy of Science, American Veterinary Medical Association, U.S. Livestock Sanitary Association, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Zeta, Sigma Xi, Phi Zeta, and the Episcopalian church.

Dean Graham and Mrs. Graham have two children. The family home is at 1010 South Busey Avenue.
Veterinary Medicine...

Non-professional courses in veterinary science have been offered to agriculture students at the University of Illinois since 1870, but it was not until June, 1944, that the Department of Animal Pathology and Hygiene became a full-fledged College of Veterinary Medicine.

The new program of veterinary education was activated with an appropriation of $750,000 by the 64th General Assembly in 1945. It was soon discovered, however, that building costs had increased and the appropriation would not cover the costs of constructing the first unit of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Because the state legislature failed to reappropriate building funds before it closed its session in June, 1947, the Board of Trustees of the University approved the purchase of a building at 805 West Pennsylvania Avenue, Urbana, as a graduate and research center until the new college units are constructed. Since September, 1947, the College has been operating in both the old Laboratory of Animal Pathology building and the temporary quarters on West Pennsylvania Avenue.

The objectives of the College of Veterinary Medicine are to aid agriculture in the control of animal diseases and to protect the public health by the suppression and control of animal diseases communicable to man. According to the 1944 federal census, the number of farm animals in Illinois, exclusive of pets, was 35,268,000 with a value of $537,984,000. The research programs and diagnostic service of the College of Veterinary Medicine help to keep farm animals healthy. In 1946, the diagnostic laboratories examined 79,548 specimens sent in by practicing veterinarians and livestock men.

The College of Veterinary Medicine, now organized on a departmental basis with teaching for graduate students, also does research and extension work. When building funds have again been appropriated and the units to house the veterinary college have been constructed, the staff, facilities, and equipment will equal those of the best veterinary colleges in the United States.

Dr. Robert G. Bone, the Director of the Division of Special Services, is a descendant of pioneer Illinois families who settled around Springfield before 1820. He attended the College of Wooster, from which he received an A.B. degree in 1928. During the following three years he instructed in the American College in Alexandria, Egypt; during his last year there he was acting president. After receiving his M.A. in 1932 he spent two years at Lincoln College as Professor of History. Director Bone attended classes at the University of Vienna, University of Freiburgim-Breisgau, the Sorbonne, and Oxford. In 1937 he received his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois. Dr. Bone has been a member of the History Department of this University since 1934.

In 1942, he was granted a leave of absence from the University to join the Army Air Forces. After helping establish some universities in the European Theater of Operations as a member of the staff of the Theater Headquarters Army University Centers Section, he went to the one opened at Shrivenham, England, as Head of the History Department. After this university closed, he was sent to Germany to help supervise the education program there. Upon his return to civilian status in 1946, Dr. Bone returned to the University of Illinois, where he is Associate Professor of History and Director of the Division of General Studies as well as the Director of Division of Special Services.
Special Services ...

The Division of Special Services for War Veterans, which has been established by the faculty and the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois, is the University's answer to the specific question, "What can we do to be of greatest service to veterans who wish to come to the University of Illinois?" It is a pioneering educational venture, breaking traditional educational policies, and allowing for an educational freedom which will best serve the needs of individual students.

The Division offers veterans an opportunity to reorient themselves academically through refresher work, reduced programs, and selection of courses; to move directly toward an educational objective by adding appropriate subjects to previously acquired credit; to attain an educational objective which involves subject matter offered in several colleges. Accordingly the Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing curricula, and can certify such students for the Bachelor of Science degree. In addition, the Division studies the needs of returning veterans and informs the veteran of all the various services of the University. It helps him find a curriculum which will best satisfy his purpose, and processes the records of all veterans receiving aid through the G.I. Bill. This year it has processed records for the 12,000 veterans on the Urbana campus. The enrollment in the Division is over 2,000 for the school year 1947-1948.

One office of the Division, under Assistant Director Frank A. Bridgewater, acts as a clearing house for claims, complaints, personal matters, and the usual problems brought to a dean's office. Another office of the Division, under Assistant Director Edward T. Sanford, handles veterans' claims for subsistence and tuition. Miss Kathryn Maud Gwinn is in charge of a service program for married veterans and their wives. Dr. Janet Smith is the Director of the Nursery School for veterans' children.

Director Kuypers was born in Rotterdam, Holland and came to this country in 1914. He received his high school and college education and most of his musical education in this country. In 1926 he graduated from Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota. Upon graduating from Carleton he joined the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. In 1932 he became Director of Music at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota. There he developed a strong music department as well as the well-known Hamline Choir which under his direction toured extensively throughout the midwest. In 1942 Director Kuypers was invited to come to Cornell University as an acting associate professor to reorganize all the musical organizations. Director Kuypers was made chairman of the Department of Music at Cornell in 1944 and he became a full professor in 1947.

To his work in the School of Music Director Kuypers brings a wide experience in the field of practical music. While he was at Hamline University, Director Kuypers organized and directed the Pro Musica Sinfonietta of St. Paul, an organization composed of fifteen members of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra; during this time he also served as guest conductor of the Minnesota Symphony Orchestra.

At the School of Music Director Kuypers is mainly occupied with administrative duties but he finds time to direct the University Orchestra as well as the University of Illinois Sinfonietta. Director Kuypers is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and many music education groups.
The study of music was first offered in the University of Illinois in 1872-73. Since then it has been taught continuously here. The teaching of music was organized as a department until 1894, being part of the work of one of the undergraduate colleges. In 1894 the courses were reorganized, and Mr. C. W. Foster of Champaign was made director. At this time we began giving certificates of graduation in Music. The following year the work was organized as a School of Music with Walter Howe Jones as Director. Mr. Jones remained at the University until 1901. He was succeeded as Director of the School of Music by Professor Fredric Lawrence in 1903 who remained until 1910. Following Professor Lawrence came Professor Charles Henry Mills, and his successor was Professor John Lawrence Erb who joined the staff in 1914 and resigned in 1921. Frederic Benjamin Stiven was made Director of the School of Music beginning in the fall of 1921, and he served until his death in January of 1947. Director Stiven's induction in 1921 coincided with the dedication of the Smith Music Building, and the greatly increased physical facilities helped very much to stimulate growth and development of the School of Music. During Mr. Stiven's tenure the School of Music became a part of the College of Fine and Applied Arts in the fall of 1931, and graduate work in Music was offered for the first time in 1939. John Marinus Kuypers was made Director of the School and Duane A. Branigan Assistant Director in the fall of 1947. The School of Music now embraces 225 full time undergraduate students and about forty graduate students in addition to several hundred part-time students who come in from other colleges. The present faculty numbers forty-five including the Walden String Quartet whose members are members of the faculty as well as artists in residence.

Robert Bell Browne has been in charge of the Division of University Extension since its establishment in 1933 and has had charge of the Summer Session since 1938. He was born in Oshkosh, Wisconsin on July 15, 1894. He attended the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, and he was graduated with the Bachelor’s Degree in Education. He then entered the University of Illinois where he earned a Bachelor’s Degree in Science, a Master of Science, and a Doctor of Philosophy. After gaining experience in teaching in both the public and private schools, he joined the faculty of the University in the fall of 1929. He has been teaching continuously since he was 19 years of age, with the exception of two years of additional college attendance and a year in the United States Army. He is now Professor of Education and the Dean of the University Extension and of the Summer Session.

Robert Browne’s University Extension curricula was geared completely to war-time needs providing courses for thousands of Illini-by-proxy, scattered throughout the world in cooperation with the Armed Forces Institute. Not only servicemen and women were benefited but also the hundreds of those employed in Illinois war industries under the Engineering Service Management War Training Program. He has been active in many professional and civic organizations and has held elective offices in many of them. He comes from an Illini family, with his wife, two sons, two brothers, and a sister, all graduates of the University of Illinois.
The Division of the University Extension is the agency of the University of Illinois for extending the educational resources of the University, other than those provided by the Agricultural Extension Service, to those whose circumstances prevent study in residence. This is done by a great variety of means. These means include not only systematic courses, both for credit and without credit, conducted in various parts of the State, but also by University courses that are taught by correspondence, with students enrolled from countries all over the world. This is accomplished by means of short courses, various types of conferences, institutes, series of lectures, exhibits and other audio-visual aids, clinics, and reading lists. The total number of persons enrolling in the systematic educational programs exceeds more than ten thousand a year. The Division has an Audio-Visual Aids Service which contains a library of many motion films and other aids to classroom instructions, not only for use in the University’s own classes, but also for loan to the other schools of the State. During the past year, an extension program in music, begun by the Division of the University Extension, proved very successful.

The University of Illinois has conducted a Summer Session for fifty years. Its policy has been to provide an opportunity for further studying during the summer by those of our own student body who wish to advance more rapidly toward the completion of the requirements for degrees and also for teachers and librarians and other individuals who find themselves only at liberty to attend college during the summer period. The 1947 Summer Session, which was conducted at the University at Urbana, on the campus of the Chicago professional colleges, and at the undergraduate divisions at Galesburg and Chicago, enrolled the astounding total of 10,854 students. All 48 of the states and also 29 foreign countries were represented in the student body of the summer session.

The scant number of officers for the Junior Class of 1947-48 was due to the disqualification of the elected president who was lacking in junior credit hours. The vice-president and secretary-treasurer were unopposed so there was no open election, but they were approved to their positions by a vote of the Student Affairs Committee. In addition to the two officers there were six senators representing the junior class in the student senate.

The highlight of the winter social season came on January 17 when the annual Junior Prom was presented by the Class of 1949. The general chairman for the dance was chosen by the two class officers, and those three chose the sub-chairman from class members who submitted petitions.

Surrounded by the romantic atmosphere of a Mardi Gras theme, the rhythmic music of Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra succeeded in setting the pace for a successful evening. One of the highlights of the evening came when the confetti and balloons floated down over the dancing couples in Huff Gym.

The crowning of the Junior Prom Queen came as a climax to the evening's events. Each organized house entered contestants for this honor, and by an interviewing committee composed of faculty and junior class members, the five beauties of the royal court were chosen. On the night of the Prom the dancers cast their ballots, and Miss Abbie Olson was crowned Queen of the Junior Prom and Miss Barbara Seaquist maid-of-honor.

The Sophomore class had its annual Sophomore Cotillion on Friday evening, February 27, from nine to one in Huff Gymnasium. The student body enjoyed its first two o’clock night of the year. The dance was formal, with Hal McNulty supplying the music. The theme was built around “Cinderella” with a fairy-tale atmosphere carried throughout the decorations.

The committee for the Sophomore Cotillion was appointed early during the first semester so that plans could get under way early to make the night a big success. Richard Harvey was general chairman, and working with him were nine sophomores who had petitioned for committee positions.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the “Queen” and presentation of the “Queen’s Court,” an event which will be hilariously remembered by those who attended the dance.

Besides presenting the Sophomore Cotillion, the class elected two members to serve on the Student Senate along with the class president.
March twentieth was the date of the Freshman Frolic, a traditional and memorable occasion. The sellout marked "success" to one of the most important events of the year to the freshman class. Silhouetted by a colorful backdrop, Bill Shelton's orchestra gave out with music which soothed the freshmen into an evening of carefree dancing in the Illini Union Ballroom.

Spotlighting the entertainment of this traditionally informal dance, was a program presented by the committee members. Delmer Murphy, chairman of the council, was the master of ceremonies for the program.

The success of the Freshman Council, as governing body of the freshman class, in launching a program of aiding Illini freshmen has gained for it new importance. The genuine interest displayed in problems pertaining to freshmen and their record achievements set a high mark for the successors.
The Scholastic Honoraries...
The purpose of this organization shall be to give highest honor and recognition to scholastic achievement at the University of Illinois.

Election to Bronze Tablet is the highest scholastic honor that is awarded to seniors at the University of Illinois. In order to receive this distinction, seniors must have fulfilled the following qualifications:

Those seniors who have been in the upper three per cent of their class in the respective Schools and Colleges in the four semesters preceding Honors Day, and, therefore, have been awarded College Honors in both junior and senior years, are awarded University Honors in recognition of their sustained excellence in scholarship, and entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet.

Other senior students who have earned College Honors twice, and whose scholastic averages for the first seven semesters are equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently chosen for University Honors from their college under the preceding qualifications, are also entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet.

Senior transfer students who have not been at Illinois long enough to be considered under the two above classifications are also entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet, provided that: (1) their scholastic averages in the University of Illinois for the three prior semesters are equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently chosen for University Honors from their College; and that (2) their averages in transferred credits for the year prior to their transfer are at least equal to the average of those already chosen for University Honors.

Gargoyle, national scholastic honorary society of architects, was founded at Cornell University in 1902. On the Illinois campus a local honorary named Psi Mu, founded in the spring of 1914, became the Beta chapter of Gargoyle on January 4, 1917. The organization now has four active chapters.

Members are elected on the basis of scholarship, personality, and character, with emphasis placed on the students' scholastic average which must be in the upper third in academic standing. Awards are presented annually to undergraduate students for outstanding work in architectural design and architectural engineering. The society provides an impetus for high standards of work in the School of Architecture. Honorary members may be elected from members in the college and University faculty and from those who won special distinction in the field of architecture and allied fields.

The purpose of the society shall be to advance architectural and allied interests; and to promote a spirit of good fellowship among its members.

Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary fraternity for freshmen men, was founded at the University of Illinois in order to encourage and honor high scholarship among the freshmen men. Since its founding in 1923 by Dean Thomas Arkle Clarke, chapters have been installed all over the country. At the present time 36 chapters have charters in leading colleges and universities.

All freshmen men who achieve a 4.5 average during their first semester in the University, or by the end of their first year, are eligible for membership.

The activities of Phi Eta Sigma include a smoker given at the end of the eight weeks period for all freshmen men who make an average of 4.0 or better, two installations, the first in early winter and the second in early spring, and an initiation banquet at the end of each semester for new members, at which time an outstanding personality from the campus speaks to the new initiates.
The purpose of this organization shall be to promote intelligent living and a high standard of learning, and to encourage superior scholastic attainment among the freshmen women in our institutions of higher learning.

Phi Beta Kappa...

The purpose of this organization shall be to promote scholarship and friendship among students and graduates of American Colleges.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at William and Mary College in the year 1776. Oldest among the fraternities, it now has one hundred and forty-one active chapters. Its aim is to promote scholarship and friendship among students and graduates in American colleges. Only upperclassmen of highest scholastic standing are asked to become members.

The purpose of this organization shall be to recognize and encourage outstanding scholarship in schools of journalism.

Kappa Tau Alpha was founded at the University of Missouri in 1910 as an honor society to recognize and encourage outstanding scholarship in schools of journalism. The University of Illinois chapter, activated in 1925, is one of eighteen presently active. Each year, students whose scholarship falls within the upper ten percent of the junior-senior student body in the School of Journalism are considered for membership in the local chapter. New pledges are selected following tabulation of first semester grades each year and initiation of new members is customarily held in April. Plaques, hanging in the School of Journalism library, list the names of 235 students who have been initiated into the local chapter since its inception. During the same period, 21 faculty members of the School of Journalism were pledged to the fraternity.

The Chicago Campus...
The school year 1947-48 has been one of achievement at the Chicago Professional Colleges. The Undergraduate Student enrollment numbered 1,381, the highest total since 1931.

In addition, many others received instruction through post-graduate and extension courses, and specialized training on the campus. “The Miracle of Growth,” a dramatic exhibit of growth and development of the individual from conception through adulthood, was unveiled for the education of the general public at the Museum of Science and Industry.

Once again, research contributions by the faculty were notable, and plans were formulated to expand such studies. Ground was broken for the erection of a laboratory for the study of physical environment in health and diseases, and blueprints were drawn for the construction of an Institution for Tuberculosis Research.

Through these efforts and others, the Chicago Professional Colleges and Divisions is determined to expand further its services in the future to the entire population of the state.
Now in its sixth year of operation, the Union is proving its worth more and more to the students, faculty and staff on the Chicago Professional Campus.

With the speed-up provided by Food Service, we were able to take care of 400 more people a day for noon meals. The Game Room has become a combination recreation room and eating room for those who bring their lunches and is filled to capacity every day.

There is rarely an evening when the Union is not used for many scheduled meetings. Facilities are used to capacity with many organizations being turned down for lack of space and equipment.

The student activities, planned by the three Student Committees, Display, Music and Social, have been overwhelmingly popular. Dances planned for the entire campus are limited to prevent overcrowding. Coffee Hours have grown spontaneously to the point where no one wants to miss them.

What few leisure hours people have around here seem to be spent more and more in our Union at either planned functions or just to have a coke or a cup of coffee.

The Illini Scope is the Student Journal of the University of Illinois Professional Colleges of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy located in Chicago. Published every month for the purpose of the colleges' faculty and alumni, the Illini Scope contains original articles by students, faculty and outstanding scientists pertaining to advancements in the field of medicine, in the field of dentistry, and in the field of pharmacy. The magazine also contains articles on current problems which have to do with the educational, the social, and the economic aspects of the three professions.

With the Fall term of 1947 the College of Dentistry instituted a four year curriculum that marked a departure from that previously offered by this and all other schools. The former course of training had witnessed the crowding of all medical science courses into the first two years with the last two years devoted almost exclusively to clinical subjects and practice. This rearrangement will insure better motivation and more thorough training.

The past year has been marked by a great increase in postgraduate and graduate activity. In addition to the twelve week refresher course which had been laid out specifically for veteran dental officers, courses of shorter and longer duration have been offered. Several evening lecture series for practicing dentists have been instituted and have been oversubscribed to the extent that they have had to be repeated. In a similar way the demand for full year postgraduate training has risen until all facilities are overtaxed.

Delta Sigma Delta was founded on November 15, 1882 at the University of Michigan. This professional fraternity was the first Greek letter society to restrict its membership to students in dental school or practitioners of dentistry. The fraternity’s objective is to keep the high standards of dentistry by inculcating in the minds of dental students and practitioners a spirit of fraternal co-operation toward scientific, ethical and professional progress.

Rho chapter, which is located in Chicago, was established in 1892. It is one of thirty-one active chapters. Although Delta Sigma Delta is a professional fraternity, its members also participate in social activities. Highlights on the “Delts” social calendar are the annual “Hobo” dance and the Senior Farewell dinner-dance. They also hold frequent house parties and co-operate with the Union in various social functions.
Psi Omega was founded at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1892. Active chapters are now located in all the various dental colleges throughout the United States, active alumni chapters in all the prominent cities, and a number of chapters located throughout Canada and Western Europe. The object of the fraternity is to cultivate the social qualities of its members, giving assistance, advice and advantages out of individual reach, keeping in touch with its members through an international journal, and exerting its influence toward the advancement of the dental profession. Highlights in the social calendar are: rushing, pledging, initiation, tri-chapter and Senior farewell dances, numerous house parties, faculty luncheons, and smokers.
The College of Medicine, the largest medical school in the United States, is rapidly becoming known the country over for its exceptionally fine laboratory equipment and unusual clinical facilities. Originally a privately owned institution founded in 1881, it affiliated with the University of Illinois in 1897, and with the Colleges of Dentistry and Pharmacy became an organic part of the University in 1913. The fact that these three Colleges, all teaching the medical sciences, are now housed under the same roof makes exceptionally fine opportunities for each College. The added fact that the University now owns and operates its own hospitals, and also has affiliation with Cook County Hospital and Presbyterian Hospital all located within one and one-half blocks of the central building has greatly increased the effectiveness of the clinical instruction.

The unusual combination of favorable factors leads to the agreement that the Colleges comprising the Chicago Professional Campus have an exceedingly bright future.

Alpha Kappa Kappa was founded over half a century ago based on the broad principles of “Social intercourse, mental development, and mutual assistance.” On the Professional Schools campus the fraternity has always occupied a position of leadership and responsibility, having over fifty faculty Alumni, including Dr. A. C. Ivy, and embodying over eighty active members at present. The spirit of cooperation within the group has fostered excellence in all fields of endeavor: athletics, extracurricular activities, and especially scholarship. During the year outstanding physicians conduct discussions at the chapter house, and in this vein, two years ago Eta endowed the Henry E. Irish Memorial Lecture at the medical school.
Phi Beta Pi was founded at the University of Pittsburgh on March 10, 1891, which ranks it with the oldest of the medical fraternities. At present there are 42 active chapters, all of them being located at Class A medical schools and being represented at all the important medical centers in the country. Iota Chapter was established at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in March, 1902. Established on the basic principles of companionship, friendship, and scholastic ability, the active chapter has achieved an enviable record. Believing that scholarship is the primary interest of every medical student, Phi Beta Pi has achieved distinction in the field. Many aids to the study of medicine have been provided at the Chapter House, including an adequate library, human skeleton, and an histological slide projector and screen.
Phi Delta Epsilon...

Phi Delta Epsilon was founded at Cornell University medical school in 1904. The fraternity was established to encourage the highest standards of achievement in the science and art of medicine, and to maintain the highest standard of ethics in the practice of medicine. The Alpha Alpha chapter at the University of Illinois was established in 1907. Today it is one of the largest chapters in the country. It boasts a substantial representation in Alpha Omega Alpha, and is a constant threat in all interfraternity competition. It promotes good fellowship, equality, and unity.
Phi Rho Sigma is a strong national medical fraternity, founded in 1890, with chapters at the best medical schools from coast to coast. Beta Gamma chapter has the heritage of two fine medical schools, Rush and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, where it was active even before the latter school was adopted by the university. The Illinois chapter, supported by an active alumni association, is a selected, well integrated, and democratic group prominent in all professional, social, and athletic activities. In addition, the members enjoy an organized program of discussions with prominent alumni, private dances, academic assistance for the married freshman, and a congenial atmosphere that contributes significantly to a successful career.
Ever since its founding in 1882 by Will Mayo and several classmates, and its Illinois installation in 1892, Nu Sigma Nu has maintained its record as a strong contributor toward the academic and social goals of its members. At the University of Illinois medical school Nu Sigs are proud of their high overall scholastic rating and large representation in the scholastic honorary AOA, of the sponsorship of social events like the Nu Sig Pheasant Dinner and the Tri-Chapter Dance, of campus sports trophies in golf and tennis, and particularly proud of having at all times a smoothly running house.

The Occupational Therapy Seniors...
The College of Pharmacy is trying to accommodate all of its applicants. Practitioners of the profession of Pharmacy play a very important role in the conduct of any public service. The pharmacist performs many duties of which the average lay individual is totally unaware. His services are not particularly spectacular in character, yet it is appropriate to state that a considerable number of the scientific advances made in the treatment of disease are due in large part to the ingenuity, skill, and integrity of the pharmacist who operates the corner drug store. He is, of course, supported in this endeavor by the research of his colleagues in the biological and chemical sciences. Still, these important discoveries would be of little consequence, were it not for the hand of the pharmacist, which extends across the counter to the patient, the remedial agent which he needs to relieve his suffering. Such products are manufactured, standardized, and distributed only by pharmacists.

Chi chapter of the Kappa Psi National Pharmaceutical Fraternity is united with the many chapters of Kappa Psi to raise standards, ideals and prestige in the pharmacy profession. Kappa Psi is ever increasing its efforts to promote scholarship, professionalism, and brotherhood among its members, which is the prime object of this organization. Chi chapter is united to further in every way possible the mutual advantages of its members socially, morally, and intellectually; and to foster pharmaceutical research and high scholarship. This fraternity, which brings together persons of good character and sound mental health, helps to make the bond among the pharmacists stronger, with the knowledge that they are members and brothers in Kappa Psi.

The Galesburg Campus
Dr. C. M. Louttit, formerly dean of the faculty at Sampson college, one of the Associated Colleges of Upper New York, became dean of the University of Illinois Galesburg Division on September 1, 1947.

The 45-year-old Dr. Louttit was born in Buffalo, New York. He attended Syracuse university and Hobart college, where he obtained a bachelor of science degree in 1925. After summer attendance at the New York School for Social Work, he received a doctor of philosophy degree from Yale university in 1928.

Dr. Louttit was an instructor at the University of Hawaii from 1928 to 1930 and at Ohio university during 1930 and 1931. He was named director of the psychology clinic at the University of Indiana in 1931 and remained there until 1940.

Dr. Louttit is the editor of "Psychological Abstracts," publication of the American Psychological Association. The monthly journal lists and describes current periodicals in the fields of psychology and psychiatry.
The Navy Pier Campus...
The Chicago Undergraduate Division

The Chicago Undergraduate Division of the University of Illinois is now in its second school year with a record of providing educational opportunities for thousands of Chicago-area students. The Navy Pier campus now accommodates more than 4,600 freshmen and sophomores.

The academic program has been developed to offer a total of 159 different courses in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the College of Commerce and Business Administration, the College of Engineering, and the Architecture and the Architectural Engineering curricula in the College of Fine and Applied Arts. Courses of instruction are identical with those available in similar fields of undergraduate work on the Urbana campus.

Excellent classroom and laboratory equipment is provided, as well as library, study, food service and recreational facilities. Student extracurricular activities, recognized as an important part of the college program, offer opportunities for vocational, social and cultural development.

1948 has witnessed one of the busiest years in the history of the Illio. Under the capable supervision of George Platt, Editor, and Gloria Gould, Assistant Editor, the Illio workers of the Editorial Staff have followed a course of cooperation and unexcelled workmanship.

Anyone walking into the Illio office would be greeted by the clatter of typewriters, the ringing of phones, and the buzzing of conversation. Going from desk to desk we see our Junior Editors arranging layouts and keeping the Sophomores and Freshmen busily working.

The various sections of the book are divided among the nine Junior Editors. Judith Flesch and Barbara Seaquist are in charge of the organization section, Lee Gardner and Bette Sanson supervise the student administration section, John Westenhaver and Edith Wells are in charge of the university section, Mary Lou Solomon and Jane Kurrus supervise the activities section, and Jack McKinzie is in charge of sports.

The job of the Editorial Staff has been a long and hard one, but the results have been rewarding. Cooperation among the staff members has produced a fine yearbook.

Under the capable direction of William Newby, Business Manager, and Lila Jones, Assistant Business Manager, the financial details of producing the 1948 Illio were directed. Four departments constitute the framework of this division.

In charge of sales are Adeline De Biasio and Mary Lou Walling. They publicize sales as well as announce subscription meetings for the distribution of subscription books.

Phyllis Skiles, Mary Alice Bartsch, and Robert Nelson are juniors heading the financial department. They receive cash, make deposits, and edit financial reports.

Robert Clapp manages advertising. This department solicits advertising and completes all advertising contracts.

In charge of the freshman business staff of sixty members and the sophomore staff of forty members is Marda Spielberger. The underclassmen sell subscriptions and perform general office tasks. Miss Spielberger is in charge of their attendance and lists delinquent office hours.

Third row: Jane Bowen, Helen Collier, June Branding, Peggy Pool, Patricia Frison, Alana Greenberg, Joyce Drew, Joan Germano, Rosemary Morganet, Barbara McKnight.

During its seventy-seventh year of production, The Daily Illini is directed by William Naney, editor, and Grover Hoff, associate editor. Emphasizing the importance of campus and local news, the editors divided the student personnel into four staffs: North Campus, South Campus, Administration, and City. The various staffs are under the direct supervision of assistant editors Beecher Zachary, Ann Rees, Marilyn Unmacht, and William Peeples. Carol Schulman, the fifth assistant editor, supervises the rewrite department and the handling of press releases sent directly to the editorial office. An extensive training program for new personnel was conducted by the editors and a secondary training system was established for more advanced personnel. At the end of the first semester a number of sophomores and several freshmen were rewarded with responsible positions.
Alfred Coury serves as Business Manager, coordinating the functions of the Business Staff, which includes display, classified, and national advertising; circulation; copy; credit; statistics; and office departments.

To help Coury keep the department running smoothly at all times are six Assistant Business Managers: Loren Aufdenkamp, Virginia Bernard, Victor Day, Dick Halpern, Marilyn James, and Margaret Secondino. The seniors are assisted by an able junior staff and the freshman and sophomore business staffs.

The Daily Illini completed its most successful year in a decade in 1948, with the largest circulation in the history of the paper. In addition, The Illini has secured an increased volume of display and classified advertising. The larger amount of business obtained by the advertising and circulation staffs caused an increasing tempo of activity in the other departments of the Business Staff. The Illini in 1948 has been seen by more students than in past years. The business staff worked hard and was rewarded by a successful year.
Athletic events were ably covered by the Daily Illini sports staff. The high enrollment at the University brought record turnouts for all athletic activities and boosted Intramural participation to an all-time high.

An overflow of candidates for football this year caused the creation of a 150-pound team, in addition to the junior-varsity team, which has completed its second season. For the first time since 1942 Freshman teams are participating in all sports events.

Heading the staff which bring you stories of the sports activities is Robert Doherty, sports editor. Assistant editors are William Broom and Sander Postol.

The Daily Illini sports pages were cited for their top IM coverage at the Big Nine athletic officials' meeting in Chicago in December. They are doing a fine job of bringing the sports news to the University.

The Illinois Agriculturist, a student publication, is now in its fifty-second year of continuous publication. The magazine is published six times yearly by the students of the college of agriculture. It covers the events and features of interest of both agriculture and home economics students, and also new developments in the field which are made at the University. It aims to inform students in scientific agricultural achievements and reports current activities on the Ag Campus.

The business staff, which sells subscriptions and circulates the finished product, is headed this year by Arthur Howard. The editorial staff is directed by Miriam Wrigley, who is the woman's editor, Karl Kern, who is the editor. Members of this board are Ogle Sears, chairman, Roy Wilcox, Arthur Colby, Chris Rhode, and Miss Jesse Heathman.
For many years the student writers on the University of Illinois campus have felt the need of a local undergraduate publication in which they could reach an enthusiastic audience. In the spring of '47 a small group of interested people organized and initiated the Tempo magazine. Despite the lateness of the fall semester, the dearth of new manuscripts, and the technical problems of publication the second issue appeared in mid-winter. At this time Tempo attained new prominence and fulfilled the promise of the previous issue. It is hoped that with the support of an enthusiastic student body and the cooperation of an interested faculty, Tempo will grow to such an extent that in years to come it will take a place of ever increasing importance among creative campus activities.
The Illinois Technograph first appeared at the University in 1885 as a quarterly publication. Since 1930, it has been published each month of the school year.

At the annual convention of the Engineering College Magazines Association, held on October 17-18 at the University of Michigan, the Technograph received three awards and five honorable mentions. First prize for best local news, second prize for the best editorials, and third prize for the best all-round magazine definitely established last year's issues as better than those of previous years. This year's staff is trying to further improve the magazine's quality and has started branch staffs at Navy Pier and Galesburg.
The Illini Publishing Company is an organization which is chartered under the laws of the state of Illinois for the purpose of printing and distributing all student publications. Under the direction of Donald Hoebel, company business manager and student advisor, and Professor Cecil Moyer, chairman of the board of control, the company provides the best printing service available at the minimum cost.

The company has under its supervision the various university student publications: The Illio, yearbook; The Daily Illini, newspaper; The Agriculturist, magazine published by the students in the College of Agriculture; and The Technograph, magazine published by the students in the College of Engineering.

Eight directors control the company’s affairs. Four of these are students, elected by the student body. The other four, chosen by the president of the university, are faculty members.

This first of a series of Ag campus events is sponsored by the Agriculture and Home Economics clubs. This year's event was held on Friday, October 17, 1947, with more than 400 students enjoying themselves for eight hours of fun-packed activity.

The daylight hours were spent in sports events; the twilight hours were spent in eating the box lunches and then group singing around the camp-fire; and the balance of the evening was consumed by a rollicking student participation program in the Stock Pavilion with dancing until midnight.

Champions were declared in many events, including a co-ed milking queen and a pie eating king. Also there was a rolling pin contest, greased pig contest, and bottle baby pairs. The men defeated the women softball players in spite of the handicap of left-handed batting.

The Plow Boy Prom...

The Plow Boy Prom, held this year on April 12, 1947, is the informal dance of the school year. Plaid shirts, cotton dresses, vegetable corsages, and box lunches blended into the rural atmosphere. Ruth Jacques was crowned queen of the Plow Boy Prom with a vegetable crown.

Del Courtney and his orchestra, also dressed in Plow Boy costumes, rendered an evening of very danceable music.

The Prom is sponsored jointly by the Agriculture and the Home Economics Clubs.

...The Registration Dance

Against a backdrop of the Illini Union chime steeple, complete with weathervane, Gay Claridge’s orchestra, sparked an evening full of entertainment and enjoyment at the October ‘47 Registration Dance.

The latest fall fashions turned the dance into a University style show, and couples spent much time discussing the styles and lengths of women’s dresses.

The hit of the evening was the amateur baton wielding contest, and several students turned in commendable jobs as “leaders of the moment.”
The annual Military Ball was held February 22, 1947, at Huff gym. The dance was given primarily for the members of the N.R.O.T.C. and R.O.T.C.

Following the grand march, Miss Shirley Nay, the sponsor of Pershing Rifles, was presented with a crown of red roses as queen of the Ball by Colonel H. A. Buckley, commandant, University R.O.T.C. brigade.

Bud Roderick and his orchestra featured slow, danceable music.
The Stage and Concert...
During the 1947-1948 season, the Illini Theatre Guild presented to the University of Illinois the most extensive theatrical program ever witnessed. Continuing as Supervising Director of Dramatic Productions is Professor Wesley Swanson. Professor Charles Shattuck is Associate Director of the Guild. Mr. Jay Allen is in charge of musical productions. Mr. Joseph Scott is Technical Director for scenery, properties, and lighting. Miss Lucilla Hall is Director of the Laboratory Theatre. Miss Genevieve Richardson is Technical Director for costumes and make-up, and Mr. Henry Mamet is the Director of Public Relations.
Supervision and organization of the Illini Theatre Guild is divided among thirteen managers. This year Frank Pacelli, Suzanne Love, Fred Voelpel, Joyce Hull, Fred McCahy, Jack Pihl, Malvina Bartosiewicz, Nancy Radeke, Stanley Louis, Margaret Kramer, Donna Selleg, Carolyn Linnard, and Mary Shelton hold key positions. Eighteen associate managers rotate as chairmen in business and production, aided by the assistant managers.

The guild worked with unusual theatre techniques this year. Experimentation in the use of various levels in stage areas of the Globe Theatre was done by cast and crews of the Shakespearian drama.

The A Cappella Choir, of about forty voices, was first organized last year, under the direction of Professor Jay Allen. The choir draws its membership from students in all departments of the University.

During each of its two years of organization, the Choir has presented a short group of carols and anthems before the annual Christmas presentation of the "Messiah" by the University Choir.

In the spring the group presented an afternoon concert of varied music and also the Choir has sung for various functions and organizations off the campus.
The Men's Glee Club...

The Men's Glee Club occupies a respected position on the Illinois campus by virtue of its fine programs. Early in the fall semester the Glee Club sang at the Salem Centennial Celebration in Harrisburg. At the request of Governor Dwight Green, they later appeared at the National Air Clinic's banquet. In other trips, the singers went to Robinson, Illinois; St. Louis, Missouri; and the University's Galesburg division. Home performances of the club were made on Lincoln's Day, Founders' Day, and weekly WILL broadcasts. The annual Spring Concert, which was presented May 14, climaxd a highly successful season.
The University Chorus is one of the oldest musical organizations on the campus. For more than a quarter of a century it has presented concerts. Outstanding among its programs is the annual presentation at Christmas time of Handel’s “Messiah.” In the spring concerts, it has presented oratorios and cantatas of Bach, Franck, Mendelssohn, St. Saens, Liszt, and other masters.

The chorus, whose large membership is composed of students, faculty, and townpeople, is directed by Professor Russell Miles. All those who are interested in joining the University Chorus are invited to try out.
The University Bands comprise three separate units, the Concert, First Regimental and, Second Regimental Bands. The First Regimental Band is the nucleus of the world famous Illini Football Band, both of which are under the direction of Mark H. Hindsley. Resplendent in new uniforms the band last fall journeyed to New York with the team to make its initial performance of the year in Yankee Stadium, and later in the season entertained at all home games. Besides these activities, the First Regimental Band assists the Concert Band in the annual Band clinic, the twilight concerts, and broadcasts.
The Marching Band
The University of Illinois Concert Band, called by John Philip Sousa, the world's greatest college band, has again this year brought new standards of excellence to the field of symphonic band performance. It is in the presentation to the public of the finest in symphonic literature and, more particularly, the transcriptions of its director, Dr. A. A. Harding, that the Concert Band makes its greatest contribution to campus activities. These works are presented on the anniversary concert, the twilight concerts, the annual Band Clinic, and over Station WILL.

Star Course offers to both students and faculty, entertainment by the foremost concert musicians of the day. This organization is sponsored and controlled by the University Concert and Entertainment Board, whose members have the responsibility of making final decisions about the selection of artists as well as the appointment of staff members.

All University musical entertainment for which admission is charged is under the supervision of this board.

Marty Holmes and Bill Wright, the two senior managers, worked closely with the board while capably serving in the capacity of co-directors of the entire Star Course staff.
At the close of their sophomore year seven students were selected by the University Concert and Entertainment Board to serve as Junior Managers on the Star Course staff of 1947-48. Under the supervision of the senior managers these juniors handle all of the Star Course activities. Their duties include keeping Star Course accounts, making arrangements for publicity, supervising ticket sales by sophomores, maintaining routine correspondence, and entertaining artists.

Fran Wacaser, the senior usher manager, has the important job of assigning and supervising ushers for all Star Course performances.
The sophomore managers of Star Course are chosen by both the senior managers and the University Concert and Entertainment Board on the basis of their interest in Star Course, their freshman activities, and their scholarship. All sophomores do such office work as filing and typing in addition to the selling of concert tickets and ushering for all Star Course performances. In this way the sophomores have the privileges of concert attendance and the opportunity to personally meet the artists backstage.
On December 2 and 3, the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of the distinguished conductor, Fabien Sevitsky, who came to the United States in 1923, was originally a member of the Philadelphia Orchestra and later began to build a reputation as a conductor. Soon his great ability was noticed, and in 1936, he was engaged as the permanent director of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. On April 26, Vladimir Horowitz, forty-three year old Russian composer and virtuoso pianist made his second Star Course appearance. Mr. Horowitz made his first appearance at Star Course eighteen years ago — two years after his American debut. At this time, he was heralded as one of the most successful and most promising concert artists to appear before the American public. Today, he is the world’s greatest concert pianist and leaves his audience electrified and thrilled by the magic he imparts to the keyboard.

Duke Ellington
Dame Myra Hess, an English pianist, made her Star Course appearance on January 27 and 28. Since her New York debut in 1922, she has made concert tours in America each year, with the exception of the war years. In 1945 she was made Dame Commander of the British Empire of George VI, the highest honor she could receive in her native country. Under the direction of Artur Rodzinski, the Chicago Symphony appeared here March 30 and 31. This was Rodzinski’s first season as director and conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Rodzinski graduated with a Doctor of Law degree from the University of Vienna, but soon abandoned law for music. Leopold Stokowski heard him in Warsaw and invited him to this country, where he worked as assistant to Stokowski in Philadelphia. Previous to his acceptance of his present post, he served as conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.
University Women...
In this, our sixty-fourth year on the Illinois Campus, women students of all races and creeds with faculty and alumnae, enjoyed a meaningful year in the Young Women's Christian Association. They combined their efforts to maintain the high standards and ideals of the association and to achieve its purpose — “Full and creative life” — for all students.

The Cozy provided an opportunity for the membership to come together every Friday afternoon. Another field of activity was expressed by a new music and dramatics department. In cooperation with the Y.M.C.A. a graduate program has been expanded and a fall symposium series was launched. Programs with students of other lands have been tried to provide a real welcome and acquaint these students with family life in the community. Finally, our regular concern to help all Freshmen women to become integrated into campus life has been enhanced through a “big and little sister” program involving all Freshmen women, whether they are members of the Y.W.C.A. or not.

Any woman student may become a member of the Young Women’s Christian Association.
Keep your eyes on the ball! — watch your form! These are familiar coaching phrases heard throughout the year by members of the Women's Athletic Association. This organization, open to every woman on the campus, has a well-rounded recreational program for women interested in active sports as well as for those who like co-recreational activities. It is not necessary to be proficient in any sport to join W.A.A. activities. This organization gives the women students an opportunity to acquire skill in different athletics.

The school year is divided into four sport seasons. Among the sports offered are hockey, soccer, basketball, badminton, volleyball, table tennis, tennis, fencing, archery, golf, bowling, softball, and an annual swimming meet.

The various sports are managed by students who have completed one or more sport seasons. Faculty members of the Women's Physical Education Department come to the practices to coach and to stress the value of good sportsmanship.

The highest women's athletic award is the Block "I" given to those who have successfully completed ten sport seasons. Orange class numerals are awarded for completing six sport seasons.

The Women's Athletic Association is the sponsor of Terrapin and Orchesis, honorary swimming and modern dancing groups, respectively. It also sponsors Alpha Sigma Nu, a Physical Education honorary society.

W.A.A. activities encourage good sportsmanship, future leadership, keen competition, and physical well-being.
Orchesis comes from the Greek, meaning "to dance." Thirty-four girls and two faculty sponsors, Mrs. Margaret Mains and Mrs. Jane Harper, constitute the membership of the University of Illinois Orchesis.

All members are selected by try-outs which are given at the beginning of each semester. The purpose of the group is to offer the opportunity for advanced technique, composition, and performance.

This year, the group sponsored a dance symposium at which students from six midwestern universities participated.
Terrapin...

The annual water show given Mother's Day Weekend climaxed a full and eventful year of Terrapin activities. More than fifty girls participated in the show, which was outstanding in both individual and group skill.

Membership in Terrapin is attained through passing tests, which are held twice a year. The "Guppies," an affiliate club sponsored by Terrapin, is to increase the skill of those girls who failed to meet Terrapin standards.

The Illini Union is the community center for the University and as such concerns itself with the whole area of student life and interests outside of the classroom. It provides a place and means for meeting friends, for lounging and smoking, for reading books, periodicals and newspapers, for dining and refreshments, for dating and dancing, for bowling and billiards and many other facilities and activities providing opportunities for the students to work and play together and make profitable use of their leisure time.

The Union is a busy place: over 15,000 individuals enter the building, approximately 8,500 meals are served, over 1,750 visit the Main Desk for newspapers, cigarettes, candy and cigars.

The Illini Union also operates a cooperative bookstore for the benefit of the students and faculty of the University. All students who purchase their books and supplies from this store participate in a dividend distribution at the end of the year which is based on the net profits of the store.

In an effort to ease the large demand for food service facilities resulting from the increased enrollment, the Illini Union has opened the Coffee House on the south campus. This is a temporary facility which was moved to the University from a nearby Army base. The Coffee House provides regular meals and soda fountain facilities for approximately 5,000 persons per day.

...The Y.M.C.A...

The University of Illinois Young Men’s Christian Association this year celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary. Founded February 3, 1873, the organization has always been a fellowship of students and faculty. Its pioneering spirit led to the initiating of freshman camps and fellowship groups, work with foreign students, fireside forums in men’s houses faculty forums, the “I” book, and student housing and employment services. In 1946 the “Y” employed a woman member of its staff to give leadership in the area of preparation for marriage and family life, and it inaugurated its week-end recreation room for YM-YW members.

The Y.M.C.A building, opened May, 1938, is generally recognized as one of the finest devoted to the work of the Student Association.

In its diamond anniversary observance the Y.M.C.A sought to pay tribute to the host of students, faculty, alumni, staff and friends who have made the first seventy-five years possible. Backed by their accomplishments in Christian service and leadership, the organization looks to the future determined that “the best is yet to be.”
The Student Senate is a governing body composed of students with legislative power coordinate with that of the Committee on Student Affairs. Matters falling within the jurisdiction of any student-faculty board or of Panhellenic or Inter-Fraternity Councils are not under the supervision of this group.

Fifteen students elected by the student body and ten ex-officio representatives from major activities comprise the Student Senate. The President and other officers of the Senate are elected by the members of this group. The standing committees appointed by the President of the Senate are the Committees on Honorary Organizations, Social Events, Extracurricular Activities, General Welfare, and Elections and By-Laws.

The Student Senate is particularly interested in improving the general welfare of students, campus organizations, and activities. Included in the Senate’s program this year is an investigation of the traffic code and automobile regulations. Another special committee is that of Code Revision, formed to revise the present Code on Student Affairs.

Student Senate meetings are open for visitation to any University student, but he must submit a request to speak before the group.
The Audit and Supervision Committee, a sub-committee of the Student Senate and Student Affairs Committee is charged, by the Code on Student Affairs, with supervision of all social events and general university functions of like character to which admissions are charged. This includes approval of prices, the general budget, the date, time and place of these events.

When approval of all matters has been completed, the work is not over. The committee has the job of being present at the event in order to supervise and make certain that the recommendations and university rules are carried out.

Five students are elected to sit on the committee by the Student Senate. Another student and two faculty men are appointed to it by the Student Affairs Committee in addition to the secretary, Dean Vern J. Hampton.

This committee presents real evidence of the "learn by doing" theory of Student Government. It not only provides experience for its members but also offers sound advice and help to the dance, stunt show, or other committee charged with seeing that our University events are the pride of all students.
University Convocations, open to all without charge, are addressed by well-known speakers who bring to the campus their points of view on subjects of general interest.

In June the eminent judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Florence E. Allen, spoke on “The Nuremberg Trials Implement World Law.” The second convocation was delivered by Paul Engle, Iowa poet and novelist, whose topic was “Poetry and Modern Man.”

The fall season began with an address by Kenneth Lindsay, Member of Parliament and former British Minister of Education. Late in October Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Vining, tutor to the crown prince of Japan, gave her impressions of “Re-education in Japan.” In November Ernest T. Gruening, Governor of Alaska, described the reasons for granting statehood to that territory in “Alaska—New Crossroads of the World.” The last lecture of the year was given by Brigadier General William H. Wilbur who gave his impressions of U.S. occupation policies in the Far East in “Our Future in the Orient.”
The Newman Foundation is the Catholic student center on the campus of the University. Its program is under the direction of Reverend Dr. Edward J. Duncan, who is assisted by the Reverend Edward W. O'Rourke and the Reverend Edgar C. Taylor. Miss Ann B. Flynn serves as the lay assistant to the director.

First among the Foundation's activities is the work of St. John's Catholic Chapel. It offers the Catholic students several Masses daily and Sunday, opportunity for frequent reception of the sacraments and other liturgical services throughout the year. Important phases of the foundation program include credit courses in religion, the choir, the Sanctuary Society, the Altar Society, the Graduate Students' League and the Married Couples' Group.

The activities of the Newman club, official Catholic student organization on campus, include corporate communions, discussion groups, lectures, dramas, intramural sports, and parties. The Newman club has the following three-fold purpose: to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal life of its members, to help Catholic students to become acquainted, and to assist the University and its students whenever possible.

The club is affiliated with the National Federation of Newman Clubs, which is composed of similar groups at other universities throughout the country. This year, the organization sponsored a "pre-marriage clinic" conducted by the staff of the Springfield C.Y.O. The sessions were open to all students and residents of Champaign-Urbana. During Homecoming week-end, Newmanites from the University of Michigan were entertained at a reception for their chaplain, the Reverend Frank J. McPhillips.

Traditional annual events on the club's social calendar are a spring formal, a carnival, and a picnic at the Turkey Run State Park in Indiana. The club also sponsors a continuous program of informal social events.

Students at Illinois to whom Christian faith is all-important find stimulation and comradeship in Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. The Illini Chapter, organized nearly a decade ago, is one of more than two hundred American chapters and is affiliated with similar groups throughout the world. I. V. C. F was first formed in England by students from Oxford and Cambridge Universities; it is now worldwide with groups meeting in Europe, Latin-America, Australia, and the Far East, including thirty chapters in China alone.

The friendly I. V. C. F. group at Illinois consists of earnest Christians from many denominations: Methodist, Christian Missionary Alliance, Lutheran, Dutch Reformed, Nazarene, Presbyterian, and others. There is, however, a sense of unity through a common eagerness to know Christ better.

All the activities of I. V. C. F. at Illinois profit by the counsel of its advisors, Professor A. S. Secord and Professor N. D. Morgan. These activities have included enjoyable social times, ranging from hay rides to a spring formal banquet, as well as discussions and lectures on Tuesday evenings, daily prayer meetings at the Illini Union and Gregory Hall, and frequent Bible study hours.
The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation is the center serving the cultural, social, and religious needs of the Jewish students on the Illinois campus. It was founded on this campus a quarter of a century ago. On the principle that the patterns of Jewish life are an important part of western civilization and can enrich the resources of the campus, Hillel activities are planned as a supplement to university and extra-curricular life.

Students are encouraged to develop their own programs with the friendly counsel of the director and the staff. Through these democratic experiences, it is hoped that the students will achieve those capacities for responsible leadership which will enable them to serve their home communities. The workshops and committees serve as laboratories where the students may give creative expression to their interests. The Hillel year is highlighted by events such as the following: Hillel Credit Courses, Religious Services, Town Hall Suppinars, Choral Group, Sports, Film Classic Series, Hillel Players, Sings, Stunt Shows, and Carnival. This year especially the Foundation is also proud of its newly redecorated and refurnished rooms.

The Military...
In 1862, the Morrill Land Grant Act came into effect. This law required that all land grant colleges provide courses in Military Science and Tactics, and that instruction be given under the direction of officers and enlisted men of the regular army. The officers are assigned this duty by the War Department in concurrence with the President of the University.

The senior officer, as academic head of the department, is Professor of Military Science and Tactics. In the military organization, he is Commandant of Cadets. All other officers that are assigned hold appropriate subordinate academic and military positions on his staff. The senior officer in each unit is the Unit Director.

Reserve officer training on a full postwar scale was resumed last year with the establishment of several new units. The corps now includes Infantry, Field Artillery, Armored Cavalry, Engineers, Signal Corps, Quartermaster Corps, Air Corps, and Transportation Corps. The objective of the program is to preserve and expand the Reserve Officer's Training Corps organization in anticipation of postwar Reserve officer requirements. The ROTC also teaches courtesy, respect for authority and the value of individual effort in mass accomplishment. It creates an interest in national affairs, and points out the duties and obligations of citizenship.
The enlisted instructors of the ROTC Staff above the rank of Sergeant are all non-commissioned officers. They are men of wide military experience and long service who are carefully chosen and especially trained for their task of instructing and drilling the cadets. These officers have met with much success, for the University ROTC has captured national honors.

The first post-war Cadet Colonel, Paul Phinney, was appointed for the academic year 1946-1947. A national officer in Phalanx and a member of Pershing Rifles, Cadet Colonel Phinney maintained an excellent record during the period of his command. An overseas veteran of World War II, he considered it his duty to undergo additional training after completion of long and honorable military service.

The present program is designed to have cadets, during their first two years of participation, take elementary or branch subjects, thereby deferring until their enrollment in the Advanced Course the study of tactics and technique characteristic of the branch of their selection. Honorably discharged servicemen may be credited with up to two years of elementary training for having previously served with the armed forces, and may be immediately enrolled in the specialized Advanced Course. The cadets seeking commissions in the Regular Army or the Reserve Army are now required to attend a summer camp for eight weeks. The War Department appoints army camps throughout the country for specialized training during the summer.
Cadet Colonel Elmer Passow, of the Corps of Engineers, has maintained an excellent scholastic and military average. He is majoring in Civil Engineering and is a member of Pershing Rifles and of the American Society of Military Engineers. He commands all cadets of the Reserve Officers’ Training Corps.

The Cadet Colonel also serves as president of the Military Council. The membership of the Council is comprised of the Cadet Staff, the Cadet Commander of each of the ROTC units, a representative from each of the combined branch military organizations, and an officer of the ROTC faculty, designated as advisor.

Acting as a governing body of the Reserve Officers’ Training Corps, the Military Council strengthens the bonds between the cadets and officers of the regular staff. Since the Military Council was founded in 1929, it has come to play an important part in the student activities of the University.

In addition to governing functions, various activities of the Military Department, including the Military Ball and dances given by other organizations in the Department, are supervised by the Council. It also supervised the publications of the Millini, the military publication issued annually on Military Day, containing an entire record of the years’ military activities.

The NROTC Unit at the University of Illinois was established on November 1, 1945, in conjunction with the Navy V-12 program. The V-12 program was terminated on June 16, 1946, and the NROTC program began its first peacetime year with the opening of the fall semester in September, 1946.

“Regular” students of the NROTC are selected annually as a result of a highly competitive series of examinations, mental, physical and personality.

“Contract” students of the NROTC are selected within prescribed quotas, by the professors of Naval Science from among those students enrolled as freshmen at the University of Illinois. The essential difference in the two classes of students lies in the fact that the “regular” is highly subsidized, much in the same manner as are veterans enrolled in the University under the “G.I. Bill.” “Contract” students are not subsidized except for a ration allowance during their junior and senior years.
The mission of the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps is to provide by a permanent system of training and instruction in essential naval subjects at civil educational institutions, a source from which qualified officers may be obtained for the Navy and Marine Corps and the Naval Reserve and the Marine Corps Reserve.

In carrying out this mission the NROTC at Illinois intends to give full weight to the dictum of John Paul Jones: "It is by no means enough that an officer of the Navy should be a capable mariner. He must be that, of course, but also a great more. He should be, as well, a gentleman of liberal education, refined manner, punctilious courtesy, and the nicest sense of personal honor."

The program, both for "regular" and "contract" students, is based upon studies in any field leading to a Baccalaureate degree that the student desires. Included in these studies are a minimum of twenty-four semester hours of Naval Science, plus summer training cruises. On the cruises, strict Naval routine with an abundance of special tactics keep the trainee occupied. These Naval Science courses are designed to teach basic work in essential naval subjects as a foundation for further studies and experience afloat, both as a midshipman and as a junior officer. They are a very necessary part in the education of a capable naval officer. This combination of a regular college education and the actual experience aboard ship molds the type of officer for which the Navy is known.

"As the nation goes, so goes the Phalanx." In the spring of 1943, Alpha Morae’s 130 active members were called to active duty and later sent to combat areas all over the world. Four years later, 26 of these men returned to Illinois and initiated the first post-war pledge class of 28 men on March 12, 1947. Many of these pledges themselves had returned from theatres overseas. That spring Phalanx participated in various activities including the crowning of the Mothers’ Day Queen in Huff Gym.

The purpose of Phalanx is to promote the interests of military training and to foster the spirit of fellowship among military men. To be eligible for membership, one must be enrolled in either the advanced Army or Navy ROTC programs, and possess those attributes so necessary to a commissioned officer. During his pledgeship, a “plebe” is required to obtain the signature of each unit director by answering questions of a military nature. These signatures are made into a book and presented to the chapter before initiation.

Annually a gold bar is awarded to the outstanding first year Elementary Course cadet in each unit at Armed Forces Day in May. The year, name, and unit of each man selected is engraved on a shield permanently placed on the wall near the north center entrance to the Armory.

A Golden Era of Sport...

The 1947-48 season at the University of Illinois climaxed what may well be called a real golden era of sport. In the dreamed-of post war season that had been so long awaited by coaches and fans alike for its return of so many great pre-war stars, Illinois again dominated the conference with its five championships and three narrow misses. And Illini fans took advantage of the return of so many of these former heroes to view some of the greatest struggles in history. New records became commonplace things and Illinois teams reached a point in their greatness when they didn’t care to take second places — it was all or nothing.

On New Year’s Day of 1947, the Illinois football squad made that never forgotten 45-14 Rose Bowl victory. And from that time on, things went full blast for the Illini. The Illini track team was incomparable. For the second straight year, they took the NCAA tournaments by a landslide while they annexed the Big Nine Indoor and Outdoor championships by record reaching totals. World records fell to the right and left as they scurried to their many victories.

The Baseball Championship also went to the Illini. With a dazzling string of 22 victories against 6 losses, the Illini humbled collegiate, semi-pro, and even professional teams. Still another championship came to the Illini as the cross country squad surprised Wisconsin in a close battle. The Wrestlers won five straight dual meets and then took the wrestling crown to add a fifth trophy to the Illinois collection.

On the gridiron, Illinois’ defending champions finished in a third place tie after an up-and-down season. The Illini won 3, lost 3, and tied 1. They hit high points by routing potent Minnesota 40-13 and holding unbeaten Michigan to a 14-7 margin. Upset losses to Purdue and Northwestern marred what would otherwise have been an excellent season.

Two of the nation’s best collegiate netmen led the Illinois tennis team to nine wins in ten dual meets but they barely missed a repeat of their Big Nine crown by 1½ points. Still another Illini aggregation who were just nosed out of a title were the fencers. The Gymnasts took the floor for the first time since before the war and almost toppled Minnesota from the championship. The only weak spots in an otherwise impregnable athletic stronghold were the swimmers and golfers. Considering then, that the Illini won five firsts, and three seconds in the twelve intercollegiate sports in which they participated, who could contest the fact that this was a real golden era of sport?

Football...

Pittsburgh

Despite the fact that Illinois won 14-0, Pittsburgh’s Panthers sunk their fangs of disappointment deep in Illini fans’ flanks just as they had done in the opener a year before. In ’46 Pitt lowered Illinois’ prestige when all attempts of Buddy Young and his Rose Bowl cohorts fizzled out. Now, in 1947, again Pitt saddened Illini hopes.

For three quarters the Illini fumbled, stumbled, and bumbled at such inappropriate times that dumb-founded fans stared disbelievingly at the line-up of ten lettermen from the Big Nine champs. Smashing Lou Levanti, 200-pound center, was the only new man present among oldtimers Captain Art Dufelmieier, Perry Moss, Paul Patterson, Russ Steger, and Dike Eddleman in the backfield and Sam Zatkoff, Bob Prymuski, Lou Agase, John Wrenn, Herb Siegert, Bob Cunz, and Ike Owens returned from the great defensive line of 1946. It was Dike Eddleman who finally came through with the two scores that bagged the game and earned a starting berth for Eddleman thereafter.

Captain Dufelmieier placed the Illini in a favorable position when he intercepted a pass on Pitt’s 46. Burt Schmidt carried the ball to the Panther 24 on a succession of brilliant charges. From that point Perry Moss whipped a short, flat pass to Eddleman who scurried between four defenders to score with Don Macchtle adding the seventh point.

It appeared that Illinois would fail to score a few minutes later as they lost the ball on downs on the 3 yard line, but Dike Eddleman grabbed the resulting punt from Pitt's 42 and began his second scoring run. Prymuski, Buscemi, Wrenn, and Cunz cleared a path so that he was untouched on the sideline until he smashed into two tacklers on the 3 yard line, his momentum carrying him over the goal, and again Macchtle came through to register the final score 14-0.

Iowa

The Illini bounced back from their almost humiliating victory of the week before and severely trounced Iowa 35-12 with a brilliant passing attack. Perry Moss on the throwing end and Sam Zatkoff generally on the receiving side had a great day. Moss completed 11 of the 16 pass attempts for more than one hundred yards in addition to cleverly mixing his passes with running plays. Zatkoff not only caught four passes but recovered a fumble, blocked a punt which put Illinois in scoring position, tackled a touchdown bound runner from the rear, and played an outstanding defensive game.

Jocko Wrenn started the Illini dash to victory after eight minutes had ensued. He pounced upon an Iowa fumble on their 18 yard line. Eddleman, Dufelmeier and Steger punched through the line to place the ball on the one yard line and Steger ripped through the Hawkeye defenders for the score.

In the past, Sam Zatkoff decided every punt could be blocked. He proved it for the fourth time in this game. Diving headlong over an Iowa blocker, he was able to knock the ball backwards for Illinois possession and an 11 yard gain. Moss then rewarded Zatkoff with two straight passes which the right end carried for 19 more very handy yards. An eleven yard pass to Ike Owens, a line buck by Rippin' Ruck Steger, and then Dike Eddleman's touchdown carry over left tackle polished off the attack, leaving the score 14-0 for the first quarter.

In the second period, Chick Maggioni made a 25 yard punt return which started the third scoring drive. A gain of 38 yards ensued and was topped off with Perry Moss sneaking over the last yard for the score. One of the most amazing oddities occurring this season took place in the third quarter when the Illini advanced a full 112 yards to score. Illinois had advanced forty yards when Eddleman had fumbled on the Iowa 24. An Iowa guard caught the ball in mid-air and started for the Illini goal. As he reached Illinois' 28 yard line with a sure touchdown in sight, he slowed to allow a blocker to catch up and Dufelmeier hit him from the rear so hard the Iowa man fumbled the ball to Steger whereupon the Illini resumed their goalward drive. Steger finally scored on a 33 yard screen pass in order to climax the 112 yard advance in consecutive plays.

Bernie Krueger was on the alert in the fourth stanza and snared an Iowa pass. He returned his interception 30 yards and Chick Maggioni took the final 7 yards to end the Illini scoring. Don Macchtle converted his seventh conversion of the game to end it all, 35-12.

Army

Reflections of an old grudge fight between the Illini and Army plus the fact that there was a chance to knock the academy's thirty game winning streak into the record books put nation-wide interest on the Yankee stadium battle in which Illinois finally had to settle for a 0-0 tie. The grudge stemmed over the question as to which team had been more fitted for the Bowl bid in 1946. (The thirty game winning streak was compiled with the great Blanchard-Davis wartime ruling combination.)

The game saw an Illini team gamble at every odd in order to score while the Cadet eleven dogged their every effort. The Illini tried 20 passes and completed 10 while Army quite willingly played it very safe with only 4 passing attempts — none successful. Army approached the Illini 20 but once to muster its only offensive threat of the entire game. The foxy Cadet squad used quick kicks to a decided advantage.

On the other hand, Illinois repeatedly threatened the Black Knights. Shortly before the half, the Illini advanced 67 yards to reach the Army 7 yard line. With only nine seconds remaining, Don Macchtle who had yet to miss a kick came in to attempt a field goal. The snap-back from center missed its mark and by the time Gallagher had the ball in its correct position, Macchtle was too hurried to make the goal successful.

Dike Eddleman made a thirty yard reverse to the Army 17 which was called back in the third quarter as Illinois continued to master the game. Later in the quarter, Perry Moss through two passes into Zatkoff's arms to put the ball on the 34. Then he tossed the ball to Eddleman who took it 20 yards down the field to the Army 14 but Eddleman fumbled the ball and Army recovered on their 12.
All-around, it was a superb game for the Illini and although they failed to make their scoring chances pay-off, they were undisputed masters — in yards gained, in first downs, and their attempt to make a game of it — and Army was glad to settle for a tie.

Minnesota

October 18 is a day which 56,000 fans will never forget! On that day they saw the Illini rise to the greatest heights of the season. Although outgained on the ground, Illinois took to the aerial waves, and capitalized on every slight break to perplex a great Golden Gopher eleven, 40-13.

Minnesota had a tremendously pushing ground attack with which they outmoved Illinois 142 yards to 14 in the first half. Yet, the Illini line was stubborn and halted the Gopher attack when it had to be halted. The backfield, as determined as the line, tossed passes, ran bewilderingly, and took such constant control of the ball that Illinois was on top 20-7 at half time.

Passing Perry Moss, who completed each of his seven pass attempts, had his greatest fun in the first quarter, throwing passes which accounted for both of the touchdowns. His first followed an end run by Captain Art Dufelmeier which gained 21 yards. Moss first hit Ruck Steger for a screen pass that carried 15 yards and then pegged another one to Dike Eddleman who stepped over the goal line. Somewhat later in the first quarter, Moss tossed a long 35 yard pass down to Dufelmeier on the Gopher 27 who ran the ball on over for the second demoralizing touchdown.

The Illini score in the next quarter was one of the most deceptive seen all season. Dike Eddleman caught a punt on his 11 yard line and criss-crossed the field passing in front of Captain Dufelmeier. The fans’ eyes, the Illinois blockers, and all the Minnesota tacklers took off for Dufelmeier who cleverly concealed the fact that Eddleman was madly galloping the 89 yards for the third touchdown putting Illinois in a 20-7 halftime lead.

Minnesota was angered and marched 77 yards to a touchdown as soon as they could get their hands on the ball. Not to be outdone on the ground in this way, Illinois came right back with two very long drives of 83 and 82 yards just to show their win was no fluke. Murney Lazer was the mainspring in the 83 yard drive which Art Dufelmeier finally took over for the fifth touchdown. Jack Pierce and Paul Patterson carried the mail in the final drive with the latter going over after Chick Maggioli had passed 19 yards to Jim Valek. Maceltle missed his first conversion in twelve attempts when one bounced back from the metal upright. At last the gun barked an end to the memorable 40-13 victory.

Purdue

Purdue’s Boilermakers, capitalizing on both of the two chances they had to score, upset favored Illinois 14-7, and knocked the Illini from the tie they were looking forward to settling one week hence with Michigan. Although Illinois had 17 first downs to Purdue’s 6, and did not once allow the Riveter backfield to move the ball across the 50 yard stripe, they failed to cash in on the more important scoring points. Illinois’ ball playing was far from its usual form as Purdue took advantage of their underrated status to smartly strike the over-looking Illini.

Twelve minutes of see-saw football found the Illini with their backs to the wall on their 7. Eddleman punted out to the Purdue 39 and Purdue passer Bob DeMoss rifled the first of his two fatal passes up to Illinois 18. Nothing the Illinois line had that day could stop the homecoming inspirations of the Purdue backs and three plays later they went over for the score. Illinois was behind — the first time in 1947.

In the next quarter, Illini backs fought their way down to the Purdue 7 but finally lost the ball on downs. Purdue took over and kept Illinois from looking fierce until the closing seconds of the half. With Illinois’ ball on the Boilermaker 24, Perry Moss faded far back waiting for a man to hit the clear, then let fly with a beautiful spiral which Chick Maggioli took in over his shoulder as he crossed the goal. Maceltle tied the game 7-7 leaving the fans agog for the halftime ceremonies.

Illinois found themselves back on their 2 again the next quarter and were forced to kick as they had done in the disastrous first quarter. DeMoss passed from his 36 this time and his receiver made it to the 6. From there, DeMoss called another pass play and jumping into the air, tossed one into the end zone for the touchdown which made the score 14-7.

In the final quarter, the Illini were determined to at least make a tie out of it. Their running plays rarely clicking, they managed at last to roll through the determined Purdue line down to the Boilermaker’s 19. There Ruck Steger fumbled and Purdue recovered to kill their last chance. Again it was the old Indiana jinx — neither the Whiz Kids nor the Big Nine champs had been able to get a win in either LaFayette or Bloomington during 1946 — which halted the Illini’s ten game winning streak.

Michigan

With a Rose Bowl bid and a Big Nine championship in the offing, Michigan’s Wolverines faced 71,119 derisive Homecoming fans in Memorial Stadium for the hardest fought battle in the nation. This game brought together the two most powerful exponents of the T and single wing offenses and was viewed by the nation’s foremost football mentors. Michigan emerged on the long end of a 14-7 victory which echoed its tales of Michigan’s great attack across the nation’s sports pages. Somewhat slighted was the valiant battle which the Fighting Illini carried on. Could the Illini have mustered their Sunday punch in crucial points, it was the kind of game which could have ended differently. But even the harsh criticism of Home-comers recognized the power, which later won the Rose Bowl 49-0, as it was displayed before them that November afternoon.

Illinois missed the first of their five good chances to score when Tom Stewart intercepted a pass on Michigan’s 45 and raced it for 17 yards. On the third down, however, Ruck Steger fumbled and a subsequent Michigan recovery stopped the frightening Illini onslaught.

Bumps Elliott intercepted a pass on the 8 yard line which stopped another Illini hopeful. Again the Illini came fighting back. Ruck Steger smashed through tackle and found himself in the open where he gained 53 yards setting the pigskin on Michigan’s 15. The ball was worked on down to the 1 yard line where Steger finished his beautiful job to knot the score at 7-7.

Bothersome Elliott was not going to see his first touchdown swallowed up, so just for good measure, he took a Wolverine pass from All-American Bob Chappius to go 52 yards down the field. On the next play, a 150-pound Michigan speedster took the ball for 10 yards and Michigan had won the game in the first half, 14-7.

It was Michigan’s ninth straight game won since the Illini last beat them out of a similar championship and Bowl bid the year before. Spectators and sportswriters hailed the game as “one of the best ever seen” and it was the closest battle which the Wolverine champions participated in all season.

Western Michigan

Western Michigan’s Bronchos were so besieged with touchdowns from Captain Art Dufelmeier’s 60 yard romp in the opening play until Jack Pierce ran 70 yards in the final eight seconds that the Broncos had no buck left in them and simply blew on their cold hands in relief to find it all over, 60-14. Coach Ray Eliot was able to keep his bench warm as he used 38 players to roll up the third highest total score in Illinois history.

After Dufelmeier had brought the half-frozen 24,000 spectators to their feet on the first play with his 60 yard touchdown run, the Illini again grabbed the ball and pushed 61 yards with Dike Eddleman carrying it over for the second score. A few minutes later in the same quarter, Dike Eddleman turned in the longest touchdown run of the day as he galloped 92 yards down the sideline on a punt return. This placed Illinois in a 20-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Early in the next stanza, a Western Michigan punt rolled to a most extraordinary halt just astride Illinois’ goal line. Following Eddleman’s punt from this phenomena, the Broncos mustered their first touchdown. Chick Maggioli started the Illini offensive as Paul Patterson carried it over to end the halftime 27-7.

Burt Schmidt carried the next ball up to scoring position as Denny Bassett started the scoring in the final quarter. Tom Gallagher ouvêgued the Broncs on the next punch and scooped one of their passes into his arms. Repeated smashes set the ball on the 18 and then Eddie Bray, 1942 great, went the remainder to make the score 54-7. Trackman Jack Pierce warmed up with a 70 yard scoring run in the final seconds to leave the Illini on top of the heavy 60-14 score.

Ohio State

Illinois turned in one of its smoother performances as they mired Ohio State 28-7 before the rain-swept Ohio Homecoming crowd of 70,000. Despite the rain, the mud, and the slippery footing the Illini creditably passed and ran for four touchdowns.

The Illini pulled one from their bag of crafty tricks to bewilder the Bucks in the second quarter. It was fourth down on the 4 yard line when Eliot sent in Don Maechtle, his extra point specialist. Tom Gallagher instead of holding the ball for the field goal which everyone thought was coming, jumped into the air and tossed a perfect pass to Chick Maggioli in the end zone for the second touchdown.

After neither team scored in the third quarter, Illinois put the clincher on early in the fourth. A 59 yard march ran out of downs on the 1 foot line. Ohio punted out and Illinois started again on their 40. Perry Moss, hitting his passes even with a wet ball, faded back to throw an intended screen pass, but his receiver was not in the clear. Dodging would-be Buckeye tacklers, Moss kept his eyes open and sighted Maggioli far downfield. In the last second he unleashed a beauty which Maggioli leaped above Buckeye protector's arm to catch in the end zone.

With but two minutes left to play, the final touchdown arrived. Sam Zatkoff intercepted an Ohio pass on their 33. Paul Patterson took the ball on a double reverse and skirted his left end for the fourth touchdown. Maechtle booted his fourth extra point of the afternoon to make the final 28-7 score.

Northwestern

Northwestern refused to play the part of sure victims of the Fighting Illini and rose impressively out of the Big Nine cellar to whack Illinois from its second place position 28-13. The Dad's Day crowd witnessed a championship calibre Illinois team apparently lose interest in being second best and fall before the hard-fighting Wildcat eleven in the season's finale.

No warning of the upset was contained early in the game. Ike Owens recovered a fumble on the Wildcat 35 but three of Moss' passes fell incomplete and Eddleman punted. The next time the Illini got hold of the ball, Ruck Steger helped march the ball 63 yards to the 2 yard line and then Steger dived across for a comparatively simple-looking touchdown.

Northwestern roared right back into the scrap and desire a severe injury to Art Murakowski, was able to score a touchdown in the opening minutes of the second quarter, thereby making it 7-6 Northwestern's favor. The Illinois seconds, Paul Patterson and Chick Maggioli, alternated the ball for a 48 yard march in the middle of the same quarter. Patterson went through the Northwestern team for a 25 yard touchdown run to finish the drive. Maechtle kicked his 24th extra point of the season to put Illinois in a 13-7 lead.

The Illini had punched three successive first downs and looked touchdown-bound again in the second stanza when an intended flat-pass to Paul Patterson was intercepted, the Northwestern receiver easily going for a touchdown. Northwestern's try for the point was good and they took over a 14-13 lead at halftime.

With the help of a holding penalty, Northwestern went the 2 yards needed for their third touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Northwestern was right back hammering for another touchdown two minutes later. On NW's fourth down, however, Joe Buscemi recovered a fumble on the Illini 7. Moss passed to Kersulis successfully on the 13 yard line but a resulting fumble allowed Northwestern another touchdown and a ride out of the cellar with a 28-13 victory.

Baseball...

Coach Wallie Roettger sent his 1947 baseball team all the way as they finished as Big Nine Champions with a dazzling string of 22 victories out of 28 games played against collegiate, semi-pro, and even professional squads. Roettger attributed part of his fourth championship to his southpaw pitcher Mary Rotblatt, who pitched ten successive victories and tied the conference record with his six wins there. But still more of that championship could be found in the fine, all-around play of Captain Lee Eilbracht, 1946 batting champ; Andy Philip, Bob Anderlik, Bob Wakefield, and, in fact, the whole Illini team, which so often humbled its opposition.

Ohio State, with designs on the Big Nine crown, took the opener of their series for Illinois' first loss 6-0, but the Illini wreaked a 9-1 avenging on the Buckeyes in the second game. Two straight wins over Michigan with a split in the Northwestern series kept the Illini right in the thick of the conference race. Faced with the necessity for two wins over Minnesota, the Illini accomplished just that and took over the Big Nine reins. It was a wild pitch which allowed Bob Anderlik to cross home plate for the winning 2-1 tally in that memorable first game, but in the nightcap the Illini slugged out eighteen hits for fourteen runs.
Mary Rotblatt pitched his best and most important game of the season against Purdue, and the Illini clinched the Big Nine title on a 6-0 shutout. Rotblatt, tying the Big Nine six-win record, allowed but three hits. Already celebrating their championship, the Illini bowed 5-4 in the second game.

Illinois won 9 of 10 warm-up games scheduled to prepare them for the NCAA playoffs, a college world series. One bright spot of these warm-ups with the pros and semi-pros was Johnny Brittin’s no-hitter in which he was backed by Ruck Steger’s driving in of five runs. In still another, Andy Philip connected for the winning homer as Rotblatt achieved a narrow victory in a one-hit scramble with the Detroit Senators. Andy connected for another homer against Peoria’s Caterpillars while George Fischer walloped a four-bagger which helped to lick the Globe Trotters. Captain Lee Eilbracht headed the homer which perplexed Detroit again as he sent Andy Philip over for a 4-3 victory. So you can see that Coach Wallie Roettger and Captain Eilbracht didn’t have too dull a time in their monotonous wins after all.

All warmed up, the Illini settled down in New York to play NYU in the first game of the little series. After four and one-half scoreless innings, rain caused all-pitcher Mary Rotblatt’s efforts to be washed away. Johnny Brittin took the mound the next day and held all but two fateful NYU men from scoring, but these two were enough to send the Illini Champaign-bound. Bob Anderlik scored the sole Illini run off a smashing liner by Ruck Steger.

Captain Lee Eilbracht again led the Illini batters with his .357 average. Mary Rotblatt won the league pitching crown on his remarkable string of victories to make 1947 a great season — one which the fans at Illinois Field will long remember for its many thrills, and most of all, for its Big Nine Championship.

Golf...

With four lettermen on the roster for the Golf season, Art Wyatt, Dick Turnbow, Wayne Ring, and Captain Lloyd Brown, Coach Ralph Fletcher began the 1947 Golf Season. The Illini had rough going in early season’s play and lost to Northwestern by a one-point margin. They also took third in a Quadrangular meet with Ohio State, Purdue, and Indiana. Although the first place Michigan squad defeated the Illini handily, the golfers went on swinging hard and accurately to defeat strong teams from Purdue and Indiana on successive weekends. After showing a spark of success at the end of the season, the Illini took fifth place in the Conference meet at Purdue and ended the season with a record of four losses and three wins.

Gymnastics...

Hartley Price put his 1947 Illinois Gymnasts on display for the first time since before the war and almost toppled experienced Minnesota in the Big Nine meet. Price, a developer of NCAA champions three times here, quickly whipped his young team of Captain Vito Zinzi, Walt O’Herion, Joe Fina, Pete Harrington, Ray Linder, Don Von Ebers, and others into such good form that they were able to top Nebraska, Colorado State, and Chicago against a sole dual loss to Minnesota. Late in the season, the Illini had improved to such an extent that they were able to make a real show of it with Minnesota in the Big Nine Championships. Minnesota eked out their championship win by a 92 to 86½ score over the Illini who finished ahead of Indiana’s 27 points for second place. Racking up the points were Vito Zinzi, conference side horse winner; Walt O’Herion, long horse champion; and Joe Fina, who ranked second in all-around competition. In other contests, the Illini placed second in the CAAU events at Chicago, and second in the Northwest championships while twice meeting defeat by their Olympic training varsity brothers. The successful 1947 season pointed toward greater heights in 1948 when Coach Price hopes to regain Illinois’ regaled reputation.

Big Nine Championship — Second
Cross Country...

The Illinois Cross Country team leaped from comparative obscurity to win the Big Nine Championship after a brief and successful season. The team was composed of Bob Downs, Walt Krakow, and Vic and John Twomey. John was the outstanding member of the team and led the harriers from their early dual meet victories on to their championship. Illinois' only downfall in an otherwise great season was in a triangular meet at Wisconsin where they could only manage a fifth, eighth, and a tenth place. Without a doubt, the harriers were one of the finest cross country teams that Illinois has produced.

Swimming...

Disaster struck the Illini in swimming. Captain John Haulenbeek, one of the country's finest sprint swimmers, was ruled ineligible, and with him went Illini aquatic chances. Although Coach Ed Manley's thirty-sixth season as head coach of swimming failed to produce a victory, the prospects for the coming season showed great promise, especially Bill Baugher and Bob Gerometta. The best showing of the season was a 42-42 tie with Indiana University.

Tennis...

Captain Roger Downs and Ben Migdow led the Illinois tennis team to nine wins in ten dual meets and a very successful 1947 season. The Illini were handed their first dual loss in two years by Cincinnati while Northwestern edged Illinois from the championship by a narrow 1½ point margin. Otherwise, the opposition was less forceful and the Illini netters were able to shut out both Purdue and Ohio State in 9-0 victories and took championship Northwestern in stride 6-3.

Captain Downs and Migdow upheld the reputation of being two of the nation's best collegiate netmen with their sometimes grueling victories. Against Kalamazoo, one of the bitterest of these feuds ensued as the doubles combination of Migdow and Downs fought for 2½ hours before overpoweringly taking a 6-6, 6-3, 9-7 match. In the Big Nine finals, Downs lost out to a previous easy victory in the singles but teamed with Migdow to take the doubles crown while Migdow also took the No. 2 singles title. The Illini second and third doubles teams also took titles in their divisions. Fred Steers, Mel Randoll, Dave Brown, and Joe Weiss were members of the winning doubles teams, while Downs, Steers, Randoll, and Charles Schunk placed second in their singles divisions for Illinois to close a very successful season which showed even greater promise for 1948.

Big Nine Championships — Second

Fencing...

Fencing returned to conference competition with zest and spirit under the able tutelage of Max Garrett. Although fencing had been absent from the sports calendar since 1943, the fencing team made a strong bid for the Conference title and lost by the bare margin of one-half point — (10 - 9½) to a strong Northwestern team. Illinois defeated Lawrence Tech, Michigan State, Northwestern, and Ohio State, and lost to Wayne University, Wisconsin, and Chicago for a 4-3 record. In the NCAA Meet, Illinois came out sixth against the best competition in the country, and gained valuable experience for the fine prospective year anticipated in 1948. Warren Sullivan, who started the season as manager, proved top Illini in the Big Nine by winning the saber crown. Bill Abraham, Captain-elect for 1948, finished second in foil, and Rolland Puccetti, second in Saber. John Blazich, in foil, was the only Illini to reach the finals of the NCAA tourney. The other members of the varsity squad, Bob Scanlan and Louis Stuebe, turned in some very fine performances during the season.

Wrestling...

Illinois' Wrestlers again dominated the Big Nine this year. They won five dual meets from conference schools, then posted their second straight league title. Dave Shapiro and Lou Kachirobas won individual crowns, with Joe Garcia, Ken Martin, and Captain Norm Anthonsen getting seconds.

Outside the circuit, the Illini beat Illinois Normal, tied Iowa State Teachers, and lost to Cornell College and Michigan State, for a season mark of 6 wins, 2 losses, 1 tie. Shapiro stretched a collegiate winning streak to 27 matches before injured ribs cost him a 7-6 decision and his first college mat loss in the NCAA meet in Huff gym.

Kachirobas represented the Illini in the AAU meet at San Francisco in April and won the 128-pound wrestling championship to add to his Big Nine crown at this weight.

The Illini scored 36 points in the Big Nine conference mat championship at Northwestern, to mark up a modern scoring record. This was the fifth Big Nine conference title to be won under Coach Hek Kenney.

Big Nine Champions

Track...

With a sensationalism never before seen in collegiate competition, the Illinois Track Squad of 1947 not only continued their domination of the national track competition but added to that senssationalism with their new American and World records, with their two Big Nine Championships, and also with their run-away victory of the NCAA Tournament.

It is not often that the world produces a human being with the power to run like Herb McKenley. Yet McKenley was not without friends on the squad. There was the Illini captain, Bob Rehberg, whose ability in the longer races was super-ordinary. Or there was the Olympic-contending pole vaulter, Bobby Richards, who was disappointed in only a fourteen foot vault. Nor who would count the conference record-breaker, Dike Eddleman, out of his high-jumping laurels; or, for that matter, other Big Nine champs such as Bill Mathis, John Twomey, or George Walker. Those are the kind of runners you can't count out of anything — the kind that on any ordinary track team would have been lionized to the extreme. Yet, here at Illinois they fitted into a group, and formed one of the most powerful and most potent track teams the world will ever see.

In surprising form for its first dual meet, Illinois with the help of Minnesota, rewrote eleven Armory records in setting its 74-30 victory over the Gophers. Bobby Richards, who had already captured the Millrose Games with his 14 foot vault, won handily. Norm Wasser stretched the shot-put record to over 53 feet while John Twomey cracked a seventeen year old record in whirling about the indoor two mile in 9:16.2.

Even sabotage couldn't slow down Herb McKenley in the Central AAU meets as he set a new world record of 30.3 for the 300 yard run despite the pilfering of his specially-made alligator leather track shoes. Another American record fell behind the great McKenley as he set a new Indoor 47.9 quarter in the Illinois Tech Relays, and then went on to team with Walker, Vranek, and Rehberg to win the mile relay.

With the distance medley combination of Clarence Dunn, McKenley, Rehberg, and Twomey setting a new world's record, Illinois snatched the Purdue Relays title away from Michigan. Led by the championships of Bob Rehberg, Dike Eddleman, McKenley, Richards, and George Walker, the Illini counted the second highest total in conference history in annexing the Indoor Big Nine Championships.

All in all, it was the best indoor season for any Illinois track team since Leo Johnson first took over in 1935. Herb McKenley twice lowered the world's indoor 440 mark and also set a new 300
Racing down his last collegiate 440, Herb McKenley fittingly tied his old world's mark of 46.2 and also won the 220 yard dash to lead the Illini in a sweep of the NCAA's. Herb, who could count his few defeats on the fingers of one hand and would need an adding machine to total his wins, was termed by his coach, Leo Johnson, as "one of the greatest stars in world history," a statement which we think is modest in looking over the record books.

Thus fittingly ended the dynasty of the Illinois track team in 1947, and with it passes one of the greatest galaxy of stars ever assembled under the colors of one university. Herb McKenley should remain as traditionally Illini as Red Grange and the Whiz Kids; but right up there beside him in their greatness was everyone else who was a member of that great bunch of national champions in 1947.

Basketball...

A greater bunch of scrappers than the 1947-48 edition of the Illinois basketball squad has seldom been seen. Starting the season with seemingly two strikes on them — the loss of the Whiz Kids and a new coach — the Illini hit great heights and wound up in a third place tie for conference honors. The Illini quintet this year was a greatly different one than that of the year before. They had speeded up their game by less ball-handling, and they fired shots at random from anywhere on the court. In fact, they led the conference in total shots taken as well as total points scored. Harry Combes could never rest with any one starting combination as he had a seemingly endless number of players with equal ability. It was more a matter of finding out who was "hot" or who could best play the type ball demanded by the opposition than it was anything else which determined the lineups.

Coach Harry Combes, starting his first year as coach at his alma mater, should have been the jittery one in the Goe College opener, but instead it was the seasoned basketeers who took the part. The Illini were slow to find the range, passed wildly, and fouled needlessly in a rather awkward looking 67-27 victory. Notre Dame, the Illini's next opponent, was hailed as the pre-season national champions, but all that talk didn't stop Jack Bunnast and his boys from sending the Irish home with a 40-38 loss.

Over the Christmas holidays, the Illini journeyed Eastward to take Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania in stride with 70-33 and 70-44 lickings. The Illini next faced Washington State who had a highly rated streak of nine wins in front of them but who weakened to the Illinois attack 71-35 and 59-42 in a second attack.

These upsets that Illinois seemed to be pulling repeatedly made sportswriters wonder where Harry Combes was keeping his Aladdin’s Lamp hidden and if he wasn’t somehow miraculously cooking up another amazing success. At any rate, the charm seemed to hold out as Harvard fell to both a mighty Illinois 77-41 victory and snowstorm which delayed their arrival in Huff Gym by two hours. From here on though, things were going to become much tougher as the Illini had but one breather in 11 conference games in the next few weeks.

Wisconsin sunk a stinger in the Illinois ego as they took the initial contest by nearly the same score as they did to win last season’s championship, 52-47. Captain Jack Burnmaster held speedy Bob Cook to two baskets before he fouled out, and then Cook went like a pin-ball machine to score 20 points. With a tall lad controlling the rebounds, and an extremely tight defense, Wisconsin took advantage of Illinois’ ineffective long shots to keep control in their own hands.

Burnmaster continued his stellar guarding abilities and added 14 points while leading his team to a 52-47 win over Northwestern. “Burr” accomplished the commendable task of holding the Wildcat forward, Bill Sticklin, to two baskets in twenty-one shots in the otherwise uninspiring game.

After leading comfortably from the first minutes of play, Illinois staved off all late efforts of Ohio State’s Buckeyes to defeat them 61-58. Wally Osterkorn bucked his way through for 17 points and a terrific game at center. Just a week later Illinois did everything but stand on each other’s shoulders in an effort to stop Minnesota’s giant 6’10” center, Jim McIntyre, from dropping his 27 points down through the hoops as he led the Gophers to their 59-51 victory. It was an even battle most of the way with the Illini often out in front but from a tie with four minutes to go, Minnesota stretched their lead out on to the final score.

Nowhere but in the topsy-turvy Big Nine basketball of 1947 could battles with greater thrills be found. The best illustration of this was the Indiana game in which the Illini literally “blew the roof” right out of Huff Gym. Behind 41-30 with just seven minutes to play in one of the dullest games ever witnessed, the Illini came through in storybook fashion with Van Anderson hitting the basket which made a 46-45 Illini win in the final five seconds. So much noise and chaos gripped the 6,000 in attendance that the referees still are not sure in their own minds as to whether the final gun had sounded before a foul was called on Illinois which might have put the game into an overtime. The basketball exhibited that evening was of the poorest caliber of the season with Illinois making only eighteen out of 100 shots at the goals, but who could ever forget such a game!

Revenge was certainly sweet as the Illini bettered the hapless Badgers 57-36 in a certain comeback from the sloppy ball played against Indiana. Getting the advantage of a home crowd’s influence on the referees, Bobby Cook was held to 12 points as Dike Eddleman did other fine things besides scoring 16 tallies in the win.

Undoubtedly the hottest team to face the Illini on the home floor was Michigan on the night that they captured their 66-57 victory. While working with precision-like team work, the Wolverines seemed to be hitting nearly every shot they took for a remarkable .380 average while their guards held all the Illini but Dike Eddleman in complete check. Nothing could stop Dike as he banged away from the center floor for 26 points with his famous “kiss shot” among his repertoire. The Wolverines later went on to become the conference champions.

Dike Eddleman carried Illinois’ scoring burden for the second straight game as he again bagged 26, but Iowa’s Murray Wier was too hot to handle as he racked up 36 points, while the whole Iowa team hit a .394 average. It is doubtful if any team could beat that kind of shooting, but the Illini couldn’t match it for sure and lost a close 70-61 contest.
In an amazing display of marksmanship, the Illini battered the baskets as they ripped out a record-smashing 98-54 victory over Purdue. The Illini set both a new total scoring record of 152 points for the Big Nine books and for Huff Gym. It was also a new single game high for the Illini as they wiped off the old Whiz Kid 92-25 finale against Chicago in 1943. Said Purdue's coach, "They could have beaten any team that night" and few doubt that the feverish .553 shooting in the second half couldn't top just about anything in the United States. Eddleman was noticeable in that he was the sole Illini who for a change could not find the range. Walt Kersulis and Bill Erickson came across with sixteen points apiece and Jim Marks hit fourteen to pace the Illinois scorers.

Indiana proved to be a real thriller for the second time as Illinois wound up their conference play at Bloomington in the second one-point victory scored over the Hoosiers in the same season of play. Dike Eddleman with 20 points led the 52-51 scrape but was helped by nine important points scored by Bill Erickson who played only in the second half. Fred Green also came through with some very valuable tip-ins just when they were most needed.

The Indiana victory put the Illini in a third place tie with Wisconsin as Michigan just beat Iowa out of the winning position. Illinois won 15 while losing five and had a 7-5 conference record for the season. The only two members of the squad to graduate were Captain Jack Burmaster and guard Stan Fronczak. Dike Eddleman, captain-elect, and coach Harry Combes, although well-pleased with the results of this season, looked forward to a possible championship in 1948.

Before the war, the Intramural and Recreational Sports program at the University of Illinois was nationally recognized as tops—in participation, organization, student managership, and facilities. Although dormant throughout the war, the IMREC program was revived in 1945 and 1946, and by last year, participation was already at a record high.
Athlete of the Year

Alex Agase

The three-time All-American guard Alex Agase of 1946's Big Nine and Rose Bowl Champions hardly needed more laurels to crown his already great record. Formerly selected as the Western Conference's Most Valuable, Agase took the Daily Illini Athlete of the Year poll by storm.

Most Valuable Player...

Ike Owens

Sometimes a lineman is so fascinating to watch that he takes your attention from the publicized backfield stars. One of those linemen, Ike Owens, so earned his teammates' respect in addition that he was named the Most Valuable Player of 1947.

Conference Medal Winner

Bob Richards

It is not often that a pole vaulter can reach fourteen feet. Illinois' Bob Richards had such a marvelous scholastic record to go along with his Big Nine and NCAA championships in 1947 that he was the logical choice for the Medal Winner.

HARRY COMBES STEPS IN!

In his first year at his new post, Harry Combes came through even better than expected. Not the first time that Combes has demonstrated this ability, his successes read like a Jack Armstrong dream. Going into the state tournaments seven of the nine years he coached, his teams took the title once, second place twice, reached the semi-finals two other times, and twice only reached the quarter-finals. Perhaps the secret to Harry’s success lies in his own amazing athletic record — seven letters in high school, twice named to honorary All-Big 10 teams while playing varsity basketball here — or perhaps it lies elsewhere; but at any rate, we’ll be expecting great things from Coach Harry Combes.

Our Cheerleaders...
Intramural Sports...
1947 was a banner year in intramurals. And 1948 began with plans that would have seemed fantastic only a year ago. From the MING Festival of 1947, to the Nationwide Student Managers Conference in Champaign in 1948, everything was operating in high gear.

The first annual MING Festival, staged in Huff Gym in April of 1947, brought the various branches of the University together in an athletic six ring circus for the first time. Champions were crowned in all winter sports with the parent branch winning most of the honors, and the day was climaxed by an evening’s entertainment with the participants from the Medical Schools, Navy Pier, and Galesburg as guests of the Illinois Athletic Association.

On the local scene, the 1946-47 competition for the big trophy was at a fever pitch with the Delts, Phi Delts, SAE’s, and Phi Gams staging a photo-finish on the final day. Only one point separated one from the other, and Delta Tau Delta finally topped the Phi Delts by a sole point to grab the trophy.

Many of the ideas first brought out in 1946 were carried out with even greater success in 1947. The Officials Club raised its standards with a resultant increase in the caliber of the officiating.
Model Program...

The College of Physical Education gave valuable assistance in rules clinics and the smooth operation of all meets. Sportsmanship was greatly improved, and All Star teams were selected in most sports. The Daily Illini gave invaluable aid in both instances and gave IMREC a thorough coverage, unequalled anywhere in the country or in the history of Intramurals at Illinois.

Co-recreational activities were continued with the annual Turkey Run, and mixed gymnastics and swimming evenings were held twice weekly. More coeds participated in co-recreational sports in 1947 than ever before, and the 1948 plans for the Recreation Department of IMREC called for mixed doubles in table tennis, badminton and tennis. Also included were a two-ball mixed foursome tourney in golf, and co-recreational team competition in volleyball and swimming.

Other plans for 1948 included the second annual MING Festival, which promised to be even more successful than its predecessor, and the first National Student Managers' Conference at which the top managers from schools all over the country could get together to compare notes and to view first hand what is considered to be the model intramural program of the nation.

Intramural Director, Hartley Price, held the reins to 1948's highly appreciated IM season

The Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council is the supervisory and governing body of all the social fraternities on the campus. It formulates the policies in all matters concerning fraternities, and makes the rules necessary to carry these policies into effect.

"Its purpose is to provide for the general welfare and the social, scholastic, and recreational activities of the members of the fraternities within the council and to instill in them the highest regard for the Illinois traditions and institutions."

Surveys are made by sub-committees of current problems in pledge training, house management, house finances, scholarship and activities. The results are presented to the council for the information of the member fraternities in order that they may correct their mistakes and base their house programs on sound facts.

William Herleman, President
The Council and the University Y.M.C.A. jointly sponsor an all-pledge banquet for the new pledges. Another banquet is given by IF in the spring for all the members of the Council at which time the new officers for the coming year are installed.

Each spring the traditional Interfraternity Ball is given for all fraternity men and their guests in Huff Gym.

The Council studies the problems of all students on the campus as well as problems of the University and enter actively in the solution of these problems. Various other all-campus activities are aided by the Interfraternity Council in their activity programs.

Wider acquaintance and fuller cooperation are fostered by the very composition of the Council, for it is composed of a junior and senior representative from each fraternity. Regular weekly meetings are held, with the standing committees meeting frequently during the week. These meetings provide the setting for getting acquainted and for the birth and dissemination of constructive ideas for fraternity operation.

Illinois was the first university to organize an IF Council, and the Interfraternity Council at Illinois now has 55 member fraternities. This ranks the fraternity system at Illinois as the largest in the world.

Skull and Crescent is a sophomore honorary organization composed of twenty-five prominent campus fraternities for the purpose of furthering good will among the members.

Two freshmen who are outstanding in activities are chosen from each member fraternity. The initiation of these men is held in the spring, and they are active members in Skull and Crescent during their sophomore year.

Skull and Crescent is again reaching its pre-war prominence on the campus due to the hard work of its present active members and alumni. In addition to the regular bi-weekly dinner meetings, the traditional Skull and Crescent Pajama Race in which Phi Delta Theta fraternity took first place was held in the Armory on November 12. The formal Christmas banquet and dance were held on December 6. Through the combined efforts of the members, the pajama race and banquet and dance were all very successful.

The Sophomore honorary fraternity, Star and Scroll, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1937 but in 1943 was disbanded for the duration of the war. This year the organization has been reactivated and plans are being made to promote more activities between the fraternities and to strengthen the organization by increasing the membership. Interfraternity activities are planned and arrangements made at meetings held every two weeks at one of the member houses.

Each year the respective fraternity members of this organization elect their two outstanding Sophomores, who in their Freshman year have been outstanding contributors to their fraternity in both activities and scholarship. These men are honored by being accepted into Star and Scroll to develop better fellowship among the member fraternities and to bring them into closer bond. At a concluding banquet near the end of the year, a trophy is presented to a member house that has the outstanding freshman average. Any house that wins for three consecutive years gets permanent possession of the trophy.

The Sororities...
The law making body for all the sororities at the University of Illinois is Panhellenic. Its objectives are to create a high plane of fraternity life and inter-fraternity relations within our college, to further fine intellectual accomplishment and sound scholarship, and to cooperate with the college administration in the maintenance of high social standards.

Illinois' chapter of Panhellenic is a branch of the national Panhellenic and is composed of two governing bodies. The Presidents' Council is made up of twenty-five chapter presidents, and the Executive Council is composed of the Panhellenic officers, the Faculty Advisor, and the Departmental Chairmen. They present suggestions to guide and direct the individual houses according to the rules of the Panhellenic constitution.

Philanthropic activities of Panhellenic include a foster child in Europe, sponsored by the President's Council and the annual Mother's Day Sing sponsored by Shi-Ai whose proceeds go to underprivileged children.

...The Panhellenic Ball...
Since 1907 when Shi-Ai was founded on this campus, sophomore women have been given recognition for outstanding work in their activities. By perpetuating their ideals, these women have the opportunity to strengthen inter-sorority friendship. Each Fall two sophomores from their respective sororities are chosen to pledge Shi-Ai on the basis of their participation in all-university activities.

The Independents...
Women’s Group System, the first group of its kind on any college campus, is the organization of all independent women. Included in the system are organized women’s houses, women’s residence halls, and scatter groups. The presidents of these groups participate in a weekly council meeting and also sponsor activities within their own house groups.

W.G.S. devotes its time to the encouragement of scholarship, activities, and social life among its members. Among its varied activities are the district teas, the Christmas Musicale, the Watcheka Sing, and the House President’s Banquet. W.G.S. cooperates with M.I.A. to present such events as the Independent Informal, Stunt Show, Freshman Sing, and Millila Ball. Climaxing the year’s activities is the W.G.S. Awards Tea given each spring, where newly-elected officers are inaugurated and recognition is shown to independent students and houses for outstanding scholarship and activity participation.

The governing body of W.G.S. is the Executive Council, composed of the officers, district chairmen, committee chairmen, and faculty advisors. Its functions are to work in an advisory capacity to W.G.S. activities, to formulate general policies, and to choose special committees.

...The Independent Informal...
The organization of independent men on the campus is the Men's Independent Association. Its activities have been varied and are based on a three point program including social, athletic, and academic events.

Events sponsored by M.I.A. include: sings, stunt show, Father's and Mother's Day banquets, couple dances, reception for new faculty men, and a mixer and date service called "Introductions Please." Many of these events are arranged jointly with W.G.S.

Important to the over 12,000 independent men on the campus are intramural sports. M.I.A. provides managers and officials for the IM office and aids student participation in sports through the M.I.A. house district plan by which an independent student is assigned to organized house groups off the campus.

In the academic field, trophies are awarded to independent men's houses for high scholarship at a University sing early in the year.

This year M.I.A. aided in the organization of the National Independent Students Association representing over 70 colleges and universities and Illinois was appointed Midwestern Regional center for the N.I.S.A.

All students registered in the University who have received credit for two semesters of accounting shall be eligible for membership in the Accountancy Club.

The purpose of the organization is to foster and maintain a sincere interest in the science of accounting, to bring to the members professional information, to acquaint the members with the ethics of the accounting profession, to bring before the members information concerning educational and honorary achievements in the College of Commerce, and to promote friendly intercourse between students, faculty, and members of the accounting profession.

The executive committee of the Accountancy Club is made up of the Senior and Junior Councils. The Senior council handles the publicity and membership drives of the club as well as the selection of the speakers. The Junior council takes care of notifying the members of the meetings. It is from the Senior council that the officers of the club are nominated. By petitioning, the officers of the Junior council are selected, and after serving on the Junior Council for two semesters they automatically become members of the Senior council.
Agriculture Club...

The Ag Club fosters and promotes the interests of the students in the profession of agriculture. Its membership is composed of and open to all the students in the College of Agriculture.

Through its monthly meetings, members benefit from the advice, experience, and knowledge of many distinguished men in this field from all over the world.

To promote the interests in specialized fields, the Ag Club sponsors the following specialized clubs: Hoof and Horn, Dairy Production, Dairy Technology, Field and Furrow, Poultry Science, Horticulture, Ag Education, Ag Economics, Ag Engineering, Floriculture, Forestry, and Pre-Veterinary.

To promote the social welfare of the Ag students, the Ag Club sponsors the following annual events: All Ag Field Day, Plow Boy Prom, Spring Judging contests, Xmas Party, and All Ag Banquet.

Guidance and advice on election of officers and activities are provided by the Student-Faculty Advisory committee composed of four students and four faculty members.

The Ag Club helps to promote the University by sponsoring judging teams in inter-collegiate competition. Participation on these teams is stimulated by subsidizing part of the expenses.

The purpose of the Student Branch is the advancement of the allied arts and sciences, maintenance of a high professional standing among its members, and the development of the individual engineer. Student membership offers to the students the opportunity to begin, what will be for many of them, a lifetime connection with the national organization in electrical engineering.

The principal activity of the Student Branch is to function as an organization, under the auspices of the Institutes, for aiding in the development of the latent abilities of the students. The Student Branches participate in activities similar to the Institute, such as the presentation and discussion of papers, reports, and abstracts; and the participation in inspection trips. One of the main activities of the Student Branch is to develop fellowship between the students and the faculty by sponsoring activities such as the electrical engineering faculty-senior banquet and the student-faculty picnic and baseball tournament. The A.I.E.E. - I.R.E. takes part in the St. Patrick’s Ball and the Engineering Show.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi, The National Accounting Fraternity, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1919, and it now has 21 active chapters throughout the country. Active members may be elected to membership only if they maintain sustained records of excellence in all the subjects offered for a degree, as well as in their accounting courses. Honorary members may be elected by the active chapters provided such persons are either Certified Public Accountants or prominent accountants. Also active chapters may elect any person who is a member of the American Institute of Accountants.

The purposes of this Fraternity are to encourage and to foster the ideal of service as the basis of the accounting profession; to promote the study of accountancy and its highest ethical standards; to act as a medium between professional men, instructors, students and others who are interested in the development of the study or profession of accountancy; to develop high moral, scholastic and professional attainments in its members; and to encourage cordial intercourse among the members of Beta Alpha Psi and the profession generally.
Home Economics Club

Membership in the Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club is open to all girls enrolled in the curriculum of home economics. Through its monthly meetings, the club strives to acquaint the girls with the many and varied professions included in home economics. This year a program of special interest meetings was carried out. Each month, a group of girls from a certain field of specialization had charge of the program.

Joint dances, parties and meetings with the Agriculture Club gave students an opportunity to become better acquainted with their classmates. All-Ag Field Day, an all-University function sponsored by the Agricultural students, was held again this year. One of the highlights for the year for the entire student body was the Plow Boy Prom, also sponsored by the Agriculture students. Blue jeans, gingham dresses, box lunches and vegetable corsages helped to make this a gala occasion. During Mother's Day weekend, the members honored their mothers at a tea. The year's activities came to a close with the spring banquet, at which the newly elected officers were introduced.

The Marketing Club

The Marketing Club, organized May 11, 1939, provides to its members a source of information about opportunities that are open in marketing, salesmanship, credit management, transportation, advertising, public relations, and other fields of business.

The club meets once a month throughout the school year. At each meeting a well-known executive is asked to discuss the marketing problems facing his particular field. These meetings are helpful to the members in deciding what phases of business they would like to enter and what courses they should take to be assured of the right training for the position they desire after graduation. These speeches also help to bring what is learned in the classroom up to date and to show the practical application of what is learned.

The membership, formerly limited to marketing majors, is now extended to anyone who is interested in marketing problems. Not only has the club met with much enthusiasm from the members, but the lectures have proved so popular that many non-members have been attending on the strength of the speakers’ reputations and the topics which they discuss.
Scabbard and Blade is a national military honorary fraternity composed of a select group of men chosen each semester from the advanced corps of the Army and Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps on the basis of all around merit. It strives to prepare students, as educated men, to take an active part in and to have a greater interest in the military affairs of the United States. Members attempt to inform accurately their friends and neighbors of the purposes, needs, and scope of the armed forces in promoting and maintaining national security. Each year a national convention is held for the purpose of electing national officers, deciding future policies, and voting on the petitions of new companies.

After war-time inactivity, the local company was reactivated in February, 1947, by a group of members, all veterans.

In addition to the various social and fraternal affairs sponsored by the company during the school year, Scabbard and Blade cooperates with any organization that seeks its aid in the successful completion of other campus activities, such as Homecoming and Crowning of the May Queen.
The Spanish Club...

Dedicated to the task of increasing interest in the Spanish language and culture and of making closer the bonds of friendship between the United States and countries of Spanish speech, the Spanish Club serves these ends through its yearly program. Meetings held twice monthly throughout the fall and spring semesters were regularly attended by faculty members and students. There was a Christmas party featuring an original play by Professor Ermilo Abreu Gomez from Mexico, a Spanish talent show and a celebration of the fourth centenary of Miguel de Cervantes' birth.

The Club also presents one Spanish language film every year; and for the benefit of students desiring practice in speaking Spanish it has sponsored several informal student and faculty coffee hours. A chorus under the direction of Miss Catalina Spinetta was organized to lead singing.

The Spanish Club was founded by a group of students who met in the home of the late Professor J. D. Fitzgerald about the year 1907. At that time it was known as El Circulo Literario Espanol, and this is the official name of the organization.

Dawn of a New Era!

THE sunrise looks no different . . . the apple blossoms smell the same . . . the chirp of the robin is unchanged, but we are living in an exciting new world.

Our scientists have probed the secrets of nature to give us super crops, atomic energy, and other wonders that promise a more abundant life for all of us. Our statesmen are striving to transform the word “peace” into a way of life—to make all nations good neighbors. We are at the threshold of a new age in which all mankind may enjoy a fuller, happier life.

John Deere is helping to shape this new world. Our factories are tempering a century of manufacturing experience with war-proved techniques and post-war developments to create and build new and better farm equipment. Our facilities are constantly growing—we’re working around the clock to help produce the flood of new implements the American farmer must have to feed our hopeful new world.

The smartest Seniors will become parents . . . will get married . . . will get themselves top-notch jobs . . . will join the Alumni Association.

They will do these things in the reverse of the order named, of course!

This means that, before they leave the campus, they will join the Alumni Association — while they can do so for a dollar a year, or only $4.00 for four years.

The Alumni Association is the one, all inclusive organization for Illini after they have finished the University.

To belong, marks you as one of the best of the tribe. A word to the wise . . .

Student membership rates still are $1 per year. Others have advanced: Annual, for one person, $4; annual, for a family, $5; five-year, for one person, $16; five-year, for a family, $20; life, for one person, $80; and life, for a family, $100.
THE TIES THAT BIND
...sixteen cities to a store

THERE IS THE BOND OF TRUST to build Block and Kuhl stores that will be a credit to the communities which they serve.

THERE IS THE BOND OF FRIENDSHIP to foster a fine relationship between our stores, their customers, co-workers, and vendors.

THERE IS THE BOND OF SERVICE to measure our success only by the service which our stores are able to render our customers.

THERE IS THE BOND OF GOOD WILL
to consider no transaction closed until the article purchased has rendered complete satisfaction.

THERE IS THE BOND OF INTEGRITY
to maintain sound Block and Kuhl policies, the quality of our merchandise, the fairness of our prices.

The glamour of huge industrial plants, intricate machinery, and mass production methods is the usual mental picture of American Industry. And a true picture of much manufacturing . . . but not so with photo engraving.

Machinery? Certainly! Precision equipment, but not mass production. Glamourous? Yes! Skilled hands and chemical processes and always intriguing.

Your year book is the result of many procedures . . . photography, copy writing, art, engraving, printing and binding, plus salesmanship, accounting, etc.

The graphic arts industry has many branches and many opportunities. You might consider the possibilities of your future in this highly interesting business.

Your future can start today!

Your initial start in the engineering field will affect your entire future...it will shape you and your career, and will determine today your status in this field for years to come. We have a number of excellent positions, principally in research, for the right men. These positions are for career men, capable of working ahead to the top of their profession. We want men who are able to do creative research in unexplored fields—men who have no desire for monotonous, routine work.

Consider these important facts: the oldest aircraft manufacturing company in continuous service in the country, and one of the largest. A modern plant, with excellent facilities and equipment. Expert personnel, good working conditions, located in a suburban area of a centrally located city on the east coast.

We are working on varied types of research. In jet propulsion, guided missiles, supersonic aircraft, electronics, military planes, commercial transports, and in several other fields, including materials and alloys, television and plastics. Our huge new plastics plant has just started in production.

If you can keep pace in a strong company noted for its progress, start your future now. Find out the opportunities we can offer. Write, outlining your background, your interests and plans, to Technical Employment Section, The Glenn L. Martin Company, Baltimore 3, Md.

Good Bookbinding
Doesn’t Just Happen

Good bookbinding is accomplished through careful consideration of the requirements of each job . . . choice of the right materials . . . and well directed craftsmanship.

Years of experience devoted exclusively to bookbinding qualify Brock and Rankin to give to a book or catalog the quality of binding best suited to the purpose it is to fulfill.
