SOME, OLD ALTGELD IN MAY.
THOSE, WHO WENT TO CLASS, THE WINTER,
OTHERS, SOUTH CAMPUS IN THE SPRING.

George D. Stoddard, president
The University's first role is the education of its students. This has always been recognized as a prime function and it is not narrowlly conceived.

Some of your needs as students are intellectual. You need to know and to develop a creative imagination that leads to action. You need to use your minds to full capacity—to discover the effectiveness of learning in human affairs. Some of your needs are personal, and the University strives to meet them through its counseling and other services. Some of the needs are social. Most students like to make friends, to work and play with others, and to seek satisfaction in personal and social progress. Some of the needs are emotional; youth needs the pleasure and inspiration that come through literature and the fine arts. Many forms of recreation are also available to meet these emotional needs. Finally, but by no means the least, some of the needs of youth are ethical and spiritual. In this important area of your life your needs are met, in part, through the work of churches and religious foundations.

Other goals and functions of the University are the extension and dissemination of knowledge through scientific and scholarly research and the encouragement of the creative arts.

Thus the University of Illinois is affecting the lives not only of students but also of countless other citizens in many ways. The tremendous influence it has in raising the level of understanding and good will among people of the State makes the University a great social instrument.

But the great thing the University of Illinois can do for you as students is to help you grow up mentally, morally and emotionally. The University encourages you to assume responsibility and to develop habits of individual initiative. These are the marks of an educated person.

The task of the University’s administration is to tie together the organizations of the University such as the colleges, schools, divisions, services, and experiment stations, and make them function as a unit.

The University’s work is carried on not only in classroom, laboratory, and library, but also through extension, demonstrations, publications, motion pictures, and radio. From its researches the University develops much new knowledge and gathers information from all over the world. These new facts go into teaching and are made available to citizens everywhere.

Carrying out these policies and directly administering the University is the task of the president. Assisting him are the provost, the vice president in charge of the Chicago Division, the deans and directors of the various units at Champaign-Urbana, the comptroller, the director of the Physical Plant, the dean of students, and others, each with special responsibilities and duties.

The trustees, nine elected directly by the people of the state and two ex-officio by reasons of their positions, select the president and direct the general policies of administration.

The University of Illinois Foundation, established in 1935, is a non-profit corporation organized under the laws of Illinois. Its chief function is to encourage gifts from both individuals and corporations, for the purpose of assisting the general educational and research program of the University.

Another function of the foundation is the development of patents assigned to it by the University. The Foundation has acquired patent rights of several inventions, notably a smokeless furnace and an amoniated dentifrice that helps to combat tooth decay.

One phase of the chief function is the Illini Achievement Fund, a permanent annual-gift program in the interests of the University. In 1949, the Achievement Fund set a new record among Big Ten schools for the number of gifts to such a program during its first year. Contributions were received from 5,071 Illini and other friends of the University.
The University of Illinois Alumni Association

The official bond between the University and Illini alumni is the Alumni Association. The Association publishes Illinois Alumni News and sends it to nearly 70,000 Illini. It assists officers with the work of an increasingly large number of Illini clubs, helps maintain the Illini center in Chicago’s LaSalle Hotel, and performs hundreds of personal services for alumni.

The Association records the new addresses of almost 90,000 Illini. Some 7,000 address changes are made every month.

Most recent of the sound motion pictures made to show alumni campus scenes and activities is the one concerning the famous playing, marching and singing Illinois football band.

In its work to help Illini clubs over the country, its executives have met with scores of Illini groups, made talks about campus affairs, and have shown football movies and other Illinois films.
The Deans
The deans of the University of Illinois have a great responsibility in providing for the welfare of each student. Dean of Students Fred H. Turner is the unifying and coordinating official. His staff consists of Associate Dean Harold S. Dawson, director of placement, and Assistant Dean Arthur Hamilton, in charge of foreign students.

Miss Miriam A. Sheldon, Dean of Women, has as her assistants Miss Agnes Tandberg, assistant dean of freshmen; Miss Eunice Dowse, residence hall counselor; Miss Mary Harrison, advisor to independent women and the Women's Group System; and Miss Mary Jane Klein, advisor to sorority women and the Panhellenic Council.

Under Dean of Men, Edward E. Stafford, are Gerald W. Peck, assistant dean of men and director of the Placement Bureau; V. J. Hampton, assistant dean of student activities; George H. Bargh, assistant dean of fraternity men; Richard E. Hulet, assistant dean of independent men; and David Wolfe, director of veterans' procurement and records.
In 1946 the University of Illinois established its now well-known Undergraduate Division at Navy Pier in Chicago. Here the students may have complete pre-professional courses of study in liberal arts and sciences, commerce and business administration, and engineering. Curricula in the professional courses of architecture, architectural engineering, physical education, and nursing are available.

The students enrolled at Chicago have the same status as the students in Urbana, and are given priority in completing their work for degrees on the downstate campus. Through its educational, social, and cultural program, the Division provides its students with the same high degree of service which is a tradition of the University of Illinois.
The College of Agriculture is a direct outgrowth of the Morrill Act of 1862. This legislation became popularly known as the Land-grant College Act, since it provided federal support for state educational institutions which offered agriculture, mechanics, and military. The University of Illinois has had a College of Agriculture ever since it was chartered in 1867.

The College of Agriculture has three major goals: to improve the quality of the products grown in Illinois and the efficiency of their production, to advance the welfare of those engaged in agriculture, and to create a better understanding of the place agriculture holds in our economy.

Courses dealing with the production, marketing, processing, and utilization of food and clothing materials are offered. The teachings of the College are vitalized by the work of the Experiment Station, with its hundreds of projects designed to test new practices, and by the close contact which members of the staff have with the people of the state through its Extension Service.

Mumford Hall
The Department of Business Organization and Operation, the Department of Economics, the Bureau of Economic and Business Research, and the Business Management Service are the four main divisions in the College of Commerce and Business Administration that are presided over by Dean Paul Green.

The major aim of Commerce and Business Administration is to offer a variety of courses in a broad curriculum which should equip students to meet the problems of every-day living as well as for careers in business, economics, and the administrative branches of government. A well-rounded program includes basic and general training with opportunities for specializing in accountancy, commercial teaching, commerce and law, economics of public utilities, transportation, finance, general economics, government and business, economic theory, industrial administration, management, labor economics, statistical economics, and secretarial training.
The College of Education prepares students for careers in teaching, special educational services, and school administration. Special undergraduate programs are offered in industrial, agricultural, home economics, and elementary curricula. Students have the opportunity of teaching under special supervisors in schools cooperating with the College of Education. The University High School, which serves as a laboratory for the college, affords opportunities for experimentation under controlled conditions.

The College sponsors a number of annual conferences designed to meet specific problems of educators and other persons interested in improving the schools. Largest of these meetings is the Illinois Summer Education Conference held on the campus each June in connection with the regular summer session for teachers from all parts of the country.
The College of Engineering, with its nine different curricula and fifteen hundred students is one of the largest in the University. It stresses four aims—aiding students to think clearly and accurately, giving them the fundamentals of sound engineering, encouraging the development of initiative and individuality, and affording many opportunities for students to put into effect the doctrine that one of the engineer's main functions is to contribute to effective practical action.

Extra-curricular activities have always been prominent. There are a dozen student professional societies and eight honorary fraternities organized primarily to recognize and promote scholarship.

Dean of the College of Engineering is W. L. Everitt, who has served in that position since 1949.
The College of Fine and Applied Arts enters its twenty-first year with an enrollment of twelve hundred students, none of whom have been here since the first year, and one Dean, who has served in that capacity since he organized the College twenty-one years ago.

The College is comprised of six departments, and twelve curricula leading to degrees. In addition to its formal instruction, the College offers numerous admission-free lectures, concerts, recitals, and art exhibits. In cooperation with other campus departments, the College annually sponsors a Festival of Contemporary Arts.

Due largely to the efforts of Dean Rexford Newcomb, the University of Illinois is rated as one of the top schools of Architecture in the country.

Dean Newcomb is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and a member of Gargoyle, Scarab, and various other honorary and professional societies. Dean Newcomb has been Dean of the College since he organized it twenty-one years ago.

"The development of the power of independent work and the promotion of the spirit of research," is the essential aim of a graduate college, according to the late David Kinley, the first Graduate Dean.

Graduate instruction at the University of Illinois began in 1902, but a separate Graduate School was first organized in 1906.

After its founding, the college grew steadily in size and prestige, but since the end of World War II, the enrollment and scope of its activities has been phenomenal. The Graduate College is now the second largest in the University. In 1951, 3954 students were enrolled in this college, and in 1950-51, it provided for 175 University fellowships. During the same year, 239 Ph.D degrees and 1494 Masters' degrees were granted.

Acting Dean Johnson came to the University of Illinois in 1949 as Head of the Department of Physiology, from Chicago, where he was Director of an Army Research Laboratory. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.
Instruction in the school of Journalism program includes a journalism division, including news-editorial work and publication management, and advertising and radio divisions. In 1950, the name of the School of Journalism was changed to School of Journalism and Communications to describe more accurately its present functions.

The Journalism and Communications program at the University of Illinois is based on the conviction that the student can profit best from a course of study that permits him to integrate professional subjects with general subjects.

The School also attempts to provide services for the communications industry in the state.

Directed by Professor Frederick Kiebert, the School of Journalism and Communications is located in Gregory Hall.

College of Law

The quantity of freedom and justice in a democracy is directly proportional to the quality of the law. Thus a highly trained bar is essential for these ideals to be realized. The main purpose of the College of Law is to train students to practice law, but it also provides a valuable foundation for those entering other fields in which it is necessary to have a knowledge of law.

Established in 1897, the College of Law is on the approved lists of the Association of American Law Schools and the Section of Law Education of the American Bar Association. Since its founding, it has pioneered for the improvement of legal education and for higher standards of admission to the United States Bar. Dean Albert Harno has been a leader of these movements since 1922.
Since 1867, when our University was incorporated as the Illinois Industrial University, typical liberal arts courses have been offered. These courses are looked upon as basic to general education. The present organization of the College came in 1913 when the College of Literature and Arts merged with the College of Science. Through this fusion the College became the largest and most complex division of the University. The old tradition of liberal education is provided for in the General Curriculum and in the Division of General Studies. The General Curriculum leads to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. The College also functions as a service unit for the other colleges offering fixed curricula in pre-professional training for nursing, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, law, and journalism. This training includes work in English, foreign languages, science, and social science as constitutes established all-university or special college requirements.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Established in 1893, the University of Illinois Library School is the oldest library school west of the Alleghenies. This school was located at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago until the summer of 1897 when it was moved to the Urbana campus.

The purpose of the Library School is to prepare administrators and assistants for service in public libraries, in libraries of schools, colleges, and universities, and for specialized libraries.

Both graduate and undergraduate programs of study are offered by the school. The undergraduate Library Science courses, prerequisite for admission to the professional courses in the Library School, are offered as a minor in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Education. The fifth year's work for the M.S. and L.S. Degree is the minimum academic preparation for professional librarianship.
The School of Physical Education comprised of two departments, Physical Education for Men and Physical Education for Women, was established in 1933. Its major function is to provide professional training in physical education, health and safety, athletic coaching, camping, recreation, and dancing. By University regulation, all undergraduate students are required to secure four semesters’ credit in physical education.

The school is outstanding not only for its curriculum program for students, but for its program of fundamental research in the fields of motor and organic fitness and diagnostic fitness tests for both faculty and students.

Seward Staley, a graduate of Springfield College, has served as director of the School of Physical Education since 1937.
The Division of Special Services for War Veterans

The Division of Special Services for War Veterans was formed to give the greatest possible help to veterans who wish to enroll in the University of Illinois. The Division is a new experiment in educational policy, permitting an educational freedom which will serve best the needs of each student.

Through this service, the veteran is able to attain an objective which includes subjects offered in several colleges. The Division directs the educational programs of veterans whose needs are not met by the curricula already existing, and can certify these students for their Bachelor of Science degree. Also, the Division makes a study of the needs of incoming veterans and informs them of all the many services of the University.
The Division of University Extension, headed by Dean Robert Browne, is the agency responsible for the educational curriculum involving residents of the state of Illinois who are not enrolled as students on the University campus. Extra classes and correspondence courses are offered toward earning a degree. There are about one hundred seven college-level correspondence courses available for people who wish to study at home. The Division is able to fulfill less than half of the demands for courses that are received each year. A number of short courses are made available with the cooperation of other colleges of the University.

The Division also attends to the Film Library of the University. High schools all over the state, as well as other Universities, rent instructional films and old movies from the Extension.
The first course in veterinary science at our university was initiated in 1870, but did not lead to a veterinary medicine degree. Additional well-trained veterinarians to aid farmers in the control of animal diseases and to protect the public health from animal diseases transmissible to man were needed as the years progressed. As a result, the College of Veterinary Medicine was established in 1944, and a professional four-year course in veterinary medicine leading to a D.V.M. degree was activated in 1948.

Other work of the College includes programs of veterinary research, extension, and graduate study. A disease diagnostic service and a veterinary clinic and hospital service provide animal patients and specimens for instructional purposes.

The College is housed in the New Veterinary Medicine building and the remodeled Veterinary Clinic Building.

Dr. Robert Graham was appointed as dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine in 1945.

The Student Senate is the student's representative. Its purposes are to promote the general welfare of the student body and to work with the Committee on Student Affairs to exercise general policy-making authority over student affairs.

The Student Senate is composed of thirty-nine members. Twenty-one are elected in general elections by the student body. The major campus activities and housing groups are represented by the remaining eighteen who act as ex-officio members.

By-laws, Finance, Public Relations, International Activities, Student Life, and Coordination are the permanent committees, but any student is free to sponsor legislation, to attend the meetings, or to speak before the group.

The Coordination Committee exercises control over the following organizations in particular: Illini Theatre Guild, Illini Union, Campus Chest, Illini Board of Control, Concert and Entertainment Board, Freshman Council, men's and women's athletics, and the various housing groups. The Committee considers petitions and schedules the time and place for programs and events. Budgets for University functions, the handling of tickets, and an annual calendar of events are also subject to this committee.

The Committee on Student Affairs is a part of the University Senate. Its nine faculty members are appointed by the Student Senate. In policy matters it is responsible to the University senate, and in administration it serves as an advisory group to the dean of students. The primary duties of the committee are to prevent extra-curricular activities from encroaching on the curricular field; to assist students in setting up a plan of self-government; to assist students in the management of their activities and encourage personal responsibility; and to help maintain safe, moral and healthful living conditions.

The committee in collaboration with the student senate writes the "Code on Student Affairs," the regulations under which all student activities operate.

The Interfraternity Council governs and supervises all social fraternities at the University. Under the guiding hand of Dean George Bargh, the council governs interfraternity policies concerned with the general welfare, social, scholastic, and recreational activities of the member houses.

The Board of Fraternity Affairs advises and works with the council. This board is composed of three staff fraternity men, three local fraternity alumni, and five undergraduate officers of the council.

The Illinois council is the largest and oldest such group in the United States. The fifty-six national fraternities are represented by a junior and senior from each house. The weekly meetings provide for disseminating constructive ideas. Council functions are effected by the following committees: activities, judicial, pledge training, scholarship, house managers, rushing, intramurals, program, public relations, and executive.

Panhellenic is the governing body of the sororities at the University of Illinois. It strives to achieve a closer cooperation and a higher scholastic standing among the organized women.

The presidents' council, which is composed of the chapter presidents and the executive council, makes up the two governing bodies. The departments covered by Panhellenic are social, scholarship, rushing, pledge, activity, public relations, and Shi Ai. Junior Panhellenic, which familiarizes the pledges with the organization and operation of the organization, is composed of pledge presidents.

In addition to its other activities, the Council sponsors the Fall Pledge Banquet and the annual Panhellenic Ball.

The Men's Independent Association is a representative body of the independent men on campus. This student organized administrative body enables the independent men to influence formulative policies affecting student welfare. Each organized house of four or more residents, sends a student to the representative council. Incentives and opportunities in all fields of student activity aid independents and are provided by M.I.A. Trophys are awarded for scholastic achievements, participation in intramural sports, and leadership in the various recreational programs. M.I.A. also has maintained a very active membership in the National Independent Student Association.

The independent women on campus, living in residence halls and organized houses, are united in the Women's Group System. House representatives and presidents constitute the council which discusses activities and campus events.

The purpose of WGS is to promote higher scholastic standing and to aid freshmen in their problems and interests. Annual events are the Watcheka Sing, Mother's Day luncheon, and scholarship and activity teas at which awards are presented to outstanding houses and individual girls. WGS helps sponsor activities in cooperation with the Men's Independent Association, and both publish the newspaper, Indee.

All-Ag Field Day

Presented by the Home Economics and Agriculture clubs, this annual event resulted in another huge success. Contests highlighted the day with egg-throwing, pant-patching, potato sack races, and corn-shucking, actively participated in by the students. Prof. Karl Gardner won the faculty "prettiest legs on south campus" contest. Muscle bound teams from Farmhouse and Alpha Gamma Rho took part in a tug of war. The traditional dance this year, "Fall Frolic," ended the festivities with Helen Pierce and Daryle Tegeder being crowned king and queen of the day.
The Senior Class of 1952 held their traditional ball in the Grand Ballroom of the Illini Union Building on May 9.

"Pathway Through the Past" set the theme for this spring formal. Trellised roses formed the background for dancing to the popular music of Griff Williams and his orchestra.

Although the committee had to overcome many difficulties, they were, nevertheless, able to put on a successful dance to be long remembered by all those attending. This committee was guided by co-chairmen Mary Schae flein and Glenn Ekman.
Society Horse Show

The Hoof and Horn Club of the Agriculture College sponsored a Society Horse Show for Dads Day entertainment in lieu of the annual Little International. The show was a huge success with a sell-out crowd. Over one hundred horses from four states were entered in the show and represented both Western and Society classes. An internationally known sheep-dog act was staged during the intermission.

This year's show was glamorized by seven beautiful University coeds acting as queen and court. Miss Carol Patterson reigned as Queen.
Panhellenic Ball

An "Enchanted Voyage on the S. S. Panhell" was this year's theme for the Panhellenic ball, held on November 21st. Ray Anthony's celebrated orchestra supplied the music for the capacity crowd at Huff gym.

To carry out the nautical idea, an enormous replica of the steamship "Panhel" occupied the center of the floor with a blue spotlight focused on the ship. Life preservers with the sorority names were placed around the wall of the gym. Highlights of the evening were the presentation of the "Ideal" sorority girls and the latest rage, "The Bunny Hop."

Campus Chest

Campus Chest, a comparatively new organization on campus, was established at the University of Illinois to consolidate the inconvenience of individual student and faculty donations to numerous charities.

Each fall a general fund drive is conducted which includes contributions to all of the major charities. The proceeds from this, as well as from Spring Carnival, are allocated to charities recommended by the Allocation and Advisory Board, which is composed of representatives from major student organizations on campus.

A book and clothing drive, and an orphanage Christmas party are other events in the Chest's yearly program which serve to keep all eighty members busy.

Saturday morning work at the “Y”
College women are provided with opportunities to serve in fields ranging from community social service to international affairs through the Young Women's Christian Association.

The activities of this group are based upon the universal "Y" program formula—worship, study, and action. They try to meet every possible interest in such a way that a successful balance of study and action is attained.
"Open House" of the University of Illinois campus is the Y.M.C.A. A body of more than twenty student committees keeps the "Y" keyed to the student body interest. Professional staff members, students, and faculty work together to serve the campus and community.

The "Y" sponsors a wide program to aid incoming students and is a pioneer and campus leader in its international student program. It also publishes the "I" book, a directory which supplies students with information concerning the University.

The Kaeser Room provides a social meeting room for recreation and snacks. Facilities such as the modern dark room, the magazine reading room, and the lounges contribute to the Y.M.C.A.'s student and faculty appeal.
The Illini Forensic Association is open to any student on the University of Illinois campus who is interested in developing his speaking ability. The aim of the Forensic program is not only to improve speaking ability, but also to arouse interest in current events.

In addition to regular intercollegiate debates, the Forensic program includes a weekly Student Forum on station WILL concerning national and campus problems, monthly Parliamentary Debates on current topics of interest, and a speech workshop for students who want to improve their general speaking ability.

An executive council of students, with advice from faculty members, manages the Forensic Association.
Illio Editorial Staff

The 1952 Illio editorial staff under the leadership of editor, Richard Smith, and associate editors, Caroline Rees, Wanda Bash, and Robert Wold, have organized this annual showing life on the campus of the University of Illinois. These senior editors plan the work of the Illio.

The Illio is composed of six sections, Activities, Chicago Campus, Organizations, Residences, Seniors, and Sports, which are supervised by eleven junior editors. These junior editors direct and plan the work for the Freshman and Sophomore staff members who type, file, crop pictures, write copy and plan layouts. The Freshmen and Sophomores are trained at a workshop held in the spring.
Illio Business Staff

The Illio Business Staff as its all-important job plans and regulates the budget for the Illio. 1953 saw Chuck Kustner as Business manager with Bert Rosecrans and Bill Grosser as Associate managers.

The Junior staff, who handles the general office work, is made up of three major parts—advertising, finance, and sales. The freshmen and sophomores of the Illio have the responsibility of selling the book and doing such general office work as filing and typing. These students work to create a wider distribution and to keep the popularity of the Illio high.

Headed by Associate Professor Quincy Howe, the All University Forum committee annually brings to the University renowned speakers who deliver lectures and lead panel discussions on topics of current importance.

In February, 1952, "What Went Wrong in Iran" was discussed by Henry F. Grady, ambassador to Iran in 1950. Mr. Grady has been U. S. trade commissioner in Greece.

Marquis W. Childs, well known Washington news columnist, appeared at this University in November, 1952, to discuss "The Presidential Campaign of 1952." Mr. Childs received the Sigma Delta Chi award for Washington correspondents in 1944, and in 1951 he was presented with the award for distinguished service in journalism from the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

In November, 1951, United States Senator, Blair Moody, spoke on "A Program for Survival." Senator Moody was a newspaper man for twenty-eight years prior to his becoming a Senator.

John C. Caldwell appeared in July, 1952, to present "A Crisis in the Far-East." A former attache at the embassy in Seoul, Mr. Caldwell is now a special consultant for the Department of the Army on Korean problems. He also holds a position as Deputy Director of the United States Information Center in Korea. The Forum also brought Julian Bryan to the University.

Each year a sizeable number of its members are selected to become part of the Football Band. Its many other activities include playing for pep rallies, military ceremonies, the annual Band clinic, Mothers Day Weekend, and WILL. Director Lyman Starr's Second Regimental Band serves as a training organization for the First Regimental and Concert Bands. Football Marching Band

During the 1952 football season, the 175-piece University of Illinois football band, oldest and largest in the nation, was host to the Purdue, Ohio State, and Northwestern bands, and traveled to Wisconsin for the game.

Highlighting the season was the farewell appearance of Glenn C. "Rusty" Bainum, retiring Northwestern band director and Illinois alumnus. Bainum directed the Illinois band in one of his own arrangements at the Northwestern game. At the Ohio State and Northwestern games, the Illini bandsmen entered to the march music from the movie "Quo Vadis."
The ROTC at the University of Illinois is an outgrowth of the Morill Land Grant Act of 1868. This act provided public land to those colleges offering courses in the agricultural fields and in the mechanical arts on the condition that a course in military science be made compulsory. Under present University policy, all able-bodied male students must complete two years of training in one of the three ROTC programs.

Today, that offspring has developed into one of the largest military training organizations of its kind in the country.

The Army, oldest of the ROTC branches, has expanded to a twenty-seven company brigade. A staff of twenty-one officers and twenty-two enlisted men supervise the nine separate branches of the Army ROTC.

The Naval Unit, established in 1947, is composed of the regular students, selected through examination and given University scholarships, and the contract students, taking Naval Science courses leading to commissions in the Naval Reserve.

The latest addition to the ROTC program is the Air Force, which was organized in 1949. This branch, composed of nineteen squadrons, instructs its cadets in four options.
The Army

The Army "R.O" is the grand-daddy of the three R.O.T.C. branches at the U. of I. At present, it functions under the guidance of Colonel Melton A. Hatch. Working with him is a staff of forty-three regular army officers and enlisted men.

From Colonel Hatch's staff through the Military Council, the advanced corps, and in turn, the basic cadets, co-operation and military efficiency is the byword. The cadet has a choice of nine fields, any of which will eventually lead to a commission in the U.S. Army Reserves.

The Air Force

Very close unity is exhibited by the University of Illinois' detachment of the Air Force ROTC. This is due largely to the close harmony within the Air Force Wing Staff, headed by Colonel Harvey Davidson and Cadet Colonel Jack Norton.

The cadet officers act in an advisory capacity and are responsible for setting and regulating policy for the entire Air Force detachment.

In order to promote better officer-man relationships, the NROTC unit has committees which aid the regular chain of command.

Serving in a coordinative capacity, the Navy Council, which is composed of midshipmen of various classes and regular Navy officers, promotes the welfare of the various unit activities.

The work of this council typifies the spirit and efficiency which permeates the Naval unit.

Honoraries

Nearly every college in the University has one or more honoraries bringing together the students who have high scholarship or recognizing those who are outstanding in their particular field. Some of these societies are chapters of national organizations, while others are local societies springing from the University itself.

Some of the purposes of these honoraries are to encourage scholarship, cooperation, friendship, and achievement, and to promote leadership, service, research, the high ideals of the profession, and a greater understanding of the subject.

In addition to furthering the interests and development of specific vocations, these honoraries provide closer social and professional companionship for their members. These professional interests provide opportunities for application of practical experiences in the respective fields and stimulate personal associations which will prove valuable in post-college endeavors.

Independent sophomore women who have been outstanding in house and campus activities and have a scholastic average of 3.35 or better are selected for membership in Alpha Chron, the activity honorary for independent sophomore women.

Established in October, 1948, Alpha Chron has encouraged further participation in campus activities and participated in programs designed to stimulate leadership among both members and other students. Members of Alpha Chron are ushers for Dad’s Day Stunt Show and hostesses at the Women’s Group System scholarship tea. Every year during Mother’s Day weekend, Alpha Chron sponsors Watcheka Sing, the independent women’s sing.

The symbol of Alpha Chron is a clock surrounded by a date book and wings. It signifies fleeting time, efficiency, and friendship.

Alpha Delta Sigma is a national honorary advertising fraternity with student chapters in most universities throughout the United States. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in advertising and to promote superior quality in advertisements. Alumni chapters serve to give professional aid to ex-collegians by presenting an environment wherein newcomers in the field of advertising may meet and converse with men well established in their field.

The Charles H. Dennis chapter at Illinois was re-activated in 1947. Frank Senger, manager of the Illini Publishing Company, is local adviser and regional chairman of all midwestern chapters. President of the local chapter is William Novak.

The only requirements for initiation are that the student have an active interest in advertising and a 3.5 scholastic average.

The Dolphin Swimming Fraternity for University men was established in 1912. This social organization is open to all men who have an interest and show superior ability in water skills. One of the main functions of this organization is to improve the all-around swimming program at the University and throughout the State of Illinois.

The annual water show is given in the Fall as a feature of Dad's Day week-end. One of the highlights of this aquatic carnival is the selection of the Dolphin Queen who acts as sponsor for the organization during her year's reign.

The Dolphins officiate at swimming events, cooperate with Terrapin, send representatives to the National Aquatic Forum, and sponsor such events as splash parties, swimming clinics, and the National Junior Water Polo Championships.

The purposes of Shi-Ai, sophomore activity honorary for sorority women, are to promote and strengthen friendships among sororities and to encourage interest in campus activities. Shi-Ai also holds exchanges with Skull and Crescent and Star and Scroll, sophomore men's activity honoraries.

Established in 1920 at Northwestern, Shi-Ai has done much in the way of service projects. Shi-Ai gives an annual Christmas party for the children of Huling Orphans Home in Rantoul. A milk fund drive for needy Champaign-Urbana families is sponsored along with Shi-Ai Sing, the annual intersorority sing given during Mothers Day weekend.

Every fall, each sorority chooses two sophomore girls outstanding in leadership, activities, and scholarship to become pledges to Shi-Ai.
Star and Scroll is a sophomore men's honorary fraternity which was founded at the University of Illinois for the purpose of promoting interfraternity fellowship, raising freshman scholastic standards, encouraging freshmen in activities, and perpetuating the traditions of the University.

Membership is made up of two men selected each year from the seventeen member fraternities on the basis of their scholastic standing and potential success as a campus leader in extracurricular activities.

An annual highlight of Star and Scroll includes the formal dance and the selection of a queen chosen from candidates representing each of the member houses. The organization participated in student activity night, the Sweet Sixteen Circus, and in co-sponsorship with Shi-Ai, presented a Union Coffee hour.

Skull and Crescent is a national fraternity honoring sophomore men who are outstanding in activities and scholarship. Its members are chosen from the twenty-five oldest fraternities on campus. Its main objective is to create and promote interfraternity fellowship and encourage freshmen to excel in scholarship and campus activities.

An annual pajama race is held in the armory. Other social events sponsored by the organization are an annual dinner dance, a pledge banquet, and an exchange with the members of Shi-Ai, women’s sophomore honorary.

Each year the new initiates are awarded Skull and Crescent pins which are passed down from the previous members. They in return present the alums with an honorary paddle. The Illinois Helmet Chapter has maintained its traditions for over thirty years.
Sigma Tau, engineering honorary, was founded in 1904 at the University of Nebraska. The objectives of the fraternity are the recognition of personal attainments on the part of engineering students and the promotion of the interests of the engineering college.

Membership is made up of men ranking in scholarship among the upper one third of the juniors and seniors in recognized engineering schools. Selection is based upon practicality and sociability. As a measure of recognition for outstanding work while an undergraduate, Sigma Tau offers a fellowship which can be used to finance a year of post-graduate work at any reputable university.

Since its founding at Illinois in 1914, the organization has offered opportunity for the development of professional contacts and friendships.

Tau Beta Pi, an extensively recognized engineering honor society, was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 "to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, or by their attainments as alumni in the field of engineering, and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America."

Since 1885 Tau Beta Pi has spread across the nation with at present over 70,000 members belonging to ninety-two chapters. In 1897 Illinois Alpha was established as the fifth chapter at the University of Illinois. Membership is open to junior and senior students in all branches of engineering who meet required standards of scholarship, leadership, and character.

Terrapin, an honorary swimming club for University women, selects its pledges on the basis of swimming skill and potential water ballet skill. The aims of the club are to further interest and proficiency in aquatics, to promote a spirit of good sportsmanship and friendship among its members, and to encourage interest and participation in aquatic activities at the University and elsewhere.

One highlight of the year is the Mothers Day water show consisting of water musical numbers written and produced by members. Terrapin sponsors the Women's Interhouse Swimming Meet, supports swimming events on campus, and acts as a parent to Guppies. In September, 1952, Terrapin offered for the first time an Educational Service Fund designed to assist students in research work connected with aquatic activities.
Tomahawk, an activity honorary for independent sophomore men, has a representation of all the major activities on campus. Members are nominated at the end of their freshman year by the recommendations of their particular activity. The members choose those whom they consider to be the most capable of carrying on the high standards of the fraternity.

The purpose of Tomahawk is to give recognition for outstanding work in activities, to inspire those persons chosen for membership to greater achievement during their remaining years at the University, to act as a service organization on campus, and to strengthen bonds of friendship among independent men.

The first chapter of Tomahawk was founded at the University of Illinois in 1931 and has since maintained an excellent record of over two decades of service.

Organizations

Organizations and societies are a valuable part of campus life. By belonging to an organization whose activities pertain to the student's chosen field, the student receives the opportunity to relate and apply the theory learned in the classroom to the field of work in which he will be engaged in the future. He is able to meet and converse with prominent men in his chosen occupation, participate in field trips, and keep informed of the latest trends and developments in his field. Equally as important, however, is the opportunity afforded the student to engage in the numerous social activities held by these organizations, offering him the chance to further develop his character and personality.

In the following pages are the organizations and societies represented at Illinois. It is hoped that the student will recognize the aims of these organizations and the accomplishments of those who are active members.

Eight clubs which promote specialized fields of agriculture are subsidiary organizations of the Agriculture Club. These are the Dairy Production Club, the Dairy Technology Club, the Agriculture Economics Club, the Agricultural Education Club, the Field and Furrow Club, the Horticulture Club, the Poultry Club, and the Hoof and Horn Club. Activities of these organizations are coordinated by the Agriculture Council, composed of the presidents of the eight subsidiary clubs and the editor of the Illini Rural Observer.

"Orchesis" is a Greek word meaning "to dance." The purpose of the organization is to offer men and women the opportunity for creative dance study, composition, and performance, and also to stimulate the appreciation and understanding of the art in the community.

Each March Orchesis sponsors a concert in conjunction with the Contemporary Arts Festival. A part of the proceeds from this concert are allotted for a scholarship to be awarded to a member of the group for summer study at a school of dance.

Orchesis also sponsors concerts and organizes symposiums in which other colleges participate. It gives lecture demonstrations for the music and art departments and other clubs on campus and in the community. Orchesis takes part in the combined productions of the music, drama, and dance departments.

The purpose of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary fraternity, is to raise the standard of military education in American universities. Scabbard and Blade encourages good qualities in officers and promotes friendship among the cadet officers.

Organized at the University of Illinois in 1909, Company F was the fifth company to join the organization. Today the society has 110 companies organized into nine regiments with a total membership of 55,000. Members are chosen yearly from the advanced corps of Army, Air Force, and Naval R.O.T.C. They are selected on the basis of their all-around ability.

National officers are elected, petitions for new companies are voted upon, and future policies are discussed at national conventions which are held annually.
Some of the most important groups of organizations on campus are the religious organizations. Their primary purpose is to fulfill the spiritual needs of the students. Each foundation strives to instill religious values by conducting services, giving credit courses in religion, and maintaining libraries of religious writings.

The religious foundation also serves as a cultural center for the student. Dramatic groups, choral groups, forums, lectures, and discussion groups all contribute to the cultural development necessary for the well-rounded student.

Social activities are also furthered by the religious foundations on campus. Coffee hours, mixers, picnics, and dances, both formal and informal, are typical of the many social events sponsored by the foundations.

In the following pages of the ILLIO appear the religious foundations on campus representing many of the religious denominations.

Illini Christian Fellowship is one of more than three hundred chapters of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, an international organization. Entertaining Iowa State before 47,338 fans, Illinois opened its 1952 football season with an impressive 33–7 victory. Led by Tommy O'Connell, the Fighting Illini captured its eleventh straight win.

An intercepted pass by Herb Borman set up the Illini's first six points. Seven plays later, Pete Bachouros scooted over from the four. Shortly thereafter Illinois received the ball on downs. After a short 10-yard pass completion, Rocky Ryan outdistanced the Iowa State defense and took a long pass from O'Connell for a 49-yard scoring play.

Illinois' third score came when Cliff Waldbeser, defensive end, snatched a Cyclone fumble out of mid-air on the Illini 28-yard marker and raced 72 yards for the score.

Illinois increased its 19–0 halftime lead in the second half with scores by Austin Duke and Bud DeMoss.

The Cyclones were held scoreless until the closing minutes of the contest.
Wisconsin

Wisconsin got away to a quick 6-0 lead after the kickoff. The Illini from then on took the defensive. Wisconsin started several drives, but they all fell short of the goal. In the late part of the second period, Illinois mounted its first offensive, but the time ran out and they did not score.

In the third quarter the teams sparred up and down the field, with neither team making any ground. Then during the last few seconds, the Badger’s pushed across their second touchdown. At the beginning of the last quarter this revived Wisconsin team scored their last touchdown.

Wisconsin’s kickoff went to the Illinois 37, where Rocky Ryan got it. He hesitated a moment and then went through a host of tacklers. With Wally Vernasco and Bob Bishop clearing the way, Ryan scored an Illinois touchdown.

Only a short time remained and Wisconsin killed the clock to end the game.
The Fighting Illini greeted Washington's Huskies with a 48-14 lacing to make good in their only start against a West Coast team this year. This was primed as a battle between two of the nation's top passers, Don Heinrich and Tommy O'Connell.

O'Connell pitched a 24 yard pass to Rocky Ryan four plays after the kickoff for the first score. O'Connell and Ryan connected for another pass and Ryan raced 78 yards for the touchdown.

Taking over on the midfield stripe, Duke dashed for the left sideline on what looked like a sweep, then jumped and pitched a perfect pass to Bachouros who sidestepped the Huskies' last three would-be tacklers for a touchdown.

In the waning minutes of the game, Heinrich, with his passing, helped his team to two touchdowns.
Minnesota

The first part of the game was spent with Illinois fumbling, Minnesota recovering, and the Fighting Illini holding. On an Illinois fumble, the Gophers recovered on the 22 yard line. From there, behind Paul Giel, Minnesota scored.

Late in the third period, after their drives had stalled, Illinois finally caught fire. With fine running and passing, Illinois marched 70 yards to score with Duke going over. Miller kicked the point tying the score, 7-7.

Early in the fourth period, an O'Connell pass was intercepted. With Holme carrying five times, Minnesota scored the winning touchdown.

Illinois had the ball twice before the game ended. They were stopped once, and time killed the other drive as Minnesota upset Illinois 13-7.
The Illinois forward wall ganges up on Schmaling.

Purdue

The 1952 Homecoming battle was with Purdue. The Boilermakers put an end to the weekend's festivities during the first quarter and went on to roll up an impressive 40-12 score.

Two minutes after the opening kick-off Purdue's fullback, Max Schmaling, crashed through the center of the line and went 59 yards to pay dirt. Illinois bounced right back, however, when Tommy O'Connell connected with Rocky Ryan for a 47 yard scoring play. The Boilermakers held on to their slim 7-6 edge as they blocked the Illini's point-after-touchdown attempt.

Late in the first quarter Dale Samuels found Bernie Flowers in the end zone with a three yard pass to give Purdue a 13-6 lead which Illinois was never able to overcome.

Purdue increased their margin in the second quarter when Flowers out-distanced Illinois' bandaged pass defense twice within 59 seconds for scoring passes.

Pete Bachouros crashed Purdue's burly line one yard for a TD late in the fourth quarter. The consolation tally was set up by a 34 yard pass from O'Connell to Ryan.
Michigan

Instilled with a desire and ability which had not been approached all year, the Illini rolled over Michigan in an upset victory 22-13.

Wodziak blocked a punt in the first few minutes and as the ball went out of play, Illinois was awarded a safety. After an exchange of punts, Miller finally broke the battle by going 27 yards for a touchdown. From then on the Illini couldn't make a mistake.

In the second quarter Brosky's interception and the recovery of a fumble by Borman set up the Illini's other two touchdowns.

Michigan went on to score twice, but the final score hailed Illinois as the "Conquering Heroes."
Iowa

The Illini air attack clicked and Illinois whipped Iowa 33-13. When Illinois got the ball, they started moving. O'Connell passed to Smith and moved to the Iowa 17. Bachouros moved to the 3 yard line and then, in the next play, DeMoss scored.

With the second period, the Illini started their second drive which covered 68 yards with Bachouros scoring. Illinois held Iowa, and after the Hawkeye punt and two passes from O'Connell to Ryan, O'Connell sneaked over for a third TD.

After the kickoff, Brosky intercepted a long Hawkeye pass and ran 38 yards to the Iowa 26 yard stripe. Passes to Smith and an Iowa interference penalty, set up the touchdown with Swienton carrying.

The Illini scored their fifth touchdown at the beginning of the third quarter where Smith caught an O'Connell pass and ran 67 yards for a TD.

In the last half things shifted Iowa's way, and they scored twice.
Ohio State

Entertaining a vast throng of dads at the annual Dad’s Day game, the Fighting Illini fell to Ohio State 27-7.

The Buckeyes tallied within five seconds of the second quarter on a long pass climaxing a 91 yard march. The Illini earned a 7-7 half-time tie, when with only 42 seconds left, O’Connell moved the team to the promised land with a 25 yard pass to Ryan.

The story of the second half was short. Making two interceptions and a fumble pay off, Ohio State scored three times within ten minutes. The Illini were unsuccessful in their comeback try as they never were able to threaten again.
Northwestern

Scoring on the first and last plays of the game, Northwestern's Wildcats edged the Illini out, 28-26, with a story book finish.

With six seconds left, fullback Chuck Hren took a pass from Dick Thomas on the 10 yard line and scored.

On the first play from scrimmage, Wildcat halfback Gerry Weber scored as he scampered around left end for 67 yards. Illinois bounced back when O'Connell threw a 60 yard touchdown pass to Rex Smith.

Each team scored once more before the intermission. Then in the third quarter O'Connell went over from the one, climaxing a 61 yard advance to give the Illini the lead for the first time, 19-14.

The inspired up-state rivals again took the lead, 21-19, before Illinois went ahead, 21-26, on a seven yard lob pass to Smith. Just when this looked like it would remain the score and give Illinois a victory, the Wildcats hit the Illini with their dramatic finish.
The vital force behind the Illinois football teams is the excellent coaching staff. Ray Elliot, head of this staff, has been head coach at Illinois for ten years, and has twice produced Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions.

Ralph Fletcher coaches the defensive backs, and Chuck Purvis coaches the offensive backs. Burt Ingwersen and Lou Agase are the line coaches. Mel Brewer is freshman coach, Bob King instructs the ends, and Leo Johnson is the chief scout.

Who's helping whom?

Nine lettermen returned from Illinois' 1952 team and at the season's beginning, the Illini were rated as the top team in the nation. The main components of this team were six players, five of which played on the 1952 team: Jim Bredar, Irv Bemoras, John Kerr, Clive Follmer, Bob Peterson, and Max Hooper, who filled in for Rod Fletcher.

The Illini began the season with a 71-57 victory over Loyola. With Kerr hitting 34 points and the team shooting .400, Illinois had little trouble. The first conference tilt, with Michigan, proved to be the Illini's second victory. With each of the first five hitting over thirteen points, the Illini won by 30 points.

The Illini's first defeat came at the hands of a strong Minnesota five. Playing on their own floor and with an upset in mind, Minnesota got the points when they needed them. Even though Illinois outscored the Gophers from the field, Minnesota made up these points by free throws, and came out on top. With this defeat the Illini fell to second place in Big Ten competition.

During the holidays, Illinois again hit their stride, and beat Ohio State with Kerr scoring 22 points. This sharp shooting continued as the Illini dropped Purdue; Hooper, Kerr, and Bredar each hit over 20 points. With Bredar leading the way, Northwestern was an easy victory.
Illinois lost its second conference contest to Indiana. The regulation game ended in a tie as did the first overtime, but when the second overtime ended, the score read 74-70 with Indiana on top.

Kerr, pacing the Illini with 22 points, led the team to a victory over Michigan State, and the Illini also topped a strong Wisconsin five.
Michigan gave Illinois little trouble, and the Illini thumped Iowa on our home court. After winning again from Purdue, Illinois was defeated by upset-minded Iowa, which killed any hopes of an Illini championship. Bredar and Kerr sparked an 83-82 victory over Minnesota.

The Hoosiers played like champions and beat Illinois 91-79 on our home court. Illinois cinched second place with victories over Wisconsin, Ohio State, and Northwestern.

Kerr controls the board with able assistants, Hooper and Bredar.

Two on one stops Bemoras.
Captain Jim Bredar's fiery playing sparked the Illini. He came through in the close games and proved to be an outstanding all around player. Playing opposite Bredar as the other guard was Irv Bemoras. His set shots, rebounding, and defensive play were big factors in the Illini victories. Clive Follmer, forward, with his speed and drive-in shots, set up many Illini baskets as well as adding to the Illinois point total. Opposite Follmer, Max Hooper, playing the other forward, showed rebounding power and a deadly eye with two-handed set shots. Bob Peterson brought down his share of rebounds and helped John Kerr out against strong opponents. Kerr showed much improvement over the 1952 season, playing fine defensive games and leading the Illini in scoring. His best game was against Loyola when he scored 34 points.

Jim Bredar was named on the second team All-American and Irv Bemoras and John Kerr were given honorable mention.

This was the last season for Bredar, Peterson, Kerr, Bemoras, Follmer, and Schuldt.
Baseball

With newly appointed Lee Eilbracht as coach for the 1952 season, the Illinois baseball squad blasted through a 28 game schedule to end the season by sharing the Big Ten championship. With a strong defense and a better than average mound corps, Illinois opened its Big Ten campaign when they met and were overcome by Michigan's Wolverines.

The Fighting Illini scored a 12-1 decision over Michigan State in the first game of a twin bill as Jerry Smith gave up only six wide-scattered hits. Losing the final game of the day gave coach Eilbracht's team a 1-2 conference record.

Just made it!

Lou Krante, captain
The team from Champaign-Urbana opened a five-game home series by setting the Purdue Boilermakers to a 11-6 defeat. The Illini swept a week-end double header from Indiana University by 7-0 and 5-2 scores. This put the team back into strong contention for the league leadership with a 4-2 record. Clive Follmer pitched a 6-hit shutout to win the opener. Catcher Bruce Frazier was top batter of the day, while Frank Walenga led in the R. B. I. department by forcing 4 runs across the plate.
Illini swung North for an important 3-game week-end with Wisconsin and Northwestern. A 5-2 victory over Wisconsin put the Illini into a 3-way tie for first place.

The following day, the Illini swept a double header from Northwestern to remain in first place. The first game was a pitcher's duel in which Gerry Smith emerged victorious. The winning run was provided by Lou Krantz, who scored on an error. The second game was bitterly fought to the final out as Northwestern tried valiantly to salvage one of the two games.

Coach Eilbracht nominated Clive Follmer to hurl the first game of the pennant hinging 3 game series with the Buckeyes. This initial game ended in a 6-3 loss for Lee Eilbracht's charges. The Illini fought back and capped the afternoon pair by scores of 7-1 and 7-3. Gerry Smith remained among the top Big Ten moundsmen by spinning a smooth 4-hitter. Gerry was bolstered by a 14-hit barrage in the game. The big bats of Baranski, Moore, Miller, and Frazier continued their action in the finale as they helped Carl Ahrens and Clive Follmer rack up the second victory of the day. This pair of wins enabled Illinois to maintain their one game lead in the Big Ten race.
The fact that John Davis had a perfect day at the plate with 5 for 5 was not enough to alter the course of the game as Minnesota beat Illinois and Carl Ahrens 5-1.

With everything depending upon their double header with Iowa, the home team could do no better than a discouraging split.

This loss of the last game threw Illinois and Michigan into a two way tie for the league title. Although the Illini finished the season one-half game ahead of Michigan, the title-deciding "won" and "lost" percentages were identical.
Illinois' track team went through another season of Big Ten competition without a single team loss. Bolstered by such consistent winners as Henry Cryer, Dick Coleman, Joe Gonzalez, Joel McNulty, Cirilo McSweeney, Ron Mitchell, Stacey Siders, and Willie Williams, the Illini had a tremendous first-line squad. Added to this were the many so-called reserves which on any Big Ten track team constitute the winning margin. These men added the second, third, fourth, and fifth place points when they were most needed.

The Illini trackmen received their prepping for Big Ten championship through a very rugged schedule of dual and invitational meets. On March 29 a few picked men traveled to Chicago to run in the Annual Chicago Daily News Relays. There they proceeded to win first places in the mile relay, the two mile relay, and the 1,000 yard run.
Another big meet for the Illini was the nationally famous Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa. Illinois’ two-mile relay team composed of Dick Reynolds, Lawton Lamb, Stacey Siders, and Henry Cryer established a new American collegiate record of 7:31.6. Illinois also triumphed in the 880 yard relay, pole vault, and 120 yard high hurdles. Dick Coleman and Joel McNulty respectively scored firsts for Illinois in the individual events.
The inaugural meet of the '52 season was the Milwaukee Journal Relays. Lawton Lamb placed first in the 1,000 yard run, and the Illinois mile relay team took the trophy in that event. The next meet was against Indiana. The final score indicated a complete rout—Illinois 87, Indiana 27. Two more dual meets followed and the results were similar. These meets helped shape up the team for the important Big Ten Indoor Track championship meet.

In the Big Ten Indoor Track meet Illinois showed the championship form which was displayed throughout the whole season. The final score showed the Illini as victors with Michigan a very close second.

The mighty Illini's first outdoor duel meet victim was Purdue, which received a thorough drubbing to the tune of 104-28.

Michigan, a week later, put up more of a fight, but the final score of 74\(\frac{1}{2}\)-57\(\frac{1}{2}\) showed Illinois the "conquering heroes" at least for that day.

The last dual meet of the season was a repetition of the Purdue meet. Again the Illini smashed through to an overwhelming victory over a pitifully undermanned Wisconsin team.

This victory apparently was a great morale booster for two weeks later Illinois captured its Second Big Ten track championship of 1952, the Big Ten Outdoor title, from a very strong Michigan team.
Wrestling

A group of hard working underclassmen, built around four returning lettermen, made Coach Patterson's team a surprise in the Big Ten race. During the dual meet season the team was shuffled around and did not make a very impressive dual meet record. In time for the Big Ten championship competition at Michigan, the team fell into shape, and they captured first place. Continuing this form, the Illini finished sixth in the N.C.A.A. championship meet.

Marty Schwartz, the captain and the most valuable wrestler, again turned in an outstanding season in the heavy weight class. Norton Compton, 137 pounder, was undefeated in dual meets and was the Big Ten champion in his class. He also ended fourth in the N.C.A.A. Lou Kachiroubas, 130 pounder, and Dick Meeks, 123 pounder, each placed third in their division at the N.C.A.A. clash.

Lettermen were: Norton Compton, Merle Dunn, Lou Kachiroubas, Vic Locascio, Robert Lutz, Richard Meeks, Max Ponder, Richard Reed, Martin Schwartz, John Wedel, Dean Willman, and William Zanetqkos.
Gymnastics

With only one letterman but many experienced underclassmen returning, the Illini formed an outstanding gymnastics team. Again the Illini proved themselves superior, taking the Big Ten conference for the third consecutive year and placing third in the N.C.A.A. championship meet in Colorado. After losing their opening match with Michigan State, the gymnasts won all of the following dual matches with ease.

Frank Bare won first on the side horse in both the Big Ten and N.C.A.A. finals. Sullivan, honored by his teammates, was elected captain for the 1953 season.
Tennis

Built around returning lettermen, Bob Hoffman and Bob Bennorth, the 1952 Illinois tennis crew won three and lost five dual matches. The Illini victories came at the expense of Ohio State, Purdue, and Northwestern. Not given much hope at the beginning of the season, the netmen showed a large improvement, finishing with an unexpected sixth place in the Big Ten championships. Bennorth and Most competed in the N.C.A.A. tournament, but lost out.

The 1952 Illinois Fencing Squad, led by Captain Jorge Quiros, was undefeated in eight matches for the third consecutive year. The Illini won the Big Ten championship and ended the season with fifth place in N.C.A.A. competition.

D'Orazio, the most valuable player for 1952, finished first in the Big Ten championship and placed eighth in the foil division at the N.C.A.A. championship meet.
Golf

Able to win only one match, the 1952 golf squad picked up some very valuable experience for this year's season. The club-swingers lone victory was over Michigan State. Although we played host to the other Big Ten schools in the annual conference meet at the new University course, we were only able to finish ninth. Vern Rascher acted as team captain.

Swimming

The 1952 swimming team, led by co-captains J. B. Jones and Fred Lehman, ended the season with a record of one win and five defeats.

Jim Pendleton, the most valuable swimmer and captain-elect of 1953, and Bob Clemons placed fifth and sixth, respectively, in the Big Ten championships.

The Illini coach, Ed Manley, retired after forty-one years of coaching. He was the only swimming coach the U. of I. had up to this time.

The Tribe of Illini is a social organization for all men on the campus who have earned a Major "I" in athletics. The recognized goal of every Illinois athlete is to win his "I" and become a member of the Tribe. The club gives the members a chance to get acquainted and furthers good relations between the "I" men and the rest of the students. New members are elected and initiated after awards are presented in each sport.

Each year the Tribe sponsors a winter and a spring formal for its members. It also shows movies of all the out-of-town football games. Members of the football team alternate as narrators at the movies.

Officers in charge of this year's Tribe of Illini are representatives of two different sports. Clive Follmer and Irv Bemoras are basketball players and Cirilo McSween is a track man.

Managers

One of the most important working bodies of the Illinois athletic squads are team managers. They join behind the scenes and perform tasks necessary for successful presentation of athletic events at the University.

Their tasks consist of overseeing practices, arranging for road trips, keeping records, and maintaining high morale.

Two juniors and several underclassmen assist the senior manager in carrying out these duties.
Athlete of the Year

Chuck Boerio, bonecrushing linebacker for the Fighting Illini football team of 1951, was voted the Athlete of the Year by the student body. Besides this nomination, Chuck was also named to several All-American teams and the All Mid-West team. This recognition was given because of the outstanding defensive play which Chuck consistently turned in.

Conference Medal Winner

Dick Calisch, Conference Medal Winner of 1952, was one of Illinois' outstanding athlete-scholars. He showed himself as a very capable and consistent pole vaulter. Dick also proved himself as a scholar. Despite the long track season, he maintained the necessary scholastic average for P.E. and was awarded the University of Illinois Scholarship key.

Most Valuable Player

Al Brosky, All-American safety man for the Fighting Illini, was nominated by his teammates to receive the Most Valuable Player award. He undeniably was one of the greatest defensive backfield men ever to play for Illinois. Among the honors bestowed on him were the captaincy of the 1952 football team and an All-American berth in his junior year.
Cheerleaders

The Illini cheering squad, with cheers, yells, and acrobatic stunts, led the students, faculty, and alums in backing the football and basketball teams. The cheerleaders also took part in many athletics events and pep rallies.

This year, for the first time, representatives of the squad cheered at out-of-town games. Air transportation was provided for Captain Jim Bunting and juniors, Don Peterson and Jim Spierling by the Cheerleading Advisory Board, headed by William Bierbaum.
The University of Illinois' Department of Intramural and Recreational Sports plays a very important part in the lives of the University students. The IM program has a very unique purpose. A well-rounded student needs certain recreational activities in his daily schedule as well as in his classroom work; the Intramural and Recreational Sports program supplies this. By participating in intramural activities, a student benefits from the relaxation of recreation and from the physical exercise.

This department, sponsored by the Athletic Association, has Intramural, Recreational, and Co-recreational programs. The department is under the direction of the IMREC Board and the faculty supervisor, Allen B. Klingel. This Board consists of the Supervisor, Assistant Supervisor, Senior and Junior Managers, Chairman of the Officials Association, and representatives of IF, MIA, and the participating Independent and Greek houses. The IMREC Board sets all policies of the programs and acts as a Protest Board.

The officials of the IM Program are furnished by the IM Officials Association. This organization is made up of members of the professional classes of the School of Physical Education. They find this work beneficial to their training and provide officials for every IM sport.
Throughout the week, the IM department furnishes all the equipment and other athletic facilities for any student or faculty member desiring its use.

The competitive program is supplied by the IM department. It provides clean, wholesome competition for the students with keen rivalry existing between the fraternities and the independent houses. In many sports, pre-season coaching clinics are conducted, and practice sessions are held before each competition. This program is conducted under student leadership.

The recreational department provides leisure time activity for the students and faculty who are interested in participation in athletics for the enjoyment received. Special events and tournaments are offered and a program is available for the graduate students and the staff.

The Co-Rec Department is the newest of the programs. In this competition, both men and women team up in such sports as volleyball, bowling, and softball. Clubs are formed when students show interest in special activities. Some of the more active of these clubs are the "Bait and Fly Casting Club," and the "Rifle and Pistol Club."

Often overlooked behind the University's giant varsity program is the very important athletic program for women, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. The W.A.A. members are offered a year round schedule of both individual and inter-house athletic tournaments on the same scale as the men's Intramural program and the Co-Recreational sports program.

Two trophies are offered yearly: one to the house accumulating the most points in team competition, and the other to the house having the best percentage of participation. After each girl completes one sport season, she is eligible to be initiated. Four seasons are required for a pin, six for numerals, and after twelve sport seasons a girl is eligible for her Major "I", the same as the men's varsity award.
This year W.A.A. affairs were handled by Lucille Muzzarelli, president; Delores Pinkston, vice president; Jean Huber, secretary; Nancy Claypool, treasurer; Pat Hutson, sports manager; and Virginia Mersbach, house representative coordinator. Faculty advisor is Miss Phyllis Hill.

The Women's Athletic Association offers recreation for all undergraduate and graduate women on campus regardless of their sports' skill or ability. Good sportsmanship, physical fitness, and fun are stressed which gives girls an excellent chance to get acquainted with other groups having the same interests. The W.A.A. offers field hockey, badminton, table tennis, volleyball, bowling, ice skating, basketball, fencing, softball, archery, tennis, and golf plus sponsoring Sports' Days with other schools, High School Playday, and a variety of other programs throughout the year. January 20 was W.A.A.'s 50th anniversary. In these fifty years it has been one of the University's most active organizations raising the standards of women's athletics to a point where they have become an important part of every coed on this campus.
Physical Education Majors' Club is a professional organization for women in the Physical Education, Health, Recreation and Dance curricula. During the school year the club sponsors professional meetings with speakers from various fields of physical education, and convocations are held to promote better relationships between the students and faculty of the department.

Intra-class competition is offered in soccer, volleyball, basketball, and softball. The club sponsors a program during Mother's Day weekend and a reception at Homecoming. "Shorts," a newspaper, is published four times a year. Mrs. Lorraine Neilson is the club's faculty sponsor.

Illini can be proud of their Alma Mater for its many contributions in the fields of public service, teaching, and research.

The past year was marked by numerous scientific contributions by members of the University faculty. Programs in the School of Nursing, the Graduate College, and Occupational Therapy are being developed; Dentistry has developed a post-graduate program. The Chicago Professional Colleges have continually sought to extend their public services through such agencies as the Research and Educational Hospitals, the Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Division of Services for Crippled Children, and the Institution for Tuberculosis Research.

The University will continue to improve its present functions and will initiate others with the purpose of rendering even greater contributions in the health sciences.

College of Dentistry

The College of Dentistry, under the direction of its dean, Dr. Allen G. Brodie, has become one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. Unsurpassed in clinical and research facilities, it has attracted many of the greatest men in dentistry to its staff. Although the College's primary aim is the preparation of men and women for the practice of dentistry, an extensive research program is carried on. Three hundred students are presently enrolled in the College of Dentistry.

The proximity of the College of Dentistry to the College of Medicine is a distinct advantage. Most of the dental students' basic courses are taken with medical students. This not only gives the students a thorough understanding of the basic sciences, but also fosters respect and a spirit of friendship and admiration between members of the two professional colleges.

As a part of its clinical training, the College is sponsoring a children's program. Each student, as he begins his clinical work, is assigned to two children. He is responsible for their dental health during his four years of schooling. The college feels that this program engenders confidence on the part of the dentist.

In living up to its reputation as a pioneer in dental education, the College of Dentistry is experimenting with the seminar method of teaching a correlation of theory and of practice. It is felt that discussion by student and teacher of facts and their application to dental problems both encourage the student and develop his interest. The plan is still in the experimental stage, but so far has proved an important step in dental education.

College of Medicine

The University of Illinois College of Medicine, one of the largest medical schools in the nation, was founded in 1881 as an independent proprietary institution. In 1897, the College of Medicine became affiliated with the University of Illinois and, in 1913, it became an integral part of it. The college is located on the West Side of Chicago.

Starting with few clinical facilities, the college has expanded and now offers study in the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, Cook County Hospital, as well as other hospitals in the area. With the recent addition to the Research and Educational Hospital and the new east unit of the Dentistry-Medicine-Pharmacy Building, the college boasts of a staff of 800 leading educators, clinicians, and scientists. Yearly, 200 thoroughly trained physicians graduate from the college.

Outstanding is the contribution of the college to the progress of medicine through its research programs. Each year, its scientific staff advances the frontiers of medical knowledge.

The University of Illinois College of Medicine is still going forward. Further expansion of facilities for training more and better doctors in the future is fast becoming a reality.

Pi Kappa Epsilon has been an active honorary at the University of Illinois since 1921. The objectives of this fraternity are to further the advancement of medicine and medical education through social contacts, intelligent thought and discussion of medicine and medical problems and their related scientific, economic and social endeavors. Members are elected from the seven medical fraternities and independents by vote of the sophomore class.

College of Pharmacy

The aim of the College of Pharmacy is to train young men and women to meet not only the professional requirements of practice which exist today, but also to provide them with a thorough understanding of the social and economic values of community life. Those who are accepted begin an integrated program: two years of liberal arts and sciences plus a specialized theoretical and practical course during the remaining two years. Subjects such as pharmacy, sociology, psychology, jurisprudence, histology, physiology, bacteriology, pharmacology, analytic and organic chemistry combine to make an informed professional pharmacist capable of tendering service and aid to his community.

The new East Dentistry-Medicine-Pharmacy Building is now under construction, and when completed will represent one of the most modern physical structures found in America. It will house not only the ordinary classrooms and laboratories required for the basic science courses, but will also provide a complete manufacturing pilot plant, a retail stores laboratory, and space for approximately fifty graduate students.

The Drug Plant and Horticultural Experiment Station, adjacent to the Morton Arboretum in Lisle, Illinois is being rapidly developed, and when complete will provide one of the few such stations of this type in the country.

Graduate College

The quest for new knowledge and the stimulation of the basic objectives of scholarship and intellectual achievement are traditionally the responsibilities of a graduate college. Graduate degrees of master of science and doctor of philosophy awarded in many programs at the Chicago Professional Colleges must be regarded as symbols of the highest intellectual endeavor. A restricted number of highly qualified students with or without previous professional training are admitted for advanced work and pursuit of research in a chosen basic science field. It is the concern of the graduate college to provide superior opportunity for the student of demonstrated ability in research.

Properly accomplished graduates thus disseminate their investigative skills and intellectual influence to new centers for the advancement of the medical sciences. They become a direct reflection of the University's contribution to the advancement of civilization.
Cook County School of Nursing

The University of Illinois Cook County School of Nursing offers a three year program leading to a diploma in nursing. One might also receive a bachelor of science in nursing after studying at the school.

The school is one of the world's largest and most progressive. It provides a nurses' residence complete with a health and recreation program.

While studying there, nurses are given a two month affiliation in Community Health Nursing. They are instructed in well equipped classrooms, laboratories and libraries. The school also offers scholarship and loan funds to help in financing nurses' education.
The Chicago Illini Union is the campus recreational center where students, faculty, and staff members eat, relax, and enjoy a wide variety of activities. General policies are defined by the Committee on Student Affairs and the Chicago Illini Union. The group consists of two students plus two faculty members from each college, two staff representatives, and six ex-officio officers.

A few of the all-campus activities sponsored by the social committee each year are: an open house for new students, formal and informal dances, the Christmas Sing and Coke Dance, and the Campus Carnival. In addition to planning the various functions, the committee handles publicity and decorates for them. As a center of campus activities, the Chicago Illini Union is known as the "living" room of the campus.

The sports activities on the Chicago Professional Campus offer students enrolled in the three colleges a variety of team and individual sports. For the past nine years, the activities have been directed by Mr. John W. Brown, instructor in physical education. Facilities at the Chicago Illini Union building are used to the fullest extent during the year by students' participation in all sports. In addition, facilities which are available include the nearby tennis courts, an athletic field, and swimming and handball facilities of the Duncan Y.M.C.A.

The activities of the department are grouped into three major categories. Games for the varsity teams are scheduled by the department of physical education so that teams are able to compete with other college teams on the same athletic level. An intramural program which includes such sports as football, volleyball, softball, and golf is the most extensive undertaking of the department. An individual recreational program is also set up to provide facilities for all of the major sports.

The varsity basketball team, coached by Jim Marks, senior medical student, had a very successful season with a 15-3 record. Eight straight games were won before they lost to Herzl 92-86 in a triple overtime. Other losses were to Elgin Junior College 75-72 and Navy Pier 70-69.
The intramurals of 1951-1952 were conducted on the same high level of competition and with as much enthusiasm as in the past. Participants were the fraternities and independents of the three colleges. The following champions were declared: Fall Golf, Nu Sigma Nu (Blazina and Schoppe, co-medalists); Tennis Doubles, Supple and Fricke; Touch Football, Nu Sigma Nu; Swimming, Nu Sigma Nu; Basketball, Delta Sigma Delta; Free Throwing, French; Handball Doubles, Neiditch and Stone; Volleyball, Delta Sigma Delta; Badminton Singles, Fricke; Badminton Doubles, Supple and Fricke; Softball, Delta Sigma Delta; Spring Golf, Nu Sigma Nu (Blazina, medalist); Table Tennis Singles, Michels; Table Tennis Doubles, Fricke and Slezak; Weight Lifting, Chamberlin. The winner of the intramural trophy for the largest total number of points was Nu Sigma Nu with Delta Sigma Delta the runner-up.
Executive Student Council acts as a liaison organization between the three Student Councils, the Committee on Student Affairs, and the Chicago Illini Union

SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS
HISTORIANS have a way of wrapping the past in a sparkling coat of glory that often casts a dullness on the present. Time, like distance, lends enchantment and the heroes and heroines of the history books take on new color with each passing year. The era itself, of a century ago or longer, sometimes seems to us to have embraced broader vistas of opportunity for greatness and fame. But when we pause to give it thought, we know this isn't true.

There Will Always Be a Frontier!

We realize that frontiers aren’t limited to wilderness and prairie and that the garb of the pioneer isn’t limited to buckskin and calico. We realize that in a hundred different directions lie new worlds to discover, new lands to explore. We realize that these new worlds and new lands lie hidden in the untrod depths of modern science, modern business and industry, and modern government . . . that these fields offer opportunities just as challenging and just as rewarding as any wilderness or any prairie. Then it is that we remark with the great man who once said, “So little done, so much to do!”

So, equipped with the axe of knowledge and the powder horn of courage, the youth of today faces the horizon of the future—prepared to carve a place in it, determined to “find a way, or make one!”
