THE ILLIO
1949
CHAMPAIGN-URBANA
Albert Austin Harding

To Albert Austin Harding, eminent musician and renowned director of Illini bands, The Illia of 1949 is dedicated.

Possessed of a rich musical background, Harding assumed the directorship of the University Bands while still a student and held that position for forty-three years — from 1905 until September 1, 1948. From the beginning, the Illini football band under Harding's direction has led in the development of precise and original formations. The entire band department including the concert band and the first and second regimental bands has benefited from Harding's ideals of dignity and quality in band performance.

After many years of close friendship with John Phillip Sousa, Harding was instrumental in having the University become heir to Sousa's valuable band library. Admiration for Harding's ability led Sousa to proclaim the Illinois group "the world's greatest college band."

Harding holds honorary degrees of Doctor of Music from Phillips University and Davidson College. He was further honored at the first Conference of University and College Band Conductors in 1941 when he was unanimously named honorary president for life.

The skill and energy of Albert Austin Harding has made Illinois the national center of college and university band achievement. From every section of the country, those who have known him pay tribute.

To the Students of the University of Illinois:

Through the courtesy of The Illio it is again my pleasure to send greetings to all Illini.

This year, with a slight decrease in student enrollment and with our building program underway, a return to more normal conditions of campus life can be expected. The peak of the emergency has passed and we can afford to concentrate upon long-range planning, without neglecting immediate needs.

That our students, too, are looking forward is shown by the continued increase in graduate enrollment. This is good evidence of their belief in the future. It is encouraging to find this clear-visioned willingness to invest in education.

Today the hope of a world at peace, yet divided and anxious, rests on its young men and women - the national and international leaders of the years ahead. Most of the veterans, serving their country in war and returning late to student life, have made the most of their opportunities. They go out from the campus doubly endowed with knowledge and maturity.

To younger students increasingly are available the facilities and services of our great institution. After spending two years at Galesburg or Navy Pier, many students must face their first year at Urbana as members of an extremely large Junior class. We have added many sections and instructors at the junior and senior levels and we are doing our utmost to maintain a high, undiluted quality of educational experience. But we must ask of all students who find the adjustment difficult patience for a time while we work together for a greater Illinois.

To all of you, my best wishes for future success and happiness!

Sincerely yours,

George D. Stoddard

Alumni Association

The University of Illinois Alumni Association speaks for, and works for, some 90,000 people who have earned degrees in the University — and for many thousands of others who call the U. of I. their alma mater.

This Alumni Association is one of the few in the United States which enlists the interest and membership of students. Hundreds of Illini join the U. of I. Alumni Association even before they receive their degrees. The Association assists Illini Union committees in arranging numerous campus activities.

For as many alumni as it can reach by mail, the Association keeps current addresses. Just this one job of posting address changes requires the full time of a half dozen experienced people. They process the addresses of about 70,000 people at the rate of more than 3,000 a month.

The Association's office, at 227 Illini Union, keeps up a lively correspondence with many thousands of Illini living in all parts of the world. The list of tasks performed for all these former students is as long as it is varied — from locating old classmates to seeing what can be done about lost football tickets.

Each year the Association helps arrange and conduct Illini club meetings in many parts of the world. Thousands of people have heard speakers from the campus or seen football movies which make them feel that actually they have paid a visit to the campus.

Almost every month the organization sends "Illinois Alumni News" to more than 60,000 Illini from coast to coast and in foreign countries. The magazine, in tabloid newspaper form, contains news of alumni by classes, of Illini clubs, as well as information about the progress of the University itself.
It is the job of the Deans of the University of Illinois to administer and direct all student programs and activities not connected with the classroom. To head all these activities, acting as General Administrative officer, is Fred T. Turner, Dean of Students. He exercises control over student activities, employment and housing. Through his personal counseling, aid, and helpful cooperation, Dean Turner has won the friendship and admiration of University students.

Assuming her position as Dean of Women last fall, Miriam A. Shelden has already effected many changes. Of primary interest is the addition of a Freshman Advisory Dean, who will assist incoming students in their adjustment to college life. She also plans for more counseling for residence halls and student house government, as well as for further vocational assistance to all University women. Her enthusiasm and helpful guidance has readily gained her the sincere approval of University coeds.

Dean of Men, Edward E. Stafford, deals with the problems of undergraduate men. Dean Stafford, as faculty advisor of several student associations, has much contact with the University men. Thus, because he holds many titles of authority in the University, he and his assistants are able to maintain an efficient advisory program for University men.
To help with her many daily problems, Dean Shelden has four capable assistants. Miss Agnes Tandberg, Assistant Dean of Freshman Women, helps the incoming University women by working through the freshman advisors of independent and organized houses. Miss Florence Ingrahm, Assistant Dean of Residence Hall Counseling, is working to provide a social and counseling program for residence halls which can help Illini coeds with various problems of finance and housing. New Assistant Dean of Sorority Women, Miss Jane Klein, works with Panhellenic and house presidents on such problems of sorority life as rushing, pledge permits, and initiation. Miss Helen Andrews, Assistant Dean of Independent Women, helps independent women with their problems through the well-organized Women's Group System.

In maintaining an efficient advisory program for University men, Dean Stafford has a staff of three assistants to help him. James Hampton, Assistant Dean of Student Activities, supervises the various student associations of the campus. Assistant Dean of Fraternities, Carl M. Grip, is the executive secretary of the Board of Fraternities. His job includes the working out of various problems with the Interfraternity Council. University independent men, organized through the Men's Independent Association, are helped and counseled in their problems by Darold L. Shutt, Assistant Dean of Independent Men.
For almost four decades Dean Rusk has served the University of Illinois. Starting as an assistant in animal husbandry in 1910, he advanced in twelve years to the directorship of the Department of Animal Husbandry. In 1939 he became Dean of the College of Agriculture, the latter office carrying with it two other heavy responsibilities: the directorship of the Agricultural Experiment Station and of the Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics.

Dean Rusk was born on a farm near Rantoul, Illinois, in 1884. The family later moved to northern Indiana where, Dean Rusk says, he had the usual experiences of a boy who grew up around the turn of the century on a fairly large farm with some native prairie sod still to be broken, glacial boulders to be hauled from the fields, tile drains to be laid, and hogs, cattle, and horses to be cared for.

He received his B.S. in Agriculture at the University of Missouri in 1908 and his M.S. from the same institution in 1911. He was a member of the staff of the University of Missouri in 1908 and of the Purdue Experiment Station in 1909.

Dean Rusk is noted for his thinking and fearless speaking in matters concerning agriculture. He is a member of the Agriculture Board of the National Research Council. During the past year he has also served as chairman of the Agricultural Task Force of the Commission on Organization of the executive branch of the government and as a member of several important national committees dealing with different phases of agriculture.

The College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois is one of approximately half a hundred such colleges in this country. These colleges, with their associated experiment stations and extension services, have pioneered in a type of education based on scientific research into the problems of fundamental human needs. Established to develop the most practical of all human effort — the production of the primary necessities of life — agricultural colleges have helped to demonstrate that culture may be a by-product of sound educational processes regardless of subject matter.

The colleges of agriculture arrived on the scene after laboratory methods had been introduced to American educators, but it was through the avenue of agriculture and the efforts of Professor Benjamin Silliman of Yale University that these methods gained entry into American colleges. Since their establishment, these colleges have been important factors in popularizing and humanizing science.

A unique feature of the American scheme of agricultural education is the attempt to maintain close integration of agricultural education, research, and extension all along the line from the United States Department of Agriculture to the smallest 4-H Club in the most isolated rural community. The contributions of the colleges of agriculture and associated agencies early won the acceptance and support of the farmers. Industry and commerce soon recognized that they also benefited from the contributions which these institutions are making to our national economy.

With the growing realization of the importance of hunger as one of the factors leading to war and the role of adequate food supplies in the winning of wars, and we hope in preventing World War III, the United Nations and individual countries are trying to adapt the American philosophy and some features of our system of agricultural education to global needs.
Dean Howard R. Bowen has set as a goal of the College of Commerce, the education of business men able to make decisions in the interests of the total economy as well as for the benefit of the individual enterprise. Believing that student self-government, student participation in University administration, and active campus social and political life are constructive elements in preparation for careers in business, Dean Bowen has encouraged student activities. The College stresses the cultural aspect of living as well as vocational and professional training. Yet even with stimulation of thought and activity by students and faculty, the College has not completed its job. Its responsibilities reach beyond the campus, across the borders of the State of Illinois, and have repercussions throughout the nation.

Like many of his faculty members, Dean Bowen has a background of experience in business, government, and teaching. A native of the state of Washington, he was educated at the Commerce and Business Administration

State College of Washington. Here he received his B.A. and M.A. degrees. The Doctor of Philosophy was conferred on him by the University of Iowa, where he was a member of the economics faculty from 1933 until 1942. At this time he went to Washington as Chief of the Business Structure Unit in the Department of Commerce. He studied in England at the London School of Economics and at Cambridge University as a post-doctoral fellow of the Social Science Research Council. Later he served as Chief Economist for the Joint Congressional Committee of Internal Revenue Taxation.

Dean Bowen came to the University of Illinois in 1947 from New York, where he had been economist for the Irving Trust Company for two years. His fields of specialization are business fluctuations and finance. He is the author of numerous articles of economic and financial subjects which have appeared in business and professional journals, and of a newly-published book, Toward Social Economy. Dean Bowen is a member of the American Economic Association, the National Tax Association, the Royal Economic Society, Phi Beta Kappa, and other professional societies.

The College of Commerce is composed of two departments: the Department of Economics, with Professor P. H. Brown as acting head, and the Department of Business Organization and Operation, headed by Professor H. T. Scovill. The first two years of undergraduate work are general in scope, while during the next two years students may specialize in nine fields of concentration: accountancy, banking and finance, commerce and law, commercial teaching, economics, industrial administration, management, and public affairs. The program of four years offers a broad background of business theory and opportunities for training in allied fields preparing for specific jobs in business and industry. Business Administration includes the Bureau of Economic and Business Research, established in 1921. Fields in which research has been conducted include marketing, banking and private finance, public finance, taxation and governmental accounting, and others. The Bureau publishes a quarterly magazine, Opinion and Comment, which is designed to present discussions of current economic and business problems in non-technical language, and The Illinois Business Review, a monthly summary of business conditions.

The Business Management Service of the College of Commerce offers a comprehensive program of service to the state.
Dean Willard B. Spalding came to the University of Illinois from Portland, Oregon, where he had been superintendent of schools for three years. Prior to that he had served as a high school principal in several Massachusetts communities and as superintendent of schools in Belmont, Massachusetts and at Passaic, New Jersey.

A native of Massachusetts, Dean Spalding attended Wesleyan University and Boston University, and received the Bachelor of Business Administration from the later institution in 1926. He was awarded his master’s degree in education by the University of New Hampshire, and the degree of Doctor of Education from Harvard. Pacific University granted him the LL.D degree in 1947.

He has been active as a member of the Intercultural Relations Committee, and as secretary of the American Council on Education. He holds membership in numerous professional organizations including the Illinois Education Association,
American Federation of Teachers, and the National Society of College Teachers of Education. He has written numerous articles for professional publications. Since his appointment he has also participated as a speaker in many educational programs, including those of the American Federation of Teachers, the Superintendents’ Round Table of Northern Illinois, the Illinois Education Association, and the Visual Aids Conference tour sponsored by the Visual Aids Department.

The College of Education had its origin in 1893 under the influence and teaching of Charles de Garmo, professor of psychology. In 1900 a Department of Education was set up, which became in 1907 the School of Education. The Bureau of Research and Service, established in 1948, is operated as a department of the College of Education.

The College of Education, believing that “only an enlightened people can be free”, has as its purpose the instruction of those who will teach our children the ideals and fundamentals of the American way of life. It prepares students for careers in teaching, special educational services, and administration. Its courses deal with the social, psychological, and philosophical foundations of education; educational guidance and other special services; educational research and evaluation; educational administration; elementary school problems and techniques; and the education of exceptional children. These courses are supplemented by practice in teaching under special supervisors in school systems cooperating with the College of Education. The University High School, which serves as a laboratory for this College, affords opportunities for experimentation under controlled conditions.

There are special undergraduate curricula in industrial education, agricultural education, home economics education, and the education of exceptional children. Students preparing for other teaching fields take certain basic courses in education, and the remainder of their work is taken in two or three restricted fields of concentration in other colleges and schools of the University.

The University has also established an appointment service for the placement of its graduates who have been prepared in teacher training. This service is offered free to the students and to the boards of education. This placement bureau is not only a service in aiding students to obtain positions, but also helps schools in obtaining teachers who are well qualified.

Melvin Lorenius Enger, Professor of Mechanics and Hydraulics, has been Dean of the College of Engineering since 1934. In addition, Dean Enger serves as Director of the Engineering Experiment Station, located on the Urbana campus. He was born on May 5, 1881, in Decorah, Iowa. After attending the University of Minnesota, he was graduated from the University of Illinois, receiving the Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering in 1906 and later the professional C.E. degree and an M.S. degree. After completing this work at Illinois, Dean Enger spent a year in the Bridge and Building Department of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Railway. He then returned to the University of Illinois and was appointed instructor in the Department of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics and has been a member of the faculty since that time, acting as head of the Department of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics from 1926 to 1934.
The College of Engineering was organized in 1870 as a part of the Illinois Industrial University. The first University class included six candidates from the College of Engineering, and for many years the College enrolled more than half the men students in the University. The first curricula, published in 1871, were in Mechanical Science and Art, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, and Architecture. In 1892 curricula were added in Electrical Engineering, Architectural Engineering, and Municipal and Sanitary Engineering; in 1906, Railway Civil, Railway Electrical, and Railway Mechanical Engineering; in 1915, Ceramics and Ceramic Engineering; in 1920, General Engineering and Engineering Physics; in 1933, Agricultural Engineering and Metallurgical Engineering; and in 1944, Aeronautical Engineering. The Departments of Physics and of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics were established as independent divisions of the College of Engineering in 1890. A separate Department of General Engineering Drawing was set up in 1921.

In 1926 the Department of Municipal and Sanitary Engineering was discontinued and its courses were transferred to the Civil Engineering Department; in 1931 the Department of Architecture and Architectural Engineering was transferred to the newly organized College of Fine and Applied Arts. The Department of Railway Engineering was abolished in 1940 and its courses transferred to the Departments of Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering.

The curricula in engineering emphasize the mathematical and physical sciences and their application to design, construction, and operation of engineering projects and industrial works. The first three years are fundamentally scientific in character, with a common core in the first two years. A moderate amount of specialization is provided through options and by special arrangements of courses in the senior year.

The completion of three new buildings will give some relief from the extreme congestion in the offices, classrooms, and laboratories of the college. The Physics Research Laboratory was completed during the year; some classrooms and offices are already in use in the new Electrical Engineering Building; and all of the facilities of the Electrical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering buildings will be ready for use in September of 1949.
Rexford Newcomb, Dean of the College of Fine and Applied Arts, Professor of the History of Architecture, and Director of the Bureau of Community Planning, has completed thirty years of continuous service to the University of Illinois and seventeen years as dean of his college. Dean Newcomb was born at Independence, Kansas, April 24, 1886. He received his training at the Universities of Kansas, Illinois, and Southern California, supplemented by travel and research in Europe, the Near East, and the Orient.

Before joining the Illinois faculty, Dean Newcomb served for five years as Director of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts at Long Beach Polytechnic School and for four years as Director of Adult Education and Principal of the Long Beach Evening High School. After practicing architecture in California for five years, he served on the faculty of the University of Southern California. Dean Newcomb then went to Texas where he held the position of Professor... of Architecture at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas; he also served in the capacity of college architect at this school.

Dean Newcomb has written and lectured widely in the field of the fine arts. He is author of sixteen volumes, and of several hundred magazine articles in this field. For ten years he was editor of the Western Architect, and for twenty-five years he has served as a technical consultant in various connections. A Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, the Dean is a past-president of the Central Illinois Chapter.

Dean Newcomb also served as president of the American Society of Architectural Historians. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Phi Kappa Phi.

The College of Fine and Applied Arts consists of the Departments of Architecture, Art, and Landscape Architecture. The School of Music and the Bureau of Community Planning are also included in this college. Training in the field of fine arts was provided for in the history of the University. Courses in music were organized into the School of Music in 1894, and training in landscape architecture was introduced early in the century. It was not until 1931 that it was possible to group these various schools together to form a single administrative unit under the title of College of Fine and Applied Arts. The Bureau of Community Planning added its curriculum to the College in 1934. More recently a course in Occupational Therapy has been incorporated into the College of Fine and Applied Arts, in collaboration with the College of Medicine.

With an annual enrollment of some 1,300 students and a teaching faculty of 140, the College is principally housed in the Architecture Building, Mumford Hall, and Smith Memorial Music Building. In these buildings departmental offices are located and excellent libraries of Art and Architecture, Landscape and City Planning, and Music are maintained.

In addition to its more formal program of instruction, the College offers annually many free lectures, concerts, recitals, and a constantly changing series of art exhibits displayed in the Architecture Building. The College, in cooperation with other university departments, sponsors during the spring semester, a Festival of Contemporary Arts. Students from many other colleges of the University elect formal cultural courses offered by the College of Fine and Applied Arts, or take part in the musical organizations or other extra-curricular activities that the College fosters.
Louis Nicot Ridenour, fifth Dean of the Graduate College and Professor of Physics, came to Illinois two years ago from the University of Pennsylvania. A physicist with a Ph.D. from California Institute of Technology, he spent the years from 1940 to 1946 developing radar equipment at the Radiation Laboratory, established at Massachusetts Institute of Technology by the National Defense Research Committee. Dean Ridenour became Assistant Director of this laboratory, which was devoted to the development of military and naval radar equipment.

During 1946, he was editor-in-chief of a 27-volume series of books making available to government and industry the progress resulting from wartime work on radar at the Radiation Laboratory. Publication of these books by the McGraw-Hill Book company was completed last year.

Dean Ridenour did his undergraduate work at the University of Chicago. There he was editor of the Daily Maroon and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.
Following graduate work at Cal Tech, he moved to the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., and was later appointed instructor in physics at Princeton University. In 1938 he joined the University of Pennsylvania staff as an assistant professor. He became a full professor in 1946.

The principal aim of graduate study is the development of the power of independent investigation. The student who pursues an extended course of graduate study is expected to obtain a wide knowledge of his subject and of related fields and to acquire the power of extending the range of known material in his specialty.

Besides providing instruction in the classroom, the Graduate College promotes a large and far-reaching program of research in many departments. Scholarships and fellowships, established by the University Board of Trustees, are open to graduate students of exceptional ability and promise. Funds are available from several special sources for the support of additional fellowships to promote higher education.

Through its research funds the College makes grants which completely finance several projects each year and provide supplementary funds for many others. This year, for example, the College established a Radiocarbon Laboratory to further experiments in radioactive carbon tracer techniques and to make the results available to scientists throughout the nation. Advanced experimental work on electronic computing machines is also entirely under the sponsorship of the College.

Although advanced work was offered at Illinois as early as 1872, the Graduate School was not officially organized until 1892. In 1903, the first two doctorate degrees in the University's history were conferred. In 1906, the Graduate School was organized with a separate faculty, and an appropriation of $50,000 for its support was made by the General Assembly. By action of the Board of Trustees, the name was changed to Graduate College in 1947. From this unimposing but important beginning, the Graduate College grew until in the decade from 1936 to 1945, it ranked third in the nation in the number of science doctorates granted. It now provides advanced instruction and facilities for research in about fifty fields of specialization and grants Master's and Doctor's degrees to candidates successfully completing the requirements. In addition, professional second degrees in engineering are conferred upon graduates of the University.
Professor Fredrick S. Siebert, director of the School of Journalism since 1941, is recognized nationally as an authority in radio and newspaper law, as an outstanding teacher of journalism, and as a far-seeing and practical administrator.

A native of Minnesota, Director Siebert received his A.B. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1923. He received a J.D. degree from the University of Illinois in 1929, and is a member of the Illinois bar. He has been a staff member of the Hibbing Daily News, the Duluth Herald, the Chicago City News Bureau, and the old Chicago Herald and Examiner. He was associate editor of the Journalism Quarterly from 1927 to 1930 and a member of the Board of Editors of that publication from 1930 to 1948.

A member of the journalism staff since the School was established in 1927, Director Siebert has served as president of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, secretary of the Illinois Press Association, and Journalism

The primary objective of the School of Journalism is to train men and women who are competent, both in professional training and personal integrity, to work in the fields of press and radio. The keynote of all journalism training at the University is obligation to the reader.

This training, developed from instruction begun in 1902 as part of the courses in English, strives to produce communications workers who are "tough-minded in the search for truth"; who are prepared to cope with the highly complex world in which they must function. Towards this end, students in the School of Journalism are required to take from one-third to one-half of their junior and senior years in advanced social studies. Besides its specialized curricula in editorial work and publication management, the school has developed an outstanding program in radio training and has greatly expanded its offerings for the advertising student. Courses in journalism for graduate students have been offered since 1946-1947.

In working towards this primary objective, the School does not neglect a secondary objective: service to Illinois press and radio. Through its faculty and cooperating members the School of Journalism attempts to provide auxiliary services to the communications industry. It works in close cooperation with the Illinois Press Association, the Illinois College Press Association, and the Illinois High School Press Association. In addition, the School sponsors clinics and short courses for photographers, radio personnel, and editors.

The School was established in 1927 from what had been a division in the department of English. In its new and modern quarters in Gregory Hall, the School trains future communications workers with modern equipment. In the buildings are located the journalism library, one of the largest and best in the nation, radio classrooms and broadcasting studios, photography and photo-engraving rooms, a printing laboratory, copy-desk rooms, and advertising layout laboratories.
Dean Albert J. Harno has been Dean of the College of Law of the University of Illinois since 1922. His specialty is the field of criminal law, in which he is well known for his writings and work toward judicial reform. He is also recognized as a leader in legal education in the United States.

He was born in Holabird, South Dakota, January 30, 1889. He spent his boyhood in South Dakota and was graduated from Dakota Wesleyan University in 1911. He received his law degree magna cum laude from Yale Law School in 1914. He was admitted to the practice of law in California and practiced there from 1914 to 1917. In 1917 he was appointed Dean of the Law School at Washburn College and remained in that position until 1919. Between 1919 and 1921 he was Professor of Law at the University of Kansas. In 1921 he came to the University of Illinois as a Professor of Law, and in 1922 he was named Dean. He also served as Provost of the University from 1931 to 1944.
Dean Harno has held national offices in organizations of lawyers and law teachers and at present is president of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws; member of the council on the American Bar Association's Survey of the Legal Profession, and in charge of the legal education phase of that survey; Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Judicature Society; and member of the Advisory Committee on the Revision of the Statutes, State of Illinois. He holds honorary degrees from Dakota Wesleyan University, Tulane University, and Boston University, and is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The College of Law was established in 1897 under the guidance of Dr. Andrew Sloan Draper, President of the University and first Dean of the College, and the Honorable John P. Altgeld, Governor of Illinois. The building that houses the College is named Altgeld Hall in honor of Governor Altgeld and in memory of his interest in the College.

At the time the College of Law was founded, preparation for the bar through study in a lawyer's office was common. The law schools had, for the most part, low standards. Some offered only one or two years of law study instead of the three or four years that are required in the accepted curricula today. Soon after the turn of the century, legal education began to make rapid strides. In 1900 the Association of American Law Schools was organized and took for its object the improvement of legal education in the United States. It became a national accrediting agency for law schools. In 1921 the American Bar Association drafted standards for legal education, and later set up an organization with the duties of listing a group of approved schools and serving as an accrediting body.

In the period since the accrediting agencies became active, the emphasis has been placed largely on quantity factors. Of recent years the emphasis has shifted to quality factors — the excellence of the faculty and student bodies, the content of the programs, and the cultural and ethical values taught. This College takes deep pride in the fact that it has always met and exceeded in the standards of accrediting groups. It has been a leader in the inclusion of quality factors in its own program and in the general standards used in the evaluation of law schools.
The Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is Henning Larsen, who also serves as head of the Department of English. Larsen, who is the son of Norwegian immigrant parents, grew up in Decorah, Iowa. His father, an alumnus of the University of Oslo, was the first president of Luther College, an institution organized in Civil War days by Norwegian immigrants. Throughout Larsen’s boyhood, Decorah remained the unofficial capital of Norwegian-American culture. Two large publishing houses and the college still used Norwegian as the official language, and the community was largely bi-lingual. In this atmosphere he developed his interest in Germanic philology, which became his life work. As a professor of English, he stressed in his own research the impact of English on Scandinavian culture. This interest decided also his course of graduate studies that led him to the University of Iowa, the University of Oslo, and Princeton University. As a teacher he has served at the University of Iowa, the University of Texas, and the University of Illinois, besides holding summer positions at the University of Chicago, Stanford University, Northwestern University, and the University of North Carolina. At the same time he retained the interest in Old Norse and Old English literature.

His academic work was twice broken by war. In 1917, after completing the course in the first officers’ training camp at Ft. Snelling, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the infantry. After serving with the 33rd and 76th divisions, he was transferred to military intelligence and served for over a year as assistant to the military attaché at the legation in Oslo, Norway. In 1944, he served a tour of duty in the Office of Strategic Services in Washington.

Our University was incorporated in 1867 as the Illinois Industrial University. When instruction began in 1868, typical Liberal Arts courses were offered, looked upon then as now as basic in general or liberal education. The present organization of the College came in 1913 as the result of a merger of the College of Literature and Arts with the College of Science. As an outgrowth of this fusion, the College became the largest and most complex division of the University. The complexity is increased by the fact that the College serves a great many purposes. It is the bearer of the old tradition of liberal education cared for in the General Curriculum and also in the Division of General Studies. The General Curriculum leads to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science depending upon the field of concentration and emphasis of study. The College also functions as a service unit for other colleges, offering fixed curricula in pre-professional training for medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, law, and journalism. This training includes such work in English, foreign languages, science, and social science as constitutes established all-university or special college requirements.

In cooperation with the College of Medicine, the College offers a professional course in occupational therapy leading to a degree in the College of Medicine. Fourteen fixed curricula lead to the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degrees in the teaching of specific subjects. Other curricula lead to the professional degrees in Chemistry and in Chemical Engineering. This pre-professional work also aims to give that general education necessary for proper understanding of and adjustment to the complexities of modern life.
Robert B. Downs came to the University of Illinois as Director of the Library and Library School in 1943. A native of North Carolina, he has been active in the library profession for the past twenty-five years. His first experience in the field was at the University of North Carolina, where he worked as an assistant while attending the University. After graduation in 1926, he entered Columbia University and received professional library degrees in 1927 and 1929. In the meantime, he was on the staff of the New York Public Library. From 1929 to 1931 Downs was librarian and assistant professor of bibliography at Colby College in Maine. Some years later the College honored him with a Doctor of Literature degree. Returning in 1931 to the University of North Carolina he became assistant librarian and, after one year, librarian and professor of library science.

He started a general college library and encouraged recreational reading by installing a book store in the library buildings and arranging for weekly talks by authors and critics.

In 1938, Downs was appointed to the Directorship of Libraries at New York University, a new position created to integrate the University’s widely distributed libraries. After serving for five years as Director of Libraries for New York University, he came to the University of Illinois in 1943.

Mr. Downs is active in various professional organizations. He is a Fellow in the American Library Institute, a member of the American Library Association Council and the Bibliographical Society of America. He was president of the Association of Colleges and Reference Libraries in 1940-41. He is also the author of numerous books and articles, chiefly relating to resources for research and library cooperation.

The University of Illinois Library School was established in 1893, making it the oldest library school west of the Alleghanies. At the beginning, the new school was located at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago, but in the summer of 1897 it was moved, equipment, faculty, and students, to the University of Illinois in Urbana, where it is now located on the third floor of the library. The library at present ranks fifth in size among American university libraries and first among state university libraries; the library school ranks as one of the outstanding library schools in the land. The Library School is one of five in the nation accredited by the American Library Association as Type I, and offers education for librarianship on the highest professional level.

The purpose of the Library School is to prepare men and women for careers as professional librarians in all types of libraries. The program of the school is designed to fulfill this purpose by preparing administrators and assistants for service in libraries of such types as public, school, college, and university libraries, and such special types as hospital, newspaper, business, art, and music libraries. Programs of study on both the undergraduate and graduate level may be followed, leading to the bachelor’s, the master’s, and the doctor’s degree in Library Science. The group of undergraduate courses, for which the B.S. in L.S. degree is awarded, is considered to be basic preparation for advanced professional studies. The fifth year’s work, for the M.S. in L.S. degree, is the minimum academic preparation for professional librarianship, while experienced librarians of marked ability may go on for the degree of Doctor of Library Science.
Seward Charles Staley, Director of Physical Education at the University of Illinois, was born in Sprakers, New York, on August 1, 1893. Mr. Staley was graduated from Springfield College in 1917. After serving as an officer in the United States Army, he attended Clark University where he secured his master's degree in 1920. Staley joined the faculty of the University of Illinois in 1922, and in 1937 he was made the director of the School of Physical Education. He has been a member of the staff of the School of Physical Education continuously since that time. In 1929, he was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree in education.

Director Staley has made three trips abroad to study physical education and sports. In the course of these travels, he has visited most of the countries in Europe plus several others in north Africa and eastern Asia. In 1936, Dr. Staley was the head of the American delegation to the Sports Student Congress in Berlin. He was made an Honorary Fellow by the American
Physical Education

Physical Education Association in 1938; he was elected to membership in the American Academy of Physical Education in 1944. In addition, he holds membership in most national, midwest, state, and local physical education associations and societies. During World War II he served as a consultant in physical fitness and recreation with Army Ground Forces, the Army Air Force, and the Navy.

The School of Physical Education was established by action of the Board of Trustees in 1933. At the present time, the School is composed of two departments: Physical Education for Men and Physical Education for Women.

The School’s major function is to offer professional training in the fields of physical education, athletic coaching, health education, safety education, camping, and recreation. One of the more distinctive features of the School’s program in professional training is work in counseling and guidance. The School has always carried on some work in this field, but with the end of the war and the resultant increase in enrollment it was materially expanded. Many new and larger departments were added with an increase in faculty membership. The present program is designed to cover personal, educational, scholastic, and professional problems.

In addition to the professional training work mentioned above, the School conducts a service program in physical education for the general student body. By university regulations all undergraduate students are required to secure four semesters credit in this subject. This program is carefully designed to meet all types of student needs, from basic physical conditioning and correction of physical handicaps to courses in recreational and team sports. Beginning and advanced courses are offered in almost all departments. Over the years, the faculty of the School has assumed leadership in initiating and developing several enterprises of national consequence in the field of physical education. The School’s most significant development at the present time is its program in physical fitness research. This program is devoted to making pioneer studies in the field of normal physical fitness.

To carry on its work, the School has at its disposal a varied assortment of facilities. The men’s program is carried on in two buildings—the George Huff Gymnasium and the Men’s Old Gymnasium. The women’s program is centered in the Women’s Gymnasium, but also uses quarters in Bevier Hall.
Dr. Robert Graham, a member of the University of Illinois faculty since 1917, was appointed as the first dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine in 1946 and has directed the formative work of this newly created college.

Born in Ames, Iowa, Dean Graham studied veterinary medicine at Iowa State College and at the University of Kentucky. While at Kentucky, he served as veterinarian to the state board of health and as pathologist to the state livestock board.

As a scientific writer, Dean Graham has been chief or contributing author of more than 150 scientific papers pertaining to veterinary medicine, and senior or co-author of more than 50 bulletins and circulars on the control of animal diseases.

Colleagues in his field credit Dean Graham with significant and outstanding contributions to the knowledge of more than thirteen diseases of domestic animals. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Veterinary Medicine

Science, the American Public Health Association, the Illinois Academy of Science, the American Veterinary Medical Association, and the United States Livestock Sanitary Association.

Speaking for the people of Illinois, the Board of Trustees voted unanimously in June 1944 to establish a College of Veterinary Medicine. By September 1945, a two-year pre-veterinary curriculum had been formulated and the professional teaching program became a reality in September 1948 when 24 qualified applicants were enrolled in the College of Veterinary Medicine. This was the first freshman class to be accepted for veterinary training in the history of the 81-year-old university.

Restriction of enrollment in the College of Veterinary Medicine was necessary because of limited classroom and laboratory facilities. The students are being trained temporarily in the remodeled Veterinary Pathology Laboratory, a one-story brick building erected on south campus in 1904-05, and in a former student residence at 805 West Pennsylvania Avenue. Larger classes cannot be accepted until two new buildings are constructed. Architects' drawings for the science unit of the college have been completed and the college is planning for the expansion of opportunities in veterinary medicine.

The College of Veterinary Medicine has a diagnostic service which has been available to veterinarians and livestock owners for 31 years and which examines thousands of specimens annually. Additional service and teaching activity now in the process of development is the veterinary clinic, opened in September 1948, to which animals may be admitted for diagnosis and treatment. Veterinary extension activities carry the results of veterinary research to practicing veterinarians and to livestock owners. Two extension veterinarians help to keep farmers and veterinarians abreast of the latest methods of disease control by speaking at farm and veterinary meetings throughout the state.

In addition to the teaching programs, veterinary research is conducted in the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station. Among the research activities are studies on the nature and cause of diseases in young pigs, of ketosis or acetonemia and bovine mastitis of dairy cattle, and of Newcastle disease of poultry, as well as clinical studies to determine the value of antibiotics in the treatment of animal ills. Eighteen different research projects were carried on by the college last year.
Dr. Robert G. Bone, the Director of the Division of Special Services, is a descendant of pioneer Illinois families who settled around Springfield before 1820. Born and raised in Springfield, he was graduated from Springfield High School in 1924. He attended the College of Wooster, from which he received an A.B. degree in 1928. During the following three years Dr. Bone was an instructor in the American College in Alexandria, Egypt, teaching beginning English, speech, and French law. During his last year there he was acting president. After receiving his M.A. degree in 1932 he spent two years at Lincoln College as Professor of History and debate coach. Director Bone has been in Europe a number of times and has attended classes at the University of Vienna, the University of Freiburgim-Breisgau, the Sorbonne, and Oxford. In 1937 he received his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois. Dr. Bone has been a member of the History Department of this University since 1934.
Special Services
for War Veterans

In 1942 Dr. Bone was granted a leave of absence from the University to join the Army Air Forces. In 1944 he was sent to Europe, where he was stationed in Paris until VE Day. After helping establish universities in the European Theater of Operations as a member of the staff of the Theater Headquarters Army University Centers Section, he went to the University of Shrivenham, England, as head of the History Department. Upon the closing of this university, he was sent to Germany to help supervise the educational program there. On returning to civilian status in 1946, Dr. Bone returned to the University of Illinois, and is now Associate Professor of History and Director of the Division of Special Services.

The Division of Special Services for War Veterans, which has been established by the faculty and the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois, is the University’s answer to the specific question, “What can we do to be of greatest service to veterans who wish to come to the University of Illinois?” It is a pioneering educational venture, breaking traditional educational policies, and allowing for an educational freedom which will best serve the needs of individual students.

The Division offers veterans an opportunity to move directly toward an educational objective by adding appropriate subjects to previously acquired credit, and to attain an educational objective which involves subject matter offered in several colleges. Accordingly the Division administers the educational programs of veterans whose special needs are not met by existing curricula, and can certify such students for the Bachelor of Science degree. Special consideration is given to helping veterans plan a special program of studies to prepare them for their anticipated goal. Extensive use is made of the Testing Bureau and its tests and counselors, in checking the vocational goal. All new students and those on probationary status are given definite appointments with counselors. In addition, the Division studies the needs of returning veterans and informs the veteran of the various services of the University. It not only helps him find a curriculum which will best satisfy his purpose, but also processes the records of all veterans receiving aid through the G.I. Bill. This year it has processed records for nearly ten thousand veterans on the Urbana campus. The enrollment in the Division is about 1800 for the school year 1948-49.
Professor John M. Kuypers, since 1947 Director of the University of Illinois School of Music, combines active participation in its musical activities with his administrative duties. As conductor of the University Orchestra and of the University Sinfonietta, he maintains a full schedule of rehearsals; as Director of the School of Music he has been developing an expanded program of music festivals, clinics, and teacher training. He is also a frequent guest conductor of the Chicago Youth Orchestra from which he has drawn a number of music students to the University.

Born in Holland but reared in the United States, Director Kuypers believes that a great musical tradition should and will arise from the midwest and that the University of Illinois will have a vital part in it. To this end he has brought to the School's already distinguished faculty new members who are enlarging the scope of its activities and will extend them to all sections of the state. He believes also in training musicians who will be assets in the musical life of their individual communities. Director Kuypers pioneered in bringing to the University of Illinois the Walden String Quartet as artists-in-residence with full faculty status, and his lead is already being followed by other state universities.

A graduate of Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota, Director Kuypers came to Illinois from Cornell University where he had reorganized the musical activities and later served as chairman of the Department of Music. Prior to going to Cornell he had been successively a member of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and director of music at Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota. In the latter capacity he developed a strong music department and organized the Hamline Choir which, under his direction, received wide recognition in its extensive tours through the midwest. While at St. Paul he also organized and directed the Pro Musica Sinfonietta and served as guest conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Courses in the School of Music lead to the degree of Bachelor of Music or Bachelor of Science in Music Education, and options are offered in voice, instruments, theory, and teacher training. Advanced courses in these fields lead to the Master’s degree.

Activities of the School include three orchestra groups, the University Orchestra, consisting of about eighty student and faculty members, the Sinfonietta, composed of faculty and selected student musicians, and the Repertory Orchestra of about forty players, which is conducted by Paul Rolland and devotes itself mainly to the standard classics. Choral organizations under the direction of the music faculty are the University Chorus, the Women’s Glee Club, and the A Cappella Choir, directed by Robert Commanday; the men’s glee club, known as the Singing Illini, directed by Wilbur Hoel; and a new group of approximately one hundred members called the Choristers, led by Jay Allen. Membership in many of these groups is open to residents of the community as well as to faculty, staff, and students of the University of Illinois in general. The new expanded music program has ample opportunities for every interested person.

All of these musical organizations present regular programs which are normally open to the public without charge. Students also have opportunity for radio experience over the University radio station WILL.
The Division of University Extension for the University of Illinois has been under the administrative ability of Dean Robert B. Brown since it was established in 1933. Dean Browne was born in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, on July 15, 1894. He was graduated from the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and received his advanced degrees at the University of Illinois campus. After thirteen years of experience in both the private and public schools as a classroom teacher, principal, and superintendent, he joined the faculty of the University of Illinois in 1921 as an instructor in Education. He initially served as Assistant Dean in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences before becoming the first administrative officer of the Division of University Extension in 1933. In 1938 he was also put in charge of the Summer Session and is at this time a Professor of Education.

Dean Browne, besides being a member of professional societies, is a member of several other educational groups, including the Examining Board for Teachers and the State Commission for Handicapped Children. On this campus his chief interests lie in the Senate Commission of Student Discipline, of which he is chairman at the present time. He is active in community affairs, serving as president of the Urbana Library Board. Dean Browne has also gained recognition as a present-day authority on the American Civil War.

The Division departs from the traditional practices of education in order to benefit the most people. This is accomplished in a variety of ways, and includes credit and non-credit courses, and University courses taught by correspondence.

Among the wide variety of projects which the Extension carries on is the Audio-Visual Aids Service which provides motion picture films for the University’s classes and for loans to other secondary schools in the state. A new program in music extension has also been recently introduced for the benefit of Illinois high schools.

For the past fifty-one years the University of Illinois has conducted a Summer Session under the supervision of the Extension Division. During this session an opportunity is provided for those of the student body who wish to complete their requirements for degrees more rapidly. Teachers, librarians, and other interested individuals who are unable to attend college during the regular academic year also take advantage of this service. During the 1948 Summer Session, a total of 9,272 students were enrolled in classes conducted at the University at Urbana, on the campus of the Chicago Professional Colleges, at the undergraduate divisions at Galesburg and Chicago, and through correspondence.

The Division of University Extension, since its beginning in 1933, has continued to grow even larger and more far reaching, until now in 1948 it is the largest division of the University of Illinois. The University Extension has enabled a great many high school graduates who would not be able to complete their education under normal circumstances to obtain a college degree. With an enrollment of over ten thousand students during the regular semester and a like number during the summer semester, this Division reaches all the forty-eight states, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Canada, India, and South America, as well as many other countries. Classes have also been held in one hundred fifteen cities and towns of this state besides Champaign-Urbana.

SCHOLASTIC HONORARIES
Election to the Bronze Tablet is the highest scholastic honor that is awarded to seniors at the University of Illinois. In order to achieve this distinction, seniors must have fulfilled the following requirements:

Those seniors who have been in the upper three percent of their class in the respective Schools and Colleges in the four semesters preceding Honors Day, and therefore, have been awarded College Honors in both junior and senior years, are awarded University Honors in recognition of their sustained excellence in scholarship, and entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet.

Other senior students who have earned College Honors twice, and those whose scholastic averages for the first seven semesters are equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently chosen for University Honors from their college under the preceding qualifications, are also entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet.

Senior transfer students who have not been at Illinois long enough to be considered under the two above classifications are also entitled to have their names inscribed on the Bronze Tablet, provided that: (1) their scholastic averages in the University of Illinois for the three prior semesters are equal to or higher than the four-semester average of the lowest student currently chosen for University Honors from their College; and that (2) their averages in transferred credits for the year prior to their transfer are at least equal to the average of those already chosen for University Honors.

Beta Gamma Sigma

The purpose of this organization shall be to honor high scholarship in commerce and business administration

Beta Gamma Sigma, the national honor society exclusively for outstanding students in the school of commerce, was organized on February 26, 1913, with chapters at the Universities of Illinois, California, and Wisconsin. The purpose of the organization is to honor outstanding scholastic accomplishments in the field of commerce and the field of business administration. Membership is limited solely to those men and women who rank in the upper two per cent of the junior class and upper ten per cent of the senior class — those students who give promise of marked success in their chosen field.

OFFICERS
C. A. Moyer ...................... President
D. P. Locklin .................... Vice-President
R. W. Mayer ..................... Secretary-Treasurer
A. C. Littleton ................ Historian

Since its beginning, Beta Gamma Sigma has expanded considerably. Today, with chapters at fifty of the leading schools and colleges of commerce throughout the United States, the alumni number more than fifteen thousand students and include many of the leading businessmen and industrialists of the country.

Alpha Lambda Delta

The purpose of this organization shall be to honor high scholarship among freshman women.

Alpha Lambda Delta is the only scholastic honorary organization open to freshman women. It was founded at the University of Illinois by Dean Maria Leonard in 1924 for the purpose of promoting intelligent living and a high standard of learning, and of encouraging superior scholastic attainment among the freshman women in our institutions of higher learning. There are now forty-nine active chapters. A flaming candle, which symbolizes the light of knowledge, is the badge of the scholastic honorary. Across the holder is inscribed the monogram. Invitations to become members of Alpha Lambda Delta are extended to those women students who have made an average of 4.5 or better either for their first semester or for their entire freshman year. Pledging and initiation are held at the end of each semester. The tutoring system, a part of Alpha Lambda Delta’s program of service to the university, is now in its second year of operation. It has helped many freshman women to maintain a high scholastic average.
Phi Eta Sigma

The purpose of this organization shall be to honor high scholarship among freshman men.

Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary fraternity for freshman men, was founded at the University of Illinois to encourage and honor high scholarship among the freshman men. Since its founding in 1923 by Dean Thomas Arkle Clarke, chapters have been installed all over the country, and at the present time fifty-seven chapters have charters in leading colleges and universities. Membership to Phi Eta Sigma is open to all freshman men who achieve a 4.5 average during their first semester or by the end of their first year.

An outstanding activity of Phi Eta Sigma is the development of a counseling program to help incoming freshmen. A smoker is given at the end of the eight weeks period for all freshman men who make an average of 4.0 or better. Two installations are held—the first in early winter and the second in early spring. There is an initiation banquet at the end of each semester for new members, at which time an outstanding personality from the campus speaks to the new initiates.
Beta Alpha Psi

encourages service in the accounting profession.

Beta Alpha Psi, the national accounting fraternity, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1919, and now has twenty-one active chapters throughout the country. Students may be elected to membership only if they have maintained sustained records of excellence in all the subjects offered for a degree, as well as in their accounting courses. Honorary members may be elected by the active chapters, provided such persons are either Certified Public Accountants or prominent in the accounting profession. Active chapters may also elect any person who is a member of the American Institute of Accountants.

The purposes of this fraternity are: to encourage and to foster the ideal of service as the basis of the accounting profession, and to promote the study of accountancy and its highest ethical standards.
Eta Kappa Nu
stimulates high scholarship in electrical engineering.

Eta Kappa Nu was founded at the University of Illinois in the year 1904 by ten electrical engineering students. The purpose of this organization is to benefit the electrical engineering profession by inspiring students in their common aims and pursuits. Since its founding, this society has expanded throughout the country, and today there are forty-one active chapters in the United States. Students in electrical engineering may be elected to Eta Kappa Nu during their junior or senior years. The members are selected on the basis of individual scholarship, personality characteristics, and other qualities which indicate that the student will be a success in the profession.

Alpha chapter has been in the past, and still is, markedly distinguished for its enthusiastic activity, and it is particularly notable that the year 1948 revealed participation, vigor, loyalty, and fraternity that stemmed from one hundred per cent of the membership. Such unanimous support was responsible for the successful realization of the organization's purpose.

Gamma Alpha Rho recognizes high scholarship in aeronautical engineering.

Kappa Delta Pi  Recognizes outstanding contributions to education.
Kappa Tau Alpha recognizes high scholarship in journalism.

Kappa Tau Alpha was founded at the University of Missouri on March 10, 1910, by a group of honor students in the School of Journalism. These young people believed that devotion to high standards and professional conduct in their chosen field might be promoted by an organization which would bring together in a single honor society students who had achieved high standing in the leading schools and departments of Journalism. The Greek letters which form the name of the society stand for the initial of Knowledge, Truth, and Accuracy — words which epitomize the aims and ideals of the society. The Illinois chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha was founded in 1925. Missouri and Illinois then joined in plans for the nationalization of the society, an ideal which was accomplished in 1931.

CHICAGO CAMPUS
The professional colleges of the University of Illinois at Chicago have long been known for their pre-eminence in medicine, but this Chicago campus will soon become one of the very great centers in the world for education, research, and clinical practice in medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy.

At the present time a bill stands before the Illinois state legislature for the appropriation of $63,000,000 for a University of Illinois building program. This includes $26,000,000 for the Chicago professional colleges. If passed this spring, building this summer will begin on the following projects: an addition to the general hospital; a second unit to the dental, medical, and pharmacy building; an experimental research station; a drug plant experiment station; a nurses’ residence; a power plant and distribution center; and additional extensive building, remodeling and improvements.

These additions, along with the expansion programs of Loyola University, Illinois Department of Public Welfare, the Veterans’ Administration, and other hospitals and agencies in this area, will make three hundred and five acres on Chicago’s west side one of the world’s greatest centers of medical learning and practice.

Another of the University’s “firsts” was the installation last winter of a betatron for cancer treatment and research. The University will pioneer in the medical use of this instrument, science’s newest source of high energy x-rays and electrons. The betatron, invented in 1940 by Professor Donald W. Kerst of the physics department in Urbana, is housed in a new building south of the Research and Educational Hospitals.

The Aero-Medical and Atmospheric Institute was the first project to be completed in the University’s plan of development. The ground-breaking ceremony for this building by Governor Dwight H. Green was held in September, 1947, and the building was completed this winter. The laboratory is equipped with apparatus for the study of aviation medicine and the effect of cold, heat and barometric changes on the body.

Chicago Campus Landmarks

This statue of Louis Pasteur, the great French scientist, stands in the park facing Cook County Hospital. The funds for this statue represent the dimes of many school children of Chicago. The statue was erected in 1928 by the people of Chicago in recognition of this great servant of humanity. It is the work of Edward Bennett, architect, and Leon Hermant, sculptor.

Standing in the west courtyard is the Spirit of Medicine, a work of the Chicago sculptor, Edouard Chassaing. One of the finest pieces done by him, it depicts Medicine holding the infant, Humanity, in her right arm while warding off the Dragon of Disease with her left arm. It was sponsored by the W.P.A. Art Project and given to the university in 1945.

Aesculapius, the Greek God of Medicine, stands in the courtyard, overlooking the main entrance to the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospitals. At his side stands his daughter, Hygieia, the Goddess of Health, who was inseparable from her father. These two statues are also the work of Edouard Chassaing.

The College of Dentistry has an enrollment of two hundred and fifteen students. Because of limited classroom facilities, only seventy of five hundred and fifty applicants were accepted in this year’s freshman class.

The College of Dentistry has a major role in the developmental plans of the University of Illinois. In the future, the dental school will occupy the major part of the entire building of fifteen floors on the corner of Wood and Polk Streets, taking over the classroom, research, and clinical facilities which will be vacated by the College of Pharmacy when it moves to its new educational building across the street.

The College of Dentistry is already providing enlarged clinical facilities, particularly in pedodontics, this year. Other graduate courses have been instituted to meet the challenge of training dentists in the management of children, in preventive orthodontics, and in public health dentistry.

Present Dental-Medical-Pharmacy Building
Dental Student Council

The Dental Student Council is the student governing body of the College of Dentistry. One of its principal areas of assistance is that of student-faculty relations. This year during the winter quarter the Council sponsored a student-faculty dance in the Union building. It is hoped that this occasion will become an annual affair, for such an activity has been long desired in order to increase the non-academic relations between the student body and faculty.

Dr. Brodie, Dean of the College of Dentistry, is regarded as an unofficial member of the Council. He serves the vital purpose of helping students air their problems before the faculty. Such grievances are presented before the Council for discussion and solution. The Student Council, although proud of past accomplishments, hopes to fill a position of even greater assistance in the near future.

Delta Sigma Delta was founded on November 15, 1882, at the University of Michigan. This professional fraternity was the first Greek letter society to restrict its membership to students in dental school or to practitioners of dentistry. The fraternity's objective is to keep the high standards of dentistry by inculcating in the minds of dental students and practitioners a spirit of fraternal co-operation toward scientific, ethical, and professional progress. Rho chapter, which is located in Chicago, was established in 1892. It is one of thirty-one active chapters. Although Delta Sigma Delta is a professional fraternity, its members also participate in social activities. Highlights on the "Delts" social calendar are the annual "Hobo" dance and the Senior Farewell dinner-dance.

Omicron Kappa Upsilon

Alumni members of Omicron Kappa Upsilon are selected from those senior students who rank highest in scholarship during their entire dental course, not exceeding twelve per cent of the class.

Faculty members are dentists in a dental school faculty who have been elected after service as a teacher for at least three years and have made outstanding contributions to the art, science and literature of dentistry.

Each component chapter may elect a dentist to honorary membership if he has attained distinction in professional or public service, teaching, or research.

The fraternity "was established to promote scholarship and to honor character among students of dentistry."
Psi Omega

Psi Omega was founded at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1892. Active chapters are now located in all the various dental colleges throughout the United States, and active alumni chapters are found in all the prominent cities. A number of chapters are located throughout Canada and Western Europe. The objects of the fraternity are to cultivate the social qualities of its members, to give assistance, advice and advantages out of individual reach, to keep in touch with its members through an international journal, and to exert its influence toward the advancement of the dental profession. Highlights in the social calendar are: rushing, pledging, initiation, tri-chapter and Senior farewell dances, numerous house parties, faculty luncheons, and smokers.

The University of Illinois College of Medicine, with an enrollment of six hundred fifty-four students, is the largest medical school in the United States.

Clinical instruction is provided in the Research and Educational Hospitals, the Illinois Neuropsychiatric Institute, and the Institute for Juvenile Research — all of the university; and in Cook County Hospital, Michael Reese Hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, Illinois Central Hospital, St. Luke’s Hospital, and West Suburban Hospital — all hospitals affiliated with the University of Illinois.

An $8,900,000 addition to the Research and Educational Hospitals of the University will soon be erected to correct the present handicap of inadequate hospital facilities here.

The Institute for Tuberculosis Prevention, a tuberculosis research and prevention unit, will be the central laboratory for the entire country in the preparation of BCG vaccine for tuberculosis and will be run in cooperation with the Chicago Municipal Sanitarium.

Medical Student Council

The Medical Student Council consists of the president of each class, three student council representatives from each class, single representatives from the staff of the "Illini Scope," the American Veterans Committee, Alpha Omega Alpha, and two faculty advisers. Having no official status in the charter of the school, it functions primarily as a sounding board of student opinion. Through its representatives on the Faculty-Student Committee on Student Affairs, it brings student grievances and suggestions to the attention of the faculty. It cooperates with the Student Councils of the Schools of Pharmacy and Dentistry in matters pertaining to the Chicago professional schools as a whole.

The Raymond B. Allen Good Teaching Award had its inception in the minds of the members of the Medical Student Council of 1946. The first selection of recipients was made in the spring of 1948. The awards are designed to give the students a chance to publicly recognize faculty members who have distinguished themselves by providing good teaching, and representing, in themselves, the highest of professional ideals. In the two pre-clinical years, one instructor is selected by each class. From each of the two upper classes, two instructors are selected, one representing clinical teaching, the other, didactic. This year there was a tie for the freshman award between Dr. William J. Furuta and Dr. Parke H. Simer, both of the Anatomy Department. The sophomore award was won by Dr. Carl C. Pfeiffer, head of the Department of Pharmacology. The junior didactic award was won by Dr. Henry G. Poncher, head of the Department of Pediatrics, and the junior clinical award by Dr. Isidore A. Rabens, clinical associate professor of medicine. The senior didactic award was also won by Dr. Poncher, and the senior clinical award by Dr. Eric Oldberg, head of the Department of Neurology and Neurological Surgery.

Alpha Kappa Kappa was founded over half a century ago based on the broad principles of "Social intercourse, mental development, and mutual assistance". On the campus of the Professional Schools the fraternity has always occupied a position of leadership and responsibility; it has over fifty faculty alumni including Dr. A. C. Ivy, and it embodies over ninety active members at present. The spirit of co-operation within the group has fostered excellence in all fields of endeavor: athletics, extracurricular activities, and especially scholarship. During the year outstanding physicians conduct discussions at the chapter house, and two years ago, in this vein, Eta endowed the Henry E. Irish Memorial Lecture at the medical school.
Ever since its founding in 1882 by Will Mayo and several classmates, and its Illinois installation in 1892, Nu Sigma Nu has maintained its record as a strong contributor toward the academic and social goals of its members. At the University of Illinois medical school Nu Sigs are proud of their high overall scholastic rating and large representation in the scholastic honorary AOA, of the sponsorship of social events like the Nu Sig Pheasant Dinner and the Tri-Chapter Dance, of campus sports trophies in golf and tennis, and particularly proud of having at all times a smoothly running house.
Phi Beta Pi

Phi Beta Pi was founded at the University of Pittsburgh on March 10, 1891; it ranks with the oldest of the medical fraternities. At present there are 42 active chapters, all of them being located at Class A medical schools and at all the important medical centers in the country. Iota Chapter was established at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in March, 1902. Established on the basic principles of companionship, friendship, and scholastic ability, the active chapter has achieved an enviable record. Believing that scholarship is the primary interest of every medical student, Phi Beta Pi has achieved distinction in the field. Many aids to the study of medicine have been provided at the chapter house, including an adequate library, human skeleton, and an histological slide projector and screen.
Phi Delta Epsilon was founded at Cornell University medical school in 1904. The fraternity was established to encourage the highest standards of achievement in the science and art of medicine and to maintain the highest standard of ethics in the practice of medicine. The Alpha Alpha chapter at the University of Illinois was established in 1907. Today it is one of the largest chapters in the country. It boasts a substantial representation in Alpha Omega Alpha and is a constant threat in all interfraternity competition. It promotes good fellowship, equality, and unity.
Medical schools, just as all other professional schools, bring together men of many different backgrounds for the purpose of preparing them for their life's work. There has always been a need for organizations that weld together these diversified backgrounds and help fledglings to better adapt themselves to the obligations and privileges they hold as members of their profession and their community. Phi Lambda Kappa is such an organization.

Phi Lambda Kappa is a national medical fraternity founded at the University of Pennsylvania in 1907. The Illinois Chapter, Alpha Alpha, was founded in 1908. The fraternity has as its object, through its many activities, a brotherhood of physicians, united by common purpose, fostering fraternity fellowship, appreciation of social obligations, and excellence of scholarship among its members and throughout the entire medical school.
Phi Rho Sigma

Phi Rho Sigma is a strong, national, medical fraternity founded in 1890, with chapters at the best medical schools from coast to coast. Beta Gamma chapter has the heritage of two fine medical schools, Rush and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, where it was active even before the latter school was adopted by the university. The Illinois chapter, supported by an active alumni association, is a selected, well integrated, and democratic group prominent in all professional, social, and athletic activities. There has been established an organized program of discussions with prominent alumni, private dances, academic assistance for the married freshman, and a congenial atmosphere that contributes significantly to a successful career.

College of Pharmacy

The staff of the College of Pharmacy welcomes many students who have either entered for the first time, or resumed their formal education, as a part of a training program in pharmaceutical education.

The facilities available at present are not adequate to accommodate all of the applicants. The administration of the University is endeavoring to meet this greater challenge required of all institutions of higher learning.

The College of Pharmacy is planning for a new Pharmacy building, which will house at least 600 students, and a Drug Plant Experiment Station, which will be located in Lisle, Illinois, adjacent to the famous Morton Arboretum. These modern facilities will enable the college to offer a well-rounded teaching and research program to those who desire to make the practice of Pharmacy their life vocation.
Proposed Experimental Drug Farm

Proposed Second Unit of the Dental-Medical-Pharmacy Building
The Student Council of the College of Pharmacy is the coordinating organization for the four classes and acts as liaison between the students and faculty. Three members of the Council, including the President, meet with representatives of the Medical and Dental Student Councils to coordinate activities and discuss questions which affect all three colleges.

Last year the Pharmacy Student Council presented a portrait photograph of the late Dr. Elmer H. Wirth to the administration. This was the first of a series of portraits planned for permanent display in the proposed new Pharmacy Building on the Chicago Professional Campus.

American Pharmaceutical Association

The University of Illinois Student Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was established June 15, 1942. Such Student Branches were founded to promote an advancement in the science and art of Pharmacy, so that a higher degree of professional accomplishments can be attained and thereby render greater service to the public needs. Membership is open to all students of Pharmacy. As members, they take a part in the activities of promoting a closer unity for the improvement of the practice of Pharmacy. The organization's basic aims and principles are primarily those of the parent organization, the American Pharmaceutical Association, which was founded in 1852.
Delta Kappa Sigma

Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity was chartered by the State of Illinois at the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy around 1921. Its purposes are to promote good fellowship and advancement of the pharmaceutical sciences, to encourage pharmaceutical research, and to foster professional and business ethics. By organic law, it is non-sectarian in character. Once a student at the College of Pharmacy is pledged with the intention of becoming a member, the fraternity then sets in motion a program of activity that seeks to clarify his ideas, develop his self-confidence, expand his mental horizon, widen his acquaintance, familiarize him with the way of the world, enable him to take care of himself and free him from any backwardness and prejudice that stand in the way of a full life. Assisting in this process of development is the Alumni Association of Delta Kappa Sigma.
Independent Men’s Professional Organization

Although the need for a progressive, liberal independent students organization existed for many years on the Chicago Campus, it was only in April of 1948, that The Independent Men’s Professional Organization officially became organized and recognized. In a few months of existence, the active membership doubled the combined membership of the other social organizations located here. At present, this organization is operating only in the College of Pharmacy; however, the charter embodies provisions so that next fall independent men of the Colleges of Medicine and Dentistry may be united.
Kappa Psi

Chi chapter of the Kappa Psi National Pharmaceutical Fraternity is united with the many chapters of Kappa Psi to raise standards, ideals, and prestige in the pharmacy profession. Kappa Psi is ever increasing its efforts to promote scholarship, professionalism, and brotherhood among its members. These are the prime objects of this organization. Chi chapter is united to further in every way possible the mutual advantages of its members socially, morally, and intellectually and to foster pharmaceutical research and high scholarship. This fraternity, which brings together persons of good character and sound mental health, helps to make the bond among the pharmacists stronger with the knowledge that they are members and brothers in Kappa Psi.

Chicago Illini Union

The Chicago Illini Union during the past seven years has become the center of activity for students, faculty, and staff. Policies are set up by the Committee on Student Affairs and the Chicago Illini Union. This committee is composed of a faculty member from each college, three student representatives, one alumni representative, and three ex-officio members.

Three student committees, Display, Music, and Even on the few occasions when there are no formally arranged activities, the Union Building is a popular gathering place for a coke or cup of coffee.

Phi Mu Phi

Phi Mu Phi is an honorary musical organization unique among the medical and professional schools throughout the country.

Founded by Dr. William H. Welker, the forerunner of Phi Mu Phi was the Men's Glee Club formed in 1931.

At present Phi Mu Phi boasts of a Glee Club, a Concert Orchestra and a Dance Band, comprising students from the Colleges of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy and allied institutions.

Applicants are elected to active membership after a two year pledge period during which time attendance at a minimum of officially scheduled rehearsals and all concerts is required. All the groups unite at least twice a year to present concerts.

Reserve Officers Training Corps

The Medical ROTC unit was organized in September 1947 and the Dental unit the following year. Both corps are open to all male students in their freshman year, if they are physically qualified, and to upperclassmen who are veterans. Those who complete the four-year course and attend camp during one summer are eligible for commissions in either the medical corps or the dental corps of the U. S. Army. Medical students in the course are given priority for Army internships.

During the school year, classes are held once a week. Subjects discussed include preventive medicine, chemical warfare, and atomic warfare casualties.

Lt. Col. Warren H. Diessner, MC, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. During the war he was commander of several Field and General hospitals in Burma. Lt. Col. Grayson G. Garrison, a graduate of the University of Iowa, served as dental surgeon for the 9th Air Force.
Faculty-Student Baseball Game
The Chicago Professional schools of the University of Illinois started an informal Intramural Sports program in 1937, under the direction of F. W. Kasch, Assistant Professor of Physical Education.

At the present time the Intramural program is handled by Mr. John W. Brown, Instructor in Physical Education. In the 1947-1948 season eleven sports activities were available with over 900 people participating.

Football is the first sport. The six man teams represent classes and student organizations from the three schools on this campus. The Phi Chi's finished undisputed champions in football among the twenty teams in the two leagues.

During the late fall, the swimming meet is held in the Duncan YMCA. This year three teams participated with the Phi Beta Pi's emerging as winners of the meet.

Basketball starts in December with usually twenty or more teams entered. The Phi Beta Pi's won this championship; Delta Sigma Delta's team was second; and the Second Year Pharmacists were third. The Second Year Pharmacists represented the Professional Schools in the MING festival, and won the basketball playoffs by defeating the Delta Tau Delta's from the Urbana Campus.

The Second Year Pharmacists won the volleyball championship; Alpha Omega was second and represented the Professional Schools in the MING festival. They were eliminated in the first round.

Julius Liebermann won the individual singles table tennis championship. Playoffs were in handball, and Stern, being successful, went to

The faculty of the Professional Schools entered a team in the softball tournament and were among the leaders until the last few days of the tournament, when they were edged out by the Phi Delta Epsilon’s.

In track competition, Jack Schewe won the pole vaulting for the fourth year in a row. The Alpha Kappa Kappa’s became the last track champions of the campus. Track is being abandoned because of lack of training and safety considerations.

Forty men entered the golf tournament in four man teams representing seven campus organizations. The Nu Sigma’s took the meet after Jerry Modjeska, the individual champion, turned in a par score of seventy-one. In the fall of 1948 another small golf tournament was held, and again Modjeska was individual champion.

GALESBURG CAMPUS
Galesburg Campus

The University of Illinois at Galesburg, proclaimed "unique in the history of education" by President George D. Stoddard, began its third academic year last fall. Formerly an army installation, this division of undergraduate study offers college training to veterans and high school graduates alike. The Galesburg campus had its first classes October 21, 1946, thirty days after being acquired from the State of Illinois.

The first year saw Galesburg's enrollment soar from 432 students to the near-capacity of 1,702. The instructional staff was increased from 34 faculty members to over one hundred. Today, students may enroll in three colleges — Liberal Arts and Sciences, Commerce and Business Administration, and Engineering.

Students refer to the unprecedented $5,000,000 installation as a "University City" because all facilities including housing, classrooms, dining halls, and recreational rooms are under one roof. The complete unit has more than a mile and one-half of corridors connecting the 117 buildings on the 156-acre campus.

Some educators acclaim the Galesburg Division as "one of the most rapidly developed universities in the history of education."
NAVY PIER CAMPUS
The Chicago Undergraduate Division of the University of Illinois has built a sound educational program since its establishment at Navy Pier in the fall of 1946. Now in its third school year, the school has provided educational opportunities for thousands of Chicago-area students. More than 4,200 freshmen and sophomores are currently registered.

The curriculum has been expanded to include 184 different courses in liberal arts, commerce, engineering, and architecture. A number of outstanding instructors have been added to the teaching staff which now totals nearly three hundred persons.

Modern, fully-equipped classrooms and laboratories are housed on the Navy Pier campus. Students are provided with excellent facilities, including a library, study halls, cafeteria, and recreational activities.

STUDENT ADMINISTRATION
The highlight of last year's spring social season was the Senior Ball, one of the outstanding dances of the year. In line with old University tradition, last year's senior class also held a picnic, which was their last get-together before graduation. The class officers felt that it was highly desirable to reestablish some of the traditions formerly so popular on this campus, and they revived a number of them.

This year's senior class officers have attempted to analyze some of the problems confronting the entering freshman and, with the officers of the other classes, have initiated a freshman advisory program designed to give the freshmen a bird's-eye view of the activities on the campus as well as an opportunity to discuss problems of adjustment to life on the campus.

Following the first spring election in many years, Junior Class officers and senators began their work even before school had begun in the fall. While the senators concerned themselves with such problems as the age limit for car permits, a student court, and revision of the Student Code, class officers worked on a student government display which was to be shown at freshman activity night, a plan for personal counseling of Illini freshmen, and the selection of a general chairman and committee heads for the Junior Prom.

One of the gayest of winter dances, the Junior Prom, was given December 10 with Eddy Howard and his orchestra providing music for a "Winterlude." Soft blue lights increased the atmosphere created by three huge reindeer and a roof-top scene behind the orchestra. Holiday-minded juniors and their guests enjoyed the music until the early hours of the morning.

As the climax in the evening of dancing, the class president crowned Helen Jo Hahne "Sweetheart" of the Prom. As the couples resumed dancing, Eddy Howard sang "White Christmas" to honor the queen and her court.
Sophomore Class Officers: Betty Wright, vice-president; Delmar Murphy, president; Charlene Woodson, secretary-treasurer

The Sophomore Class held its annual Sophomore Cotillion on Friday evening, February 25, from nine to one in Huff gymnasium. Lending to the enchantment of the evening was the unusual theme based on an underwater atmosphere, which was carried out in the decorations.

In order to obtain a committee worthy of putting on the dance and to give them sufficient time to carry out their ideas, petitioning was held early in the first semester. After the general chairman, Del Murphy, ten chairmen, and the committee members had been selected, large general meetings were held where plans for the dance were slowly put together. After the main issues had been decided, the meeting broke up into smaller groups and the details were worked out. The sell-out marked "success" to one of the most important sophomore events.
The Freshman Council of the class of 1951 was exceptionally active. Under the guidance of Dean Koenig, the council prepared a questionnaire concerning the freshman guidance week and distributed copies to approximately five hundred freshmen. The answers to the questions were computed and the general indication of student opinion expressed was determined. The council then submitted a report of their findings to the committee in charge of freshman week.

The Council also was instrumental in planning the annual Freshman Frolic which was held in the Illini Union ballroom. Bill Shelton's orchestra provided the music, while talent from the freshman class presented the floor show, with Dick Cook as master of ceremonies.

Freshman officers were elected at the beginning of the second semester during the general election of all class officers.
The Student Senate is the official voice of the students of this campus. The purpose of the Student Senate, as stated in the Code on Student Affairs, is "to promote the general welfare of the student body of the University of Illinois, and to exercise such powers of student government as shall be conferred upon it by the University Senate Committee on Student Affairs . . ." Matters falling within the jurisdiction of any student-faculty board or of Panhellenic or Inter-Fraternity Councils are not under the supervision of the group.

The Student Senate is composed of twenty-five members. Fifteen of these members are elected by the Student body in general election, and the other ten members are ex-officio and obtain their seats on the Senate by reason of their excellence in participation in the major campus activities.

Open meetings are held each Wednesday night in the Illini Union Building; any student in the University has the right to attend. Students may speak before the Senate if they receive permission from the president prior to the time they wish to speak, and any student wishing to place legislation before the Senate may do so by writing the legislation in appropriate form.
The Student Affairs Audit and Supervision Committee supervises all general University functions and social events to which admissions are charged. It is a committee of the Student Senate and the Committee on Student Affairs and is responsible to them. It is composed of five students selected by the Student Senate, one student and two faculty men named by the chairman of the Committee on Student Affairs, and its executive secretary, Dean V. J. Hampton.

The work of the Student Affairs Audit and Supervision Committee includes approval of the date, place, and budget of the functions and events approved by the Committee on Student Affairs, and the printing, issuance, collection, and audit of all tickets. In addition the committee is charged with responsibility for the patron and complimentary ticket lists as well as the distribution of invitations and of the complimentary tickets. All season passes issued to dances and the other supervised University functions are issued by the committee.

This committee presents real evidence of the "learn by doing" theory of student government. It provides experience for its members and sound advice for University activities.

Union Administration

Just as the University provides the finest equipment and facilities in its laboratories for the formal curriculum, so it provides in the Illini Union one of the finest centers for social and recreational life.

The Union Building, opened in February, 1941, is the University's first social and recreational center. Here students develop friendships and leisure time interests through participating in a wide program of student activities.

The Union provides the place and means for lounging and smoking, for reading, for dining and refreshments, for dating and dancing, for bowling and billiards, and other interests. The Union also operates the Illini Union Cooperative Bookstore and the Coffee House.

The students, as well as the faculty and staff, are proud of their Illini Union and respect the fineness of its interior in their use of its facilities.

University Convocations are addressed by well known speakers who bring to the campus their points of view on subjects of general interest. Originating in 1944, the committee of the Student Convocation Series, which is composed of six faculty members and five students, has presented this series of lectures by people who are leaders in their particular fields and prominent in public life.

Although the primary appeal of the University Convocation Series is to the students, the lectures are open to the public as well as students without charge.

Student Convocations
Hanson Baldwin, Military Editor of the New York Times and Pulitzer Prize Winner, discussed "The United States versus Russia." Mr. Baldwin's twenty years of accurate reporting as well as his astute technical knowledge have made him one of the brilliant columnists of our time.

Bosley Crowther, distinguished Motion Picture and Film Editor of the New York Times, spoke on some unseen aspects of "What You Don't Know About the Movies." During the year Mr. Crowther has been engaged in writing the motion picture section for the Information Please Almanac.

Senator James W. Fulbright, junior senator from Arkansas, discussed the topic "United States World Leadership." Formerly a college president, Senator Fulbright has continued his interest in educational problems as well as becoming an authority on America's post-war planning and foreign policy.

Bosley Crowther, distinguished Motion Picture and Film Editor of the New York Times, spoke on some unseen aspects of "What You Don't Know About the Movies." During the year Mr. Crowther has been engaged in writing the motion picture section for the Information Please Almanac.

Ezequiel Padilla, distinguished Latin-American statesman, discussed "Current and Future Inter-American Relations." Known everywhere as a leading advocate of democratic ideals, Ezequiel Padilla has served as Attorney General, Secretary of Education, and Foreign Minister of Mexico. He was previously a defeated candidate for President.

Clifton Utley, radio commentator and foreign analyst, gave his impressions of "The Road Before Us." Mr. Utley has traveled extensively in almost all the European countries, studied international relations and political science abroad, and has had a weekly broadcast on foreign affairs since 1935.
Y. M. C. A.

The University of Illinois Young Men’s Christian Association has a record of seventy-six years of Christian leadership and activity among the students and faculty of the University. The objectives of the Association are to foster Christian ideas in everyday student life and to provide opportunities for training in Christian leadership. The Y.M.C.A. programs have long been recognized as having something vital to offer the campus community.

This fall before school began, the Y.M.C.A. maintained a Freshman Camp designed to ease the adjustment of incoming freshmen to campus life. Other features of this Freshman Program were a Rushee Round-up, a Freshman Stag, a Freshman Movie, the forming of a Freshman Commission, the conducting of freshman discussion groups, and the sponsoring, together with the I-F Council, of the All-Pledge Banquet. The opportunities for student responsibility have been increased this year by the creation of two new student offices and an Executive Council. The Executive Council, consisting of the five elected student officers, now has direct supervision of all undergraduate student programs.

This year’s officers are: William Erwin, President; Roger Little, Vice-President; Thomas Moore, Recorder; Robert Larson, Service Executive; Peter Vanes, Organization Executive.
Y. W. C. A.

The Y.W.C.A. has just completed its 65th year on the University of Illinois campus. This organization has endeavored to make this year a meaningful one for women students of all races and creeds, faculty, and alumnae by combining its efforts to maintain the high standards and ideals of the association and to achieve its purpose — "full and creative life" — for all students. The program has stressed service for other people in the community as well as on the campus. This group has tried to arouse an awareness of the world today, and show the importance of taking an active part in the affairs of the nation.

In cooperation with the Y.M.C.A., a graduate program has been expanded and a full symposium series was launched. The Y.W.C.A. has presented programs with students of other lands in order to provide a real welcome and acquaint the students with family life in the community. Although each and every girl is important in the Y.W.C.A., its regular concern is to help all freshman women become an integrated part of campus life at Illinois through a "big and little sister" program involving all freshman women, whether they are members of the Y.W.C.A. or not.

The Campus Chest organization was instituted to combine the numerous charities into one all-campus drive. Under the supervision of William Allaway, various methods of raising money were devised. The main source was a concentrated one day drive in which organized houses were divided into teams. For two weeks preceding the drive, orientation movies were shown. The institution of a corn gleaning project increased contributions, while various campus groups devised ways to supplement donations. The proceeds from the Spring Carnival added to a successful year for Campus Chest.

The United Negro college fund which received 5% of the total, and the scholarship fund which shared 10% with the co-op playground, were beneficiaries added this year. Half of the Campus Chest proceeds went to the World Student Service fund, while CARE received 7½ %, and the United Nations Fund for children was given 2½ %. Lisle Fellowships received 5% of the allocations, and the remaining 15% was divided among the March of Dimes, Shi-Ai Milk Fund, Crippled Children Fund, and the Community Chest.

Intervarsity Christian Fellowship

Intervarsity Christian Fellowship is an international interdenominational religious organization which strives to consider intelligently the spiritual and moral problems of the day through study of the Bible, through prayer, and through group discussion. Believing that the solution to all problems is to be found only in Christ, each member seeks to know Christ and to spread His word. A full and varied program includes challenging lectures by eminent religious leaders, weekly Bible study, and daily meditation and prayer. Understanding is further fostered through the sharing of ideas at regional, national and international conferences held periodically on university campuses throughout the world.

Although it emphasizes the spiritual and intellectual, Intervarsity does not neglect the social needs of its members. Thus Intervarsity Christian Fellowship is prepared to make a vital contribution to not just one, but to many phases of campus life, challenging students to give greater service to a world in need.

Newman Foundation

The purpose of Newman Foundation, the Catholic Student center, is to deepen the spiritual feeling and enrich the temporal life of its members. Under the direction of Reverend Dr. Edward J. Duncan and his assistants, Reverend Edward W. O’Rourke and Reverend Edgar C. Taylor, this group closely unites Catholic students on campus. Most important of Newman Foundation’s activities is St. John’s Catholic Chapel, in which students are offered several masses daily and Sunday and the opportunity for frequent reception of the Sacraments.

Other Newman activities include discussion groups, lectures, corporate communions, dramatics, intramural sports, parties, and social programs. Traditional events, including a spring formal, a carnival, and a picnic at Turkey Run State Park in Indiana, are eagerly anticipated. Notable additions to the Newman program are credit courses in religion, the choir, the Graduate Students’ League, the Married Couples’ Group, the Sanctuary Society, and the Altar Society. This organization is affiliated with the National Federation of Newman Clubs, which is composed of similar groups at universities throughout the country.

The Illio
Editorial Staff

Judith Flesch, Assistant Editor
Under the guidance of John Westenhaver, Editor, and Edith Wells and Judith Flesch, Assistant Editors, the 1949 Illio has achieved its goal — a reflection of the various phases of life at the U. of I. Producing the Illio isn’t the simple job which one examination of the book might indicate. The plans require long hours of work before the Illio assumes its present form. Most of the routine work is done by members of the freshman and sophomore editorial staffs. These staffs are under the supervision of Junior Editors who write copy, plan page layouts, and assemble the book for the presses. The juniors are chosen by the senior Editors, who secure their positions by petition and interview by the Board of Control of the Illini Publishing Company.
The Illio
Business Staff
Heading the Business Staff of the 1949 Illio is Bob Nelson, Business Manager, upon whom rests the responsibility for the financing of the yearbook. Ably assisting him are the assistant managers Mary Alice Bartsch and Phyllis Skiles.

The Juniors in charge of the Sales Department are Jim Countryman and Carol Venerable whose work consists of the contact of the sales potentiality.

Supervising the work of the Finance Department are Cathy Carlson and Gene Dale, who are charged with the monetary responsibilities of the Illio.

Managing the Advertising Department are Lois Dean and Bill Teachout. Their duties are the solicitation of advertising and negotiation of advertising agreements.

The Personnel Department, headed by Mahlon Neal and Marian Scheineman, maintain sales and attendance records.

The sophomore and freshman staffs perform the important work of selling the Illio and do general office work.
The Daily Illini

In its seventy-eighth year, as in previous years, the Daily Illini is run by students — for students.

As the major means of expression for faculty and student opinion the newspaper concentrates on campus news.

All editors of the newspaper are selected by the board of control of the Illini Publishing Company, a non-profit corporation. The board is made up of four students and four faculty members.

An extensive training program for new personnel is conducted by the editors. A secondary training cycle is conducted for those new staff members who have been advanced to positions of greater responsibility.
Among other accomplishments, 1949 saw the Illini with an increased volume of display advertising. An increase in advertising, which provides a large part of the income of a newspaper, is important to the entire paper. This increased business obtained by the hard work of the entire staff has served as an incentive to build a more efficient and hard-working organization and to produce a better paper for our readers.

We on the Business Staff of the Illini feel that the experience obtained from this activity is invaluable to student workers regardless of what vocational field they plan to enter. The qualities brought out by work on a student publication are those that will be valuable in any phase of life. We are proud of our part in helping to keep THE DAILY ILLINI operating as a newspaper written by, for, and about students.
Daily Illini Sports Staff

For your reading pleasure, The Daily Illini sports staff covers all University sports ably and accurately. Increased coverage has been given both varsity football and intramural football because of the increased interest in both sports.

Sports Editor Phil Jeffries and Assistant Editor Al Hall headed the staff for the fall semester of 1948-1949.

Two separate staffs among the sports writers covered the various events; one group was devoted to writing about intramural sports while the second covered all other sports.

Although the staff was perhaps a bit smaller than those of the previous two years, it suffered little from having fewer writers. The paper was fortunate in having a backlog of experienced sports reporters and desk men at the start of the semester, as few of last year’s staff failed to return this year.

The sports staff looks back on last year as a banner year for sports and sports writing, and at the same time it looks forward to another great year this fall.

The Illini Publishing Company is a non-commercial corporation chartered under the laws of the State of Illinois for the purpose of printing, publishing, and distributing all official student publications.

Management of the corporation is vested in a board of directors whose membership consists of four faculty members and four students, all of whom must serve without compensation. The students are elected by the board from a group of nominees submitted by the Student Senate. These members serve for two-year terms. Faculty members are appointed by the President of the University of Illinois upon recommendation by the Dean of Students. These members serve four-year terms, none of which run concurrently.

Publications published by the company at the present time are: The Daily Illini, newspaper; The Illinois Agriculturist, magazine published for the students in the College of Agriculture; The Illio, yearbook; and The Illinois Technograp, magazine published for the students in the College of Engineering.
Photographic Staff

To the Illio photographic staff falls the job each year of supplying the editors of the yearbook with new, interesting pictures to help make the Illio one of the finest college annuals. Under the direction of Jack Stumpf and Bill Blankenberg, the staff began its work the first week of school and continued with increasing tempo until the proofs, copy, and photographs were sent to the engravers.

There is as much competition among the members of the staff to make a fine photograph as among reporters to scoop their rival paper. Because of this feeling of friendly rivalry among the group, it is felt that a better yearbook with finer illustrations is possible.

When the last picture is snapped and the Illio finally goes to press, there is a true feeling that the photographic staff has done its best to make the Illio a book that truly represents life at the University of Illinois.
This year marked the 64th year of publication of the "Illinois Technograph," the student publication of the College of Engineering. The "Technograph" is published each month of the school year and presents feature articles of technical and semi-technical nature, the latest in new developments, personalities of professors and students, and other items of interest to student engineers.

The "Technograph" was awarded first, second, and third prizes for best magazine for local news, for editorials, and for best all-around magazine, respectively, and received honorable mention in five other awards.

This year's staff of the "Technograph," with its three faculty advisers, Mr. J. A. Henry, Mr. A. R. Knight, and Mr. L. A. Rose, is credited with having published the largest monthly issue of the magazine since its inception.
The Illinois Agriculturist is the magazine of the students in Agriculture and Home Economics. Published six times yearly, its four-fold purpose is:

To acquaint students and faculty with the latest scientific developments in agriculture and home economics.

To report events of general interest on the College of Agriculture campus.

To promote the best interests of agricultural and home economics students on the campus of the University of Illinois.

To serve as a means of training agricultural and home economics students in journalism and business administration.

This year's staff is directed by Harold Guither, Editor; Meta Marie Keller, Women's Editor; and George D. Johnson, Business Manager.

A Cappella Choir

Robert Commanday, Director

The University A Cappella Choir, under Professor Robert Commanday, prepares and presents music from the wide repertory of sacred and secular works for small chorus.

For the second semester, ten additional singers were admitted to the original group. The popularity of unaccompanied singing for mixed voices as encouraged by the Choir led to the formation of two separate madrigal groups which sang on the radio and in concert.

Its first appearance this year was at a benefit concert for the blind for which the Choir sang works by Brahms, and Purcell, and accompanied Professor Bruce Foote in a work by Ralph Vaughan-Williams. The major performances this year, included the Annual Christmas Choral Concert at which it sang a group of unusual Christmas Carols, and the Contemporary Arts Festival in March, during which the Choir sang a work composed for the Festival by Normand Lockwood.
The University Chorus, the oldest musical organization on the campus—materially enlarged the scope of its activity during the past year.

The Annual Christmas Choral Concert, was performed this year on December 12, and featured the newly-robed Chorus under the new Choral Director, Robert Paul Commanday. The first half of Bach’s “Christmas Oratorio” was performed. A special orchestra, with Professor Paul Pettinga, Chorus accompanist, at the harpsichord assisted. Two hundred members of the other choral groups, sitting in the balconies, joined in the singing of several of the chorales.

The Contemporary Arts Festival, in March, disclosed the University Chorus in greatly augmented membership singing Randall Thompson’s “The Peaceable Kingdom.” The Spring Concert, May 15, presented the Chorus and Orchestra in the Brahms “German Requiem,” conducted by John N. Kuypers, Director of the University School of Music.

Men's Glee Club

Singing Illinois: Joan Hall, Mary Wham, Joanne Ann Carr, Wilber J. Hoel, Director of Men's Glee Club, Sue Carol Carr, Janice Abels, Janice Hinn

The "Singing Illini" as the group is now called, is one of the more prominent musical groups on the Illinois campus. The Men's Glee Club has always been active in Freshman Welcomes, in Pep Rallies, in University Sings, and in many special appearances throughout the school year. Besides their annual Christmas concert and Spring concert, the Club took a mid-semester concert tour appearing at University of Illinois Alumni Groups in all parts of Illinois. In December the "Singing Illini" became the first group to entertain Fred Waring and the "Pennsylvanians" musically at a smoker held in honor of the visitors after their Thursday night broadcast from the University Auditorium. The addition of the six "Singing Illini," novelty numbers, and many new arrangements formed a superb combination that well deserved the praise forthcoming at the end of a successful concert year.
The Women's Glee Club, founded fifty-four years ago, was reorganized under Professor Robert Commanday's direction in September.

Embarking upon an ambitious program to sing unusual music from the women's chorus repertory, the Women's Glee Club participated in the Theatre Guild-School of Music performance of Gustav Holst's Savitri. This was one of the first productions in this country of Holst's opera, a work distinguished in its striking dramatic appeal, which was underlined by the accompaniment of the off-stage women's voices. Its next appearance featured Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" assisted by Miss Joanne Gill, harpist, with a solo by the club president, Miss Mary Jackson. These carols were performed at the Annual Christmas Choral Concert, for the Tuesday Tea and Newcomer's Club and recorded for radio broadcast.

In the second semester, the Women's Glee Club sang in the Contemporary Arts Festival, and in a Spring Concert, in addition to concerts outside the University.

Robert Commanday, Director
The Choristers of the University of Illinois make up a chorus of ninety voices. This chorus was organized for the first time under the direction of Professor Jay Allen in the fall of 1948. The planning of the organization was perfected by Professor Robert Commanday, the supervisor of all choral activities in the School of Music, as a group in which singers can gain valuable experience in choral singing and in sight reading. This experience can be used especially as preparation for the entrance into the more ambitious groups, such as A Cappella Choir, and the University Chorus. Membership is not limited to inexperienced singers only, however, but is open to university and community residents alike. Rehearsals of the group are held on Wednesdays at 6:55 P.M. and the first concert of the season was given jointly by the Choristers with the Repertory Orchestra on January 9, 1948. The repertoire of the organization covers fine choral music in many styles.
The eighty-five piece University Orchestra of the University of Illinois is conducted by John M. Kuypers, director of the School of Music. Membership is open to all qualified students in the University and to residents of the community as well as to students and faculty of the School of Music.

This orchestra presents several concerts each year, including a performance during the Contemporary Arts Festival. Members of the orchestra have also played under the direction of the University choral director with the University Chorus.

The repertoire of the University Orchestra consists of standard symphonic works, including contemporary works as well as classic. This year, due to the enlarging of the Smith Recital Hall stage, it has been possible to augment the orchestra by some fifteen players.
The First Regimental Band is conducted by Everett D. Kisinger, new Assistant Director of Bands. The purpose of the First Regimental Band is twofold. First, it serves as a training unit for the Concert Band and supplies the replacements for the graduating members of the Concert Band. Second, it serves as a nucleus of the world famous Illini Football Band. The members of the First Regimental Band have a rich and varied musical experience in this organization. From the marching routines of the fall, this Band turns into a fine concert organization the remainder of the school year. At the Annual Band Clinic, the First Regimental Band played a two hour concert of new band materials. A formal concert was given in the early spring, and the Band also participated in the Twilight Concerts and in broadcasts over radio station WILL. Members of the Band received advanced training through special sectional rehearsals.
The Second Regimental Band, which is conducted by Lyman A. Starr, is an integral part of the University of Illinois Bands. It is divided into two sections, A and B. Serving as training units for the First Regimental and Concert Bands, they perform a variety of duties in connection with the Department's work. The members, who are predominantly freshmen and sophomores, take band in lieu of Military Training and receive the same amount of credit as Basic R.O.T.C. students.

Each year several members are selected for participation in the Football Band. During the 1948 football season, the combined Second Regimental Bands performed with the Football Band at the Army and Ohio games. One of the contributions of this group in which its members take great pride, is the promotion of the traditional Illini spirit at Pep Rallies.

Other activities include furnishing music for military ceremonies, performing new music publications at the Annual Band Clinic and presenting an annual formal concert during the Twilight series after Easter.

The Illini Football Band is world renowned as one of the largest marching, playing, and singing organizations of its kind. The Football Band was taken over at mid-season by Everett D. Kisinger, after fourteen very successful years under the direction of Mark H. Hindsley. The school year was hardly started before the band gave one of its most outstanding performances at the Army game, the last home game performance under the direction of Mr. Hindsley. The following week the Marching Band went to Minneapolis for the Minnesota-Illinois game. Outstanding among the many formations presented were the “Cannon and Shells” at the Army game, the United Nations Sequence at the Purdue game, the “State of Iowa with the rolling Mississippi River” at the Iowa game, and the special homecoming performance honoring Dr. A. A. Harding. The Football Band membership is made up of men from the Concert and First Regimental Bands and selected members of the Second Regimental Band. For special occasions, the remainder of the Second Regimental Band augmented the Marching Band to bring the total number to 255 members.
Sponsored and controlled by the University Concert and Entertainment Board, the Star Course brings the outstanding entertainment of leading contemporary musicians to the campus. It is the responsibility of the board to make final decisions about the selection of artists and to supervise the appointment of staff members.

Alice Proffock and Burta Fleharty are the two senior directors who work with the University Concert and Entertainment Board. They act as the co-managers of the Star Course. Alice Proffock is the financial manager and Burta Fleharty, as personnel manager, is in charge of directing the office staff.
Junior managers are chosen by the University and Concert Entertainment Board on the basis of their scholarship and their work as members of the sophomore staff. They perform such duties as the keeping of Star Course accounts, supervision of ticket sales, arranging for publicity, the maintenance of routine correspondence, entertainment for the artists, and assignment and supervision of sophomore ushers for all Star Course performances.

The sophomore managers do office work in addition to selling concert tickets and ushering for all Star Course performances. They are chosen by the board and the senior managers on the basis of their freshman activities, their scholarship, and interest in Star Course.

SERVICES
In 1862, the United States Government put into effect the Morrill Land Grant Act. This law provided for donations of public land by the Federal Government to the several states for the endowment, maintenance, and support of colleges of agriculture and the mechanical arts on the condition that military training be a required course. In 1867, the State of Illinois adopted the provisions of this Act, and through the University Board of Trustees, placed military training in the curriculum of the University.

Initially, the Cadet Corps consisted of a single Cadet Company, commanded by a Cadet Captain. With the passage of the Military Act of 1916, the Military Department, and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps throughout the nation received a great impetus.

In the interim between World Wars, the University ROTC expanded to six Arms and Services represented on campus. During World War II, the program at this University was necessarily curtailed. However, with the re-establishment of the ROTC Post-War, there has been continued growth, until at present there are eleven units of Arms, Services and Air Force represented on campus. They are: Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Anti-Aircraft Artillery, Engineers, Air Force (Administrative; Maintenance), Transportation Corps, Quartermaster Corps, Signal Corps, Ordnance Department and Army Security Agency.
The senior officer, as academic head of the department, is Professor of Military Science and Tactics. In the military organization, he is Commandant of Cadets. All other officers that are assigned, hold appropriate subordinate academic and military positions on his staff. The senior officer in each unit is the Unit Director.

As enacted by the Illinois General Assembly, a student entering the University, if he is physically fit, must register in the two year Basic Course, ROTC. This course emphasizes citizenship, leadership, proficiency in elementary subjects such as hygiene and first-aid, and other qualities of value to a leader in either civilian or military pursuits.

Under recent revisions in regulations, a student availing himself of the opportunity to enter the Advanced Course (thereby being deferred from provisions of the Selective Service Act of 1948 until graduation) where he may specialize in military subjects of particular interest to him, not only may prepare himself to stand ready as a Reserve Officer should a national emergency arise, but also he may qualify himself for a Regular Army Commission. The National Military Establishment anticipates a rather large number of Regular Army Officers to come from ROTC Units such as are represented on this campus.
The Military Council, voice of the cadet corps and advisory body to the Commandant of Cadets, is composed of the ranking cadet officer in each unit, a representative from each of the three honorary military fraternities, the regimental executive officer and regimental commander.

The Council meets each week to discuss problems of the cadet corps and to originate recommendations for improvement of the corps for submission to the Commandant.

Words of praise are inadequate for these student officers who have given time and effort to Military Council membership far in excess of that demanded of them. Their reward is the satisfaction of looking back, in years to come, on the University of Illinois ROTC cadet corps, knowing that they had a part in raising the corps to higher-than-ever standards of achievement and distinction.

Military Review on Armed Forces Day
Senior Cadet Officers

The Senior Cadet candidates for United States Army and Air Force commissions have successfully raised the standards of the ROTC in this transition year to a point where they are proud and satisfied with their job well done.

Many of these Cadets will soon be adding further prestige to the Armed Forces when they enter the services for active duty. The rest will stand ready and trained for immediate action in the University’s growing Officer’s Reserve Corps.
Icarus

In 1946, Advanced Air ROTC students at the University of Illinois, assisted by Lieutenant Colonel M. H. Shedd, and Major E. J. Dempsey, reactivated Icarus, University of Illinois military fraternity, which had been inactive since the early 1930s, when the University of Illinois Air ROTC was dissolved.

Icarus derived its name from ancient Greek mythology and the legend of the boy Icarus, who against the advice of his father, Daedalus, flew too close to the sun with his artificial wings. The sun’s heat melted the wax in his wings and Icarus fell, to drown in the sea.

Membership in the fraternity is open to all advanced corps Air ROTC cadets. The purpose of Icarus is to foster fellowship among its members; to promote interest in: the Air ROTC and the ROTC program in general; development of the USAF; advancing the desire for military preparedness and the protection of our country.

Rifle Team

This year’s ROTC rifle team are the defending champions of the Fifth Army intercollegiate rifle matches. This competition includes every ROTC unit in the Midwest. The team fires as a complete fifteen-man unit.

Furthermore, they have won first place in the William Randolph Hearst ROTC rifle match for the past three years. In this match they fire as three five-men units.

The team, captained by Harry Allen, wins its matches with the help of the post office department. They, and their opponents, fire on their own ranges and mail their scores to one another. Although the full spirit of competition is missing, the will-to-win is nevertheless present.

S/Sgt. Clarence Hodge is the coach. He picks fifteen members for the team during the tryouts in the fall. Usually about fifty to seventy-five men enter the tryouts.

Major James O’Hara is the ROTC range officer.
Pershing Rifles

Pershing Rifles is a national military honorary fraternity composed of men chosen from the basic unit of the Army and Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps on the basis of ability to drill and all around merit. Its purpose is to encourage, preserve, and develop the highest ideas of the military profession, to promote American citizenship, and to provide appropriate recognition for cadets demonstrating a high degree of individual proficiency in ROTC at the University of Illinois.

Company C-3 of Pershing Rifles was founded at the University in 1931. Inactive during the war, it was reactivated in 1945.

Pershing Rifles is active in other University activities; members serve as color guard for athletic events, Army Day programs, Military Ball, and Pershing Rifle sponsor choosing. The company furnished an Honor Guard for the Rifle team when it journeyed to the Chicago Stadium in 1947.

Members of Scabbard and Blade are those advanced course cadets of the ROTC and NROTC who have been recommended for membership by their unit directors of the military and naval science departments and who have maintained a high scholastic standing in military subjects.

The purpose of the fraternity is to raise the standards of military training in American universities and colleges, to unite in closer relationship their military departments, to encourage and foster the essential qualities of good and efficient officers, and to promote good fellowship among cadet officers. These objectives it attempts to attain by receiving into membership only those cadet officers who have shown a sincere and lasting interest in the military work of the university, and who furthermore possess qualities which will make them good efficient officers in time of war, or upright, forceful citizens in time of peace.
Officers of Phalanx during the first semester were as follows: Harrington, commander; Waterstreet, lieut. commander; Wells, adjutant; Black, finance; Coleman, historian, and Koppel, program chairman. During the second semester, Gray, Howerter, Pahlman, Blau, Neiman, and O’Neal served in those positions while McMillan, Hance, Lambert, and Varland served as National Officers. Lt. Col. Oliver and Captain Burke served as national and local advisors for the club. The 1949 National Convention of Phalanx was held on the local campus.
Navy

The Naval Reserve Officers’ Training Corps was established under the authority of Section 22 of the Act of Congress of March 4, 1925, as amended (34 U.S. Code, Sup. 821, Public Law 729, 79th Congress). This law is more generally known as the “Holloway Plan” and provides for the following three classes of NROTC students: Regular, Contract, and Naval Science.

Regular NROTC students are selected annually as a result of nationwide competitive examinations. The Regular student is subsidized in much the same manner as the veteran enrolled in the University under the “G. I. Bill.”

Contract NROTC students are selected, within prescribed quotas, by the Professor of Naval Science from among those students enrolled as freshmen at the University of Illinois. Contract students are not subsidized but are paid a ration allowance.
during their third and fourth years.

The Naval Science student is not a member of the NROTC and is not subsidized. Any Naval Science courses undertaken by him will count only as an academic subject.

The purpose of the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps is to provide, by a permanent system of training and instruction in essential naval subjects at civil educational institutions, a source from which qualified officers may be obtained for the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Naval Reserve and the Marine Corps Reserve.

The obligations of land-grant institutions to provide military instruction, imposed by the Act of July 2, 1862, are not altered by the enacting law authorizing the NROTC. The military training requirements prescribed by the above Act are considered to be fulfilled by students who have successfully completed two years of Naval Science courses and drills.

A staff of experienced naval officers is maintained at the University for the guidance and instruction of students. The Professor of Naval Science and his staff are appointed to the University faculty.

Athlete of the Year

Fabulous is the word which describes the career of Dike Eddleman, Illinois' Athlete of the Year. Ranked as a second Jim Thorpe, the versatile basketball captain also was an Olympic high-jumper, set new conference punting records, served as a terrific halfback, was a high scoring forward, and held eleven varsity letters.

Conference Medal Winner

Quiet, soft-spoken George Fischer has compiled such an amazing scholastic record to top his proficiency as a shortstop that his winning of the Conference Medal comes as no surprise. In addition to his baseball activities, George held both the North American and United States Speed Skating records.

Most Valuable Player

Jim Valek, four-time letterwinner and end on Illinois' Rose Bowl champions, well earned his teammates vote as the Most Valuable Player. Also rugged on offense, Jim built a great reputation in Big Nine circles for his superb defensive play.
Tribe of Illini

The Tribe of Illini is a social organization founded for the purpose of getting all lettermen in various sports socially acquainted. It operates as an organization to further good relations among the "I" men and the rest of the students at the University. Membership in the Tribe is limited to students who have earned a major letter in athletics. New members are elected after awards are presented in each sport.

The Tribe sponsors a winter formal and a spring formal dance each year. During football season last fall, the lettermen's organization helped sponsor football movies of all out-of-town games. The spirit and zeal demonstrated by its members is of great value and serves as an example to all members of the University.
During the 1948 football season, the Illinois cheerleaders again returned to tumbling. Advisor Charles Pond assisted by Larry Herkimer instituted the well-received change. Fans were delighted at the "new look" in cheerleading stunts, and they had good reason to be. Many of the cheerleaders were members of the gymnastics team and hence were unusually spectacular in their somersaults, cartwheels, and miscellaneous stunts. Head Cheerleader Joe Fina's crew took part in leading the Illini spirit before football and basketball games in addition to the numerous pep rallies during the year.

FOOTBALL
Long before the 1948 football campaign was under way, prognosticators, sportswriters, and coaches predicted a not-too-successful season for Coach Ray Eliot's self-defined "pooh little country boys." And that same 1948 season came pretty close to being just as the coaching staff and others had described. Illinois wound up the season with three victories and six defeats. Cold facts those, but they hardly reflect the real truth of the matter.

There were many times when the Illini rose to moments of highly impressive brilliance. Hopelessly outclassed in the first half, and behind 26-0, a determined Illini eleven held Army scoreless while they racked up three successive touchdowns, only to lose in the battle with time 26-21. Mighty Michigan, the nation's top team got the battle of the year from the Illini, and barely eked out their slim 28-20 win.

Stellar passing and punting, the heated battles, the never ebbing fight of an Illini eleven, which, though tiny in size, was mighty in spirit — that is the real version of the 1948 Illinois football team, always fighting Illini.
at Illinois

Kansas State bowed to the Illini 40-0 in the season's opener with the staggering score little indication of the changeable football exhibited. Illinois led only 7-0 at halftime in as sluggish an exhibition as has been seen in Memorial Stadium in many years, and even the 33 points they scored in the next half did not improve the fan's pessimism.

Fullback Burt Schmidt slammed his way over from the six yard stripe in the first quarter. Following the half, Captain Herb Siegert pounced on a fumble, and that was the green light for the Illini backs to start rolling. Paul Patterson scored following his 14-yard run. Tom Stewart passed twice to Slip Kersulis to set up the third score, and the backs carried over. Stewart's aerials clicked twice more for fifty yards and a touchdown. Bernie Krueger passed to Jim Valek for the fifth trip over the goal. Following a 69-yard ground attack, the Illini again scored and Don Maechtle converted his fourth extra point of the day to make the score 40-0.
Wisconsin: An uninspired Illinois eleven managed to give and take with Wisconsin until shortly before the game's end. Then the Badgers scored a last minute rally and snatched victory away from the Illini in their 16-20 conference opener.

After the lead had changed hands several times, it appeared Illinois would be a 16-14 winner over the Badgers as the game went into its dying stages. Wisconsin's offense bogged down near the Illini goal, and with fourth down and five to go, the Badgers elected to try a field goal to erase the two point deficit. As the ball sailed wide of its mark, Illini fans began to jump with glee, but an offsides penalty gave Wisconsin a much-sought first down on the Illini 7. With renewed enthusiasm, the Badgers pushed across to score their 20-16 victory. Dike Eddleman's amazing punting, which set up the Illinois touchdowns in addition to harrying Badger morale, was the brightest spot in Illinois' showing.
Army: The Army football caisson was rolling smoothly along at a 26-0 clip when a band of Fighting Illini broke loose and nearly ambushed the Cadets. In a brief 17 minutes, Illinois arose to score 21 points to come as close as the 71,000 Illini fans could have wanted, but the final score was still 26-21 when the hysterics ended. The Illini onslaught began when Lyle Button recovered a fumble on the Cadet 26-yard line. Bernie Krueger passed down to the two yard line, and then sneaked over for the score. Jack Pierce was the next one to surprise the Cadets as he returned their punt 65 yards to the 22-yard line. Six plays later, Paul Patterson scored. Bernie Krueger did some amazing passing and Sammy Piazza some equally remarkable running, and a third touchdown was scored. In their final efforts, the Illini were thwarted, and Army won 26-21.

Minnesota: Just about the time that both Illinois and Minnesota’s Gophers were ready to settle for a tie, two substitutes came in for the Gophers and sparked them on a 76-yard drive which gave them six points and victory. The game was marred by the fumbles of both teams. Minnesota fumbled nine times, and Illinois recovered seven of these only to fumble four times themselves. The Illini threatened twice but never garnered the strength to score. Once Ruck Steger carried the ball to the 19-yard line where Don Maechtle’s field goal attempt failed. In another instance a pass interception interrupted a goalward march.
Purdue: Displaying a long dormant running attack, the Illinois football team came to life in front of Lou Boudreau and an I Men's Day crowd to down an equally hardfighting Purdue eleven 10-6. In addition to the overdue running attack, the Illini surprised the Boilermakers with a sturdy defense which held the losers to 96 yards rushing, and thwarted their vaunted passer, Bob Demoss. Illinois took advantage of two mistakes to tally their points. Midway through the second quarter, Purdue tried to make the remaining yard for a first in ten on their own 20, but failed. Penalties prevented the Illini from marching, so on fourth down, Don Maechtle kicked his first field goal of the year.

After roaring 78 yards to Purdue’s two-yard line, Illinois was stopped in the opening of the third quarter. When Purdue punted out only to their 17 however, the Illini came right back for the touchdown which gave them the 10-6 win.

Michigan: Matching the nation’s top team, Michigan, in everything but getting the breaks, Illinois lost a great 28-20 grid classic to the conference champions before an Ann Arbor Homecoming crowd. Had the Illini upset the mighty Wolverines, as they came so very close to doing, the victory would have marked one of football history’s greatest reverses of all time. Even as it was, the fight and determination of the little boys from Illinois drew the plaudits of the whole nation.

The Illini suffered several heart-breaking misfortunes. One took away a 94-yard kickoff return by Dike Eddleman that would have given the losers a 14-7 lead; the other gave Michigan the ball on pass interference on the one-yard line from which they easily scored.

Reacting violently to Michigan’s first touchdown, the Illini took the ensuing kickoff and went 72 yards to score. Tom Stewart’s 38-yard pass to Eddleman launched the advance, and a dazzling 10-yard run by Paul Patterson from a screen pass concluded the scoring drive.

Opening the second half, Eddleman faked and ran for a 94-yard touchdown which was recalled. Then the disheartened Illini yielded two quick touchdowns before recovering themselves. Jim Valek recovered a fumble and Bernie Krueger, who completed 12 passes for 218 yards, threw to Valek, then to Tony Klimek and scored.
soon as he could lay his hands on the ball, Krueger again started a scoring dash with his passes. Burt Schmidt and Slip Kersulis were the recipients this time as the Illini went 68 yards. Krueger slipped over for the touchdown which made it 21-20. Michigan whipped up one more touchdown and won, 28-20.

Iowa: Murney Lazier's brilliant 56-yard return of a punt for a touchdown, and Ruck Steger's one-yard plunge gave Illinois a 14-0 victory over Iowa as the Illini opened their "victory in November" campaign. Illinois faced a driving wind all the first quarter and was content to just keep control of the ball. As the second quarter opened, Lazier grabbed the punt, smashed through two tacklers and ran 56 yards to score. Then Bernie Krueger opened a passing attack which ended with a one-yard plunge by Steger for the 14-0 score. Dike Eddleman had another of his great punting days, hitting two quick kicks, one for 74 yards and another for 88 yards.
Over 65,000 chilled and unbelieving Home-comers, gathered for a weekend of festivity and merriment, found neither as they watched Ohio State’s powerful football machine methodically take the Illini apart to make a close 13-7 game a 34-7 rout in the fourth quarter.

For three quarters, during which Ohio repeatedly threatened, but scored only twice, the game was not too one-sided. But in the horrendous final period the Buckeyes, paced by thunderous Joe Whisler, Jerry Krall, and Jimmy Clark ripped the Illini defense into shreds, and moved the yards-gained figure up to 449 yards.

Toward the end of the third quarter, the Illini acted as if they were going to deal themselves back into the game. Ohio had just scored their second touchdown when Paul Patterson took the ensuing kickoff and rocketed 50 yards upfield before Ohio’s last tackler, Jimmy Clark, nailed him on Ohio’s 38 (see picture, upper right). A Krueger to Tony Klimek aerial made it first down on the 18. Then Slip Kersulis snatched a Krueger pass out of the air as he crossed the goal line to make the score 13-7.

But as the fourth period opened, Ohio shredded the Illini line in an impressive 76-yard march to score, then scored two more times on relative flukes. First, the kickoff by Ohio following a touchdown struck Lou Levanti in the chest with Ohio recovering on the Illini 44, then the Buckeyes went on to score. And later, when Ohio’s punter was rushed so badly he couldn’t kick, he ducked the tacklers and ran 55 yards around end for still another touchdown.

Illinois' brightest spots were Patterson's 50-yard return and another of 48 he made in the final minutes of the game; Dike Eddleman's great punting which averaged 53 yards in six kicks; and the brief offensive flurry in the third quarter.

But despite the disappointment of the Illini fans with Ohio's victory, the weekend proved successful. The traditional turtle, Illibuck, was presented to Ohio's Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary, by Illinois' Sachem. The bonfire at the pep rally was one of the lighter touches, and the picture at the upper left serves as an example of the homecoming decorations.
Northwestern: The Northwestern Wildcats, the Big Nine's 1949 Rose Bowl Champions, passed their final examination for admittance to the battle with the Pacific Coast champs as they overran the Illini 20-7. The finale was remarkable in the similarity with a game played two years previously in which Illinois was victorious by a 20 point score, and in which the Illini opened their gate to the 1946 Bowl Championship.

Northwestern hit all of their three touchdowns in the first half. Captain Herb Siegert got the Illini touchdown drive underway when he recovered a fumble on the Illini 30 late in the third period. Bernie Krueger hit Slip Kersulis with a jump pass and Slip carried for a first down on the Illini 41. Sammy Piazza, outstanding Sophomore back, alternated with Burt Schmidt, and they reached the Wildcat 46. A pass to Schmidt went to the 35, and then the busy Schmidt carried to the 25. Krueger passed to Kersulis again, and the ball was downed on the 3. Schmidt moved the ball two yards closer, and Krueger sneaked over to score. Don Maechtle, with Tom Gallagher holding, added the extra point. In averaging more than 42 yards per kick, Dike Eddleman established a new modern Big Nine record for the season, finishing his football career in fine style.

BASKETBALL
Basketball Champions

The remarkable record of Illinois’ 1949 Western Conference Champions will long be remembered! The “Forty Niners”, as they came to be called, were indeed opportunists. With an overdose of the old fighting spirit, the never-say-die Illini pulled three (nearly four) conference games out of the fire in the final seconds of playing time. The champs neatly trimmed such highly-rated opposition as Butler, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, and Minnesota to shove themselves to nation-wide eminence and a bid to the NCAA tournament.

The slow, cautious play, the hushed expectancy of the fans; these things are ever-present as a conference game opens.
Plaudits were heaped on the Illini with great abundance. Harry Combes, in his second year, was named the Coach of the Year. Captain Dike Eddleman nearly broke the individual scoring record, while the team combined to set new conference and season totals as they averaged almost 70 points per game. While teammates Eddleman, Osterkorn, and Marks finished close, Bill Erickson earned All Big Nine honors for his fast, tricky play at guard.

No wonder it was hard to scalp those Illini — everyone is in those rebounding.
Gold Diggers

Illinois' "Forty-Niners" served notice of their unerring ability to strike pay dirt as they toppled two national favorites as an appetizer for what was to come. Butler caught the ferocity of the Illini attack on opening night as Ox Osterkorn poured in 27 points to lead the Illini quintet to a 67-62 win over the Hoosiers. And then, Notre Dame's Irish, an even more highly-rated opponent stepped up to provide one of the wildest, most exciting games of all time as Pirate Thurlby dropped in the winning points in an overtime 59-58 win. At the end of regular play, the score stood at 56 all. Captain Dike Eddleman, driving in for an almost certain basket, ran into a deliberate foul and drew two free throws. One of these was good to give the Illini a one point advantage. Then Notre Dame came back with a quick basket. With but fifteen seconds left, Bill Erickson spotted Thurlby in the clear under the basket, fired a perfect pass to him, and the Pirate dropped in the winning goal, ending the hair-raiser 59-58.

Santa Claus

Displaying much poorer basketball than at any other time during the year, the Illini team bowed to DePaul 60-50. Rebounding from this failure to hit the basket, the Illini outlasted another of the year's top teams, Oklahoma, 73-68. Revenge over DePaul came in the form of an 89-51 trouncing with Eddleman and Erickson making the Blue Demons look incapable of having rendered them a ten point licking two games earlier. Captain Dike Eddleman played Santa Claus to his teammates during the Christmas vacation as he averaged more than twenty points per game as the Illini trounced Pennsylvania, DePaul, Cornell, and Colgate twice.

Wisconsin proved to be a relatively soft touch for the fast-shooting Illini in their conference opener. The varsity five gained a 60-32 lead before Wisconsin narrowed the lead to 62-50 against the Illini replacements.

Such Hair-Raisers!

A long-remembered road trip to Indiana and Ohio State turned out to be the deciding factor in the conference race. It took the Illini a last minute scoring spree, and then two overtimes to edge out a 44-42 win in the first. Indiana led 37-31 with less than five minutes to play, when Don Sunderlage and Bill Erickson began closing in the gap which ended in a 37-37 tie. To start out the first overtime, Eddleman banged away with his famous kiss shot for a forty foot goal, and Jim Marks added a free throw to knot the score at 40 all. Coach Combes used some clear thinking in the second overtime. With but fourteen seconds left in the game, he sent in tall Fred Green for one purpose — to use his height.

Four seconds were left, and Fred’s chance came. The ball was tossed up to him, he pivoted, and like the mechanical man, he arched the ball toward the basket. It rolled around, and IN. Illinois had won, 44-42!

Again and Again

And the following Monday night, the Illini again carried their four-leaf clover as they edged out deadly Ohio State in the final sixteen seconds, 64-63. This time, center Ox Osterkorn was the hero as he scored a basket and a free throw in the last few seconds. Altogether Ox scored eighteen points that evening to lead the Illini, but close behind were Green, Erickson, and Eddleman.

As if two such hair-raisers in a row were not enough, the next conference game turned out to be just as hysterical, if not more so. This time it was the Big Nine leader, Minnesota. Behind once 20-7, the Illini had taken a 41-38 lead with 6 minutes to go. Jim Marks made two successive free throws, then tossed in a basket for good measure that made it 45-42. Illinois started its stall with more than two minutes left to play. Minnesota got hold of the ball only once, and the Illini ended on top of one of the greatest games in Illini history 45-44.

Do It Again!

The Illini had put on sensational last-minute drives to win three important conference games. They came close to doing that same thing at Purdue — but not quite close enough. The score stood 53-55 when Van Anderson had a clear ten-footer with twenty seconds left, but this time

As the picture shows, Eddleman was always closely watched. The reputable captain's sharp eye made him a constant threat.
it did not go in and the Illini bowed to the Boiler-makers.

It took another of their famed second-half comebacks for the Illini to pull to a 61-54 win over Wisconsin. Behind 28-29 at the half, Pirate Thurlby piled in 11 points in seven minutes to shove the Illini well in front, and there they stayed until the game was over.

Running Smoothly

Being thoroughly familiar with the basket, the Illinois sharpshooters really began finding the range as they rampaged over Northwestern 85-66 and 81-64. And they did equally well against Iowa as Dike Eddleman connected for nineteen points in the 80-49 drubbing Coach Combes' boys applied.

Making up for their previous failure at the free throw line, Illinois set a new record with nineteen continuous tosses swishing the hoops as the Illini generally bewildered the Hoosiers in the 91-68 win. With the conference championship clinched, and a bid to play in the NCAA finals, Illinois fell to Michigan, 70-53.
TRACK
No longer able to rely upon a wealth of outstanding first place winners, Coach Leo Johnson's 1948 squad had its strength in solid, point-winning depth. Gone were such men as lightning-limbed Herb McKenley, the world's finest quarter-miler; Bob Richards, the Big Nine vaulting champ, and fellow specialist Herb Matter — leaving the Illini weak in that event for the entire season. John Twomey, miler and two-miler, was gone; and sprinter Bill Mathis failed to make the scholastic eligibility list.

The Illini won their six dual meets, and also a triangular affair with Minnesota and Indiana. The Illinois Tech Relays crown remained in the Orange and Blue trophy case and the Central Collegiate crown was added to it. Their NCAA, Big Nine Outdoor, and Big Nine Indoor crowns were forced from their grasp by narrow margins, however.
Baldwin-Wallace opened the indoor season in the Armory bringing their great star Harrison Dillard along to tie two records in the hurdles. There was no big surprise in the Illinois win of the match, however, as they went into an easy 79-35 victory. The big surprise seemed to be in that, due to ineligibility, it was to be the last race for Captain Bob Rehberg, former Big Nine and NCAA mile champion. Also lost by the same route was Leroy Vranek. The loss of two such top-notch performers was certainly enough to shade the glorious path of the Illini as they rolled over Michigan Normal, and then went on to take a three-way meet with Minnesota and Indiana by a comfortable margin.

Ohio State squeezed into first place in the conference Indoor meet by a three point edge over the Illini. Ohio’s Lloyd Duff proved himself the strong man by grabbing sixteen points individually. George Walker placed in three events and Dike Eddleman won the high jump to lead the Illini scoring. Eddleman went on from the Big Nine meet to capture his fourth high jump crown in the Chicago Relays.
Moving outdoors, the defending Big Nine and NCAA champs took part in the Kansas Relays and the Drake Relays with Eddleman adding two more wins, and Norm Wasser taking the shot-put crown at Drake. Moving on to Minneapolis, the Illini garnered in still another victory by edging the Gophers 72-60 as George Walker won both the low hurdles and the century race. Walker combined two hurdle championships with Dike Eddleman's new stadium record in the high jump to break Purdue 78-54 on the following weekend. Winners among the Illini included Walt Karkow, Bill Buster, Paul Behan, Norm Wasser, Don Leuthold, and Paul Huston.

A victory over Indiana was celebrated by the same score, 78-54. Michigan State then succumbed 86-46 as George Walker came within one-tenth of a second of matching the world's 220 low hurdle record.

Lou Irons, high jumping his way to first place over teammate Eddleman, and Walt Karkow's first in the grueling two-mile run shoved the Illini to third place in the Outdoor Championships. Fifteen men continued their work with Coach Johnson in preparation for the Central Collegiate Championships, the NCAA meet, the NAAU test, and the Olympic trials. Illinois easily out-pointed the competition for their fourth Central Collegiate title in six years, but dropped to fourth place in the NCAA meet despite Eddleman's Illinois record high jump of six feet, seven inches.

Ex-Illini Bob Richards accompanied Dike Eddleman to the 1948 Olympic Games. Richards made the team with a vault of over fourteen feet, six inches, whereas Dike sprang to new heights in his 6 feet 7 1/2 inch leap over the crossbar. Richards placed third in the London event while Eddleman tied for second. Bill Buster, outstanding quarter-miler during the season was named to captain the '49 tracksters.

Baseball

The University of Illinois' victory grabbing 1948 baseball campaigners not only successfully defended their conference crown but finished the season with an even better won-and-lost record than their predecessor. This year the squad had to be content with sharing the championship honors with Michigan, each squad winning ten while losing two in conference play. The complete Illini schedule of twenty-four games ended with the respectable total of seventeen wins, five losses (of which two were to the professional Danville Dodgers), one tie, and one incomplete game called in the second inning. During the spring vacation, the Illini took a road trip through the South as a warm-up for the Northern competition. While on their Southern jaunt, the Illini lost only one of the six games played.

Illinois won the District NCAA crown by achieving a 6-2 win over Ohio University and a 12-2 decision over Western Michigan. The path to national glory faded in the Eastern NCAA playoffs however, as the Illini stumbled twice, bowing 9-6 to an underdog LaFayette College squad, and also to North Carolina, 7-3.

Coach Wallie Roettger had the 1947 season's finest collegiate pitcher, Marv Rotblatt, back to head his mound staff. Marv, a southpaw, had won six Big Nine games in 1947 without a loss, and had allowed only thirty-five hits in eighty-six innings of play. Another brilliant performer during

BIG NINE — CO-CHAMPS

NCAA DISTRICT CHAMPS

The season was Herb Plews who, although only a sophomore was voted Most Valuable by his teammates. Herbie won the conference batting championship with a hard-hitting .404 average in the twelve-game conference schedule, but in addition also won the fielding honors for the circuit, handling sixty chances with only one error. And always in there when the pressure was toughest was Captain Bob Wakefield. Time after time, Wakefield would lift the ball into the far corners of the diamond to allow his teammates to score. In addition his work at third base was superb as he capably led his men.
The spring training jaunt opened with Louisiana State, where Marv Rotblatt and Stan Feldman combined talent to twirl a decisive three-hit, 7-0 shut-out, supported by the errorless backing of their teammates. The second game was called at the end of the seventh inning and ended there with a 3-3 tie. Illinois then went on to Mississippi State and out-slugged their hosts 10-5 as Ruck Steger contributed three hits out of five trips to the plate, only to be matched by Bob Anderlik’s three hits.
In the second game of the Mississippi State series, Al Wickland was driven in from second by Tommy Hoffman for the lone Illinois tally as the Champaign squad lost, 8-1. Memphis State proved to be a soft touch and the Illini had an 8-0 lead before the weatherman halted the activity at the end of the second. Illinois managed to get in seven innings the next day and win that one 11-5 to end the trip in the land of hospitality.

Illini fielding and pitching joined an eleven hit attack on Washington University for an 8-3 victory. The second game was a slugfest, and the Illini barely squeezed out a 10-9 win. A three-game series with the Danville Dodgers of the professional Three-I League ended with two wins for the pro's and one for the Illini. Marv Rotblatt lost his first game after racking up fifteen straight wins.
Rotblatt suffered an 18-10 loss in the opener with the Dodgers, but the Illini bounced back to take the second game 11-6, thanks to Bob Anderlik’s 370 foot home run. Pitcher Stan Feldman pitched a beautiful game for the win. In the third game, Anderlik again slammed out a homer, but the Illini fell 8-5.

Illinois opened the conference season against Minnesota and squared away twelve hits and ten runs to down the Gophers in an impressive 10-1 victory with Rotblatt allowing only four hits while he had nine strike-outs. Following a second victory over the Gophers, Purdue stepped up to take a 9-2 shellacking as Rotblatt struck the astounding total of eighteen batters down while allowing only five hits. Bob Wakefield led the Illini sluggers with five for five. Another over Purdue, and two exceptionally well-pitched wins over Northwestern put the Illini in the conference lead with six victories to their credit.

A two game series with Michigan in the battle of the Big Nine leaders brought capacity crowds to watch the two powerhouses slug it out on Illinois Field. Herbie Plews provided the spark for the 3-2 Illini win in the first of the two games. Plews scored once upon a hit by Captain Bob Wakefield, and then drove over the winning run to make a bad day of it for the Wolverines.

Michigan followed their loss with a win to keep the title race in a close battle. The Illini went on to take two from Indiana and one from Louisiana Tech in preparation for the Ohio State games. The Buckeyes did their best to remove the Illini from the conference crown as they won a 6-0 shut-out in the opener which sent the Illini into a tie with Michigan. The determined Illinois squad bagged the second game 6-3, to stop any doubts about their championship ability, and placed their hold on a part of the Big Nine crown.

Despite serious replacement problems, Coach Howie Braun’s 1948 squad finished a heavy schedule with nine wins and two losses in dual meets, and fourth place in the conference meet as Dave Brown captured the number two singles title.

Returning lettermen Fred Steers, Dave Brown, Joey Weiss, Charles Schunk, Mel Randoll, and Bud Little stepped up two positions to fill the vacant number one and two spots.

After lop-sided wins over Beloit, Chicago, and powerful Cincinnati, the Illini were recognized as a real threat. A 5-4 win over Kalamazoo, and conquests of Ohio State and Purdue enhanced this viewpoint. Fate swept in and tossed the Illini two losses, then allowed them to finish the season successfully with three more wins.

The Illini fencing team miraculously came to life near the end of the year and grabbed second place in the Big Nine championships to make the 1948 season an extremely successful one.

Throughout the year the epee men continually surprised their foe with strong victories. Those in the epee class were Andy Lucas, Don Bengard, Bob Forsythe, Hank Osinski, and Mark Larimer. Outstanding with the foil were Andy Lucas and Bob Scanlon. Captain Lee Lipson and Lou Stuebe carried the load in the saber class.
Illinois' fencers came within one point of a Western Conference title in 1948; expected to win in 1949.

BIG NINE — 2nd

In winning second at the Big Nine meet, the whole squad reached the finals. Hank Osinski tied for the epee championship, but lost in the playoff. Lipson and Scanlon took seconds in the saber and foil respectively. In the saber division Stuebe won third. Fourth in the epee class fell to Bengard. Andy Lucas was elected to captain the 1949 fencers.

Bob Scanlan gives the fans a thrill as he de-fails his opponent.
Illinois' defending Big Nine champions continued their winning ways in 1948 right up until the final moments of the season when they were nosed out of a renewed hold on the title by a single point. Guided by Coach Newt Law and Captain Dave Shapiro, the grapplingers tangled with the toughest teams in the nation and stayed right with them. The Illini, third place winners in the NCAA finals themselves, had a schedule which featured Cornell College and Michigan State, the first and second place winners respectively, in addition to five conference opponents.

One of wrestling history's largest turnouts, 5,065 enthusiastic fans, watched the Illini-Cornell struggle. In matches of titanic proportions there was never a case when the final out-

Fate again crippled an Illini swimming team which had held great hopes at the start of the 1948 season. With many veterans returning, Illinois prospects were high; but as the year progressed, the squad, hampered by many casualties suffered several losses in their meets. The lone victory of the year was achieved at a time when all things went well. The rest of the season reflected the hardships of the team.

The 1948 cross country squad, led by Captain Vic Twomey, jogged through the season to gain one tie and two wins in dual meet competition. INTRAMURAL SPORTS
Under the capable guidance of a new Supervisor, Assistant Supervisor, and Secretary, the Intramural department started its 1948-1949 program in anticipation of a year's activity which would exceed that of any past year in both quality and quantity.

Realizing the increased student interest, the Intramural department met the need of additional facilities and student administration. It secured badly needed playing fields, and in the second semester took over the West side of the Stadium Hall for indoor activities. In order to administer the program more efficiently, the managerial staff was increased, and several student organizations received representation on the IMREC Board, which sets the governing policies.

In attempting to meet the suggested program changes of the Interfraternity Council and the Athletic Association, the Intramural department decided to retain the point system and achievement trophy, but make certain modifications to encourage additional participation. Several team sports were conducted concurrently on a "split man" basis. No one man in a house participated in both events and round robin tournaments were conducted rather than the usual double elimination type. Houses were also allowed to enter an unlimited number of men in individual sports.

During the past years, Illinois' Intramural Department has received nation-wide recognition for offering the students one of the finest programs in existence, and this year was no exception. Rather than rest on its laurels of a model program, however, the department has done everything possible in order to maintain this honor by making any needed improvements or changes conceivably necessary to insure this reputation.
Intramural

From the time that the first football entry was taken until the last handball match was played, the first semester's intramural and recreational program was outstandingly successful and full of activity.

The intramural program showed a remarkable increase in participation. Football set an all time record with 101 teams competing for the championship, basketball saw 128 entries vie for the crown, and all the other sports showed similar increases.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS
One organization on campus in which the women are not out-numbered by men is the Women’s Athletic Association; its purpose is to provide a well-rounded sports life for women by functioning the entire school year.

Every season is a busy one for the W.A.A. group. Archery, soccer, bowling, softball, basketball, badminton, tennis, and volleyball are the sports sponsored by this organization. W.A.A. members serve as managers for the different sports and physical education faculty members assist by teaching the fundamentals of the games to the participants. Teams are formed either by houses or by groups of individuals from various houses. Principles of good sportsmanship are stressed at all times.

The executive board is headed by Joyce Perbix as president. Association
In her capacity as president, Mae Jean Engen led Terrapin activities to a brilliant climax in 1948. Following the inter-house swimming meet, the girls presented their annual water pageant demonstrating outstanding skill and patient practice.

Besides President Engen, other hardworking officers included Mary Ellen Needler, Mary Morwood, Carole Bauer, Dorothy Swanson, Alice Muschler, and Advisor Doris Layson. In its aim of furthering interest in swimming and promoting sportsmanship and friendship, Terrapin was a success.

Mary Catherine Carlson exhibits a beautiful swan dive.
Orchesis

"Orchesis" is a Greek word meaning "to dance." The purpose of the organization is first, to offer to men and women of the University the opportunity for creative dance study, composition, and performance, and second, to stimulate interest in art dance and foster high standards of performance, appreciation, and understanding, of the art in the community.

Orchesis presents a yearly spring concert as its major production; it also gave its well-known "Dry Bones" number in the Activity Variety Show this year.

Other activities include sponsoring concerts by famous dance artists and organizing playdays in which neighboring colleges are invited to participate. Lecture demonstrations for the music and art departments, clubs on campus, and neighboring schools are presented when requested by those organizations. Orchesis also participates in productions which combine the efforts of the music, drama, and dance departments.

Officers of Orchesis are: Lorraine Meyer, president; Barbara Harris, secretary; Paula Maddox, treasurer; and Janet Grigg, corresponding secretary.

A branch of the club is Junior Orchesis, which provides the opportunity for improving skills so that the requirements of Orchesis membership may be met.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council of the University of Illinois is the supervisory and governing body of all the social fraternities on campus. It formulates and administers policy of interfraternity nature and assists in carrying out University policy pertaining to fraternities.

Interfraternity Council is composed of chapters of fifty-five national fraternities. Illinois was first to organize an Interfraternity Council and has remained a progressive leader in fraternity self-government. It was one of the first Universities to establish the post of Assistant Dean of Men for Fraternities, and Dean Carl M. Grip was one of the first men to hold such a post.

University control, when necessary, is exercised through the Board of Fraternity Affairs, composed of three staff fraternity men, three local fraternity alumni, and the five undergraduate officers of the Interfraternity Council.

Officers: Calvin Vogel, Delta Tau Delta, treasurer; Robert Konigsfeld, Delta Chi, vice-president; Professor Bull, chairman, board of fraternity affairs; Dean Grip, faculty advisor; Elliott Chaum, Sigma Alpha Mu, sergeant-at-arms; James Savage, Delta Kappa Epsilon, secretary; Fred Berry, Sigma Chi, president.

Skull and Crescent

Skull and Crescent is a sophomore honorary society composed of two men chosen from each of the twenty-five prominent campus fraternities. The purpose of this organization is to further good will among the members.

Two freshmen who are outstanding in activities and scholarship are chosen from each member fraternity. They are initiated in the spring and are then active members in Skull and Crescent during their sophomore year.

In addition to the regular bi-weekly dinner meetings and the other social events, each fall a Skull and Crescent Pajama Race is held in the Armory. The pledges of each member fraternity participate in the race. This event is met with great enthusiasm by the students over the entire campus. This year Delta Sigma Phi fraternity took first place in the pajama race which was held on November 17. Through the combined efforts of the members, the pajama race and the other social events, as the formal dance, were all very successful.

Star and Scroll

Star and Scroll, sophomore activity honorary fraternity, is an interfraternity organization founded at the University of Illinois for the purpose of creating and promoting interfraternity fellowship, raising freshman scholarship standards, and perpetuating the traditions of the University.

Each year member fraternities of this organization select two outstanding sophomores, who in their freshman year were outstanding both in activities and scholarship. These men are accepted into Star and Scroll to represent their fraternities at bi-weekly meetings.

The highlight of this year came at the annual Star and Scroll Banquet and Dance held on October 2nd. The Scholarship Cup, awarded each year to the member house that possesses the outstanding freshman scholarship average, was presented to Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity. Retiring junior members of the organization received membership keys. Combined efforts and close cooperation of the members exhibited in making the banquet and dance a large success are indicative of the interfraternity spirit of fellowship that exists in Star and Scroll.

Shi-Ai

Every fall two sophomores from each of the twenty-four sororities are chosen as pledges to Shi-Ai which honors sophomore women for outstanding work in campus activities. Shi-Ai, first established at Northwestern in 1920, enables these women to strengthen inter-sorority friendship by their exchange of ideas.

Shi-Ai sponsors the annual Shi-Ai Sing held on the Friday night of campus Mothers’ Day week-end. As welfare projects, this honorary gives Christmas gifts to war orphans, and sponsors a Christmas party for an orphans’ home. Cooperating with the new sophomore independent women’s honorary, Alpha Chron, Shi-Ai helped put over an enjoyable dance; this innovation provided a friendly link between independent and sorority women.

INDEPENDENT MEN
Men’s Independent Association

The Mens’ Independent Association is a student-established and student-administered organization of the independent men on the campus of the University of Illinois. M.I.A. gives expression to the ideas of the independent men. Through the unified effort made possible by this organization, these students exert influence in the formulation of general policies concerning student welfare.

M.I.A. has been organized so that it may encompass and represent independent men. This has been accomplished through the organization of houses with four or more residents, each of which elects a representative to the M.I.A. council. The council is the policy-making body for the organization and decides all matters of major importance. The executive body is the Directorate made up of the officers and committee chairmen of M.I.A.

The problems facing M.I.A. are to provide opportunity and incentive for independents in all areas of student activity including scholastic, athletic, social, and recreational fields.

Tomahawk

President — Blair Thackeray
Vice-President — William Yates
Secretary-Treasurer — Donald Funk

Tomahawk, men’s independent sophomore activity honorary, has as its general purpose to give recognition to independent freshmen for outstanding work in their various activities. Its secondary purpose is to inspire freshmen to greater service and achievement during their remaining school year.

Each year active members of Tomahawk send out formal questionnaires to the leaders in the main activities on campus who fill in names of three men they think are most outstanding and show favorable qualities for further advancement. From lists of applicants received, members of Tomahawk select those persons whom they think are most capable to carry on the high traditions set forth in the pledge and constitution. Pledges become active members throughout their sophomore year.

INDEPENDENT WOMEN
Women’s Group System

Included in Women’s Group System, the first independent women’s group on any campus, are organized women’s houses, women’s residence halls, and scattered groups. The presidents of these groups participate in a weekly council meeting and also sponsor activities within their own house groups.

W.G.S. devotes its time to the encouragement of scholarship, activities, and social life among its members. Among its varied activities are the district teas, the Christmas Musicale, the Watcheka Sing, the House Presidents’ Banquet, and the W.G.S. Ball. W.G.S. cooperates with M.I.A. to present such events as the Independent Informal, Stunt Show, Freshman Sing, and this year the N.I.S.A. National Convention at Illinois. Climaxing the year’s activities is the W.G.S. Awards Tea given each spring, where newly-elected officers are inaugurated and recognition is shown to independent students and houses for outstanding scholarship and activity participation.

Officers: Marilyn Swanson, treasurer; Shirley Hoag, secretary; Miss Helen Andrew, advisor; Estaline Ulmer, president; Ann Jinkins, acting vice-president

Accountancy Club

All students registered in the University who have received credit for two semesters of accountancy are eligible for membership in the Accountancy Club. The purposes of the organization are to inform members of professional and honorary achievements in the College of Commerce, to foster interest in the science of accounting, and to promote understanding and fellowship between faculty and students in the College of Commerce. Monthly meetings featuring talks by prominent accountants are designed to acquaint the members with current trends in accounting.

The executive committee of the Accountancy Club is composed of the Senior and Junior Councils. The Senior Council handles the publicity, the membership drives of the club, and the selection of speakers. Sophomore and junior members are eligible to serve on the Junior Council, which takes care of notifying the members of the meetings. After serving on the Junior Council for two semesters, these members automatically become members of the Senior Council. Officers, who are nominated from the Senior Council, are elected by the club.

Home Economics Club

The Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club is an organization for women interested in Home Economics and enrolled in this branch of the College of Agriculture. The purpose of this club is to further interest in Home Economics on the campus, to increase interest and stimulate knowledge of the professional world, and to develop an appreciation of the home. Programs of the meetings are designed to acquaint the girls with the department through tours, debates, movies, and style shows. Included in the social calendar are dances, parties, and meetings held in cooperation with the Agricultural Club. All Ag Field Day, which is held in the fall is a campus sports festival and one of the biggest all-University functions is the Plow Boy Prom.
The Hoof and Horn Club is an organization of agriculture students who are majoring in animal science. As a subsidiary group of the Ag Club, it enables agricultural students interested in Animal Husbandry to become better acquainted with others in their field and to broaden their knowledge and outlook in livestock production and management. A membership of more than two hundred men represents the interest and enthusiasm which is present for this group. These students have banded themselves together to better promote their interests. The experience they encounter in this organization is a vital supplement to their classroom work. Besides holding regular meetings, the Hoof and Horn Club sponsors two events, the Little International in the fall and the Livestock Judging Contest in the spring.

Illini Insurance Society

The Illini Insurance Society was founded at the University of Illinois in the winter of 1947. The major qualification for membership in the society is a valid interest in insurance. Its main purpose is to promote contacts between the insurance students and professional insurance men. Dr. Robert I. Mehr and a small group of interested students founded this society. Insurance men supported them and dinner meetings between the two groups began where insurance problems were discussed, and students became better acquainted with the men in their chosen profession. In the spring of 1948, the society sponsored an Insurance Clinic. Four speakers presented the opportunities for insurance positions at a four-hour afternoon session. The dinner meetings and the clinic proved to be an ideal media for an exchange of ideas mutually benefitting both groups.
Marketing Club

The Illini Marketing Club is a progressive organization for future business men and women. By means of discussions, speakers, and publications, it provides its members with additional information on marketing problems. The fields discussed are selling, merchandising, advertising, foreign trade, transportation, credit management, market analysis, and market research. At each monthly meeting a well-known executive discusses the marketing problems in his particular field and presents valuable ideas and suggestions. These meetings are extremely helpful to the members in bringing current business problems to their attention. The speakers also play an important part in bridging the gap between classroom and industry. In September, 1948, the Marketing Club became the first student organization to be affiliated with the American Marketing Association.

BEYOND THE HORIZON ... a Brighter Tomorrow

FARMING is at the threshold of an exciting new era! Improved crop varieties promise even bigger yields. Better ways of controlling weed and insect pests are cutting crop losses. Records that keep tab of capitalization and depreciation as well as income and outgo are putting farming on a sounder business basis. Better crop rotations, contour farming, and strip cropping are saving precious topsoil—boosting farm production.

John Deere power equipment makes it easy to take advantage of these modern farming practices. It takes over most of the muscle work and gives owners more time to spend with their families. By reducing the uncertainty and drudgery of farming, John Deere implements make possible fuller, happier lives for farm families everywhere.

Because the strength of America lies in her free-thinking, unregimented rural population, we all have an important stake in our agriculture. New methods . . . better machines—all things that help to keep farm people prosperous and contented—safeguard our way of life. A strong, stable agriculture is insurance against evil days—a promise of brighter tomorrows!

No matter where they are used—in yearbooks, literature, or advertising—poorly reproduced illustrations give many readers the same impressions as paintings of a "ham" artist when compared with the works of a master. That's why so many schools, colleges, and universities, as well as prominent advertisers, insist upon fine engravings—as produced by master craftsmen at G. R.
